This was followed by a song by Miss Joan Reid's class, including Gladys Kohler, Clara Crane, Elizabeth Hurst, Margaret Burkey, Gladys Siers, Dorothy Wyckoff, Jennie Carson and Blanche Hughes; recitations by Evelyn Hughes and Doris Fenner; songs by five girls from Mrs. Staats' class—Ethel Bowe, Edna Hughes, Marlorie Cowling, Claudia Goned and Ursula Bergman. The girls of Miss Cooper's class sang, Bertha Laird taking the solo part, with the following singing the chorus: Della Dunn, Eva Cartwright, Edna York, Louise Fray, Tessa Haines, Grace Farley, Elsie Frazee, Eloise Parker and Gertrude Steer. Recitations by three girls from Miss Edith Adams' class—Anneta Carson, Alice Leacock and Madeline Hansel. Solo by Miss Myrtle Townley. A short address by the pastor, the Rev. Edward S. Ralston, closed the most successful Easter service in the history of the school.

AMERICAN TANKER SINKS GERMAN BOAT

Special to the Courier-News:

San Francisco, April 10—A thrilling battle between a German U-boat and the Standard Oil tanker "Sequoya," laden with benzine, off the Cornish coast, became known today, upon the arrival of the tanker from London.

The battle resulted in a victory for the American boat after twenty minutes of incessant shelling, the submarine sinking in a volume of smoke and flame. A 4.7 inch shell aimed by the gunners of the tanker, hit its mark. The submarine's magazine chambers exploded, and she soon went to the bottom.

One dead, three wounded were the toll of the "Sequoya." The tanker's wheelhouse and lifeboat were smashed by explosive shells.

FAMOUS MURDER CASE ENDS

Special to Courier-News:

Kansas City, April 10—The famous Hyde Swope murder case came to an end when Judge Porterfield dismissed the murder charge against Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, accused of killing Thomas H. Swope, an uncle of Hyde's wife, to obtain his money. The court acted on motion of the defense who cited that the State had four times asked a continuance.

WILSON SPEECH READ IN BOROUGH SCHOOL

Apropos of the recent declaration of war with Germany, the remarkable appeal made by President Woodrow Wilson to Congress at the opening of the extraordinary session, was read by Principal Albert Earley, of North Plainfield high school at the chapel exercises yesterday morning. The message, which is perhaps familiar to everyone now, explained the present situation in a concise, clear and simple manner and frequent outbursts of applause by the patriotic students brought home to those present the intense feeling that is rapidly spreading throughout our country.

After the reading, Superintendent D. Fred Aungst in commenting on the message of the President, said in part:

"This is a time in history that marks the turning point for the whole world. Autocracy must go and I firmly believe that when this terrible struggle ends, democracy will receive a new birth and will constitute the governing power in nearly every one of the larger powers. What voice had the people of Austria in the breaking off of diplomatic relations with the United States recently? Absolutely none. The Hohenzollern dynasty are alone responsible for the present condition in Germany, and the ultimate overthrow of this ruling power, I believe, is not far off, as the present Socialistic activities in the Reichstag clearly show. In all events reforms will follow the termination of the war for a defeated or victorious Germany. The terrible underhanded manner that Germany has indulged in for the past forty years in populating every foreign country with its secret spies, makes it all the more necessary that Germany be taught a lesson. Prince Henry of Prussia in his visit to this country a few years ago in the guise of establishing more friendly relations between the fatherland and our country really sowed the first seed of discontent and intrigue that has aided the German cause so much until the present situation. The affront handed the United States by the German fleet under Von Tirpitz in '98 at the battle of Manila was absolutely uncalled for, and hostilities were only averted by the prompt action of some British cruisers that happened to be stationed in the Bay of Manila at that time, protecting English interests. This is an actual occurrence related by a friend of the Kaiser who visited him at his summer home a few years ago and was corroborated by the Kaiser himself, who happened to be in a boastful mood at the time. This fact was revealed only recently in the memoirs of this man, who is now dead.

The document just read to you students, is in my estimation one of the most notable of all history, but I want to warn you that we are a carefree nation, disliking discipline and restraint, and loathe a hindrance to our personal liberties. Patriotism is not the waving of the flag, singing patriotic songs and the like, not the mere signing of a loyalty pledge which are at present overrunning the country."

After his address, Mr. Aungst requested that each student of the high school prepare a definition of what he thinks is true patriotism in his own words.

N. PLAINFIELD TWP. WILL DO ITS BIT

North Plainfield Township, the home of William Delaroche Anderson, Editor George Hughes, of the New York Globe, and the neighbor of that modern Cincinnatus, Henry Rogers, went on record last night as the first community in the State to adopt constructive means of increasing the productivity of its fertile fields and valleys, and providing for the exigencies of war.

So long as land labor and capital aided by nature shall play any part in the production of human sustenance, North Plainfield township will bend its back to the sun in an effort to employ those agencies for the benefit of its inhabitants, and those of surrounding territory.

At a meeting in Watchung last night Mr. Anderson introduced a resolution, the substance of which was that military service on the farm is just as essential to the success of war as services on the battlefield, and calling upon the inhabitants of the township to rise to the occasion and acquit themselves worthy of all that American citizenship implies.

The resolution was adopted and the township was divided into five different camps under the direction of a commissary sergeant. A committee of ten citizens will make arrangements which will enable every man, woman and child in the township to contribute their share to the scheme for intensive cultivation of the soil.

A place will be provided where women with babies can leave them while they are performing some service for the common good. The school boys and girls will also be given a chance to show what they know of farming. On the whole the step taken by North Plainfield is not only commendable, but worthy of emulation in every community of the State. It is the first really constructive plan that has thus far been launched. The agricultural army will wear a uniform of special design and practical value.

GREATEST CATARRH DOCTOR IN WORLD
Here Today In Plainfield

When a sufferer from Catarrh begins to breathe the pure wholesome healing air of Hyomei into the sore, inflamed membranes and lissues of his nose and throat, he usually decides then and there that he and Catarrh are going to part company forever.

It's surprising how quickly Hyomei does work. Blessed relief comes in less than five minutes.

The clogged nostrils open, the nasty mucus discharges, spitting, choking etc., all stops and the head, nose and throat clear out like magic.

Hyomei does more. It kills the germs which breed catarrh and ends the disease. Sore, clean, pleasant and harmless to use and very inexpensive.

A Hyomei and other leading druggists say "money back" if in any case it fails. Better than stomach dosing, spraying, syringing, etc., and beats them. Treatments two to one. No wonder happy users call it the "greatest dollar doctor in the world." Ad.

LOCAL DRUM CORPS' ANNUAL SOCIAL TIME

Newark and Rahway Organizations Win Honors at Independents' Dance

The annual military ball of the Independent Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps of this city, was another success last night at Saengerbund Hall. The hall was elaborately decorated in the patriotic colors, and Manchester's orchestra gave splendid satisfaction to the large crowd assembled. At intermissions Miss Glaentzer entertained with popular songs, and her singing was a pleasing incident of the evening's entertainment.

Another attractive feature was the visiting drum corps, there being three organizations in uniform present, who were the Liberty Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps, and Maxhammer Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps, of Newark, and the American Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps from Rahway. Each organization marched in playing martial music that made the occasion very inspiring. Loving cups were presented to the Liberty Drum Corps, of Newark, and the American Corps from Rahway, winning, respectively, first and second honors. Festivities broke up at two a. m. Owing to a similar dance being held last night by the St. George Drum Corps at Paterson, this organization and several others found it necessary to postpone their visit to this city.

The general committee who so successfully managed last night's social affair were headed by Chairman John Beekman, H. Glaentzer, C. Overbaugh, M. Muldowney and W. H. I. Fubberly. Martin Muldowney was chairman of the floor committee.

NOON-DAY SERVICE TOMORROW

The noon-day service will be held tomorrow as usual from 12:20 to 1 o'clock in the hall on Madison avenue. The service will be bright with song and there will be a brief address. All men and women are heartily welcome.

Health as an Aid to Beauty

Everybody knows that beauty depends more on one's physical condition than on anything else. You simply cannot have a clear complexion, sparkling eyes and buoyant step if you are weak, nervous, listless. The first principle of beauty is health and strength. Why don't you discover the fountain of youth as thousands of other women have? Begin today to take malto-ferrin, the wonderful new tonic.

To tired bodies and shattered nerves malto-ferrin gives new vitality and strength. It stimulates the circulation of pure, rich blood, bringing color to the cheeks and brightening the eyes. It helps you eat better and enjoy your food, enables you to sleep soundly restfully, tones up the digestive organs and creates strength that makes your work seem like play. Go to the nearest druggist today and get a bottle of malto-ferrin. Take a tablespoonful after meals and you will be simply astonished at the wonderful results. It is delicious—palatable—and beginners can take the weakest stomach. Children take it with great benefit. Both forty cents and one dollar sizes. For sale by Drug Department of United Cigar Stores Co.—Adv.

The Doctor Says:

The Baby Carriage of the Nation

When you take the baby out for its airing, it wants to be well cared for; don't have it jolted and knocked about; it can't make any protest. You must take care of that part of it. So see that the carriage that you buy is roomy and well upholstered, but most important of all, look to the springs and running gear. Doctors will tell you that many ailments in children are caused by carelessness in the selection of a carriage.

"WHEN YOU BUY A BLOCH" YOU TAKE NO CHANCES

Have a look at them. We'll be glad to show them to you, buy or not, as you please, but you will buy, if you compare a Bloch closely with others. We have them in Natural, Oak, White and Ivory.

WHITEHOUSE

REFORMED CHURCH A BUSY CENTRE

Charles A. Hallenbeck, a student from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, occupied the pulpit last Sabbath and delivered two sermons that were greatly appreciated by the large audience in attendance at both services. Howard Kanter, another student, was unable to come, and Mr. Hallenbeck was secured in his place. The latter is a candidate for the pastorate and had preached here before. He is supplying the East Somerville and Finderne chapels, where he is meeting with much success in his work.

Services will be held at the usual hours next Sunday. If possible, one of the candidates who has already preached here will be secured; if not, the pulpit will be supplied. Let everybody attend.

Delegates from here will go to Lambertville Thursday evening to attend the annual convention of the county Y. M. C. A. in the Methodist church. An interesting program has been prepared.

Attendance is large at the weekly meetings of the Cadets and Boy Scouts in the lecture room, and the new leaders, Jacob H. Dilts and William Shafer, are meeting with deserved success in their efforts to maintain this popular branch of the work of the church. Messrs. Dilts and Shafer have planned several outings for the boys the coming summer, which will no doubt be pleasing.

The Ladies' Aid Society met with Mrs. Samuel D. Skillman last week in monthly session, when arrangements were perfected for an entertainment to be given in the church on Saturday evening, May 5. Miss Mabel Mullins, of New York, a noted elocutionist, will render "Pollyanna." There will be a musical program by Somerville and local talent. The Misses Agnes and Dorothy Flynn will play the violin. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, will be served at the close of the entertainment.

Elder William H. Reger was chosen as delegate to the spring session of the Classis of Raritan in the First Reformed church in Somerville on Tuesday with Elder Jacob H. Dilts alternate.

The Ladies' Aid Society is considering about each of its members raising a dollar to be utilized in painting and repapering the parsonage and getting it ready for occupancy by the new minister, whoever he may be.

The Mission Band will meet on Saturday afternoon, April 21, at the home of Miss Marion Park. The members are preparing a nice program. The hostess will be assisted in serving refreshments by the Misses Florence Van Syckle and Geraldine Stryker.

A record-breaking crowd was in attendance at the Easter services Sunday morning. Mr. Hallenbeck preached a sermon most appropriate to the occasion, and the music by the children's choir was very finely rendered under the efficient leadership of Miss Ethel Smith. Miss Helen Cook presided at the organ in excellent style. The members of the children's choir all sang in good voice and the program was carried out as arranged in faultless manner. Great credit is due Miss Smith for so carefully training this youthful band of singers. The trio by the Misses Florence Van Syckle, Ada Buck and Charlotte Compton was beautifully rendered, as was also the solo by Miss Smith. The anthem was very fine. As a whole this service proved most pleasing to all who attended and Miss Smith and other members of the choir received many congratulations.

In the evening there was another big crowd to hear Mr. Hallenbeck, who delivered a forceful sermon on "The Great Salvation."

Sunday School Elects Officers

At a meeting Sunday afternoon the Sunday school of the East Whitehouse Methodist church reorganized by the election of the following officers: Superintendent, John Stone; assistant secretary, Mrs. John N. Mrs. Dempsey, Mrs. Stone and Miss Ethel Burdette were appointed a committee to arrange for the Children's Day exercises.

Miss Jeanette Crater, of High Bridge, principal of the public schools at Dreahook, near Whitehouse Station, has arranged for a teachers' assistant meeting, which will be held Thursday afternoon at the school house. Addresses will be made by County Superintendent of Schools Jason S. Hoffman, of Flemington; Miss Jennie M. Haver, supervising teacher of the county schools, and Miss Mary Powers, the visiting nurse of the Readington township schools.

FIVE BILLIONS FIRST WAR LOAN

McAdoo Would Let Allies Have $3,000,000,000.

REST FOR UNITED STATES.

Secretary of Treasury Announces Plan After Conference With J. P. Morgan and Head of Federal Reserve Board. Is Told That Country Can Readily Absorb First Big Financial Offering of War.

Washington, April 10.—A $3,000,000,000 loan to the entente allies and $2,000,000,000 toward the conduct of the war by the United States will be the division of America's first war loan, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo announced. The secretary said the administration would ask congress for authority to issue the $5,000,000,000 of bonds and announced his confidence that the entire issue would be quickly taken up by the nation.

Secretary McAdoo's announcement, in an official statement, came after he had conferred with congress leaders. He also talked with J. P. Morgan of New York and W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board. Mr. Morgan told the government financiers that the great New York financial interests stand solidly behind the administration in its present financial policy and can be counted upon for support. He said the country was financially prepared to absorb the tremendous bond issue contemplated and that the money market conditions are favorable for the issue.

Wants Quick Action.

The bill to authorize the bond issue will probably be presented to congress on Thursday with a request for immediate action.

The method of aiding the entente powers, as outlined in Secretary McAdoo's statement, will be to purchase the obligations of the foreign governments selected as beneficiaries, bearing the same rate of interest as the bonds issued by this country. The secretary's statement outlining the most stupendous financial operation ever undertaken by the government of the United States reads in part:

The administration will ask congress for authority to issue $5,000,000,000 of government bonds to meet the situation created by the war with Germany. The proposed bonds will be exempt from taxation and bear interest probably at 3½ per cent per annum.

Two billion dollars of these bonds will be required to finance in part the expenditures involved in the proper organization and operation of the army and navy and the conduct of the war generally. Of course a larger amount of additional revenue will have to be raised by taxation, but this part of the problem is under consideration by the ways and means committee of the house of representatives. It will naturally take a reasonable time to discuss and agree upon the new items for taxation, which will be needed, and in our judgment will not become the subject of partisan treatment.

Ben Aid to Allies.

Three billion dollars of the proposed issue of bonds should be used to supply credit to the governments making common cause with us against Germany to enable them to secure essential supplies in the United States and carry on the war with increased effect. The most serviceable thing we can do immediately for the common cause is to furnish credit to those foreign governments who in conjunction with us are fighting Germany. This financial assistance should be extended at the earliest possible moment. It will be truly valuable and effective if extended now.

The purpose of this is that the obligations of the foreign governments to which credit is given, such obligations to bear such interest and to run in other essentials to contain the same terms and conditions as the bonds of the United States.

The bonds of the United States will be

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and be well. Keep a glorious condition to attain, and for, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, or who do not feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skin, pimples, blotches and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside bathing before breakfast.—Adv.

GENEROUS GIFT FOR BELGIANS

Belgium and Northern France hang upon this relief. They must be fed by the food furnished by the Commission or they must die.

April 2 Mr. Hoover absolved the Germans of the charge of seizing supplies contributed by the Commission for the relief of the French people. He said: "Some misconception had arisen among the people, who believed that the Germans had substituted their own inferior flour for the excellent white American flour sent by the Commission. This is not so. The mistake arose from the public's ignorance of the conditions under which the Commission works. The Allies, insisting upon the principle of international law that the inhabitants of an occupied territory are a charge upon the occupying belligerents, made their aid conditional on Germany participating in the work of feeding the inhabitants. Germany undertook to provide 180 grammes (about 2 pounds) per head daily. The people, receiving German inferior flour, believed it had been substituted for American flour."

The Commission feels that the dissemination of unverified reports of this kind tends to destroy the confidence of the charitable world in the work of distribution, and, therefore, directly decreases the amount of food sent to the Belgians.

When Mr. Hoover sailed for Europe in March, he concluded a statement with these words: "No war or other difficulty in which America may be plunged can absolve her from this duty, and least of all from following the example of France and Great Britain. The temptation to cease giving to others should not be yielded to each time a ship is lost or the rumors of war become alarming."

As a matter of fact, even if ships are lost, even if delivery should be delayed, even if Germany should not live up to any promise, even if some of our dollars should fail to reach the Belgians, we must be thankful if any of our money is of service—grateful if we can save only a few lives. Belgium we see clearly now is dying for us, for freedom the whole world over. Only America can save her. If we succeed, it will be one of the greatest privileges ever accorded us. The opportunity is ours. Let us not be found wanting.

U. S. IS ANXIOUS OVER NEW FOES

Turkey and Bulgaria Likely to Follow Austria.

OPPOSITION TO WAR ISSUE.

Conscription Plan Also Will Be Fought Hard in Congress, Many Members Announcing That No Draft Bill Can Be Passed Until Volunteer System Has Been Given a Fair Trial—General Munitions Board Created by National Defense Council.

Washington, April 10.—Austria has ranged herself beside her ally, the imperial German government, against the United States. Today relations between the United States and the dual monarchy are broken and a practical state of war between the two nations exists.

Within a few hours after the state department had been formally notified that Austria had withdrawn her diplomatic representatives federal officials seized all of the Austrian owned ships of war found in American harbors. Official Washington is certain that the Austro-Hungarian government would undoubtedly accept these seizures as an "act of war" and that an actual clash between the two countries was apparently inevitable.

The final break with Austria came because of her determination to support Germany in her submarine campaign and because the United States refused to receive Ambassador Penfinate Count Tarnowski while his country was even nominally an indorser of the German war plan which was destroying American lives and property.

Austria Stands With Ally.

This was made clear in a long statement issued by the state department in which the last few days of the Austrian negotiations were explained. The statement made it clear that every effort was made by the United States to secure from the Austrian government a disavowal of the submarine war zone plan and thus to avert a break between the two countries.

Austria, however, insisted on supporting Germany and finally notified the United States on April 7 that if the United States declared war on Germany Austro-Hungary would immediately sever her relations with the United States."

Word of the break was conveyed to the state department by Baron Erich Zwiedineck, the Austrian charge, and the department received a cablegram from Minister Stovai at Berne, Switzerland, announcing that Austria had severed her diplomatic representatives. Immediately arrangements were made to obtain safe conduct for Count Tarnowski, the embassy staff and Austrian consuls throughout the country to leave the United States.

The status of relations between the United States and Bulgaria and Turkey, the remaining Teutonic allies, gives the state department grave concern. Stephen Panaretoff, Bulgarian minister, called at the state department, but officials refused to comment on his visit. The Bulgarian envoy himself said that there had been no break between his country and the United States and that he was merely seeking information from the department.

Anxious About Turkey.

The Turkish situation is the cause of great anxiety. The break with Austria has already cut off practically all communication with Ambassador Elkus at Constantinople, which up to now had been maintained through Vienna. A break with Turkey would seal the doom of a thousand or more refugees mobilized at Beirut and would likewise open the Dardanelles gunboat Scorpion, station ship at Constantinople.

There is a well defined hope at the state department that relations between the United States and Turkey will not be disrupted.

With the Austrian situation taken out of the realm of uncertainty, all of the forces of the government concentrated on preparations for war. Congress began the long grind of war legislation which must be continued without interruption to supply funds and authority for conducting the hostilities.

The war and navy departments rushed their routine detailed preparations to the limit. The big question of supplying the sinews of war in quantities more stupendous than the nation believed possible was taken up by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo with J. P. Morgan and other New York financiers, and the way was cleared for submitting to congress before the end of the week the legislation which will authorize a bond issue of $5,000,000,000 as America's first war loan.

Unofficial agencies of the government likewise rushed preparedness activities, and the Council of National Defense organized a munitions board to accelerate and control the supply of war materials for the army and navy and for the enemies of Germany across the Atlantic.

Opposition in Congress.

Opposition sufficient to delay but not to defeat the administration's plans for the enlistment of the army and navy by conscription instead of by adherence to the ancient and obsolete system of completely voluntary joining the colors has developed. Chairman Dent of the committee on military affairs of the house told President Wilson that strenuous opposition existed in his committee against the administration plan.

Several members of the committee will insist both in committee and in the house that conscription should not be resorted to until voluntary enlistments fail to bring out the required number of recruits. The president was also informed that no matter what form the bill takes there is no possibility of it being reported for at least a week and that under no circumstances could it be enacted as permanent legislation, but as exclusively a war measure, limited to the life to the duration of the war.

Texas was the first state to exploit recalcitrancy over the conscription law. Governor Ferguson telegraphed to Representative Garner that Texas soldiers must have officers from their state, and Garner had the dispatch before the military affairs committee when in executive session. The Ferguson dispatch said:

"A call for volunteers tomorrow would bring 50,000 to the colors provided it was issued under the national guard system. I doubt if any large amount of volunteers could be obtained if it were known our boys were to enlist under officers unknown to them. All our boys in Texas want to enlist under officers appointed in Texas."

General Munitions Board.

In the senate, where the military appropriation bill was being debated, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military committee, took occasion to warn the senate not to be misled into pressing trust in the volunteer system. Senators Wadsworth of New York and Weeks of Massachusetts complained that orders to ships and the inability to supply them with equipment recruits for the national guard were being rejected in both states. Senator Nelson of Minnesota protested that if the president would call for volunteers 500,000 would respond in a few days provided they thought they were going to see foreign service.

The work of promptly equipping and arming the United States military and naval forces has been placed under the control of a general munitions board created by the Council of National Defense.

Immediate efforts of the board will be directed along lines calculated to coordinate the making of purchases by the army and navy; to assist in the acquirement of raw materials and of manufacturing facilities and to establish the precedence of orders between the war and navy departments and between the military and industrial needs of the country.

In an official announcement by the council it was stated that it is not intended that the newly created board shall have authority to issue purchase orders or to bind the government in contracts for purchases, as such matters will continue to be done by the respective federal departments. Nor is it intended to disturb the order of delivery of military and navy material, both domestic and foreign, under existing contracts.

In obedience to the announced policy of the president and his advisers the board will take full cognizance of the importance of early and prompt delivery of war materials now under contract or subsequently to be ordered for shipment abroad to the allies.

POWDER MEN QUIT DOVER.

Hercules Workers Leave For Rubber Plants in West.

Dover, April 10.—The semimonthly payroll at the plant of the Hercules Powder company was said to be the largest in the history of the plant. Besides receiving the monthly bonus, nearly 700 men requested and received the entire amount due them.

It is said many of the men are leaving this section of the country and are going to the Pacific coast to work in the rubber industries, where they receive higher pay.

BRAZIL TO BREAK TODAY.

Rupture With Germany Over Sinking of Steamship.

Rio Janeiro, April 10.—Rupture of relations between Brazil and Germany is expected today at the latest. The break depends solely on the formality of the reception of the official report from Paris on the sinking of the Brazilian steamship Parahy by a German submarine.

The break probably will be followed by the seizure of German ships in Brazil.

SUMMIT PASTOR QUIZZED BY U. S.

Dr. Doan Called on by Secret Service Man.

DENOUNCED WAR IN SERMON.

All Saints' Church Congregation, Split Over Pacifist Sermon, But Majority Admire Firmness and Courage of Rev. Dr. Frank C. Doan In Expressing His Convictions.

Summit, April 10.—While no action has yet been taken on the anti-war sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. Frank C. Doan, the pastor at All Saints' church, the congregation is divided on the question of acceptance of the challenge flung by Dr. Doan that he was ready to resign if his views were not acceptable.

Monday Rev. Dr. Doan received a mysterious visit from a United States secret service agent. The pair remained closeted in the parsonage of the All Souls' Unitarian Universalist church at most an hour.

When the conference was over Mr. Doan looked grave. He refused to reveal what business the secret service man had with him.

The frankness of Dr. Doan has strongly impressed many of the congregation who do not hold pacifist views and regard the pastor as a good fighter despite his anti-war convictions in his sermon he said in part:

"The country has been stampeded into war without the consent of the people. It is a war the American people have not desired. The people of Europe have decreed it, and so have a thin ribbon of people along the Atlantic coast seemed to desire it.

"A few special interests whose commerce was being held up and their war profits had been curbed it. But America is a big country. Summit isn't America. The Atlantic coast isn't America.

Whether, in the face of all this, it is profitable for you or for me that we publish to the world our differences of opinion and people I confess I do not know. You have a perfect right to call to this pulpit a man who would not nearly represent your own convictions—a man willing to pass Christ by as an impractical dreamer, a man content to wait and not preach Christ's law of love until it is safe and easy and the world is ready for his kingdom of peace on earth.

If that is the man for you you not only may, but you must look elsewhere, for I will wait and I won't call attention. But seldom as I do stand in this place it must be mine to preach the God of things as they are, but the God of things as they should be and as they have got to be.

FARMERS URGED TO HELP.

Raise Big Crops, Slogan at Jamesburg Meeting.

Jamesburg, April 10.—The duty of the farmer during the war was set forth at the meeting of the South Middlesex Farmers' association in the auditorium of the Jamesburg high school. The chief speakers were Professor Neil Cook of the State Agricultural college, who spoke on potato raising, and Howard Jeffers, superintendent of the Walker-Gordon dairy at Plainsboro, who spoke on cooperation.

Mr. Jeffers urged the farmers to raise all the crops possible and not have in mind financial gain as the chief object.

CALLED FROM RESERVE.

Guard Officers Again Placed on Active Service List.

Elizabeth, April 10.—Lieutenant Colonel Robert L. Patterson of this city, who was placed on the reserve list of the national guard about six years ago, received a telegram from Adjutant General Barker restoring him to duty and assigning him to the inspector general's department of the national guard of this state.

Lieutenant Colonel William Libbey of Princeton, also in the reserve, was called to the colors again by General Barker, with orders to report to the department of rifle practice.

JOINT WAR ON MOSQUITOES.

Authorities of State and County to Work Near Island Heights.

Island Heights, April 10.—Just how much can be accomplished in the ex- termination of mosquitoes along the New Jersey coast will be determined by an experiment to be entered into jointly by the state and Ocean county to ditch the Mullica river meadows. The state proposes to dig 75,000 feet and the county about 300,000 feet.

A large force of men will be kept constantly on the ground and special tests will make frequent inspections to determine to what extent the insects are being exterminated.

DON'T BE BALD

Tells How to Make Hair Grow Thick and Lustrous on Bald and Thin Spots

Thousands of men and women are growing bald every day and don't know the reason why. This is indeed a pity, says a hair specialist, who states that baldness usually comes from carelessness.

The treatment is very simple; remove the dirt by shampooing every ten days and destroy the dandruff germs by frequently applying a little of the real Parisian Sage, a most efficient preparation that the best druggists are now recommending as one of the quickest and safest treatments to surely stop itching scalp and falling hair, remove all dandruff and to properly nourish and invigorate the hair roots.

Parisian Sage is also the discriminating woman's favorite hair dressing because it makes the hair seem twice as abundant and gives it a softness and luster that compels admiration. A generous bottle costs but little from L. W. Randolph, who guarantees it to you.—Adv.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine" hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.—Adv.

FRANK SCOTT HEADS MUNITIONS BOARD

Cleveland Expert In Charge of National Work.

Washington, April 10.—The creation of a general munitions board is announced by the Council of National Defense. It will be headed by Frank A. Scott, a Cleveland manufacturer, and will be charged with supplying the army and navy with munitions and equipment. One of its chief functions will be to decide between the country's military and industrial needs.

The establishment of the board puts into the hands of a group of army and navy officers and industrial leaders virtually the same task given the British minister of munitions. It creates machinery for a government department of munitions, headed by a member of the cabinet, if the conduct of the war brings the need. Active military and naval participation in the conflict, many believe, will produce that necessity.

Twenty men, fifteen of them army or navy officers, make up the board. Besides Mr. Scott its civilian members are Bernard M. Baruch, Howard E. Coffin, Julius Rosenwald and Dr. Franklin Martin. From the army there are Brigadier General Thomas Cruse, Colonel F. G. Hodgson, Colonel H. Fisher, Lieutenant Colonel J. E. Hoffer, Major P. E. Plowe, Major Charles Wallace and Captain A. R. Harllee; from the navy, Rear Admiral Rousseau, Rear Admiral W. S. Capps, Commander R. H. Leigh, Commander T. A. Kearney, Dr. R. C. Holcomb, Paymaster J. H. Hancock and Lieutenant W. B. Lomis.

MEXICO STILL NEUTRAL.

New Congress to Deal With World War Issue.

Mexico City, April 10.—The part Mexico will play in the world war will be decided by the newly elected congress, according to men in close touch with government affairs. Both chambers are now revising credentials of members in preparation for formal opening of congress April 15.

It seems probable that there will be no formal expression of opinion by General Carranza before congress is asked to deal with the matter.

BRITISH HAMMER OLD GERMAN LINES

London, April 10.—The allies' "big push" of 1917 is under way. A battle fiercer than Verdun and the Somme is raging on a front of more than ten miles between Arras and the region south of Bens. With initiative, success and prospects all on the side of the British.

The Teuton lines between Arras and Lens had been penetrated everywhere and "satisfactory progress" is being made at all points, Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig reported. Fully 6,000 prisoners were taken.

Latest unofficial reports from the front indicated that Vimy ridge, that famous bulwark, was in assaults against which cost the French 100,000 casualties in 1915, has been carried by storm.

In the front line of the attacking front are Canadians. On the German side the brunt of the attacking waves was borne by Bavarians and Wurttembergers and Hamburgers.

The British losses are described as comparatively small.

"A battle around Arras began this morning after several hours' drumfire and still continues."

British front accounts agree that the attack came as a surprise to the Teutons. When the British drumfire rose to unprecedented fury they pocked shot up from the shell hailed Teuton lines, distress signals equivalent to the "S O S" of the sea. But evidently the warnings were too late, for when the infantry smashed forward the German lines crumbled swiftly under the onslaught and there was considerable disorder.

From a strictly military viewpoint, experts are not inclined to the advance too extravagantly. For ever since the fall of Crobelles, southeast of Arras, this move on the part of the British and subsequent German retirement on the Arras-Lens line became inevitable.

While the big offensive was launched on the northern end of the line, the British also advanced further toward Cambrai and St. Quentin. They stormed the villages of Hermies and Bourlies and penetrated into the Havrincourt wood, while in their progress toward St. Quentin they captured Pronville and advanced southward of Le Verguier.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night. Your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.—Adv.

U. S. SHIP TORPEDOED.

Freighter Seward Sunk In Mediterranean—Crew Saved.

Washington, April 10.—The American steamer Seward was reported torpedoed and sunk without warning in the Mediterranean by a German submarine in a dispatch to the state department from Consul Gaulin at Marseilles. All of the crew of thirty-one was said to have been saved.

The Seward, owned by the Alpha Steamship company, left New York on March 3 for Genoa and other Mediterranean ports. She was commanded by Captain Philip H. Johnson and carried a crew of thirty-eight men, of whom thirty were American citizens.

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.—Adv.

THOUGHTS ON TAKING A BATH

One doesn't realize until one gets in a bath tub how inconveniently the middle of one's back is arranged. You can't climb up over your shoulders with a wash rag and get at it. You can't dart under your armpits and take it by surprise. You cannot in any satisfactory manner reach it. It is inaccessible. Somebody invented a brush once that you could attach to a handle and send out after the middle of your back with a load of soapsuds. But either the brush slips off or the handle is lost—or the handle is there and the brush is gone. Unquestionably some one blundered in locating the middle of man's back. Why couldn't it be abolished? We don't use it for anything but to lean against, anyhow.

Often a woman is so inconsistent that after making up her mind as to her age she's unable to stick to it.

Perhaps the reason a woman's work is never done is because she employs a domestic to do it.

Political orators talk and talk, but the bright-faced girl on the silver dollar isn't saying a word.

BEES AND BOROUGH TO CLASH AGAIN TONIGHT

Koechlein and Snyder, bowlers of the Bound Brook team of the late Central New Jersey Bowling League, will visit the Somerset alleys this evening to play a post-season series with Gates and Vail of the North Plainfield aggregation of the same circuit. Ten games are to be rolled off this evening and eleven tilts will be staged on Effinger's alleys, Bound Brook, on a date to be announced later.

Considerable interest in the series has been noticed since the first announcement of the series last week.

A FAST PITCHER NEEDED

The manager of a suburban baseball team has asked the sporting editor to locate a good pitcher who can deliver the goods for a fast aggregation of ball tossers. The team is one which has been on the field for several years past and has had good records up to this time. Pitchers who would desire to communicate with the manager will kindly send in their names and addresses to the sporting editor, care of the Courier-News, and the same will be transmitted to the manager of the team.

MASONIC PINNERS IN A HOT RACE

Individual Honors in County Circuit to be Bone of Contention

Although the Essex lodge team of bowlers has clinched the championship and possession of the Mahlon Mercy high average trophy, Masonic League rooters are still finding their tournament interesting. The big scrap now is being waged among the individuals, with Ted Schmidt, Clint Miller, of Lafayette, and Johnny Clough, of Essex, all clustered to the top.

Schmidt, who has averaged 188.25 for twenty-seven games, is the pace-maker, with Miller's 187.27 for thirty-three games entitling him to second place. Clough, who has finished his schedule, is third, having averaged 187.8 for forty-one games, and in view of the fact that the Rahwayans still have several series to roll his chances of being crowned individual champion are not yet dead. Southard, of Orient, is the high score man with 266.

Essex clinched the championship several days ago and there does not seem to be the slightest danger of the title winners being ousted from average lead, either. Secretary Breams' records, which follow, credit Essex with a 908.22 average, while Lafayette is second with 879.8. The high team score is 1,060, held by Essex.

FUN AND FROLIC TO FEATURE THIS MATCH

Shouts of "Strike!" "Pretty spare!" "Where are the Ramblers tonight?" etc., emanating from the bowling alleys on West Fourth street last night were nothing more or less than enthusiastic outbursts by the loyal rooters of St. Mary's Social Club lady bowlers who were preparing themselves for their series with the Ramblers on the T. A. B. S. strips tonight. While some followers of the Social Club team believe practice wasted energy, still Miss Brady, who catches the outfit, firmly believes in the slogan, "Safety first."

The lady bowlers, of course, will be given a substantial handicap in order to even things up, and the tension and strain to which both teams will be subjected no doubt will cause many humorous situations.

The line-up of the Social Club team is not at hand, but the Ramblers will include Worrall, Betzen berger, Taylor, Hyslip and Dunn or Koechlein.

JUNIOR TITLE FIGHT ON AGAIN TOMORROW

Te second of a series of three games for the junior championship of Plainfield in the basketball line will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gym tomorrow evening with the second team of that organization and the Asher-Triangles of Netherwood as the contending aggregations. The East Enders took the first tilt on the home court last week and are looking forward to the sewing up of the title.

Both teams are expected to present their regular line-ups at this time. Managers Carson and Campbell are claiming victory for their respective teams.

OPENING GAMES PUT OFF UNTIL THURSDAY

Boston, April 10.—Owing to the fact that Braves' field is under a nine-inch blanket of snow the Braves-Giants opening game of the season, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until Thursday.

DETROIT CLUB WINS CASE

Cincinnati, April 10.—The National Baseball Commission in a finding here yesterday declared that the sale of Pitcher John T. Woods from the Portsmouth club to the Detroit club was null and void owing to the fact that two physicians stated that the player would be unfit for service for at least six months.

The purchase price, $1,600, was ordered refunded by Portsmouth to the Detroit club.

SUCCEEDS BRANCH RICKEY

St. Louis, April 10.—Robert Quinn, formerly with the Columbus (Ohio) American Association club, yesterday succeeded Branch Rickey as business manager of the St. Louis Americans.

CUBS OBTAIN BLACKBURN

Boston, April 10.—Earl Blackburn, a catcher, was sold by the Boston Nationals yesterday to the Chicago Nationals. He was a member of the local club last year, but was farmed out to the Providence club of the International League. Blackburn goes to Chicago on waivers.

CARDS OBTAIN M'AULEY

Pittsburg, April 10.—James McAuley, a shortstop, was released to the Pittsburg National League club by the St. Louis Nationals yesterday.

Presidents Tener and Johnson Optimistic Over the Coming Campaigns—They Issue Statements—The Opening Dates

New York, April 10.—Replying to a request from the United Press for a statement of their beliefs regarding the success of major league baseball this year, Ban Johnson, president of the American League, and John K. Tener, president of the National League, today made very optimistic forecasts.

Both are agreed that the only thing that could knock a hole in prospects is the declaration of war, and they are agreed that even in the event of this baseball is going to be a struggle unequaled except in those years when the final weeks decided who should meet in the world's series. Neither is willing to pin his faith to a certain club, and Johnson goes pretty strong in predictions that Connie Mack will make his rivals step a little this summer.

Anyhow, they're optimistic, which is something these in the face of the international crisis and following immediately on the years of turmoil which have shaken the national pastime to its foundations.

By JOHN K. TENER
President of the National League

New York, April 10.—We anticipate a tremendously successful season for baseball this year. There is only one thing—a declaration of war—that will detract from the game's popularity.

We look forward to the National League race being as sensational and close as it was in 1915 and 1916. While I am not unconscious of the fact that the Giants look to be an exceptionally strong combination, offensively and defensively, I cannot believe they will make a runaway race of it. Even though the twirling corps should perform in superior manner from the start I do not believe anything of that sort is likely.

Boston and Philadelphia are sure to be contenders for the flag. The champion Brooklyn club will take the field this year with every player who gave it strength last season, and in addition Manager Robinson seems to have picked up some youngsters who will certainly make the team look better than it did a year ago. This boy Fabrique has played a remarkable fielding game and also has hit exceptionally well in training.

Boston was strong last year except in hitting. Even to that department the strength was there, but it seemed impossible for them to get started when data counted.

The West must not be overlooked. President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg club picked up several promising youngsters last year and when the season closed his team was playing ball inferior to none in the league. Pittsburg will be right there the ground. Manager Callahan has several good pitchers and catchers and enough old players to form a nucleus for a strong team. Cincinnati is expecting great results from Manager Mathewson, and I personally believe the Reds will do better than they have for a long time. I have great faith in Matty.

Both Miller Huggins in St. Louis and Fred Mitchell in Chicago are trying to reconstruct new teams from the best of the old and new material. Both are good managers and I would not be surprised if each developed a strong team. The club owners will spare no expense or effort to give their respective clubs the best players it is possible to secure.

By BAN JOHNSON
President of the American League

Chicago, April 10.—In the history of the American League there never was a year when the organization was so well equipped for a championship race.

A few days ago I received a letter from Connie Mack, in which he gave me the assurance that he had a vastly improved team over the club of last year and one that was sure to prove a factor in the championship race. If we can accept this declaration then there are eight contenders well balanced for a gridiron fight, beginning tomorrow.

Everyone will concede that Chicago, Boston, New York and Detroit are bound to be prime favorites. The Cleveland club has been greatly strengthened, which is attested by the fact that Morton has shown all the strength he developed in the beginning of last season. Joe Wood claims his right arm has been well restored, so with Covaleskie, Bagby and Klepfer in support, Cleveland is sure to have a formidable staff of pitchers.

Many wise baseball men contended last fall that New York would have carried off the prize had it not been for the innumerable accidents which befell some of its best players out of commission during the summer.

The St. Louis club, under the leadership of Jones, must be reckoned with. Had the Browns started their tremendous drive earlier in the season the pennant might have gone to the organization representing the season by the big bridge.

We all know of Boston's worth and the fighting spirit of the Senators under the guidance of that wise and adroit manager, Clark Griffith.

War may place an indelible mark upon our patronage, but it cannot stamp out a contest that is sure to be keen, thorough and exciting from the tap of the ball until the finish in October.

Major League Opening Dates

BLANCHE BATES IN "ELEVEN P. M." APRIL 17

Miss Blanche Bates in a new play by Paul M. Potter, entitled "Eleven P. M." will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, Tuesday, matinee and night, April 17.

Miss Bates has been absent from the stage for the past few years, for want of a suitable production. A notable cast of well known stage favorites has been engaged for the support, the leading featured member being Wilton Lackaye, who, himself, has starred in numerous productions, notably as Svengali in Mr. Potter's justly celebrated play, "Trilby." The other members of Miss Bates' company are Charles Hammond, Thomas J. Mc Grane, Charles Butler, Louise Mackintosh, Janet Travers, Jeffreys Lewis, J. H. Barnes, Ford Fenimore, Maria Ascaraga, Sallie Bergman, George Sheldon and Albert Prisco.

An elaborate scenic production has been provided for the play.

"JOAN, THE WOMAN" AT PROCTOR'S NEXT MONDAY

Miss Geraldine Farrar, in the gigantic historical cinema film, "Joan, the Woman," appears at Proctor's Theatre three days beginning Monday, April 16.

The picture was months in the making and cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. In addition to Miss Farrar as Joan of Arc, the cast includes such notable figures of the stage and screen as Wallace Reid, Theodore Roberts, Hobart Bosworth, Tully Marshall, Raymond Hatton, Hugo B. Koch, Charles Clary, James Neill, Lillian Leighton, Marjorie Daw and Billy Elmer.

"THE GIRL PHILIPPA" AT PROCTOR'S TODAY

At Proctor's Theatre today and tomorrow

Dainty Anita Stewart appears at Proctor's today and tomorrow in "The Girl Philippa," the special eight-part Blue Ribbon Vitagraph production from the novel by Robert W. Chambers. This picture broke all records for attendance at the renowned Rialto Theatre, New York, recently. In the wonderful title role of the girl Philippa she naturally clings to the big, uplifting things in her life, although her entrtinment is that of a cabaret where she acts as cashier and sometimes spy for the notorious proprietor, who is a scamp, selling information to either faction of the warring countries—to whichever means the most gold pieces.

In addition to "The Girl Philippa," special features today include Mrs. Vernon Castle in the exciting serial "Patria," and the latest Hearst-Pathe News. Tomorrow's exclusive features in connection with "The Girl Philippa" will be a two-part L-Ko Comedy and a special Pathe educational creation.

The remainder of Easter week includes the first chapter of "The Mystery of the Double Cross," the new serial which appears for the first time Thursday.

AN INVITATION TO WOMEN

Women are invited to visit the laboratory of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. at Lynn, Mass., and see for themselves with what care, skill and cleanliness this accuracy, skill and cleanliness this wonderful remedy for women's ailments is prepared. Over 350,000 pounds of roots and herbs are used annually in making this famous medicine. The great bins of herbs, the huge tanks filled with the medicine ready to be bottled, and the bottling room where it is put up and labelled for the market, cannot help but impress them with the reliability of this good, old-fashioned root and herb remedy, which for the past forty years has been so successful in the home treatment of female ills.—Adv.

BATTALION OF GIRLS WILL GUARD COAST

A battalion of 200 girls will patrol the coast of New Jersey—at least part of it—all summer. The girls will have a camp at Seaside Park under the direction of Miss Ethel A. Grosscup, teacher of physical training in Hollins College, Hollins, Va., and daughter of State Purchasing Agent Edward E. Grosscup. Besides patrolling, the girls will study Red Cross work. Governor Edge and Adjutant General Barber have approved the plan and have agreed to furnish such camp and garrison equipage as may be available.

The camp will be located on land owned by Miss Grosscup. The feminine coast patrol guard will not go into camp for some time, but the members are already being drilled. Miss Grosscup, who was instructor in a girls' school in Madrid, returned home last fall.

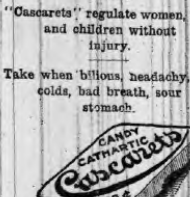
BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.



Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.—Adv.

OPPOSE MILITARY WORK IN SCHOOLS

West End Community Centre Favors Voluntary System in Recreation Form

The regular monthly meeting of the West End Community Centre was held in Washington school last evening at which meeting the chairmen of the various activities made their reports, all of which were most encouraging, showing a splendid balance in the treasury.

Much enthusiasm was shown in connection with the work being carried on, and it was voted that at an early date a speaker be engaged to address a public meeting upon the subject of Home Gardening. The notice will be given out at date of the meeting.

It was also decided to take steps to obtain an instructor in military tactics, for the purpose of forming a company of young men, and which is now under formation a class of young women in first aid instruction for the wounded.

The Community Center placed themselves on record by a unanimous vote as opposed to the bill introducing compulsory military training in the public schools, favoring a voluntary system as part of the recreation work.

The residents of the West End who are not already affiliated with the Community Center are earnestly requested to become associated with the activities, and thereby lend their assistance to those who are endeavoring to build up the work both in a social and patriotic spirit. Washington school is the headquarters of this organization and is open for willing workers in the good cause.

Why Look Wrinkled and Old? To Renew Youthful Beauty Try This French Recipe Tonight

Transform a wrinkled, aged-looking complexion into fresh, glowing loveliness with Cream Tokalon Roseated—entirely different from any other cream

Many a wrinkled, hollow-cheeked, faded-looking woman who, after countless vain trials with scores of creams and treatments, finally gives up all hope of ever regaining her youthful charm has made herself beautiful with every sign of wrinkles and a complexion clear as crystal, simply by means of the following French recipe. Are you as beautiful and youthful looking as you would like to be? If not, you owe it to yourself and to those who care most for you to appear at your best. Make this test tonight. Look at your face in the mirror, under a bright light and see if you have crowsfeet or puckers around the eyes, lines in the forehead or about the mouth, clogged pores, blackheads or coarse, rough skin.

Lilly Simone Marais

Note: The above is one of a series of articles on beauty specially written by Mlle. Marais, of Paris, who, after originating this recipe, won two great international beauty prizes. She let us publish it so that every woman may have this blemish and enable any woman between thirty and sixty to quickly make herself look fifteen years younger. We personally guarantee in every case or will refund the amount paid without question. Simply take your dealer's receipt at the time you make your purchase. Furthermore, she offers to furnish absolutely free, as was shown that this method will not give most astonishing new beauty to wrinkles, crowsfeet, sags and hollows in three days' time. Her American address is Simone Marais, 20 West 22d Street, New York. Creme Tokalon is sold by druggists. Other articles mentioned can be obtained at small cost from Weiss' Boro Drug Store or most any good druggist or department store.—Adv.

Tried complexion. Then wash your face in clear warm water and rub in a teaspoonful of Creme Tokalon Roseated, which you will find entirely different from any other cream. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream, after which use a pure, specially prepared, fairy powder like Poudre Petalos or Poudre Fascination de Tokalon. Instantly you will note the improvement. Day by day watch how the old, hardened, coarse, rough skin becomes new, fresh, soft and beautiful, simply because you have helped it in the right way to get rid of dry and renew its youthful activity. But don't expect to accomplish this with creams, soaps, or lotions containing a large amount of alcohol, as it is only a question of time when this will dry out the delicate tissues and completely ruin the complexion. You must use a pure neutral, specially prepared cream like Creme Tokalon Roseated, to rebuild the worn-out cells so as to bring out the beauty beneath, now and glowing loveliness to the skin. If you have a sallow skin, a few drops of Jaxonol Ice Powder from your druggist added in connection with using the cream, and you can soon have a clear complexion. Jaxonol is guaranteed to remove the dreaded blackheads, no matter of how long standing.

For giving an indescribably beautiful effect to the eyes, there is nothing so surpassing almost immediately the appearance of crowsfeet and other tell-tale marks of age, many women use a little Mascarine.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

Readers with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any Laundry relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

April is a time rife for weddings and I have had so many inquiries in regard to making and baking a home-made wedding cake, that the article this evening will be devoted to this very interesting subject.

Begin preparations by lining the baking-pan. A thick, granitewave pan is the best, but if a tin pan is used, line it with four layers of light-weight, brown paper. The granite pan will require two linings of paper. The recipe given herewith will make ten pounds of cake and if the formula is carefully followed the result will be a pronounced success. For the given amount of ingredients, use a seven-quart pan.

The oven must be very "slow." One can hardly err by having it too slow. If a coal range is used, replenish the fire often, by adding a few coals at a time, rather than to heap on coal, causing intense heat and burning the cake. Gas is the ideal fuel for baking such a cake, as the heat can be adjusted to a nicety.

Before beginning to mix the cake, weigh the materials, have the exact amounts required at hand and put together thoroughly.

Sift flour before weighing, then sift again after the soda and spices are added and pulverize the soda before measuring. Cut the citron in fine shreds, seed the raisins, wash the currants, drain on a coarse sieve and rub dry in a towel. Have the almonds blanched and chopped fine and the molasses measured. In measuring use a half-pint cup.

The ingredients are as follows: One pound each of butter, sugar and flour, the latter sifted with one teaspoonful each of salt, baking soda and ground cloves and two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one dozen eggs, two cupfuls of molasses, two pounds each of raisins and currants, one pound of candied citron and one-quarter of a pound each of blanched almonds and candied orange peel, both finely chopped.

Mix the fruits and nuts together in a large pan, dredge over them half a cupful of sifted flour and mix the flour in thoroughly with the hands. If the butter is hard, it may be slightly softened. Then, with a large spoon, rub and beat it to a cream, gradually mixing in the sugar. Break and separate the eggs, putting the whites in the cold place and beating the yolks until light and lemon colored. Add the yolks to the creamed butter and sugar with the molasses and then alternate the stiffly whipped egg whites with the flour mixture. Beat the batter hard, and the finished turn into the prepared cake pan. Draw the mixture away from the center of the pan toward the sides, as this insures a level top, and bake about four hours and thirty minutes.

A last word as to baking. Be sure to have a slow oven. If it is too hot at first, the cake will crust and brown over before it becomes sufficiently light; then the rising mixture will break through the center and run over, thus producing an unsightly and imperfectly baked loaf.

Avoid moving the cake in the oven, especially after it has reached its full height and the cells have not become fixed by heat. Any sudden jar breaks down the cells and if there is no rising material remaining, by which other cells may be evolved, the result is a heavy cake. If, despite your care, the cake bakes too quickly, place a pan filled with hot water upon the grating of the oven.

Many experts in culinary lore advise steaming the cake, instead of baking it, and especial steamers come for that purpose. Steaming certainly does produce a moist rich loaf, although after its removal from the steamer, it is better to set in the oven for a short time, so that it may "dry off."

Ice the cake a few days before wanted, as the frosting darkens from contact with the cake. First, cover the cake with a boiled icing and allow it to harden, putting on two coats, if necessary. Then make another frosting, using the whites of three eggs to three-quarters of a pound of powdered sugar. Flavor with three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice.

Spread this icing over the boiled frosting and use the remainder with a small pastry bag and tube for adding the decorations.

TOMMIE GETS BENNIE DOG INTO TROUBLE

Bennie Dog was on his way to the market one morning to get some soup meat for his mother when he met Tommie Cat coming along the road.

"Where are you going?" asked Tommie Cat.

"I am going to market," said Bennie Dog.

"What do you want to go to market for?" said Tommie Cat. "I know where there is a lot of nice bones and meat all cooked and some cake, too. Come with me and I will show you where they are."

"Where is it?" asked Bennie Dog, knowing quite well he should go to market and not stop to talk to Tommie Cat.

"Up at Mr. Man's house on the hill," replied Tommie Cat.

"But how can we get the meat and bones?" asked Bennie Dog. "They won't let us in the pantry, will they?"

"Oh! they have all gone away and the window is open," said Tommie Cat. "Come along. I will not be afraid, but I believe you are. Cats are braver than dogs any day."

"No, they are not," said Bennie Dog. "I'll show you they are not. I'll go with you."

When they reached the house Tommie Cat led Bennie Dog around the back of the house to the pantry window.

"Climb up on this box," he said to Bennie Dog, "and crawl in."

Bennie Dog was afraid if he refused Tommie Cat would think he was not brave, so he got up on the box and sat on the sill of the window.

"I don't see any bones or meat," he said, looking into the pantry, "where are they?"

"Oh! they are on a shelf at the end of the pantry. I saw the cook put them there this morning," said Tommie Cat. "get down and look around."

Bennie Dog jumped on the floor, but he struck a sharp tin and hurt his foot; so he cried out with pain.

"Oh! dear, oh! dear! I am hurt," he said. "I must get out of here and go home; my foot is bleeding."

"Oh, wait and get the bones and meat," said Tommie Cat, looking in the window.

"Oh! Bennie Dog, just hand me that pitcher of cream, will you?" he said.

Bennie Dog gave Tommie Cat the pitcher, and then looked for the bones, but he did not find them, and his foot hurt so much he did not care for bones or meat or anything.

He crawled out of the window and ran home, crying all the way, wondering what he should tell his mother for he knew she would punish him for not going to market, and he did not dare tell her he had been to Mr. Man's house with Tommie Cat, for he knew he had done wrong and his mother would punish him severely if she found it out.

So Bennie Dog told a wrong story about his foot. He told his mother he had cut his foot on a piece of glass on his way to market and had to come home.

Bennie Dog's mother bound up his foot and put him to bed, and Bennie Dog thought he had got out of it very easily. But by and by he awoke and heard Mr. Man in a very angry voice telling his mother he would give Bennie Dog a good whipping the very next time he caught him around his house, for he had tracked him right from his pantry to the very door of Mrs. Dog's house.

Poor Bennie Dog knew it was all up with him and the best way now was to tell all the truth to his mother, so he did.

"And I didn't get any bones or meat, either," whimpered Bennie Dog, "that sly Tommie Cat ran off and left me as soon as he had the pitcher of cream. I hurt my foot and Mr. Man thinks I took the cream, and I didn't do anything but help Tommie Cat to get something he wanted."

"That is the way it always comes out when you go with bad fellows like Tommie Cat," said Bennie Dog's mother; "so let this be a lesson to you to keep out of bad company. Even if you do not think of wrong-doing you will get into trouble if you go with those who think of such things as Tommie Cat did today."

"And you were a coward to let him lead you into it."

"But, mother," he said, "I would not be brave if I was afraid to go with him," said Bennie Dog.

"The one who dares to do right is brave; remember that," said his mother.

"THE LAND OF MYSTERY"

Audience Delighted With Comic Opera Given Under Auspices of B. P. O. Elks

Under the auspices of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. Elks, "The Land of Mystery," an American-Hindu comic opera, composed and directed by Robert P. Skilling, was presented last evening in the Plainfield Theatre. The opera was greatly enjoyed; indeed, it was so successful that it is certain the theatre will be packed tonight and tomorrow night when the opera will be repeated. The big cast was nearly all Plainfield people and amateurs.

The Costumes and Scenery

The costumes were just about all the colors of the rainbow and all the blended tints. Special scenery was provided and the effect was striking. The garden of the Nautchee dancers' pavilion, with the temple of Madura in the distance, was a splendid piece of work, and the jungle was a wealth of color and foliage. The stage has, perhaps, never looked more beautiful than it did last night. Gnomes and fairies moved and flitted about, music sounded among the trees and mechanical stage effects made constant mystery.

The Principals

William J. Tallamy was quite at home in his affluence, and squandered his money like a gentleman, but he was certainly justified in paying a million dollars to the ne'er-do-well, Charles Kroger, to find him a suitable bride, for the head Nautch girl, Miss Juliette Brancati, was the most suitable and well worth the million. The Hindu fakir, Joseph C. Martin, proved an adept at showing samples for the choice of the millionaire, but the samples were not especially inviting until Aphrodite, Miss Edna Mantz appeared, and it looked for a moment as if the search had succeeded but she proved nothing but a chemical product after all. However, the fakir earned his reputation. It was fortunate in one way that the valet, Harry N. Blimm, made such an error as to empty shoe polish into the crucible for he caused the production of Topsy, Mrs. W. F. Hadley, and she helped the fun immensely.

It was no wonder that the ne'er-do-well fell in love with the heiress, Miss Nadie F. Lee; anybody would. The gnome, Edwin H. Bennett, made things lively for a time and turned the tables nicely on the fakir, soon showing himself to be a veritable master of magic. The priest of Madura, R. F. Tallamy, was evidently badly upset by the loss of the magic powder, and no wonder he ordered the arrest of everybody, even if they were not concerned in the robbery, but it was a pity he sent Otto, impersonated by Benjamin Dodwell, into durance vile, for the Dutch companion was a funny fellow and the audience felt his loss. The Nautch girl, Miss Grace Harding, and the temple singing girl, Miss Bessie Gunzelman, were most distinct additions to the cast and greatly aided in the evening's enjoyment.

The Musical Numbers

The singing was, of course, a great feature. It could not have been otherwise, seeing who were in the cast, for it numbered many a well-known singer who has often delighted Plainfield audiences. The opening chorus, "See the Dancing Shadows," was a fine piece of work. "The Recitative" by R. F. Tallamy, Miss Brancati, Miss Gunzelman and Miss Harding was highly appreciated. "We'll Never Go Home," by Kreger and Dodwell, was a most amusing number, and the closing song of the act, "After All," by W. J. Tallamy and the company, will become popular.

In the second act the "Chessy Cats" made a great hit with "Meow," and everybody is singing the cat song today.

In the first scene of the third act the temple guards numbering twelve and dressed as Hindus, sang "My Monkey Millionaire" and fairly brought the house down. The harmony was splendid and the song was applauded to the echo. The singers were recalled time after time. In the fourth scene of this act there were two other numbers that deserve mention, "Farewell, Sweet Vision," in which Miss Lee took the chief part finely, and "Refrain of Chums," by a quartet in which Joseph C. Martin took a fine part.

One of the catchiest songs of all was "Won't You Let Me Be Your Chum," as sung by girls in pantomime costume. This was well done and with a brightness and sparkle that captured everybody.

As this was the first time that the "Land of Mystery" had ever been produced there were some delays, due largely to the unfamiliarity of the stage helpers with the mechanical effects. This, however, will be overcome in future performances and it is expected that there will be no delays tonight or tomorrow evening.

Children will not be taken out of doors tonight.

CONSERVATION OF OUR INDUSTRIES

Educational Talks Under Auspices of Local Organizations at Columbus Auditorium

The conservation of American industries and the preparation for peace times of the nation in the times of war, was the substance of two strong and appealing addresses given at Columbus auditorium last evening under the auspices of the local Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's Association. Judge William Newcorn, president of the Board of Trade, presided, introducing the speakers, Michael J. Hickey, head of the National Industrial Conservation Movement, and Kirk L. Howland, journalist, a special representative of the movement.

Mr. Howland's address dwelt chiefly with the needs of the nation in caring for the industries and foreign commerce of the United States, both for the present and after the conclusion of the war, in which the United States is now engaged. "The doing away with a wasteful nature on the part of our people, the entirely too narrow channels of the American political system, the enlarging of the spirit of legislative action, where capital and commerce is involved, and the creation of a better feeling between employer and employe are all essential to the end which every true citizen of this country desires."

Continuing, he said:

"If I were to single out the employer from the employe—though I prefer to charge both alike with the responsibility of the moment—I would remind the employer that his best asset is happy, contented help, respectful and loyal to him and to the common task. I would seek to impress him with the practical business value of co-operative fellowship. Dissatisfied, discontented help is inefficient help. An economy which wounds the spirit of the worker is false economy. I might cite numerous instances to prove that so-called 'welfare work' actually pays—in dollars and cents—not to mention the satisfaction that every employer feels in having good help in the allies. Every man who realizes the value of a good labor market can help make it a better labor market. The hardest field for the agitator to organize is the one where employer and employe are on terms of friendship. Don't make the mistake of being 'charitable' (which in the industrial relation is a slap in the face to the dignity of the employe) but be just and practical and kind. It can be demonstrated that it pays—in the annual report, in the efficiency of the plant and, above all, in the tone of the community. And let me say right here, that I believe today 95 per cent. of the employers of this country rejoice in paying high wages to their help as much as the help do in receiving it. Cultivate a sense of interest in your helpers and it will go far to inspire a similar feeling in them.

"I would remind the employe that he is blinding himself woefully when he sees in his employer and boss nothing but hard-headed authority and inhuman driving power. If a worker feels no partisan pride in his shop or the fine showing of his organization, it is because he has never been made to feel it or to realize the spirit of team work. It ought to be every man's pride to work for a winning house, a progressive factory, a growing industry. He ought to feel his own duty to make it such. If he succeeds, he ought to be entitled to a fair share of the glory and financial rewards. It is a happy circumstance that prevailing high wages throughout our industrial establishments has been one of the indications of the tremendous period of prosperity which has been the lot of our American manufacturing plants during the past few months. I believe the principle of profit sharing, of industrial pensions and welfare plans of the Indies, while they have been questionable in the introductory stages, are really as much in favor among broad-minded business men today as among the workers themselves. They all mark steps forward in giving the workingman a greater contentment and efficiency.

"Every worker in an industrial plant should be made to realize that its prosperity is his; that its future is his; that the bigger it becomes, the more places will open to him for advancement and expansion. Every community ought to feed a spirit of responsibility for the betterment of its industries. Prosperous establishments make a prosperous town, and many a silly municipality which has considered its industries only as convenient sources of taxation has learned to its sorrow that encouraging, rather than discouraging enterprise is the policy that pays best.

"Put your town and your industry on the map. If your like it, why not tell others about it and encourage them to come in and help make it a better town and a larger town. Coax in the industries by liberal treatment. Study their needs and the things you have which would con-

SUFFRAGE MOVE FOR WAR RELIEF

The First Thousand Enrolled to Work Through the Authorized Channels

Within the past week a thousand members of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, representing every county in the State, have enrolled for various kinds of war service. Included among these are three women doctors, sixty trained and first-aid nurses, 450 Red Cross workers, seventy-five stenographers, typewriters and clerks, one hundred women who will collect money, food or clothing for dependent relatives of men who have enlisted in the army, and over four hundred women who volunteer for many different sorts of work, farming, gardening, home work of various kinds, etc. Twelve women offer motor cars and eight will give the use of a horse and wagon, and driver for same. Four women offer houses as convalescent homes for soldiers.

Mrs. E. F. Feickert, President of the Suffrage Association, commenting on the enrollment of suffragists for war service, says: "We feel very much pleased at the way the suffragists of the State are responding to our appeal for war relief workers. It is not our purpose to duplicate any of the work now being done by the Red Cross, the National Special Aid, the New Jersey Soldiers' Relief Association, the League for Civic Service, or any similar organization. Those of our members who enroll for work which is done by these organizations are asked to work with whichever happens to be organized in their town. In several towns, however, where there are no war relief organizations of any kind, the local Suffrage League is now organizing the women of the town for war service."

A committee on agriculture, to be known as the Suffrage Agriculture Committee, is also about to be formed. The name of the chairman and an outline of the plans of the committee will be announced in a few days.

The official badge of the Suffrage War Relief workers is a small button, with an eagle and crossed American flags on a yellow ground, with the words "Votes for Women—Patriotism."

G. Newell Karner Takes Miss Anna Smith for His Wife at Attractive Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Anna Hand Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Smith, of Netherwood avenue, to G. Newell Karner, son of Mrs. George N. Karner, of Plainfield avenue, took place at 7:30 o'clock last night at the future home of the couple, 1338 East Seventh street. Rev. Dr. J. Madison Taylor, pastor of the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, this city.

The bride's gown was of white satin, trimmed with embroidered silver. She wore a tulle veil and carried bride roses and white lilacs. She was attended by Mrs. Daniel C. Adams, Jr., of this city, as matron of honor, who wore a gown of georgette crepe and taffeta. She carried a shower bouquet of Killarny roses and pink sweet peas. The best man was L. Stanley Karner, of Boston, brother of the bridegroom. The wedding march was played by Miss Clara Karner, a sister of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony there was a reception during which the newly-wedded couple received congratulations and supper was served. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Karner left on a wedding trip.

The bride was the recipient of many gifts. The home was attractively decorated for the affair, palms and daffodils being used chiefly in the arrangement of yellow and white, the prevailing colors.

MOOSE ORDER PLEDGES LOYALTY TO PRESIDENT

Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, Loyal Order of Moose, held its regular meeting Monday night, at which time Past Dictator Geo. J. Egel installed the newly elected officers. Fred Whelan was installed for the second time in the office of dictator. He has filled all the chairs and is a very active worker for this order.

James Cassady was installed a vice-dictator, Geo. Swirbinsky as prelate, P. C. Johnson as inner guard, Andrew Bozack as treasurer and J. T. McCarty as trustee for three years.

The slogan for the coming year was given out by the dictator as "double the order." The report of the audit committee showed the lodge to be in good condition financially with a total membership of 334 in good standing.

A resolution was offered which was unanimously adopted to support the President in his declaration of war and offering the services of every man in the order. A motion was also passed to contribute to the Home Defense League fund.

After the meeting the Good and Welfare Committee supplied a feed and entertainment which was much enjoyed. A baseball team is being organized and all who wish to play are requested to give their names to Frank Ferraro or M. J. Whelan.

GRACE CHURCH GIVES TO JEWISH RELIEF

Judge William Newcorn, chairman of the Jewish War Relief Committee, stated this morning that he had received a liberal contribution from the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, for which his committee is grateful. He also stated that a check for $2,010, the first installment of the cent collections, has been sent to the treasurer of the national committee.

Responses are coming in slowly to the appeal which was sent out some weeks ago, and he says it is his opinion that many who have not yet responded have been too busy with other affairs and that the matter of contributing to the war sufferers' fund has been temporarily postponed. He hopes the delay will not be long, however, as the money is needed for immediate use. The cause is a worthy one and states that the dire need of the Jews has been sufficiently presented to actuate a generous impulse on the part of all who are familiar with the appeal.

"I sincerely hope," concluded Judge Newcorn, "that those who have will find in the circumstances surrounded the war sufferers a reason for emulating the example of the good samaritan."

MISS VAN HORN AN APRIL BRIDE

Becomes the Wife of Dr. D. Russell Miller in Presence of Many Relatives

Miss Miriam Helen Van Horn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Van Horn, of 514 Central avenue, was married to Dr. Russell D. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley S. Miller, of 929 Union street, at 7 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Benjamin H. Everett, of Peekskill, N. Y., an intimate friend of the bride's parents, performed the ceremony in the presence of about one hundred guests, comprising relatives and close friends.

The bride was gowned in faille charmeuse with silver embroidered tulle, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by two maids of honor, Miss Alice R. Van Horn, her sister, and Miss Edith D. Rudderow, of Moorestown, a college friend. Their gowns were of turquoise blue charmeuse and Georgette crepe, trimmed with silver lace. They carried yellow roses.

Miss Charlotte Rebecca Quig, of Delaware, N. J., a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She was gowned in white lingerie, trimmed with turquoise ribbon, and carried a basket of yellow daisies.

The best man was Dr. Raymond Osmun, of Elizabeth, and the ushers Dr. Wilson F. Christian, of Ocean City, and the Rev. Harold W. Schenck, of Nutley, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of this city. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Satterthwaite, of Trenton, also a college friend of the bride.

The home was elaborately decorated for the occasion, with a pleasing arrangement of Southern smilax and daffodils by Stanley, the florist. The ceremony was performed in the parlor. The bride was given in marriage by her father. A reception followed, when supper was served and congratulations were showered upon the popular couple. Early in the evening Dr. and Mrs. Miller left on a wedding trip. They will reside in this city upon their return.

The bride and bridegroom were both graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1910, and four years later Mrs. Miller was graduated from Swarthmore College and the same year Dr. Miller was graduated from the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania. In the high school and college the latter won distinction in athletics and was given many honors. The bride was the recipient of many gifts from relatives and friends.

HOME GUARDS DRILL TONIGHT

New Units Will be Sworn in by Mayor at High School

All members of the Plainfield Home Defense League should meet at the high school gymnasium tonight promptly at 8 o'clock.

Mayor Calkins will swear in the new men, who will also be measured for uniforms.

The Commission has appointed Wm. H. Wherry, Jr., chairman of a sub committee on local resources, and a complete census of the city will shortly be taken. This will supplement the preliminary census recently taken by the boy scouts. Every resident of the city will be expected to give full information regarding himself and family in matters of nationality, place of business, length of residence in city, dependents in family, etc.

The Commission will organize an *automobile brigade of this week, to as*sist in getting the patrols on their posts.

All that is now needed is to have the contributors bring the fund up to the needed amount. It is hoped that interested citizens who have not subscribed and are able to do, will send in their contributions to the Plainfield Trust Company this week.

The census is for the purpose also of aiding the Volunteers' auxiliary in caring for the wants of dependents in the families of men who enlist. The census will be taken this time by the uniformed men of the Defense League, who will be instructed to request the information but not to insist upon it. They will, however, report the names of all residents who refuse. No information will be requested which ought not to be given freely by citizens and aliens alike.

EDDYSTONE DEAD 140; ARREST SUSPECTS

By United Press:

Philadelphia, April 11.—Estimates placed the death toll of the Eddystone disaster yesterday as high as 140. Many of the victims died horrible deaths last night, at various places in Chester. It is believed the death list will reach 150. More than 150 are among the injured. It is feared there may be still other dead in the ruins of the plant.

The fire has subsided and work of identification is going on. Scores of bodies were so charred that it was impossible to identify them.

Two suspects of the plot were arrested today at the Pennsylvania station in Chester. Other arrests will be made.

Scores of employes, not victims, tell that warnings were passed around last week, saying: "Don't come to work Saturday or Monday." It is the belief of detectives that the destruction was the result of a carefully laid plot.

SHOOTS WIFE, LEADS HER TO HOSPITAL AND FLEES

Perth Amboy, April 11.—Attendants at the Perth Amboy Hospital answered a summons to the door early yesterday and found at the entrance a woman with a bullet wound in her cheek. She said she was Mrs. Mary Kubicek, of Green street, and that she had been shot by her husband, Casper Kubicek, who, she said, led her three blocks to the hospital and ran away, after ringing the bell.

No trace has been found of Kubicek. He worked at the boat landings along the river front and only recently was released from the Middlesex county jail, to which he had been sentenced for having beaten his wife.

PRUDENTIAL TO PAY THOSE WHO ENLIST

That the Prudential Insurance Company will continue the salaries of employes now in war service and those who will enlist was stated definitely yesterday. This will apply, it was explained, not only to the home office force, but also to the regular field men, or, in other words, to a total payroll of nearly 30,000.

"Rest assured that this company will do everything in its power to assist," stated Harvey Thomas, supervisor of publications. "We did what we could during the border crisis and are continuing now."

From the first mobilization of the National Guard for Mexican border service the company carried at full pay all guardsmen in its employ. Most of these were mustered out, but a few were in service when the recent call came. This call found in the ranks forty-two employes of the home office. Eleven have enlisted since in various arms of the service.

The company recently extended to July 1 its order that those in service be given full pay. When the guard was called out it was explained that this order would cover all who were thus brought back to the ranks and many others who might enlist.

Such an order, explained Mr. Thomas, can be carried three months only. It would be extended another three months, he said, on its expiration.

For some time the company has been helping to finance a training corps among its home office employes.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to set on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Relieves Stomach Distress in Five Minutes

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is cause of the food fermentation and preventing proper digestion.

Relief in five minutes is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache, for many months. It belongs in your home.—Adv.

BOROUGH BOYS TO CUT HIGH COST OF LIVING

Yesterday noon in the high school auditorium, Principal Earley, of N. P. H. S., addressed the boys on the cadet movement which is gaining much publicity since the declaration of war with Germany. The purpose of this movement, as explained by Principal Earley, is to form and instruct a company of boys throughout every high school in the country, who will utilize every spare tract of land not now under cultivation to assist in reducing the high cost of living, which is now rapidly becoming a serious question, and which will affect the poorer classes very seriously if the present situation is not remedied.

Mr. Earley said the plan in view in the borough, which has been sanctioned by Mayor Smalley, was for a company of boys of N. P. H. S. to be formed who will devote a portion of their time from now until June and possibly throughout the summer, to cultivating all the ground possible with garden products. No definite ideas of obtaining farming implements needed, the seed and other necessities, have been advanced as yet but according to Mr. Earley, the Mayor of North Plainfield will very soon issue a proclamation to the effect and a public meeting will be called to discuss ways and means of carrying out this commendable work.

After closing his talk Mr. Earley asked for a vote of the boys on the matter to show their willingness to co-operate with the authorities on the subject. The vote was carried without a dissenting vote and several of those present expressed a willingness to dispense with the coming baseball season if necessary.

SCHENCK GETS BUILDING PERMIT

North Plainfield Council Granted It Last Night—Other Routine

Mrs. William C. Force appeared before the North Plainfield Common Council last night, and protested against the granting of a permit to E. C. Schenck to remodel a two-family house in Somerset street, near Mercer avenue, so that it will afford accommodations for four families.

This matter came before the council one month ago and it was then thought that permission would have to be obtained from the Tenement House Commission before the construction work could be started.

The Tenement House Commission was appealed to, and Mayor Smalley was advised that the improvements proposed to be made by Mr. Schenck were not of a character which would give the commission jurisdiction in the matter.

Mr. Schenck has convinced the council that the proposed improvement will make the structure absolutely fire proof, and inasmuch as the council can only exercise authority, to the end that fire menace may be guarded against in the construction of buildings, there was nothing to do but grant Mr. Schenck a permit.

Mrs. Force was greatly disappointed at the action taken, and said, "the affairs of this borough are being conducted mighty funny."

Mayor Smalley replied that she was probably correct, and went on to say that officials of the borough are trying to be just to every one, and that her case had received respectful attention, and the facts presented left the officials but one course to pursue and that was to grant a permit to Mr. Schenck.

Mrs. Force went on to make further observations respecting public affairs, when Councilman Milne moved a point of order and the colloquy came to a close.

The Dutch Arms Band sent a communication to the council advising that body that the band will willingly contribute its service at any time for patriotic demonstrations.

The sum of $10 was appropriated for the State League of Public Safety.

A license to lay drains was granted to Charles M. Raybert.

Sewer Inspector Walker reports 89 sewer permits granted last month, making a total of 430, and 51 house connections were made, bringing the total up to 281.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the tax collector to cancel $519 poll tax which is uncollectable owing to the death or removal from the borough of the persons taxed.

An ordinance changing the name of Chatham street, east of Watchung avenue, to Brook avenue, was adopted on third reading.

The sum of $27 was appropriated to buy two electric dollar lamps for use of the fire department.

Building permits were granted as follows: H. B. Apgar, house Watchung avenue near Johnston's Drive; A. H. Van Arsdale, garage, Mountain avenue; Ida L. Lippincott, barn, Fairview avenue; C. J. Feller, barn, Pearl street; U. G. Pierson, barn, Fairview avenue.

MRS. JAMES R. BRYAN HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Aged Resident Celebrates 85th Anniversary of Her Natal Day

Surrounded by her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and a few intimate friends, Mrs. Lydia Louise Bryan, widow of Rev. Dr. James Rogers Bryan, celebrated the eighty-fifth anniversary of her birthday yesterday. The relatives arranged a party for the afternoon. The affair was marked by many pleasing features, all of which were greatly enjoyed by the celebrant. The grandchildren and great-grandchildren entered the reception room carrying beautiful flowers which they presented to Mrs. Bryan one at a time.

Mrs. Bryan received a large number of beautiful floral gifts, all of which she appreciated and especially a bunch of Easter lilies given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist church, of which she is one of the oldest members. There was a birthday cake bearing the date "1832" which Mrs. Bryan admired very much. Among the congratulatory messages was one from her daughter, Mrs. William W. Chandler, of Chicago, who was unable to be present.

Mrs. Bryan was born at Harrisonville, this State, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Harker. She spent her early life at Mt. Holly, living with her uncle, Aaron Harker. She was married in Vincentown to Dr. Bryan, who for fifty-five years was a minister in the Methodist church, chiefly in New Jersey. He was pastor of the First Methodist church this city in the early seventies, and will be remembered by the older residents for his determined fight against the liquor traffic.

Mrs. Bryan, despite her advanced years, is enjoying excellent health and entered into the spirit of yesterday's festivities with considerable pleasure. She recalled a number of interesting incidents of her early life brought to her mind at different times throughout the day.

Among those present were: Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Bryan, of Asbury Park; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Reichelm, Mrs. Annetta Bryan, Col. and Mrs. Claude Edwards and son Howard, of Bayonne; Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Morse and daughter, Carolyn, of Newark; Mrs. W. H. Wilson and daughter, Eleanor, of East Orange; Mrs. Louise Bryan Dorr. The last named is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Bryan. Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Wilson are grandchildren. Another granddaughter, Mrs. George Matile, wife of Lieutenant Matile, of the 26th U. S. A. Infantry, now in Texas, could not attend the celebration. The other guests included Dr. Daniel C. Adams, Mrs. O. L. Jenkins and Mrs. Addie Winster, intimate friends of the family.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

"ELEVEN P. M."

By PAUL M. POTTER, AUTHOR of the FAMOUS "TRILBY"

Note—This attraction closes a three months' engagement in Boston, Mass., Saturday, April 14th; plays Plainfield and one other New Jersey city, and then goes to Chicago, opening there at the Illinois Theatre for an all-Summer run.

READ THIS CRITICISM

Miss Blanche Bates, America's foremost actress, has scored a triumph in her new romantic comedy entitled "ELEVEN P. M." Miss Bates has that rare charm of perennial beauty and youth, with such graces of lovely personality as few artists enjoy. In her new play by Paul M. Potter, the well known author of "Trilby," Miss Bates is cast as Fanny Lear, a queen of the half world, humorous, sincere, and in a conventional way, good, but the owner of a considerable past. In the dual role of Fanny Lear, greatest dancer in Paris, and the Countess of Kew, she gives a graceful, forceful portrayal, splendidly emotional in the big scenes, while her keen sense of comedy is shown with fine spirit and perfect good taste, fully up to the high standard in which her name is synonymous.

In her brilliant career on the stage, Miss Bates, under the management of Charles Frohman and David Belasco, has scored many successes in plays written especially for her, notably "Under Two Flags" "The Darling of the Gods," "Madame Butterfly," "Nobody's Widow," "The Girl of the Golden West" and "The Fighting Hope." Her managers, T. H. Hunter, Inc., have assembled together an incomparable supporting company which she honors as the star, and every member of the cast is a satellite in the theatrical firmament. Not since the days of Augustin Daly's celebrated company and the memorial performances of the Irving-Terry Company has such a notable cast of finished players been assembled. It is the nearest approach to an all-star cast ever extant for many years. Miss Bates has supplied a model all-star cast even extant for many years. A TIME FOR COOL HEADS AND NOT COLD FEET

Whatever may be the political result of the severance of diplomatic relations on the part of the United States with the Central Powers there is no reason for panic, nor even ground for serious apprehension for the immediate future on the part of the American manufacturer with respect to the continuance of the general volume of our export and import trade. Assuming even the most that can be expected of the submarine warfare on the part of its sponsors, this, while resulting in cutting off a large proportion of our trade with western Europe, would, at the same time, operate to add to affiliate a still larger volume of trade on the part of the allied countries with their colonies and neutral nations, necessitating those countries and colonies seeking in American markets sources of supply for the goods heretofore obtained from the blockaded lands. Taking into consideration the volume of exports of the United Kingdom alone we find by the figures issued by the Board of Trade for the calendar year 1916 that they amounted in value to $2,500,000,000, of which about $200,000,000, or less than one-eighth, came to the United States, leaving over two billions ($2,100,000,000) of dollars' worth of goods to be supplied to other markets in case British exports should be wholly stopped. Of course, a very large proportion of this quantity went to France and Italy, but to offset this, in part at least, is also the large amount of export trade which Italy and France have done with neutral countries despite the exigencies of the great war, which if stopped would require the neutral nations to seek chiefly in the United States. The area of submarine warfare is not likely to be greatly changed, as naval authorities deem it imperative for those powers to secure their aims that they should concentrate their submarine energies in the waters of the western group of the Entente Powers as limited by the declared boundaries of the blockade war zone. This would leave the waters of the great oceans practically as safe as they are at present. Consequently, a possible curtailment of trade with western Europe by submarine warfare will necessarily operate to open up additional opportunities for business in the regions which cannot be materially affected by submarine operations and which include the rich markets of all Latin America, Asia, Australasia and Africa. As a precedent of interest in this connection it is well to keep in mind that notwithstanding the state of war existing between Japan and the Central Powers, the Japanese export trade (outside of munitions) has greatly increased as the war has progressed.

JEWISH PEOPLE IN THE WAR

Never in the history of the world, perhaps, have the Jewish people had the chance that is offered them now to do something for their race. A writer of a recent article says the Jew has fought for every people, under every flag and always has been loyal to the land of his adoption, and now is the time for him to do something for his own race. In Russia, where he has been persecuted for ages, is the chance for him to come into his own in the revolution which has overturned the old order of things and deposing the house of Romanoff has taken a step toward democracy. The Jew has fought on the side of his persecutors when those persecutors have been at war with some other nation, but never got anywhere. Now a new vista opens for the race in a democratized Russia, which must recognize the people who long have been persecuted. The writer referred to says: "The ghosts of countless Jewish martyrs who perished beneath the yoke of serfdom call him to join his brothers in the battle line to down Prussianism. He suffered in the war against Japan for preservation of the faith of his fathers, but this is a holier war—a war of freedom from the serf's yoke and from religious persecution. I do not believe that the Jews of America will ever see that red hat standing for what it stands for, hauled down. To keep it where it is in the wind the Jew of America today is needed in Mesopotamia and on the Riga—wherever the Russian armies are fighting for the right. Ears are straining over frozen steppes to hear the sound of his coming. The millions of Jews here can contribute more than moral and financial support to the men who are battling for free Russia and Jewish liberty. They can contribute all the man power and equipment that are needed. The Jew of America is rich and proud. He is patriotic. Let it not be said that he has forsaken the religion of Abraham and of Moses, that he will not again fight, as he has fought of old, for Judaism. It is time for the Jew of America to rise to aid his own starry banner and the flag of New Russia. It is time for him to take up the battle cry of democracy and of the civilized world—'Down with the Romanoffs and the Hohenzollern! On to Berlin!'"

TO BE FORGOTTEN

Commenting upon "some who may well hope to be forgotten" the New York Herald says:

"In 1898 the United States went to war to obtain liberty for a comparatively small portion of the human race; in 1917 the United States goes to war to do its full part toward preserving liberty to the world. In 1898 a few members of Congress voted against the war resolution. They have been forgotten. To be forgotten will be the mildest fate of those members of Congress who in this great crisis put themselves on record in opposition to the nation's fighting a righteous fight in behalf of its own and the world's liberty. Their rightful portion will be remembrance for the shame attaching to their names. The Stones and the Vardamans protest too much. Their loud professions of loyalty serve only to draw attention to the persistency of their efforts to promote the division among the American people upon which Prussianism has banked so strongly. They, however, are not the worst offenders. Strictly parliamentary language is wholly inadequate for comment upon the assertions of Senator Norris that 'a large number of newspapers and news agencies have been controlled, and enlisted in the greatest propaganda that the world has ever known to manufacture sentiment for war' and that the country is 'war mad,' because under the influence of that old and familiar bogie born in Nebraska, the Money Devil. It is significant the Norrises, the Callaways and the Tavenners are careful to confine their slanders of the newspapers to the privileged debates of Congress. Otherwise, were they so careless as to name names they would run afoul of the courts. Taken as a whole, the newspaper press of this country refrained from calling for war until war was made upon this country by Germany. The American people have no reason to doubt the patriotism of American newspapers; they wish they could say the same thing with regard to some American politicians. It is a serious reflection upon Nebraska when a Republican Senator feels that the only way to hold office by grace of the voters of that State is to outcommon the Commoner. That, however, gives Mr. Norris no license to slander the American press and the American people."

RIGHT KIND OF SENTIMENT

At this time when the call comes to stand up and be counted it is refreshing and pleasing to the American citizen to hear a voice from Venezuela like this:

"The United States has just declared war on Germany. In this time, one of the gravest in the history of this country, I think it is the duty of every foreign citizen to pledge loyalty to the flag under whose protection he is living and to the country who has given him shelter. I want to let you and the American people know of the loyalty and sympathy of the citizens from Venezuela, South America, in this country, of whom I am one. I saw the other day in a report that the Venezuelan Government prohibited the newspapers from publishing any article not pleasant to the German Minister in Caracas, our capital. If this is true, let it be known that in my country the acts of the Government are not the voice and wishes of the people. I am willing and ready to fight our common enemy, the enemy of mankind. We will fight for liberty as Washington, Bolivar and Miranda did. The soul and sons of Latin America are with the United States and the Allies, the defenders of liberty."

SPRING ADVERTISING

There is a good argument for advertising at every time of the year, but at no period is it stronger than in the spring. Everyone then wants something new. People are tired of the same thing on their tables, and new delicacies and novelties appeal to them. It is a great time for promotion for the sale of new lines or to introduce any kind of a product to people who don't know about it. In dry goods and clothing lines everyone is buying. In household furniture and supplies it is a time of renewals. But people do not spend all this money aimlessly. They feel keenly the high prices and are looking around sharply to see where they can get the most for their money. Bargains advertised in the newspapers get the bulk of the trade. And the merchant that advertises gets his name before the public and it feels interested to try him out.

GET BACK OF THE PRESIDENT

Now is the time for all good men to give their undivided fealty to the President of the United States. It is the hour for certain pens to forget that they have been opposed to his policies and to get behind him and shove with all the strength of their hearts and tongues. It would seem to be about the hour, also, for certain newspapers and volunteer cabinets to begin to realize that the President, the Cabinet and General Staff are responsible and not they. After all, wasn't it wiser to have waited and been right than to have dashed in pellmell, merely hoping to be right?—Newark Evening News.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There are many people who believe that if we are humble toward Germany she will give our sailors an hour or two longer to prepare their minds for getting drowned.

The long-distance running record, originally held by the Austrians, then captured from them by the Roumanians, seems now to be safely in the hands of the Turks.

Some Congressmen are practicing their speeches for the next session, but it is doubtful if any of them are getting any more information about pending matters.

SOMERVILLE NOTES

LICENSES FOR SOMERSET COUNTY

Millstone road became a trail across the Sahara yesterday when Justice Charles W. Parker, sitting with County Judge Daniel H. Beekman, laid over the license applications of William Greasheimer and J. Becker, at Manville-Weston, and W. J. Simmons, at East Millstone. Not an oasis is left between the Somerset and Middlesex county seats by way of the Millstones. Hope of relief through other channels was blasted when Justice Parker warned wholesalers not to sell outside the municipality in which they were licensed. One other license was held over, namely that of John Bailey, at Bernardsville.

The Simmonds application was laid over until April 20, the Hailby application until April 27, and the Becker and Greasheimer applications until May 8. As all the licenses expired at noon yesterday the bars are closed for business. There was a remonstrance against all of the houses excepting Becker's.

The remonstrance against Mr. Greasheimer comes not as a rebuke to him but from the mutual condition of affairs in the Manville section. Drunkenness is said to be prevalent because many people are securing liquor illegitimately, not through any fault of the proprietors of the hotels, whose licenses were laid over yesterday as through the conduct of residents of the community.

The following licenses were granted yesterday morning:

Inns and Taverns — Centennial Hotel, George Huff, John Mihaly, James Barone, Raritan; Ellis Sutton, Pottersville; William Smith, J. J. Brigeman, Julius Gscheidle, Joseph Romano, Somerville; Anna E. Allen, Liberty Corner; Peter Kneidesscheida, Chimney Rock; Frank Proehl, New Plainfield; Henry Pededous, Warrenville; Jacob J. Maurer, George Schofield, S. Louise Fisher, L. W. Du Four, Theodore Staats, Bound Brook; William Howard, Bedminster; John E. Schwab, Bernardsville; Andrew R. Holcomb, Neshanic Station; Daniel B. Hoffman, Rocky Hill.

Somerset Grand Jury Selected

The following persons were selected yesterday to serve on the Grand Jury for the April term:

William P. Bowman, foreman, Branchburg township; Philip Lindsley, Bridgewater; Walter D. Wheat, Bernards; Edwin G. Reynolds, South Bound Brook; Frank T. Ross, Somerville; George Stonaker, Kingston; Arthur C. Swinton, Raritan; M. F. Gano, North Plainfield; Charles Brophy, Skillman; Allen B. Laing, North Plainfield; George R. Layton, Bedminster; James Vosseller, Bound Brook; William J. Kirby, Somerville; Elias Baker, Franklin Park; Henry R. Kennedy, North Plainfield; H. L. Seltzer, Somerville; Walter L. Ballentine, Peapack; S. Manning Wyckoff, Millstone; William I. Robinson, Belle Mead; Theodore L. Abbott, Martinsville; John C. Lane, Neshanic; Edward Martins, Watchung; Samuel Townsend, North Plainfield.

The principal case for the consideration of the jury is that of a North Plainfield colored girl who is being held on a serious charge.

Justice Parker told the jury that during war times it was possible that they might find cause to indict for treason, sedition and other similar offenses and outlined the law covering such cases. He also called the attention of the jury to alleged infractions of the election law, said to have taken place at the last general election but which had not been brought to the attention of the last Grand Jury.

Pythians Hold Big Meeting

Over 150 prominent Pythians were present Monday evening at a booster campaign meeting held by Lodge of the Castle, No. 82, Knights of Pythias, in the lodge room on West Main street, Pythians from all over the Supreme Domain were among those who took part in the meeting which was led by Supreme Representative William D. Quick. During the evening a membership campaign was started and two teams of 20 members each organized. H. W. Moosbrugger is captain of one and C. H. Mathews of the other.

The deceased leaves two sons and two daughters. He served on the Union side during the Civil War and had a remarkable career. Although in 48 actions, he was never wounded or captured.

Classis of Raritan at Somerville

The regular spring meeting of the Classis of Raritan was held yesterday morning in the First Reformed chapel. The sermon was preached by the retiring president, Rev. Henry Jean Wahl, pastor of the Fourth Reformed church, of Somerville. Rev. E. G. Read, D. D., of Plainfield, became president, and Rev. H. R. Furbeck, temporary clerk. Delegates to Particular Synod, which meets at Ridgewood, May 1, were elected.

Judge Silzer Sitting

BURNS FATAL TO LITTLE APGAR CHILD

J. Newton Apgar, the fifteen-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Apgar of Lincoln avenue was fatally burned yesterday at the parents' residence, this place, by crawling into an open fireplace. The child died late in the afternoon from its injuries at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield.

This sad accident happened about 11 o'clock in the forenoon when Mrs. Apgar stepped into the dooryard to hang a few clothes on the line, and left the little boy with the sister, Ellnore, three years of age, alone in the house. The mother had been in the yard but a short time when her attention was attracted to the little girl who was tapping on the window pane evidently calling for assistance. Mrs. Apgar rushed into the house where she found her child in flames. There had been a fresh fire built in the fire place early in the day, but it was supposed to have burned itself out soon afterwards. Mrs. Apgar, almost frantic with fright, and the shock attending the affair, soon smothered the burning garments, badly scorching her own hands in extinguishing the flames.

Drs. M. J. Whitford and T. H. Platt were summoned and with the aid of neighbors, gave medical assistance. Later the little boy was taken in a taxicab to Muhlenberg Hospital. The lower portion of the child's body was terribly burned. He survived only a few hours after reaching the hospital.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the parents' residence, 604 Lincoln avenue. Interment will take place at Hillside cemetery, Plainfield.

That in Union county there are 8,800 acres of land lying idle and 600 acres in the town which are not in cultivation. He said that this land should be cultivated and that the town council should see to it that the owners of these vacant lots kept them looking as nice as they did their lawns in front of their homes. He said that the time that so much land was going to waste and it was not producing as much as it should. He suggested that a teacher in the schools be employed 12 months in the year instead of 10 and that this teacher could supervise the home gardens afternoons and on Saturdays.

Others who spoke in favor of the gardens were Mrs. Davis, who is the general secretary of the Child's Welfare League and A. L. Russell, Mayor Evans was made temporary chairman of the meeting.

GERALDINE FARRAR AT PROCTOR'S APRIL 16-17-18

Geraldine Farrar, the noted opera star, portrays the role of Joan de Arc in the photoplay spectacle, "Joan the Woman," to be shown at Proctor's on April 16, 17, 18, after the completion of its record-breaking run at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre, New York City.

Miss Farrar has seen the production of "Joan the Woman," which is founded upon the career of the immortal maid of Orleans at least a dozen times, carefully studying her own work on every foot of the film. She says that she has found that some excellent film actresses do not show sufficient interest in their own work after their pictures are produced and therefore do not correct their own faults. Moreover, she says every picture artist owes it to the public as well as to herself to scrutinize her own work impartially as well as to watch the work of other artists.

HUNT FOR PLOT IN 150 DEATH BLAST

Federal Agents Probing Eddystone Explosion.

Chester, Pa., April 11.—Up to an early hour this morning more than 125 bodies had been taken from the ruins of the destroyed shell loading house at the Eddystone plant here, and it was feared the death list might exceed 150.

Scores of the 650 workers in or near the building, most of them girls, were blown to bits or so terribly riddled by flying splinters of steel that they died later.

Nearly eighteen tons of black powder, ignited in some way not yet determined, set off 10,000 shrapnel shells in the loading and inspecting building, completely demolishing that structure and causing a series of detonations that shook a half dozen boroughs within a radius of ten miles of the munition plant.

Officials of the company asserted they were absolutely convinced that some person not connected with it had caused the explosion, the intimation being that some German agent was responsible for it.

It was reported that several of the workers in the loading department of the company had been warned by letter and through circulars that the building was to be blown up, but this could not be verified, largely for the reason that those who are in the hospitals are either so frightfully mangled or so unbalanced from shock and fright that they are not able to tell a connected story.

Alba B. Johnson, head of the Baldwin Locomotive works, which owns the plant, however, lays the explosion to accident or carelessness.

Several persons have been taken into custody pending an investigation, one of them being John Sickel, formerly a sailor on the German auxiliary cruiser Prince Eitel Friedrich. Sickel, who said he had escaped from the vessel with several of his comrades, was seen near one of the gates several hours before the explosion and was taken in charge by the guards of the munition works.

The shrapnel was being loaded for the Russian government.

YEAR BEFORE U. S. SENDS OVER TROOPS

War Department Anxious to Avoid England's Mistakes.

Washington, April 11.—No units of the American army, national guard or other military forces will be sent to the battle front in Europe for use in the war against the German government, according to present plans of the administration, until a total of approximately a million men have been placed in training. The war plan as it now stands follows:

First.—To utilize the navy in every possible way in joint operations with the British and French navies against the German sea forces and their submarine operations.

Second.—To munition the entente allies to the fullest possible extent without interference with the manufacture of American munitions.

Third.—To make an immediate loan of $1,000,000,000 to the Allies.

Fourth.—To do everything possible toward providing England with foodstuffs to offset the operations of the German U-boat campaign.

Fifth.—To train a million men the first year and another million men the next year, none of which is to be sent to the battle front in Europe until the first million is ready and plans are completed for keeping this force supplied in the field.

Sixth.—To utilize this force of a million men if necessary to turn the tide against the Germans in the great war.

High officials of the war department and members of the general staff of the army are strongly opposed to the dispatch of any American land forces to Europe at this time either under command of Colonel Roosevelt, formed in a separate division of volunteers or as a unit from the national guard or regular army.

Colonel Roosevelt in a forty-five minute conference with President Wilson at the White House strongly urged his plan for a division of volunteers to be sent to France at the earliest possible moment, but the president was noncommittal on the plan.

SEVEN BILLION FIRST WAR LOAN

U. S. to Hurl Huge Financial Broadside at Foes.

$3,000,000,000 FOR PRESIDENT

He and Secretary McAdoo to Direct the Distribution Among Entente Governments—Bill Will Pass House Tomorrow or Friday—Wilson Firm on Selective Conscription Plan Despite Opposition in Congress.

Washington, April 11.—"Billions for defense" is the revised war slogan of the United States. Billions, seven of them, will be hurled against Germany, and Washington as well as Paris, London and Rome is convinced that billions will win the war.

The billions will soon be ready. Bonds and certificates of indebtedness totaling $7,000,000,000 are authorized in a bill which was reported out by the ways and means committee of the house this morning. This is the first real work of a "war congress."

The bill authorizes bond issues of $5,000,000,000, three-fifths of which is to be used by the secretary of the treasury for the purchase of bonds to be issued by unnamed foreign governments, and the rest is to be used for purposes of national security and defense as authorized by congress.

In addition the secretary is authorized to issue treasury certificates of indebtedness not exceeding $2,000,000,000 to run one year. Both bonds and certificates will bear interest at 3½ per cent and will be convertible to higher interest rates if subsequent issues bear higher rates.

Applications In Already.

Application for allotments of the proposed $5,000,000,000 bond issue have reached the treasury department in such quantity that the administration believes the success of the issue already is assured.

By the terms of the bill the president and under him Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo become probably the greatest money lenders of all time. They have under their control the proceeds of $3,000,000,000 in bonds, and the only restriction placed on their use of that money is that they purchase the securities of "foreign governments" unnamed and undescribed in the bill.

The wide latitude given to the president in the handling of this immense credit in effect gives him a secret war chest of $3,000,000,000, with the proceeds of which, while they must go to "foreign governments," he can wield a great influence in the war councils of the nations fighting Germany.

The bill expressly leaves to the discretion of the president and the secretary of the treasury the methods of issuing the bonds, the date of maturity—everything except the rate of interest they are to bear. No provision is made at this time for their retirement beyond the authorization to the secretary of the treasury to retire those used to cover foreign bonds held by the United States in the event that the foreign bonds are redeemed at a time when the government bonds are due. Furthermore, if government held foreign bonds are redeemed at a time when none of the $3,000,000,000 issue is due the secretary is authorized to apply such moneys to other United States obligations outstanding and due.

Canal Bonds Also.

The authorization for the issue of $2,000,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness indicates clearly that the revenue raising plans of the Democrats contemplate this amount annually in excess of the anticipated normal revenues from the tariff, the internal revenue taxes and the provisions of the revenue bill passed last winter.

Chairman Kitchin explained that the certificates of indebtedness merely would anticipate increased revenues expected from future revenue legislation. The original draft of the bill prepared by Secretary McAdoo proposed that these certificates should run for two years.

The provisions for converting all bonds issued for the support of the war are made to apply to any bonds issued in the future, the 3 per cent bonds issues of last season, upward of $800,000,000, and Panama canal bonds authorized but not issued being specifically included in the bill. The measure specifically authorizes the use of the Panama canal bonds to reimburse the treasury for direct appropriations toward the construction of the canal. Under the conversion features these 3 per cent bonds will be issued at 3½ per cent, and with the $5,000,000,000 new issue will be subject to conversion to a higher rate of interest in the event that subsequent issues bear the higher rate.

With the exception of a few unimportant changes in phraseology the bill was accepted by the committee in exactly the form suggested by Secretary McAdoo. There is a possibility that an attempt will be made to amend the conversion features of the measure from the floor, though this will not develop into a formidable movement. There was absolutely no partisan alignment shown in the committee.

Following the reporting of the bill the measure will lie over one day under the rules of the house and will be taken up for consideration tomorrow. Majority Leader Kitchin said that the measure would be passed that day or Friday.

President Wilson refuses to consider a compromise between voluntary enlistment and conscription proposed by Representative Anthony of Kansas, Republican member of the military affairs committee, whom the president had called to the White House to urge his support of the administration's army program.

The president takes the position that the volunteer system is afforded a sufficient test by the plan which looks to it for the recruiting of the regular army and the organized militia up to full war strength. There now exists a shortage of approximately 300,000 men. It is held that if, as is now indicated, the volunteer system fails to fill this quota it will have sufficiently demonstrated its weakness.

While there is apparently at present a very strong opposition to conscription proposals, there is no reason to believe either that the military affairs committee will turn down the war department's plan or that the house will fall in line up behind the expert judgment of the military officers of the government. In the debate on the army bill several senators have said they will oppose conscription until the failure of a volunteer plan of recruiting an army has been tried and been found wanting.

Southern members of congress appear to be the most hostile to compulsory service, but the feeling is not confined to that section of the country. Several senators from middle western states probably will vote against that feature of the army bill.

WILL STAND BY U. S.

Peru and Guatemala to Aid—Chile and Mexico Neutral.

Washington, April 11.—Much of the uncertainty as to Latin America's attitude in the war between the United States and Germany has been cleared away by definite advices that Chile and Mexico will remain neutral, and increasing indications that Brazil, Guatemala and Peru will join Cuba and Panama on the side of the United States.

The decision of Chile, the first of the American republics to announce her neutrality, caused some surprise among officials here. It was expected she would break after Brazil had announced her decision. Mexico's decision caused no surprise. Reports of Carranza's pro-American attitude have not been credited by officials here.

SECRETARY M'ADOO.

He Wants Seven Billions as First War Loan Issue.

The secretary of the treasury is one Washington's most enthusiastic horseback riders. Even a little matter like financing a war that will start off with $7,000,000,000 does not keep him from the saddle when there is the slightest chance.

BRITISH GAINS GROW LARGER

Supreme Battle of Ages May Be Fought In France.

RAGING ON FIFTY MILE FRONT

Germans Rushing Reserves to Stem Tide Headed by Canadians and Start Giant Counter Attack—More Than 8,000 Prisoners and Forty Guns Captured From Teutons—"Hindenburg Line" Menaced by Steady Progress After Taking of the Famous Vimy Ridge.

London, April 11.—Inferno is loose on the west front, a thousandfold more hellish than that which Dante visualized, yet it is but the prelude to the twentieth century battle expected by many to be the last bloody war in the world war in which Britons and Teutons are grappling.

Upon a fifty miles front—from Lens down to the gates of St. Quentin—they are locked in the supreme struggle for mastery. The British after thirty-six hours of steady smashing ahead are still the masters of the initiative, still victoriously rushing on in ceaseless storming waves, ripping wider and wider gashes into the Teuton wall of steel and iron. In the fore are still the Canadians, heroes of Vimy ridge, the capture of which made possible the "big push" now under way.

Germans Rushing Aid.

But everywhere the Teuton backbone is being stiffened by endless columns of reserves rushed to the endangered lines. "They did not break through," the German war office announced, though admitting heavy losses to two divisions—40,000 men. But Sir Douglas Haig is determined to break through. The crisis is at hand. Hindenburg's strategy is still playing a waiting game. Within forty-eight hours he must show his hand.

More than 8,000 prisoners, more than forty guns, were the captures so far counted up. It is estimated that more than 12,000 prisoners and nearly a hundred guns will be recorded, the figures covering the operations since the British drive began.

Expect Drive at Rheims.

"Fighting continues throughout the whole battle front," says the official report.

Three possibilities loom up:

There are more signs of German intention to launch a powerful offensive between Rheims and Verdun, either in the region of the Cathedral City itself or in the Champagne, relying on the firmness of the defense lines considerably behind the positions under British assault. The French war office has ordered the evacuation of Rheims by the civilian population. The city has been under a steady Teuton shell rain for many days.

There is the possibility of a voluntary German retirement from the Lens-St. Quentin front, with the eventuality of taking up the strong front from Lille to Lens. Even the most optimistic experts are puzzled by the swift crumbling of the Teuton defense of Vimy ridge. Here the French in 1915 lost 100,000 men in vain assaults, the British later lost 60,000 when they tried to take Lens from the north.

The consequences of a British "break through." That would mean the retirement of the German armies from all of France.

"Yankee Doodle" Heard.

"Yankee Doodle Came to Town," the "town" being Vimy ridge, for that was one of the tunes to which the Canadians stormed the northern end of the "bastion of the German defense," while their comrades cleared the east slope of struggling Teutons. There were many other American tunes, mostly ragtime, mingled with the roar of the guns.

The Germans did not lie' go of Vimy ridge without dogged resistance. "We were fighting," it is described in the British headquarters statement—and that usually implies severe losses on both sides. But for Vimy ridge no price has been regarded too high.

This powerfully fortified range of heights, between 300 and 500 feet altitude, towers over the broad plain south of Lens and west of Douai. Down into this plain the British—the Canadians in the fore—fought, battling tooth and nail, with Teutons defending every yard tooth and nail.

Meanwhile other British contingents extended the push to the northward, taking the village of Fampoux and neighboring defenses north and south of the Scarpe, some three and a half miles northeast of Arras.

WAR PLEA FAILS IN LIGHT PROBE

Utility Board to Fix Public Service Property Value.

MAY POSTPONE FURTHER ACTION

President McCarter's Request For Postponement of Investigation Because of International Situation Rejected. Electric Rate Charges Will Be Thoroughly Gone Into by State Board.

Trenton, April 11.—In the face of renewed and vigorous opposition from President Thomas N. McCarter of the Public Service corporation, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has announced its determination to proceed with the investigation of rates charged by the Public Service Electric company, at least to the point of ascertaining the value of the company's physical property.

President Dodge, in making the announcement for the board, informed Mr. McCarter that when the value of the property has been ascertained the board would entertain a motion to postpone further proceedings pending the termination of the present national crisis.

President McCarter had based his previous application for indefinite postponement upon the ground that the Public Service corporation should not be embarrassed at this time, but should be permitted to devote all its energies to aiding the country by extending its facilities for service, protecting its vast properties throughout the state and giving whatever other assistance might be within its power.

ACKERMAN SHOWS FIGHT.

Wants Hudson Boulevard Commissioners Ordered to Retain Him.

Trenton, April 11.—Mandamus proceedings have been instituted in the supreme court by Henry Ackerman to compel the Hudson County boulevard commissioners to recognize him as one of their number, and Justice Swayze has allowed a rule requiring Edward Schiff and Adolph E. Ladue, members of the board, to show cause in Jersey City April 21 why Ackerman should not be seated.

In an opinion filed by Justice Kalisch in the supreme court last week it was held that Justice Swayze had jurisdiction when, after a recount of the votes, he revoked the certificate of election issued to Paul Seglie and directed that a new certificate be issued to Ackerman upon the ground that the recount showed that the latter was the successful candidate for the office at the last general election.

According to an affidavit filed by Ackerman, he has been denied admission to the board's meetings and charges that Seglie is usurping the office.

FIRE MANIAC ARRESTED.

Once Freed, Gives Himself Up as Mullica Incendiary.

Woodbury, April 11.—A barn on the farm of Thomas Costello, near Mullica Hill, was set afire and destroyed. Only the live stock was saved. Lawrence Rose was arrested on a charge of incendiarism, but was released. Afterward he walked to this city and gave himself up to Warden Mager, saying he did the work.

In explanation he said he had been in jail several times for setting fire to buildings, that he had a mania for fires and could not resist any temptation. Mayor Ladd committed the man to jail.

SCHOOL CROPS ARE UP.

Garden Plots in Belvidere Show Early Planting Effect.

Belvidere, April 11.—Vegetables planted in the school garden at the New Village school are already through the ground, according to report made to the office of the Warren county superintendent of schools here. Girls join with the boys in cultivating the school garden, and the work this year promises to be more extensive and more thorough than ever because of the encouragement given by Governor Edge.

Pastor Offers Services as Chaplain.

Vineland, April 12.—The Rev. J. Russell Verbrieke, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has volunteered his services to the secretary of war as a chaplain in the army to be raised. Mr. Verbrieke is finishing a five year pastorate here, during which a stone church was erected at a cost of $46,000.

LOST FOOD

Do you get lost in the shrubbery at the dinner table? We do frequently. And sometimes we have to hunt around under sprays of celery and sprigs of watercress for hours before we find anything to eat. And isn't it awful to carve a roast that's backed up against a botanical garden in the middle of the board? Women ought to be called off on this garnishing habit before they go too far. One of these days they'll be wanting to decorate us with bay wreathes and daisy chains when we go to the table. We prefer our food served like our funeral, sans floral offerings.

Cupid does not take out a license when he goes hunting. The man of whom he makes game has to do that.

It is unwise to judge a man by the criticisms of his enemies. Only his friends can properly denounce him.

If a pessimist happens to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth he naturally expects it to choke him sooner or later.

If a widower marries a milliner or dressmaker he may be figuring on getting back some of the money his first wife spent.

LADY RAMBLERS TRIM RAMBLERS

Over Two Hundred Rooters of the Fair Sex See "Enemy" Routed

There is happiness, gladness and joy unconfined among members of the St. Mary's Social Club today. This exhilaration of spirits is due primarily to the fact that the noble fly's representative ladies' bowling team won a decisive victory over the Ramblers last evening on the T. A. B. S. alleys—"decisive victory" in this instance meaning all three games. The S. C. pinners were given a handicap of 200 pins per game, or a total of 900 for the series, which, together with their scores, brought their tallies up to figures seldom reached by the Ramblers.

A packed house witnessed the match, the entire seat the length of the alleys being filled with supporters of the home team, both sitting and standing.

Features of every description marked the struggle for supremacy, one of them being the embarrassment of one or two Ramblers caused by the good work of Miss Schuck, rolling anchor for St. Mary's. She started off well and never once fell below 100. Every member of the ladies' team had a delivery of her own. Miss R. Brady threw a "guess where it's going" ball, while the ball thrown down the drives by Miss Mary Brady reminded one of a funeral march and was also one of those "whither art thou going?" varieties. Considerable attention was directed toward Miss Murray. Whenever it was her time up she grabbed any ball from the rack and before it was anywhere near the pins had another one in her hands ready for the spare—if there was any. For grace and poise Miss McAfee stood alone, and her determination to strike now and then was well merited. Miss McCauley participated in the final game for the Social Club and was only 198 pins short of a perfect score.

Nothing particularly remarkable was accomplished by the Rams, although Donnelly, who bowled in place of Hyslip, had three good games. Betzenberger improved with each succeeding game and Taylor dropped from 193 to 127, his last score being held down by numerous splits.

Last night's series concludes the season for the Ramblers, who have been "doing business" for the past three years and are known over a wide area of the State of New Jersey.

Dunning will work again at Morristown, and if he shows the same effectiveness there as he did on Hyde Oval last Saturday against the Alumni North Plainfield ought to register a victory. Target Tips and Hunting Helps by Alfred P. Lane

Send questions to Mr. Lane care of this paper

R. S. T.

1. Is there any shotgun made with a square shoulder it, the chamber which the front end of the shell rests against?

Ans. Not that I know of. There is no theoretical reason why such a shoulder could not be used, but it would require that every shell be exactly the same dimensions, and this is not possible with so many different makes of shotgun shells on the market. Unless the shells are exactly right the shooting would be poor and difficulty would be experienced in properly cleaning the bottom of the shoulder and rust at this important point would be sure to weaken the barrel.

2. How do they find out how much pressure a shotgun shell gives?

Ans. Pressures given by shotgun shells are determined in a specially built gun called a pressure gun. It is made so that there is a small opening near the front end of the shell and the pressure at this point is transmitted to a cylinder of copper. At the explosion the copper is compressed slightly, and this shortens its length. Measurements of the length of the copper are taken before and after the explosion and from this difference the pressure is figured.

3. How can you tell when a shotgun barrel is leaded? I have been told that a brass bristle brush will take it out, but I want some way to tell when I should use it.

Ans. If the bore of your shotgun barrel seems to be perfectly clear and mirror-like inside, you need not worry about leading, which usually shows up as dull streaks along the bore, these streaks often appearing to one unfamiliar with them, as scratches in the barrel.

T. W. T.

1. In revolver shooting is it advisable to have both eyes open? It seems to me that shutting one eye would help you because you would naturally concentrate your attention on the other eye.

Ans. The best revolver shots shoot with both eyes open because it is much less strain on the eyes for the very reason you suggest. If one eye is closed and not working and all the attention is centred on the other eye the general effect is bad. Of course, it is not a very important matter so far as target shooting goes because there are good shots who habitually close the left eye. In hunting, shooting with both eyes open is an advantage because it enables you to follow the movements of the game more closely.

2. What do I have to do to belong to the United States Revolver Association?

Ans. No qualification is necessary. You must, however, be a citizen of the United States and interested in the revolver shooting. For details write to J. B. Crabtree, Yaleville, Conn., who is the secretary-treasurer.

H. F. L.

1. How much difference is there in the accuracy of a .22-calibre rifle barrel—say, thirty inches long and about eighteen inches long.

Ans. The length of a rifle barrel has nothing to do with its accuracy. The Government Springfield rifle, considered one of the most accurate military rifles in the world, has a barrel only twenty-four inches long, and careful experiments along these lines do not show any value in the very long barrel. An 18-inch barrel, *.22-calibre rifle will shoot just as ac*curately as a 30-inch one.

2. Is a .22 long rifle accurate enough to hit a squirrel in the eye every time at a range of one hundred feet?

Ans. A squirrel's eye is a pretty small object and I have never seen the .22 calibre rifle which would shoot accurately enough to hit as object as small as that every time at a 100-foot range. A good 22 calibre rifle will hit a one-half-inch circle almost every time at the distance mentioned.

3. Please tell me where to get a device that will keep a cleaning rod from touching the muzzle when you clean from that end.

Ans. I suppose you mean for revolver shooting, as almost all of the new models of rifles can be cleaned from the breach. I do not know of any one making such a device, but it is easy enough to construct one yourself. Solder on to the end of a one-inch piece of brass tube small enough to fit loosely in the muzzle, a brass flange.

M. E. S.

Is there any way of increasing the power of my 30-30 rifle by using more powder? I pulled one of the cartridges apart and there seems to be quite a space left between the powder charge and the bullet.

Ans. In the old days of black powder if you wish to secure the maximum powder you put as much powder in the shell as it would hold. *Smokeless powder, however, is en*tirely different in its action and if you should increase the powder load in the case you mention you would have such high pressure that you might blow up the barrel. I strongly advise you not to use any powder charge not recommended by the powder companies because sometimes an increase of only a grain or two in the powder charge will produce most dangerous pressure.

LEAGUE BOWLERS SPLIT TEN GAMES

Bound Brook and Borough Pinners in First of Home and Home Series

The Bound Brook Bees and the North Plainfield pinners of the late Central New Jersey League last evening went fifty-fifty in a series of ten games between two-man teams representing the two organizations which recently participated in the circuit race. Each pair took title to *five of the tilts staged on the bo*rough alleys and therefore must wait until tomorrow evening, when the final eleven games of the home-and-home contests will be rolled off on Ebinger's alleys at Bound Brook.

Pete Koechlein of the Bees who would have won third honors in the Central League had he taken part in another pair of games, came across with the honors of the evening, maintaining an average of six even 200 and a high score of 253. This pinner dropped below the 190 mark in but three of the tilts.

The North Plainfielders topped off a quartet of double century scores, while Pete secured an equal number, his partner falling down entirely in this respect.

The Plainfield Public School Baseball League, the first of its kind to be conducted in this city, recently organized under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, opened up its 1917 season yesterday afternoon, when the Evergreen Avenue defeated the Irving School aggregation by the overwhelming score of 11 to 3. While the climatic conditions were not the most conducive to good baseball, the youngsters managed to put considerable "pep" into the game.

For the season's first game the playing of Malone, first sacker of the Irvings; Malcolm, in the same position for the winners, and Gerlach, pitcher for the Evergreens, put up some excellent playing.

Jimmie Nash, who has been doing some good work under the Recreation Committee during the winter months, will be in charge of the leagues and supervise the workings of the circuit.

Tomorrow's game will be between the Grammar and Jefferson schools.

"NEED PLOWS AS WELL AS GUNS"-EDGE

Governor So States in Talk to School Men at Trenton Today

Special to Courier-News

Trenton, April 11.—"We need plows as well as guns." With this simple declarative sentence, Governor Edge today summed up the situation as respecting the solution of the planting and crop harvesting problem which the State is facing when he addressed the State convention of County Superintendents of Schools and Helping Teachers.

"Just as important and indispensable as the trooper in the trench is the farmer in the field," declared the Executive.

"New Jersey plans to encourage school children in the adoption of farm produce raising as a permanent vocation. Further than that, it aims to recruit the school children in the task of enlarging the production of the soil immediately to meet the closely related emergencies of excessive food prices and war."

Planting Day and Planting Week, the establishment of home gardens and the use of the school children to assist the farmer with the crops in the present dearth of farm labor were discussed by the Governor before the schoolmen.

"We depend upon the educators of our State to carefully cultivate the anticipated crop of human intelligence, physical fitness and military preparedness upon which the future of all free institutions must depend, in war or in peace," said Governor Edge.

Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends and there were many beautiful flowers. The interment was made in Hillside Cemetery.

When I got up in the morning I felt as if I hadn't been to bed at all. I tried different so-called medicines without relief and had just about given up hopes when I read about Doan's Kidney Pills. Mother Why Don't You Take Nuxated Iron

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All The Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?—The Doctor Gave Some to Susie Smith's Mother and She Was Worse Off Than You Are and Now She Looks Just Fine.

NUXATED IRON WILL INCREASE THE STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE OF WEAK, NERVOUS, CAREWORN, HAGGARD LOOKING WOMEN 100 PER CENT. IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

THE CHILD'S APPEAL

"There can be no Beautiful, Healthy Rosy Cheeked women without Iron."

F. KING, M. D.

"There can be no healthy, beautiful, rosy cheeked women without iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and medical Author, "in my recent talks to physicians on the grave and serious consequences of iron deficiency in the blood of American women, I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—nuxated iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard looking women patients. Pallor means anaemia.

The skin of the anaemic woman is pale, flabby and flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fags and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the rose go from their cheeks.

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, cadillac, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cooking, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, are responsible for another grave iron loss.

"Therefore, if you wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor or to regain it again you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt.

"As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak, run-down, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease, prevent it becoming organic, thousands of cases and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart trouble and other dangerous maladies. The real and true cause which started their disease was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood.

On account of the peculiar nature of women, and the great drain placed upon her system at certain periods, she requires iron much more than man to make up for the loss.

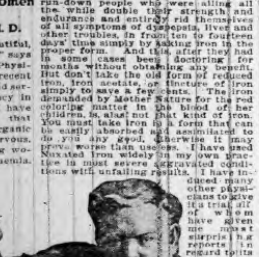
Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong as well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again, and see how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while double their strength and endurance and entirely rid themselves of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles, in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by adding iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old form of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron, simply to save a few cents. The iron demanded by Mother Nature for the red coloring matter in the blood of her children is what you want, and it must have some than useless. I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe aggravated conditions with unfailing results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom I am glad to say have given me most pleasing surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder.

Many an athlete and prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for lack of iron.

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But so many times I see women suffer from iron deficiency with its attendant ills—physical weakness, nervous irritability, melancholy, indigestion, flabby, sagging muscles, etc., and in consequence of their weakened run-down condition they are so liable to contract disease and even fatal diseases and I deem it my duty to advise such to take Nuxated Iron. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results and those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine or secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by physicians in both hospital and private practice both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach, on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as for nervous, run down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in nuxated iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man under 60 who lacks iron, and increase their strength 100 per cent or more in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to return your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It can be dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood-beautiful healthy rosy cheeked women full of Life, Vim and Vitality



Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, tells physicians that they should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Says anaemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American Woman. Sounds warning against use of metallic iron which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach and do far more harm than good; advises use of only nuxated iron.

MANY ENDORSE PLAN FOR COUNTY FARM

Resolutions favoring the establishment of a county prison farm or quarry or both were adopted at a meeting of representative citizens from all parts of Union county at the Court House, Elizabeth, last night, when a hearing on the proposition was granted by the Board of Freeholders. Freeholder J. M. Cady, of Summit, presided, and directed the discussion of the evening.

Miss Mabelle Phillips and Samuel T. Carter, Jr., were the spokesmen for the large delegation of Plainfielders present. Mayor Ruford Franklin, of Summit, was among those who favored the plan.

There was some doubt as to which would be the most advisable, a prison farm or quarry, and it was finally decided to include both in the resolutions. The action of the meeting, together with a copy of the resolutions, will be reported to the Board of Freeholders at its next meeting.

The plan is to have a county farm where prisoners can be put to work and thus be able to support their families instead of having the municipality from which they are sent bear the burden.

tribute to their prosperous operation. Forget the taxation question. Many a live town has remitted taxes during the 'rooting' stages of a young industry and richly reaped harvest in the years that followed. Above all let this infernal horde of law-makers know that you—your town, your county, your State—want less laws, less regulating and more encouragement of community harmony.

"Business is not so much dealing with dollars as with humanity; dollars are merely incidental. Production, selling, buying, using are essentially creatures of humanity, and humanity is about the same today as it always has been since the birth of time. There aren't any very complex motives in humanity; he who will read the pages of history or note with an intelligent eye the things about him—assuming that he will do it without prejudice and selfishness and hatred—can decide which policy or line of conduct is best calculated to measure up to the prospects of success.

"Get out of the economic rut and let us be human. The politician succeeds by playing the glad hand game and meeting men on their human side. He never goes very deeply into abstruse economics. Trust humanity and then demand that humanity trust you. Let the community feel you both as an industrial leader and a fellow citizen in the same breath. Cultivate popularity and note what it will do in a better public attitude toward you.

"These, then, are a few of the thoughts I would leave with you as to the mix and spirit of the Industrial Conservation Movement. Business has been misunderstood and is largely to blame for it. By failing to maintain the intimate touch with the community it has failed to encourage that kind of interest in itself as a community asset that it should enjoy. Business has become a popular 'goat' for the politician to ride and a very convenient and useful goat at that. And industry has paid a tremendous price for all this."

GERMANS QUIT AT BOSCH PLANT

Twenty-five Germans employed by the Bosch-Magneto Company in South avenue left the job yesterday, because, so it is said, they have interpreted the President's proclamation warning aliens to keep away from fortifications, ship building plants and factories where munitions for the Government are being made, as applying to them.

It is also stated that the president of the concern has quit for the same reason. One who pretended to know, stated this afternoon that the Germans quit because they might be called upon to manufacture articles which might be used against their own countrymen. No fault can be found with them, if that is the case, and they are within their rights.

No harm will come to any alien in this city, so long as he keeps his mouth shut and obeys the law.

PLAN TO BUY AUTO TRUCK FOR GUARDSMEN

Citizens of Elizabeth are interesting themselves in a campaign to raise funds with which to purchase an automobile truck for the militia companies of the First Battalion, Second Regiment, of that city. Each of the three companies has been badly in need of a truck to properly carry on their work and especially for carrying supplies to be used in camp.

Company K, of this city, is the only one in the battalion which has a motor truck and this was given to the company by the citizens of Plainfield in appreciation of the men who have entered the service of the United States.

WOMAN DESECRATES FLAG.

Oleo Demonstrator Stirs Bridgeport Public Market.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 11.—Tearing the American flag from the buttonhole of an employee's coat, Mrs. Mary Richardson, demonstrator of oleomargarine in the Bridgeport public market, told the clerk who had worn the flag that if her husband wore the Stars and Stripes "I'd spit in his face."

The incident caused an uproar in the market, but the action of the woman a few minutes later exceeded her first offense. Employees had placed small American flags around the demonstrating stand she was using. She tore them down and raised in their place a German flag.

The management of the market telephoned to Swift & Co., who employed the woman, and she was promptly discharged.

Few Drops When Corns Hurt, Pain Stops! Corns Lift Out

Don't let corns ache twice! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers—Here's magic! Women! Keep it on dresser!

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without any pain.

This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the pore-ness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will lift off with the fingers.

Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without any irritation. Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards.

Women! Keep freezone on your dresser and apply a few drops whenever a corn begins aching. Pain stops, corn goes!

Genuine freezone is sold in little bottles packed in a round, wooden case.—Adv.

Crème Tokalon ROSEFACE

Banishes every complexion blemish and gives true beauty in three nights.

Many a hollow-cheeked, wrinkled, aged-looking woman has "got back" and made herself look most beautiful, youthful and charming by means of the following simple method: Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of Crème Tokalon Rosefaced. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more Crème Tokalon Roseface, which you will find entirely different from all other creams, and by day watch how the old, hardened, coarse, muddy skin becomes soft, fresh, soft and youthful-looking. Sold at Weiss' Boro Drug Store or at most any good druggist or department store in this city.—Adv.

INTERESTING SPEAKERS TO ADDRESS MEETING

A special notice and invitation is given to all contributors to the Belgian children's supplementary meal for a meeting which will be held at the Hartridge auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 2, at 8:15 o'clock. The general public is also invited, but it is expected that those who have already shown interest by contributing will themselves not only attend, but will bring two guests to hear the thrilling story of Mrs. Vernon Kellogg.

A second speaker will be George Barr Baker, who is the head of the Belgian relief work in this country. He is volunteering his entire time to the commission, and no one else is so fully informed as to the various phases of this great relief problem. Mr. Baker and Mrs. Kellogg conducted a meeting in Orange recently with tremendous results in enthusiasm and support. It is confidently expected that Plainfield will be equally enthusiastic in the cause of the Allies' children.

S. E. VAN HOESEN COMPLETES COURSE IN ENGINEERING

Stephen E. Van Hoesen, engineer at the local power plant of the Public Service Corporation, has received his diploma from the International Correspondence School at Scranton, in the complete electrical engineering course. This included the teaching of operating electrical apparatus and fully describes typical machine devices, also signal systems. Much credit is due Mr. Van Hoesen for completing the above course, as it means considerable sacrifice to take time for study out of leisure hours and from regular daily business.

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any Locality Relative to Domestic Science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

In arranging menus, the housewife must give variety and at the same time serve palatable and nourishing food. Attractiveness of the dishes is also essential and this at once suggests a variety of sauces, simple in their ingredients, economical and sightly. The basis of these sauces is always butter and flour, the liquids changing in character to suit the dishes with which they are to be served.

Meats and vegetables are, naturally, limited in number. Variety must then be sought in the methods of preparation. Potatoes, nine times out of ten, are served either fried, mashed or baked. Why not, once in a while, try one or two of the other twenty or thirty attractive methods? After serving mashed potatoes one day, the next day they may be made into croquettes, puffs or browned in the oven, while baked potatoes can be stuffed or deviled and creamed. Escalloped or au gratin preparations will give still further variety.

All things should be well cooked. There are but two classes of cookery—the good and the bad. There is no medium. If things are not palatable, they are bad. One great trouble with the average housewife is that she has not studied the art of cooking, which, being a complicated one, cannot be learned from a book any more than the art of painting or dancing can be picked up without the instruction of a teacher or actual experience.

The economical French women, in making their pot-au-feu, do not mince their meat as we do, but leave it in a solid piece, so that it may be sent to the table in a presentable form. This, while it has little flavor left, is served with a delicious sauce and made most attractive by a garnish of bright-colored and well-cooked vegetables. A dish of this kind will provoke more favorable criticism than will far more expensive ones.

Of course, stews and raguts should not be served daily, but they are very appetizing occasionally. The long ends of the ribs of beef—rather unsightly when left on the roast—may be put aside and served as deviled ribs, or a braise with potatoes. I have observed, especially in the better restaurants, that men, nine times out of ten, will order a dish of this kind in preference to an ordinary roast. Roasts are obtainable at home, but made dishes are rarely served with that combination of seasoning used by the professional cook.

Seasonings are the making of the dish and consist of a variety of vegetables having a decided flavor, or tasty sauces and condiments. Carrots, turnips, onions, garlic, shallots and chives (sometimes just a suspicion of the flavor) add zest to a dish not obtainable in any other way.

In garnishing a dish, too, there must be variety. Do not always garnish by sticking a little piece of parsley here and there. Group the parsley or cress and in between the curly leaves set a tiny, pink radish, a quarter of tomato, or a bit of lemon. Spinach, badly drained and not sufficiently chopped, turned into a dish and served without any garnish, robs one of the idea that spinach is a very dainty vegetable. Cook it carefully only a few minutes so that it may retain its brilliant green, chop it finely, press through a sieve and reheat with the addition of a little cream, butter, pepper and salt. Dish it in a round dish, heaping it in a mound, edge the base with tiny triangles of toast and press into the sides of the mound quarters of hard-boiled egg. You will then eat it, even if you are not hungry, it will look so tempting.

Tough steaks, such as rump, flank, or the inferior cut from the round, must never be broiled. If steak is to be used at all, procure the best and have it perfectly cooked. Then, to even up expenses, have a made dish the next day, use the fag end of the steak for a luncheon or breakfast and, if desired, economize on the dessert the day that the steak is served. In this way, an inferior meal will never appear on the table and yet the household allowance can be kept within bounds.

In the article tomorrow evening, further directions will be given in regard to setting an attractive and economical table, with additional suggestions for the making of a few inexpensive desserts.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

BY MRS. FAWALKER

WHY IVY IS EVERGREEN

It was bright moonlight. Down under the rose-leaves the fairies were planning a trip down the tiny stream trickling over the moss and pebbles.

The Queen had made a cradle of a big leaf and in it was the tiny baby of the realm. Ray was only a few hundred years old, for a fairy always lives to be five thousand, yet she could talk plainly and understood as well as a human child of 10.

"Don't leave the baby alone for a moment," said the Queen to the butterfly nurse. "I am going down for a sail on a peony petal and will be gone about an hour. If you are not careful, that witch's baby will come wandering in here and talk to Ray."

Now, if there is anything in the world that a fairy hates it is a witch. And maybe you don't believe that witches are born babies and are ever young, but they are. Most witches hide their babies for about a thousand years, till they learn to love cats and ride on broomsticks, but this particular witch was very careless with her children, for she spent most of her own time in chasing clouds around the moon.

Hardly had the Queen gone when the butterfly began to nod. The swaying of the rosebush had made her too sleepy to keep awake. Ray was startled by the sudden crackling of the branch and upon its swaying back came the tiny witch baby.

"My, but you are ugly," exclaimed Ray. "Why did you leave home?"

"My mother is riding around the moon on a rain cloud and my own broomstick is broken," explained the little witch.

"My mother is sailing down the stream for an hour," said Ray. "And my nurse has gone to sleep."

Now, Ray did not know what mischief was, but she waited to see what the baby would do. The baby poked about and presently found a big box of paints.

"We will paint everything around here purple," laughed the baby. "Only things look funny. Imagine purple roses and purple grass."

"They are my mother's colors," said Ray quickly. "You must not touch them—they are all she has left to paint the flowers and grass in the spring, for she is the queen of the flower fairies."

"So much the better," sneered the little witch. "Then if I waste them there won't be any in April to paint with, so everything will be an ugly brown. Just like me. People laugh at the dark color of my skin, but I am going to make all the flowers just that same shade."

Poor Ray was horrified but did not know what to do. How she wished for her mother. Down the stream she could hear the light laughter of the Queen's party sailing back, but it would be at least five minutes before they would land.

"I must run and get water so I can fix up the color I want, then I will throw a bucket of it into the stream," said the baby as it leaped to the ground.

"Oh, where can I hide mother's paints?" wailed Ray.

Down on the ground was a little vine of ivy. Its leaves were an ugly yellow spotted with brown, but it loved the Queen and hated the mean witch family.

"Just drop down here and hide under my leaves, said the ivy softly. That little witch then cannot tell you or me from the brown earth—besides, your mother will be here in two minutes."

So taking the paint box in her arms, the little fairy baby dropped softly down and crawled far under the wide yellow leaves. The witch baby came tearing back, but could find no one. Then up the rose bush came the Queen and her guards.

"Ho, ho," said a captain dragon fly. "Here is the witch's child over here on mischief; we will beat her home." So they took up tiny whips and thrashed her till she tumbled down into her own cave far over across the mountain.

"I am here, mother," laughed Ray as she came out from under the leaf. "This kind vine saved your paints. How awful it would have been had the witch baby mixed up your colors."

"I will let the little vine have any wish granted that she may make," said the Queen gratefully. The vine thought of its ugly color, then of the pretty green of the moss.

"I would like to be always a deep, soft green like the dark moss on the north side of a tree," said the vine, "and I would love to climb up trees and walls and see something of the world."

The Queen touched the yellow vine crawling on the ground—in a moment it was a handsome plant growing up the tree trunk, its leaves a deep, glossy green that from that day to this has never changed, summer or winter.

PAINTS FLAG ON HIS HOME

New Brunswick, N. J., April 11.—Edward Arnreim, an employe of the Neverslip Manufacturing Company, is possessed of a sturdy loyalty to the United States, although born in Germany and not yet naturalized citizen. He lives at 170 Nichol avenue, with his wife and four little ones.

On Friday last Mr. Arnreim hung an American flag from the porch of his home, and during Friday night the flag was stolen. Determined that no vandal should get the better of him in showing his patriotic spirit, Mr. Arnreim on Saturday painted the red, white and blue on the weatherboards of his home. The flag is about 8 by 10 feet in dimensions and occupies the entire space between the front door and the parlor windows of Mr. Arnreim's home.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens all naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

PLANTING DAY SATURDAY, APRIL 21

Trenton, April 11.—The Department of Public Instruction has addressed a letter to all local school officials, principals, teachers in the public schools and the municipal officials generally calling their attention to "Planting Day," which is Saturday, April 21, and "Planting Week," which is to be observed, in accordance with Governor Edge's proclamation, the week following.

The observance suggested are cordially endorsed by the Department of Public Instruction, says the letter, including the reading of the proclamation in every public school. This is essentially a preparedness movement, says the letter, which is signed by State Commissioner of Education Kendall, circumstances being such that it is vitally imperative that all means be used to enlarge the food supply during the coming growing months. If schools co-operate with the Governor's suggestions, this can be done, says the latter.

WILL DISCUSS PLANS TO HELP FOREIGNERS

Civic Societies to Hold Mass Meeting at Public Library on April 17

In these stirring times when many persons are asking what they can do to serve the community the civic workers among the Young Women's Christian Association and the Charity Organization Society have found one answer to the question, and that is: Why not help the foreigners, of whom there are 4,000 in this city and vicinity, to become better citizens and better Americans? This, they believe, is the preparedness that works for permanent peace and the patriotism that is not just flag-waving.

All persons interested in this movement are urged to attend a meeting for organization purposes to be held at the Public Library Tuesday night, April 17, at 8 o'clock. Mayor Leighton Collins will preside, and those in charge of the arrangements announce that the following organizations will be represented:

Alliance of Poles, colored missions, Charity Organization Society, Children of Israel, Congregation Chavey Zedek, Daughters of the American Revolution, Gesang and Turn Verein, Italian Mission, Monday Afternoon Club, National Special Aid Society, North Plainfield Board of Education, Peace Society, Plainfield Board of Education, Protestant Evangelical church, Public Recreation Committee, Salvation Army, Catholic church, Thule Society, Swedish Pilgrim church, Young Women's Christian Association, Young Men's Christian Association, John Schiesel Society and the Visiting Nurse Association.

SUPPLY OF SEED POTATOES ARRIVE

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, April 11.—The action taken by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, in co-operation with the Inter-State Commerce Commission, with respect to prompt deliveries of seed potatoes to New Jersey distributors in sufficient quantities to assure adequate supplies for the planting season, resulted in the announcement by the former today that the entire stock consigned to New Jersey had been received. The Public Utility Commission received this word today from James H. Baird & Son, of Marlboro, Monmouth county representing the distributors.

The Utility Commission was recently advised that approximately one hundred carloads of seed potatoes, grown in Maine, were ready for shipment to New Jersey but that they could not be delivered owing to lack of cars on the Bangor and Arostook Railroad. It was also stated that unless immediate relief could be given there would be a serious shortage in the New Jersey potato crop this year, which would affect not only the New Jersey growers and consumers but also consumers in New York and Philadelphia, due to the large shipments made to those cities by the New Jersey growers.

Two dramatic sketches by local talent and a Greek interpretive dance by Miss Dorothy Hall, of New York, are a part of the plan for an interesting evening of recreation. General dancing will follow the program and good music has been provided.

The proceeds of the entertainment are to be used for the Public School Athletic League, which has just begun its spring schedule of baseball games.

PERSONS

Joseph Meyer, of Lincoln place, is convalescing slowly from an injury he sustained some time ago.

Will You Be a Foster Father or a Foster Mother?

A little Belgian child awaits your answer.

That child is hungry.

Will you agree to pay one dollar each month for one year, and thus become a Foster Parent?

Each dollar will lift the misery from the heart of a little child for a whole month. It will provide an extra biscuit and a cup of cocoa once a day.

You would not refuse such aid to a child if it were at your door. Your heart would forbid. To subscribe to this "Child Relief" is not Charity merely—it is just plain humanity to do so.

Plainfield children would not consider this cocoa and biscuit to be a meal. But how eagerly these little Belgians regard it you never can know. Here in our city of plenty, the intensity and the urgency of need can hardly be conceived.

There can be no worthier occasion for the rich to give abundantly from their abundance, or for the humble to spare something of their smaller portion.

What have you done to help? What more will you do?

No donation, no matter how small, will fail to bring joy to a helpless child, a little being too young to understand anything about war except the horror of it all.

Committees are working in nearly every city, town and village to assume the care of all the children in a stated Belgian town. To Plainfield will be assigned a town. Let us make it a big town, and a happy town.

Every cent contributed goes for food.

Cut out this coupon. Fill in the sum your heart dictates, and send to Mr. C. B. Tyler, Treasurer, 525 West Seventh St., Plainfield, N. J.

Will you please do this NOW?

WHEN TOLD TO HALT, HALT!

If a military sentry, on guard duty, cries "Halt!" do not argue—halt promptly. Then, when he asks: "Who goes there?" answer, "A friend."

If more than one person is halted, the sentry will order: "Advance one." This means that all the party, with the exception of one, shall remain standing while one advances slowly toward the sentry for recognition until the sentry again commands "Halt!"

He will then question the challenged one. Answer promptly and courteously, and obey any order given.

The sentry is the personification of the United States army. His orders are to shoot to kill when his challenges are not obeyed. As a soldier, he must obey orders.

CHURCHES RAISE BUDGETS

Annual Meetings Show General Conditions to be Most Satisfactory Last Year

BOARDS REORGANIZE

Many Additions to Membership and Financial Increase Give Impetus to All Activities

Several of the local churches held their annual meetings last evening and the reports showed that general conditions during the past year have been most encouraging. The membership has in most cases increased and the financial obligations have been met. The outlook of this year is promising and a spirit of enthusiasm prevails.

The following are the reports in brief:

Congregational Church

The annual meeting of the Congregational Church and Society was held last evening in the church.

The meeting was preceded by a dinner served by the Women's Association. Miss Ethel Millar and committee being in charge. This was of course a splendid social hour.

Reports at the business meeting showed all branches of the church work in a state of healthy growth. Sixty-six members have joined the church in the past year, the total membership now numbering three hundred and sixty.

A request from the Tuckahatchee class of the Sunday school for permission to install pocket billiard tables in their class-room in the basement of the parish house received favorable consideration.

Sydney W. Dunning and Henry C. Homer were re-elected deacons for two years.

A. G. La Boyteaux, John Martin and James McClymont were elected members of the Official Board for the ensuing year. Arthur Hassell was elected clerk of the church and society.

The treasurer's report showed an annual increase in revenue of $1,000. This is most gratifying to all and the budget of $5,400 submitted by the Board of Trustees will be amply covered by the income. Every pew in the church but one was reported as filled. The report of the ushers indicated the growing difficulty of accommodating the steadily increasing congregation.

The meeting adjourned amid many hearty expressions of commendation on the splendid work of the pastor, Rev. Howard E. Clarke who in his short pastorate has been such an inspiration to his people.

The meeting was the most largely attended in many years.

Watchung Avenue Church

The Watchung Avenue Presbyterian Church held its annual church and congregational meeting last night. Reports from the treasurer and the church, the secretary and treasurer of the different societies of the church, were read and acted upon.

Officers elected for the year were as follows: For elders for three years, E. Gibson Smith, Charles Bryan, who succeeded themselves; for deacons for three years, Henry Ramsay, Alfred Crausbrook who were re-elected for Trustees for three years, Robert R. Pentecost, L. J. Stites. Mr. Stites was elected in place of W. Boyd, who declined re-election. The church has had a very prosperous year, going beyond their expectations in the first year of independence. Larger amounts than usual have been raised for benevolent purposes and the congregation enter the new church year with enthusiasm meeting with God's help to surpass the past year in the work it was instituted for. The church membership is not a little over 300.

The Sunday school, Y. P. S. C. E., Missionary and Aid Society and Men's Association gave encouraging reports and are in thriving condition.

Crescent Avenue Presbyterian

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church was held in the Sunday school rooms of the church last evening, with Townsend Rushmore acting as chairman of the meeting and H. R. Munger as clerk. Reports from the treasurer of the church, Joseph W. Sandford, show receipts of $13,143 for the year.

William T. Kaufman and Louis K. Hyde were both re-elected as members of the Board of Trustees.

At the church meeting which followed the congregational session, Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the church, acted as moderator and Dr. Ellis W. Hedges as clerk. William H. Murray and D. M. Van Vliet, whose terms of office had ekpired, were re-elected as deacons. John S. Harman, Augustus V. Heely, and Samuel T.

REGULATIONS FOR DEFENSE LEAGUE

Mayor Calkins Read Them to Members of League at the Drill Last Night

The Plainfield Home Defense League held its regular drill at the High School Gymnasium last evening. The new men appointed on Monday were sworn in by Mayor Calkins. The Mayor announces on behalf of the Commission the following regulations for members of the League; these were read by Commander Ransome at the drill last night:

1. Members of the League shall carry their badges at all times, and display them on drill nights and also whenever on duty.

2. Members shall carry night sticks only when on duty and when otherwise specially ordered.

3. Members shall wear uniforms only on drill nights, and when detailed for duty.

4. Members shall carry firearms when on duty, at target practice, and on drill night upon the issue of orders to that effect by the commander.

5. Members of the League are required to appear for drill, practice and patrol or other police duty as and when ordered unless excused in advance on account of sickness or great emergency. Members whose private affairs interfere with absolute regularity will be asked to withdraw in order that men on the waiting list who are eager to join the League and are able to conform to military regulations may be selected in their stead.

It is further announced that the National Special Aid Society has very kindly offered to serve hot lunches at police headquarters just before and immediately after the hours when men go on and off night duty. Until further notice these lunches will be served between 8:30 and 9 p. m.; between 12.30 and 1.30 a. m. and after 5 a. m.

The Mayor announces further that the Commission will shortly appoint a sub-committee to organize an automobile brigade. The men of Plainfield who cannot otherwise work as active members of the Defense League for patrol duty, but who own automobiles and are able to offer their services in that way, will be invited to communicate with the chairman of the Automobile Committee as soon as appointed. The service to be performed by each member of the automobile brigade will probably be to drive his car on regular assigned nights, possibly as often as once a week, to call for men who patrol and take them to their homes to their posts and return them when relieved. This is the tentative plan which the Automobile Committee will work out in detail.

As soon as the League is recruited up to full strength, Commander Ransome will make a permanent squad assignment by districts. The Mayor and Police Board, on recommendation of Chief Kiely, will then probably call upon the League for the assignment of a certain number of men for patrol duty each night on short four hour shifts. By this arrangement, members of the League may be called out for four hours as often as once a week. The patrol service will cover various sections of the city. This will relieve a number of regular police officers, who will be detailed as an emergency reserve force at police headquarters, ready to get out at a moment's notice.

The Commission announces the appointment of Henry W. Brower as reporting secretary of the League. He will have charge of all records and all communications should be addressed to him at Police Headquarters.

Mayor Calkins states that the League will parade publicly as soon as fully recruited and uniformed. This will probably take place on a Saturday afternoon with the regular police in line and also if possible, the old Call Firemen who have offered their services to the city for emergency call.

NEW BRUNSWICK HAS A DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

A daring robbery occurred in New Brunswick yesterday afternoon about noon when the jewelry store of Mueller & New, on George street, that city, was robbed of $5,000 in diamonds. Three men entered the store and asked to see some diamond rings.

While showing the rings one of the men grabbed the tray and ran to the street. The other two followed, preventing one of the proprietors, Mr. Mueller, from following. They all made their escape in an automobile having the license number, 61634-N. J. The auto was last seen going in Metuchen direction.

TELLS OF DENTAL WORK FOR SOLDIERS

Plainfield Dentists Will Look After Mouths of Men Rejected by Army and Navy

The Plainfield Dental Society met last evening in the Park Club and held an unusually interesting meeting. Dr. James B. Davidson, of Newark, was present with his lantern and slides of views taken while he was a member of the American Ambulance Dental Department in France, where he did some splendid work for seven months.

Dr. Davidson said that over forty per cent. of the wounded in France suffer with head wounds, due to the fact that the men are in trenches and their heads are much more often exposed to fire than any other part of their bodies. Twenty-five per cent. of the head wounds are in the jaw. These conditions have made dental surgery of the greatest importance and the practice has had many unusual experiences, making new and improved methods necessary. The speaker told of views taken while he was a member of the local dental staff that the medical and dental work done in France during the war is wonderful. New faces, jaws, ears and noses are provided and the patients look almost as good as new in from six to twelve months. Great numbers of hospitals for the patients suffering with jaw wounds have been put up all over the country.

The experience gained by the dentists, said Dr. Davidson, has been of such importance that American dentists will have to work hard in order to hold their own with these men in future.

The Plainfield Society agreed that each member should take charge of one man who has been rejected by the army or navy authorities on account of the condition of his jaw, and will put his mouth in order so that he may apply again, and successfully, for entrance into the army or navy.

Among the doctors present were: Doctors W. E. Stelle, Charles G. Davis, C. W. Montfort, O. B. Whitford, G. H. Hillman, R. S. Stevens, G. T. Moore, B. F. and C. W. Leonard, of this city; Dr. Davis and Dr. Keel, of Westfield, and Dr. Powelson, of Bound Brook.

SON OF JUDGE CONNOLLY JOINS THE U. S. NAVY

Carroll Connelly, son of Judge James C. Connolly, and James T. Kirk, both of Elizabeth, left yesterday for Newport News, Va., to enter the United States Navy as yeoman. Mr. Kirk was to be graduated from the New Jersey Law School in June. He was informed yesterday that his standing was of such high merit that he will be awarded a diploma at the commencement. Mr. Connolly, who is 22 years old, has been studying at the same school.

RABBI HAUSMAN AT TEMPLE SHOLEM

The services at Temple Sholem tomorrow night will be conducted by Rabbi Hausman, of New York, who will deliver an eulogy of the late Rabbi Friedlander, who was his close friend. The members of the Y. M. H. A. and Y. W. H. A. are specially urged to be present.

ATTENDED WEDDING AT ALBANY, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams, of this city, were among the guests at the wedding of Miss Mercy B. Dawes, of Albany, to W. L. Fanning, of New York. The ceremony was held at the Cathedral of All Saints in Albany.

MISS DILLON BRIDE OF P. J. GLENNON

Wedded Yesterday Afternoon in St. Joseph's Church by the Rev. Peter Hart

Miss Beatrice A. Dillon, of the borough, and Patrick J. Glennon, of Bloomfield, were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield. The couple were attended by Miss Mary Dillon, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and John Gleanon, of New York City, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

The bride was attractively gowned in white and carried a prayer book. Her bridesmaid wore blue silk. The ceremony was performed at 5.30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. P. J. Hart, and was witnessed by many friends of the contracting parties. A reception followed at the home of the bride's brother, Daniel Dillon, 17 Wilson avenue, North Plainfield, about fifty guests attending. They were the recipients of many suitable wedding gifts.

WOULD EXPEDITE BUSINESS MAIL

Ernest R. Ackerman Makes Suggestions to Aid Mail Censorship

Washington, April 12.—(Special.)—Hon. E. R. Ackerman, a member of the State Board of Education, has made an excellent suggestion that in the event of there being censorship of the mails that some method should be devised whereby certain business mail would be dispatched with as little delay as possible.

Former Senator Ackerman suggests, also that a system of special stamping, similar to a special delivery stamp might be devised, and this, when affixed to a letter, would indicate that it had been passed by the censor and it should be forwarded as quickly as possible.

The suggestion of former Senator Ackerman has much merit in it, and the idea will be presented to the Post Master General by Senator Frelinghuysen for consideration. If there is to be a censorship established, it will help business men to have something of the sort. Besides, a special stamp would produce a considerable revenue, which will be desirable at this time.

"LAND OF MYSTERY" A GENUINE SUCCESS

American-Hindu Comic Opera, Given by Elks, Completely Captures Town

The second performance of "The Land of Mystery," the big American-Hindu comic opera being given under the auspices of the B. P. O. Elks, was presented last night at the Plainfield Theatre before a capacity audience.

If there was any doubt existing the first night as to the genuine success of the opera, it was entirely removed at last night's performance. Everything moved as smoothly as though the cast was composed of professionals instead of amateurs entirely. Each person with a speaking or singing part was letter perfect and in good voice, with the result that the large audience was very generous with applause and in a most happy frame of mind when the curtain fell on the last act, shortly before 11 o'clock.

William J. Tallant and Miss Juliette Brancati were exceptionally good in their singing parts, while Charles Kreger and Benjamin Dodwell made a big hit with the audience. Miss Sadie F. Lee is charming, while Miss Edna Morris portrays her part in a most finished manner. Harry N. Blimm as Noah Ham, the negro valet, is most happily cast, while Mrs. William F. Hadley, who plays opposite to Mr. Blimm as Topsy, is excellent in a most difficult role. Joseph C. Martin, H. F. Tallant, Edwin H. Bennett, Miss Beesie Gunzelman and Miss Grace Harding, the balance of the cast, all show marked ability in their respective parts.

Two of the singing specialty numbers, "Won't You Let Me Be Your Chum," by twelve young ladies, and "The Monkey Millionaire," by twelve gentlemen, made a great hit with the audience. Other song hits which will no doubt become popular locally were "After All," by W. J. Tallamy; "Waiting," by Miss Juliette Brancati; "Everybody Loves a Girl Who Loves You," by Charles Kreger, Miss Sadie Lee, and eight young ladies and eight gentlemen, termed the "Sightseers." "It's a Funny Old World," by Kreger and Dodwell, and "Farewell, Sweet Vision," by Miss Sadie Lee.

One of the most beautiful and wonderful parts of the opera is "The Ballet of the Fairies." This highly spectacular feature is portrayed by two hundred little girls, representing violets, wood nymphs, forget-me-nots, doves, fireflies, dandelions, poppies and fairies. The pretty costumes, dancing and singing of this feature is simply wonderful. It seems almost impossible to believe that such a large group of children could be so perfectly trained in a few short weeks. While the children taking part are from the community highly, Mr. and Mrs. Skilling, who conceived the ballet, and trained the children, are to be congratulated on their wonderful success.

The closing performance will be given tonight and judging from the expressions of pleasure heard as the audience was leaving the theatre last evening, the "standing room only" sign will have to be displayed.

WILL BRIDGE ATLANTIC WITH FOOD SHIPS

By United Press:

Washington, April 12.—To smash Germany's U-boat blockade the United States will virtually bridge the Atlantic. Plans for construction of three thousand small wooden boats, the most tremendous merchant ship-building plan ever undertaken, has been completed and approved by the President.

The boats will be used to transport food and supplies to the Entent Allies. Congress has authorized $50,000,000 to start the program, and will be asked for $300,000,000 more.

The first thousand ships are to be completed within 18 months, and at once thereafter 2,000 more will be ordered. Each vessel will be of 3,000 tons with a speed of ten knots. It is the purpose to run them in such way as to constitute a veritable pontoon brige across the sea with one boat every three miles.

Philadelphia, April 12.—"There is no evidence of a plot," is the statement today by G. C. Chalport, State fire marshal, who with a corps of special aids is making an exhaustive study of the Eddystone munition plant, which was blown up Tuesday. An accidental "flare-up" of black powder in the shaking chamber in the east end of the main building affested by the blast, started the explosion said the marshal.

Despite the statement of the State oficial Federal officers are working on the various clues that have been offered from many sources.

BRITISH DASH SLOWING DOWN

German Resistance Stiffens on West Front.

TRY TO RETAKE VIMY RIDGE.

Menace to Flank of "Hindenburg Line" by Sir Douglas Haig's Rapid Advance Seen by Teutons, Who Rush Masses of Reserves to Threatened Points. Canadians Hold Captured Positions Despite Fierce Assaults.

London, April 12.—The titanic struggle in the west has entered into its second stage. The cyclonic driving power of the initial onslaughts spent and the backbone of the Teuton defense stiffened by hastily summoned reserves, converted storming strategy gave way to sledgehammer tactics. Sir Douglas Haig's forces have settled down to the execution of a second Somme battle—dogged tenacity in slow but constant widening of the gaps in the German front and an equally tenacious defense of the ground gained against the desperate Teuton counter thrusts.

The momentous victory of the Canadians in the first twelve hours of the new "big push" has become noticeable in all its menacing consequences to the Germans. General Haig was quick to begin its exploitation. His forces battered away against the German lines to the southeast of Arras. By nightfall they had pushed their advance to within five and a half miles of that town. They advanced a quarter of a mile along a front of 2,000 yards toward Cambrai, beating off all counter attacks and firmly consolidating their new lines. Two villages, Monchy-le-Preux and La Bergere, as well as the important range of heights near Monchy-le-Preux were captured.

To Encircle Cambrai.

The "battle of Loos" has taken the course of a huge encircling movement aimed at Cambrai. This vital keypoint of the present German line turned, the whole "Hindenburg line" must automatically crumble and disaster to all German armies in France must follow.

To meet this menace the German high command has rushed many huge reserve forces, among them the "kaiser's best," to the endangered lines, and the British attacks are meeting resistance of constantly growing stubbornness.

The Germans "came back strong" on the southern slopes of the famous Vimy ridge. Determined to regain the summit, they hurled themselves again and again into the hurricane of the British barrage fire. They held the slopes, but were unable to recapture an inch of the terrain taken by the Canadians.

In his official day report the British commander described the situation as "developing generally in accordance with our plan." After reporting the capture of the two additional villages he announced:

"Satisfactory progress is being made elsewhere."

Along the entire fifty mile front fighting of the most savage character raged until darkness enforced a pause on the infantry and the cannon began once more the blasting of breads into the defense line. Nor were the Teuton big guns idle. From the reorganized and reenforced defense batteries was hurled a steady blast of steel. But the artillery preparation, all dispatches from the front agree, is clearly with the British.

Claims British Repulse.

Berlin did not concede the new loss of ground in its official report. It asserted that several British forces were repulsed "with heavy losses" on both sides of the Arras-Cambrai road. As to the fighting north of the Scarpe, the German war office claimed it "did not make any changes in the front."

Significance is attached by military experts to this passage in the German statement:

It is this sector, particularly northwest of Rheims, that the German infantry has launched frequent furious attacks of late. Observers are looking for a powerful Teuton counter thrust in this sector. The French official communique tells of severe grenade fighting around Maisons de Champagne and violent artillery duels in Le Pretre forest.

President Poincare sent a message of congratulation to King George praising in glowing terms the valor of Sir Douglas Haig's troops.

Details of the first day of the "big push" begin to come in. The Canadians, it was learned, took almost 3,000 prisoners on the crest of Vimy ridge alone and captured seventy-two guns, seventy machine guns and forty trench mortars.

In other sectors of the attacking front three British corps took 7,294 prisoners, eighty-eight guns, eighty-four machine guns and eighteen trench mortars.

In the east the Germans launched strong attacks in Volhynia, which, according to official admission from Petrograd, were temporarily successful.

I asked him, "What do you consider most when placing a bet?" He promptly said:

That's the slogan—past performance.

FRELINGHUYSEN'S MAIDEN SPEECH

Making his maiden effort in the running debate of the Senate, Senator Frelinghuysen on Tuesday endeavored to have the project for a Federal rifle range on the Great Piece Meadows, near Caldwell, incorporated in the army appropriation bill.

After brisk discussion, in which the Senator had support from Senators Weeks and Wadsworth, the effort, which was in the form of an amendment, was ruled out on the objection of Senator McCumber that it was new legislation and therefore out of place in an appropriation bill. The project still survives legislatively in the shape of a separate bill, which Mr. Frelinghuysen introduced last week.

The amendment that Mr. Frelinghuysen offered provided for the purchase "of tracts of land known as Great Piece Meadows and other contiguous tracts," containing 4,000 acres, in Essex and Morris counties, within thirty miles of New York City Hall, for not more than $200,000.

"This section of land is particularly available for this purpose, because it is a large tract of land and the only tract within this distance from New York where target practice at determined distances can be held and also skirmish drills," said Mr. Frelinghuysen. "At the present time there are two regiments of police in New York City that are drilling, and they have no facilities for target practice.

"The militia of New Jersey, the militia of the lower part of New York State, the civilians who are drilling on the tops of buildings in New York City, have no opportunities for rifle practice.

"In the Spanish-American War, when we sent thousands of soldiers to Cuba and Porto Rico with the Krag-Jorgenson carbine, many of them hardly knew how to handle that rifle because they had not had the opportunity of being trained in marksmanship. At Camp Alger there were 20,000 troops. I think, and many of those organizations were sent to Porto Rico and Cuba without rifle practice.

"This section of land is in the center of a population of over 8,000,000 people, and they desire some facilities of this character in order that they may have the opportunity to train in marksmanship. It is very important to a measure of preparedness at this time that all of these men should have such facilities for learning how to shoot the modern gun."

Mr. Frelinghuysen added that the plan had the approval of Major General Wood, Mayor Mitchell and Colonel Miller, director of the civilian marksmanship of the War Department.

Mr. McCumber objected that the bill was setting a bad precedent, the precedent of "compelling the Government, in appropriation bills, to purchase lands without specifically knowing anything about their value."

NAVAL APPOINTMENT OPEN TO BLUEJACKETS

Washington, April 12.—Attention has been called by the Navy Department to provision made by the last Congress for an increase to 100 from twenty-five of the number of appointments to the Naval Academy at Annapolis from the enlistment of personnel of the navy. Every enlisted man under twenty years of age with one year's sea service is eligible for designation. Examinations are competitive, the appointments going to the 100 men who stand highest.

Opportunities for boys who have had high school training are held out. With a groundwork of two or more years in high school, boys who enlist and serve a year have a better chance of obtaining a high rating in the examinations than others have.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO PARTICIPATE

Governor Edge Plans to Have Them Take Part in Industrial Army

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, April 12.—Following up the recent conference to devise means of increasing the agricultural output of the State in case of war, Governor Edge today officially approved details outlined by various State Departments for putting the economic preparedness plan into practical operation.

Directions from the Commissioner of Public Instruction to locate Boards of Education in every community of New Jersey to mobilize the "agricultural division of the Junior Industrial Army" for the immediate assistance of farmers, circular instructions from the State Grange, intended to inspire the co-operation of farmers, and special effort by the Department of Labor to supply help for farmers, through its free department service, constituted the steps to be taken.

In asking Boards of Education to call attention to the plan of recruiting boys for immediate service upon the farms of the State and excusing them, while so engaged, from participation in school work, Commissioner of Education Calvin N. Kendall has outlined a plan containing the following suggestions:

"When excused from school for such purposes, arrangements will be made whereby credit may be given toward a diploma of graduation in lieu of the work which would have been done in school during the time the boy or school is actually at work increasing the food supply. It is expected that rendering such service will be paid by the farmers, a sum which represents the value of their work, such wage to be agreed upon by the farmer and the boy or his legal representative."

In a statement to the school boards Commissioner Kendall cautioned the school authorities to keep an accurate record of the time pupils are out of school, and says they should have a certified statement regarding the character of the work done, the State De*partment to furnish blanks for this* purpose. The Commissioner further warns that only those boys should be enrolled for farm work who are

1. Over fourteen years of age.
2. In good physical condition.
3. Have permission of their parents or legal guardian to do such work.
4. Who, in the judgment of the principal, will seriously undertake such work.

Boys may be excused from attendance at school to enter agricultural service, the Commissioner points out, on either the home farm, farms in the neighborhood of the school, or on farms at a distance from home and school. In the latter case the Commissioner urges the principals of city schools to canvass the boys and to enroll such as in their judgment are qualified and willing to work on farms at a distance.

NEGRO WHO BLOCKED CAPITAL ATTACK DIES

Madison, April 12.—Isaac Gordon a negro, who as a boy informed commanders of the Union army of an attempt to surprise the city of Washington and later served as a guide for Federal troops, was found dead from heart failure Tuesday at his home in Elmore street. Gordon worked here as coachman for the late William P. Tuttle.

Gordon overheard the plot to attack Washington while serving guests in a manor house a mile from the city. He slipped away and passed into the Union lines with his information. The boy's familiarity with the region made him a valuable guide for raiding detachments and troops engaged in surprise movements. He kept the officers' horses and as a reward went through Sherman's campaign in the South.

ALLIES WILL SEND THEIR ENVOYS HERE

Washington, April 12.—Complete cooperation between the United States and the entente allies will be accomplished through conferences of representatives of the various countries. Secretary of State Lansing announced that Foreign Minister Arthur J. Balfour of Great Britain is coming to the United States "on an important mission." He would not discuss the matter further, but it was stated that the British foreign minister will take up the question of co-operation generally.

It is understood that commissions of leading government officers of Great Britain and France will come here to give this country the benefit of the war experiences of the allies. These commissions, with similar bodies representing this country, will endeavor to co-ordinate the efforts of all of Germany's enemies on land and sea.

Colonel E. M. House, President Wilson's closest unofficial adviser, and Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department have been mentioned as possible representatives of the United States in these conferences.

ALL ENLISTMENT RECORDS BROKEN

Special to Courier-News:

Washington, April 12.—Enlistments in the Marine Corps in the last few days have broken all records in the history of recruiting. These "Soldiers of the Sea" are making net gains daily of whole companies and battalions at their distinctive recruiting stations from coast to coast, according to reports just made public. Recruiting officials consider these increases just a start, however, as knowledge of and interest in this "two-in-one" land and sea service is rapidly growing. Present recruiting activities indicate that the Marine Corps will reach its newly authorized strength in the early summer.

The desire of red-blooded Americans to be the first to take a shot at a periscope and the realization of the fact that we need marines as well as submarines, at this time, is responsible for this material increase in Marine Corps recruiting, according to Government officials here. "Join the Marines the Minute Men of today—for immediate action!" is the popular slogan.

LET THE FLAG FLOAT DAY AND NIGHT

The question whether the flag may be kept out at night, or must be lowered at sunset, has been asked of the Courier-News by several who seek information about how to avoid any slight or disrespect to our national colors.

The rules at garrisons is to raise the flag at sunrise, and lower it at sunset, and this is proper on special days. When Francis Scott Key wrote the "Star-Spangled Banner," it was in September, some time before daylight, as he sat on the deck of an English warship, in Chesapeake Bay, and looking toward Fort McHenry, saw "that our flag was still there."

We are most accustomed to see the flag floating in time of peace, because our people have seen very few wars. Therefore it has been a custom to lower the flag at sunset. But in case of war it would seem proper to keep the colors in view all the time.

Apropos of this, Adjutant-General Simpson, at Governor's Island, is quoted as saying that the flag may properly remain up every hour of the day during the period of the war. The war is just as real during the night as during the day, and our flag is the emblem of our country by night as well as day.

Article 437 of the army regulations *provides for raising the flag at sun*rise, and lowering it at sunset, but also that during action the flag shall be kept masted at all hours until the action is over.

General Simpson says: "Put up your flag, and if it pleases you, keep it up."

PUBLIC SERVICE DROPS ITS ALIEN EMPLOYES

Construing the President's proclamation regarding the presence of alien enemies in or near properties of military or naval importance as applying to electric power plants, the public Service Electric Company has let out fifty-four employes. In some cases several of the employes had been with the company eleven or twelve years—a leave of absence was granted.

On linking up the proclamation with the fact that these company supplies light and power to many plants which make ammunition or other products of first importance to the army and navy, the company made a canvass of its employes. This showed seven Germans, thirty-six Austrians and eleven Hungarians who had not taken out first papers. Most of them were laborers.

"This was not done," stated John L. O'Toole, assistant to President Thomas N. McCarter, "in a spirit of suspicion, but in response to the proclamation. Each case will be examined on its merits and an endeavor will be made to see that the men can get their jobs back after the war."

WAR ODDITIES

Whittier, Cal.—It is recalled here today that Louis Ferdenanza February 1 declared that when a coal black pigeon perched on his barn it would be an omen of war. He says it came and foretold the war in 1914 and again when Italy plunged in in 1915. He says the bird has again appeared recently.

London—"Queen Anne, Micawber and Lloyd George" are the labels on three piles of correspondence on the desk of an official in the Government office. A minister who saw them asked the meaning. Said the official: "Queen Anne letters are dead and gone. Micawbers are waiting for something to turn up, and the letters labelled Lloyd George have to be attended to pronto or something will happen."

NO QUARREL WITH THE GERMAN PEOPLE

The Government of the United States has made it plain that the people of belligerent nations living in our country are safe from molestation as to person and property so long as they act the part of American citizens, or if not naturalized yet maintain a respectful and neutral demeanor toward our Government. This is probably more liberality than any other Government would show a citizen of the United States in time of war, but as citizens of a great republic, of the only kind in the world, we feel and think on broader lines, with charity for all and malice toward none. Our quarrel is not with the German people, who personally and individually may be counted among the finest, most hospitable people in the world, but against the House of Hohenzollern, which has kept the great German people under the thumb of autocracy, dwarfing their ambitions, limiting their freedom of speech and thought and yoking them to the crumbling ruins of despotism from the child in the cradle to the octogenarian tottering on the brink of the grave. The United States has never essayed to dictate to effete autocracies a reform of custom, but has chosen that our people shall live as freemen, every son eligible to hold the highest office in the Government if fitted and qualified to do so and without restriction of his ambition to be a ruler over many as soon as he has proved himself a qualified ruler over the few. We have not chosen to dictate to other Governments, but have made our own so attractive, so free to all people who are law-abiding citizens, that the old autocracies have seen their people slipping away to our shores, where about the full privilege of life, liberty, the kin, the woman Congress "man" of pursuit of happiness and the exercise Montana, who fainted in the House of man's noblest ambition is fully of Representatives when called upon guaranteed by our Constitution, for the first time to vote. The vote Ours, then, is a republic of free was upon President Wilson's mes people, a haven for the oppressed of sage to determine the question whether the United States should declare war upon Germany. It is said she voted "No," but there seems to be some question if she voted before she was overcome, began weeping and then fainted. At any rate, her vote was not needed to determine the question because the affirmative stood at 373 and the negative 50. Various explanations have been offered for her being overcome, one of which was her contemplation of the starving Belgian children, whose food sent them gratuitously by the promptings of charity and mercy among a more favored people were being destroyed by pirates on the high seas, against whom she was asked to vote for or against war. This, however, does not show the necessary stamina in a representative of a great commonwealth when faced with the necessity of saying whether a dangerous piracy shall or shall not be punished.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A tremendous demand for seeds of all kinds is reported, but it is not yet sure that there will be an equal demand for hoes to keep them clear from weeds.

Another case of a strategic retirement to carefully prepared positions takes place when the mischievous boys hear the police coming.

No American ship having been sunk for 24 hours, some of our people are convinced that Germany is surely going to be good now.

The Supreme Court must have neglected to ask permission of the Brotherhoods before it wrote some clauses of that Adamson law decision.

The concerns who sell porous plasters for lame back view the starting of so many backyard gardens with some equanimity.

The people would feel worse about the shortage of free seeds if they had more confidence that Government seeds would come up.

According to the German official bulletins, the farther they retreat the bigger victory they win.

Charlie Chaplin gets $750,000 a year and the average teacher of our schools about $750, and yet some people wonder why the rising generation doesn't know any more.

England is not fearful of starvation under the submarine menace, but with the growth of prohibition sentiment there is great fear of dying of thirst.

DON'T MARRY A "SLACKER"

A young man of military age who will marry a girl to evade military service under the flag of his country is the kind of a man who will desert his wife to serve his own comfort.

Will men who will not make sacrifices for their country make sacrifices for their families? Will the sort of man who evades his duty be the defender and breadwinner for his family? If a man has a "yellow streak" who will pay for it more dearly than his wife and his children?

The marriage that will weld two lives into a happy and contented one is a partnership founded on mutual respect, mutual sacrifice and mutual effort. These are the things that will wear, and how can a woman hold to the first and confidently expect the other two of her husband, when she knows that among her friends and acquaintances there revolves the question, "Was he a slacker?"—Newark Evening News.

QUESTION WHY SHE FAINTED

Much criticism has been heard about the action of Miss Janet Rankin, the woman Congress "man" of Montana, who fainted in the House of Representatives when called upon to determine the question whether the United States should declare war upon Germany. It is said she voted "No," but there seems to be some question if she voted before she was overcome, began weeping and then fainted. At any rate, her vote was not needed to determine the question because the affirmative stood at 373 and the negative 50. Various explanations have been offered for her being overcome, one of which was her contemplation of the starving Belgian children, whose food sent them gratuitously by the promptings of charity and mercy among a more favored people were being destroyed by pirates on the high seas, against whom she was asked to vote for or against war. This, however, does not show the necessary stamina in a representative of a great commonwealth when faced with the necessity of saying whether a dangerous piracy shall or shall not be punished.

"THE HOODOO" WAS A CYCLONE OF FUN

"The Hoodoo" was presented by the Chi Gamma Chi Club, of St. Joseph's church, at St. Joseph's Hall, North Plainfield, last night, before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The farce was presented in faultless fashion and the audience was kept in roars of laughter from the time the curtain rose until it went down on the final act.

The players were coached by Miss Mary O'Connor, through whose efforts the success of the enterprise was accomplished.

Those who took part in the cast were: Misses Elsie Moulton, Helen A. Brynlarski, Margaret Barry, Anna Veronica Daley, Marie Murray, Margaret Moran, Theressa McCollough, Frances Neuman, Catherine Newall, Esther Regan, Nora Bergen, Anna B. McGinness, and Messrs. William B. Mead, Jr., Earl Moran, Harold Mead, Frederick Green, Edward Sullivan and Alfred Seidel. Miss Mabel Saffron sang a number of solos. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss May Ardern.

FREEHOLDERS TAKE UP ROAD QUESTION

The sessions of the Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders this week have been given over almost entirely to a consideration of road petitions. The Chimney Rock-Martinsville road agitation has been supplanted by requests for road improvement in the Neshanic-Clover Hill and in the Griggstown-Belle Mead sections. The Board has been holding its meetings in the sheriff's office, owing to the fact that the Grand Jury was occupying the regular meeting room.

Freeholder C. F. Smith, of Bridgewater township, offered a motion at the meeting Tuesday morning to reconsider the action taken at the last regular meeting of the board, with reference to the construction of the Martinsville-Chimney Rock road and then offered a resolution that the board build the first section of the road. The motion was laid over for consideration at a subsequent meeting. Richards & Gaston, the lowest bidders on the road, asked release from their contract and the return of their certified check. This was ordered done and seems to end the controversy regarding the proposed construction of the mountain road.

Petitions were presented to the board, asking for a road from Neshanic to Clover Hill. This road is about three and one-half miles long and is the connecting link between the two places. The county engineer, five years ago, estimated the cost of improving it to be about $20,000 a mile, but it probably would cost considerably more at the present time. There is a large number of residents of the Neshanic-Clover Hill section present in the interest of the highway and many of them spoke in its favor. During the discussion it was stated that the Hillsborough Township Committee would build a one-mile spur provided the Freeholders built the main stem and also that the Readington Township Committee stood ready to continue the road to Flemington. No action was taken.

Following the hearing on the above road, Freeholder Robinson called attention to a resolution passed by the board in April, 1916, whereby the road from Griggstown to Belle Mead was the first road to be improved by county and township. The road is in Montgomery township and the Township Committee agrees to pay 25 per cent. of its cost. It was agreed to appoint a committee of freeholders to confer with a committee from the township committee.

It was also desired that the road leading from Wood's Tavern to Millstone be improved and the residents of that section were represented in the meeting.

Bids were opened for furnishing rifles and revolvers for the use of deputy sheriffs and the contract was awarded to Gernert Brothers, Inc.

Teachers' Salaries Raised

Boards of Education in Somerset county, as elsewhere, are recognizing the fact that increased expenses of living compel increased salaries of teachers, according to County Superintendent H. C. Krebs. The price of board has advanced steadily. Articles of clothing, books and magazines have all advanced in price. The teacher whose salary has been $500 for a number of years has actually been suffering a steady decrease year by year until now the purchasing power of that salary is less than $400.

Furthermore, Somerset Co. boards of education are coming to realize more and more that the children are entitled to good teachers, and that good teachers cost more money than poor teachers. Every child is entitled to a good teacher, and not one who can do little but experiment on her pupils while she is learning how to teach.

Several boards of education have already taken action in this matter. Liberal increases have been voted in Bernards and Bridgewater townships and in Somerville and North Plainfield boroughs. In Montgomery township every teacher who remains next year is to receive an increase of $100. In Franklin township the following schedule was voted for next coming year: Inexperienced teachers, $550; teachers who have taught one or two years, $600; over two years, $650. This means an increase over present salaries of from $100 to $150.

Other boards of education will doubtless take similar action in fact districts that do not raise their salary schedule must expect to lose their best teachers, because they will naturally go elsewhere if better inducements are offered.

A poor teacher should not be kept at any price. A good teacher is worthy of a good salary. She should be retained if possible for more than one year. Frequent changes of teachers demoralizes any school, and thus the children are deprived of their rights under the State constitution, which provides for "a thorough and efficient system of free public schools."

Mr. Siemsen Exonerated

Chief of Police Lewis A. Bellis has exonerated W. H. Siemsen from every suspicion of having given expression to un-American sentiments. A result of the investigation by the police head at a public meeting Monday evening brought forth many expressions of approval from those who were present. Mr. Bellis yesterday gave out the following statement:

"I wish to inform the public that I have made a thorough and exhaustive investigation of certain accusations made against a leading citizen and business man of Somerville. I have reference to W. H. Siemsen. As a result of my investigation I find that such reports emanated only from malicious and unwarranted gossip and have no foundation of any kind in fact. Mr. Siemsen is a citizen of the United States and has been a resident business man of Somerville for many years. He is a faithful member of our fire department and an earnest supporter of many of our leading fraternal and business organizations. I find him to be thoroughly American, loyal and true to its every interest.

"In this connection permit me to request that, during this critical international crisis, everyone be guarded as to their references regarding another and that they may be held to account for statements not founded in fact."

FANWOOD

Thought It Was an Infernal Machine

Two Fanwood ladies got off the 11:45 train and as they descended the bridge steps on the westbound side of the railroad they saw an "infernal machine." This startled them and they ran to their respective homes as fast as they could travel. They told their tale and upon investigation what they thought was perhaps a bomb, to say the least, was simply a child's play toy. The toy resembled a large telescope and this looked like an "infernal machine," to the frightened ones. The part that looked like a gun was about one foot off the ground and resting on three legs. This was standing directly in front of the station and in the dim light was enough to chase anyone home.

ARMIES NEEDED TO WIN IN WAR

Administration Takes This as Policy Keynote.

CONSCRIPTION BILL PUSHED.

Whole Force of President Will Be Used to Get War Department Measure Through Congress—Strongest Opposition Is Found in Senate—Republicans Won Over to $7,000,000,000 Bond Issue Plan—Army Appropriation Goes Through.

Washington, April 12.—"We cannot win this war without an army," was the determination reached by the administration. President Wilson has prepared for a vigorous aggressive fight to force the war department "selective draft" plan through congress. The decision to concentrate all of the administration influence behind the conscription bill now before the house was reached at a conference between President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker. Both had visited the capitol and tested the sentiment of the house, where formidable opposition to the conscription plan threatens serious delay to the enactment of the army legislation demanded by the president. It was determined to press the selective draft at once to prevent any further gain in strength by the opposition to the measure.

Wants Volunteers Also.

A compromise proposal was put forward while Secretary Baker was before the house military affairs committee urging speedy action in the army bill. Representative Anthony of Kansas, leader of the opposition, proposed that a call be issued for 500,000 volunteers while the first selective draft increment of 500,000 was being raised. Secretary Baker said the war department preferred the selective draft plan.

He explained that the department now proposed to bring the regular army up to 287,000 men and the national guard up to war strength by volunteers before taking in the first selective draft increment. Heretofore the plan contemplated a regular army of only 240,000.

The war department is forging ahead with its plans for handling the new army, and complete arrangements have been ordered for the training and officering of the force. The department will be ready to move just as soon as congress can pass the bill.

Naval operations have gone under the strictest censorship imposed since the beginning of the war. All information as to plans for co-operation between the American fleet and the entente navies is suppressed and strict regulations issued respecting all movements of ships and officers. For the present there will be no announcement as to naval operations.

Support For Huge Loan.

Partisanship has been completely eliminated so far as the two great national parties are concerned from the consideration of the $7,000,000,000 bond issue bill which the house will take up. The committee on ways and means spent all day considering the details of the bill.

At the outset the Republican members ex hibited a spirit of skepticism with regard to the immediate need for so stupendous a fund. They demanded enlightenment and promptly received it. Before the session was ended the support of the bill and the committee's report was unanimous.

Coupled with the authorization of the issuance of $5,000,000,000 in 3½ per cent bonds and $2,000,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness at the same interest rate the bill further provides for the issue of $63,945,450 or less to refund the 3-per cent bonds maturing Aug. 1, 1918.

Such criticism as has been advanced against the bill by Republicans now reduces itself to a certain amount of dissatisfaction with the virtually unlimited power granted the president in administering the money thus made available. The $7,000,000,000 credit is admitted to be the greatest bond issue in the history of world finance.

Army Bill Passed.

The senate passed the army appropriation bill which passed the house at the last session, but was strangled by a filibuster. It carried appropriations of $278,000,000.

Efforts by Senator Hughes of New Jersey to have included an amendment raising the pay of enlisted men from $15 to $30 a month were defeated on the ruling of the chair that such an amendment was out of order. A similar fate befell the amendment offered by Senator Kirby of Arkansas providing for the raising of an army of 500,000 men by voluntary enlistment.

The bill showed appropriations increased by $50,000,000 over the measure as it passed the house. These differences will be adjusted in conference.

Following the army bill the senate passed the sundry civil appropriations of $138,000,000. The appropriations committee of the senate increased this to $144,000,000.

In the house the committee on naval affairs, reported favorably the bill requested by Secretary Daniels providing the right for the government to commandeer all yachts, boats, lighters and tugs for the use of the navy.

The Bamberger Shirt Sale

This year, 'mid turmoil and strife, I have fulfilled my duty.

I have built up as one builds a temple of fame—little by little, stone by stone, dozen by dozen.

I am here in sufficient quantity to satisfy all men!

I bring value.

I am the instigator of economy in shirt buying.

I am bonafide. I am real. I am the truth.

I am imitated, but never equaled.

There is irrefutable evidence in all my claims to fame.

Eighteen thousand four hundred shirts are mute proof of all that I say.

For I am the Bamberger Shirt Sale, and as such I am the greatest event of my kind in the city that fosters me.

I am not an aggregation of shirts picked at random from odds and ends of manufacturers' stocks.

I am not the step-child of former sales.

I am FRESH. My stocks are NEW!

I am a thing JUST BORN, and my birthday will be one of rejoicing for men who have awaited my appearance.

They have built me of cloths which are numerous in kind.

They have formed me of madras, of rep and of poplin.

They have cut me from cotton crepes and percales, and from divers cloths of fancy weave.

They have molded me and cut me and tailored me to perfection.

They have given me a shape that conforms accurately to the size imprinted on my collar band.

I am to be found in patterns more varied than the colorings of the kaleidoscope.

No one artist with palette and brush could conceive or paint such brilliancy and diversity.

The hues of the rainbow have lent themselves to the formation of the stripes, and figures, and dots in the cloths from which I am made.

My sizes, too, befit all men.

I am here in 13½, in 14, in 14½, in 15, and in every size up to 18.

The different sleeve lengths in which I come, characterize the strength and breadth of my assortment.

There are over ten thousand of me with soft cuffs and the balance in starched cuffs.

I am the best value in shirts that you have ever seen at the price.

I am low in price, for you could not buy me at any other time at a price as low as this.

I am the product of some of the greatest mills and shirt manufacturers in the country.

My price is $1.10.

I am proud, very proud, that I am the—

Doctors and Eye Specialists Agree That Bon-Opto Strengthens Eyesight 50% In a Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Boston, Mass.—Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that Doctors and Eye Specialists generally here is real hope and help for them. Many of those eyes are restored and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy as well as my glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days my sight seemed clean. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes, which induced nerve headaches. I have worn glasses for several years, both for distance and reading, and though I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now, and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the flittering leaves on the trees and read street signs which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is said that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them with reasonable time, and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses.

Dr. Beck, an eye specialist of nearly twenty years practice, says: "Nothing I have ever taken in my practice has come to me who was suffering from Blepharitis Marginalis with all its concomitant symptoms, as morning agglutination of the lids, chronic conjunctivitis and ophthorea. Her eyes when not congested had the dull, lifeless expression common to such cases. Having run out of her medicine a friend suggested Bon-Opto. She used this treatment and not only overcame her distressing condition, but strange and amazing as it may seem, so strengthened her eyesight that she was able to dispense with her distance glasses and her headache and neuralgia left her. In the instance I should say her eyesight was improved 100%. I have since verified the efficacy of this treatment in a number of cases and have seen the eyesight improve from 25 to 75 per cent in a remarkably short time. I can say it works more quickly than any other remedy I have prescribed for the eyes."

Dr. Smith, an oculist of wide experience, says: "I have treated in private practice a number of serious ophthalmic diseases with Bon-Opto and am able to report ultimate recovery in both acute and chronic cases. Mr. B. came to my office suffering with an inflamed eye condition was so serious that an operation for enucleation seemed imperative. Before agreeing to the operative treatment I prescribed Bon-Opto and in 24 hours the secretion had lessened, inflammatory symptoms began to subside, and in seven days the eye was cured and retained its normal vision.

Mrs. C. had strabismus (cross eyes) escaped the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Bon-Opto. The tightened external muscles yielded to its soothing and anodyne effects to a degree that I was enabled to bring the eyes into perfect equilibrium. Mr. Weiss' Boro Drug Store and other wide-awake druggists."

Sending in this picture, the baby's mother wrote: "When my baby William was about a year old he was very sick with bronchitis. I had my doctor come to see him but he did not seem to get any better, so I tried Father John's Medicine and it did him good. So I have given it to him every time I see a slight cold commencing and he has not had any trouble since. I think it is the safest and cheapest dollar I ever spent. So much good has been done for all my family through taking Father John's Medicine that I have had his picture taken especially for you. (Signed) Mrs. P. J. Sullivan, 33 Beacham St., Everett, Mass.

At this time of the year Father John's Medicine is of special value for all the family because of its nourishing body building elements which give strength and help to build new flesh. Begin taking it now as the safest spring body builder. Remember, it contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs.—Adv.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. —Adv.

WOULD PLOW WITH TRACTORS

North Plainfield Township Preparedness Body Looking for One

North Plainfield township, which appreciates the need of agricultural preparedness long before Governor Edge issued his proclamation designating April 21 Planting Day, has taken up the preparedness movement with a view to accomplishing results. William Delaroche Anderson, spokesman for the township, stated today that what is needed most to carry the agricultural preparedness program to success is the use of farm tractors. One tractor will do the plowing of several farmers in one day and will harrow the ground at the same time. This will release the horses and men regularly employed on the farms for other work, and a great deal more can be accomplished than if each farmer is obliged to do his plowing the old way.

There will be a meeting in the township hall next week when five cars will be organized. They will be designated as Greenbrook one and two, Watchung, Mt. St. Mary's and Scotch Plains. Each of these camps will be under a commissary sergeant and the work of the intensive farming will be begun on a large scale.

Stock raising will also play an important part in the program. Every farmer will be asked to raise two or three more hogs than he raised last year, and it is proposed to try and stimulate stock raising throughout Somerset county.

In recent years farm labor has been scarce and the acreage cultivated has been reduced, making shorter crops, and the present shortage in hog raising has diminished because the farmers have been able to get big prices for their corn, and it was thought unprofitable to feed it to live stock.

The indications of a shortage in food supply next winter has changed the opinions of all who have studied the problem. It has come to be realized that the farmer is the backbone and sinew of the nation. Economists have always recognized this, but there have been times when the disposition was to regard the tiller of the soil as a joke, and cartoonists and comedians entertained the great American public with caricatures of the husbandman. Few there were who realized that the man in the back country made possible the bright lights along Broadway, and that he was also responsible for the ham and buzz of the mills and workshops. It was none other than William Jennings Bryan who more than twenty years ago declared that cities could be destroyed and rebuilt, but that if the farms were destroyed grass would grow in the city streets and starvation and want would stalk in the highways.

Secretary Lane and Secretary Houston has stated that a part of the American military preparedness plan will include farm service, and those who help to produce crops will receive the same compensation and be entitled to the same honors as the soldier who bares his breast to the rain of bullets on the battle field, because one is dependent on the other. Mr. Anderson and his fellow citizens of North Plainfield township have worked out a plan whereby companies of agricultural soldiers can be dispatched from one farm to another to assist in planting and harvesting crops. They will receive a fair remuneration from the farmer for their work and will be provided with food by the farmers. These companies will put up their own quarters and have their own cooks, and while serving in the fields they will also act as sort of rural guard.

The local branch of the Special Aid Society has been asked to enlist the services of those who would like to help the nation by working in the fields.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous, and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and free dom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pearly whites we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and raw yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv.

Unreliable

By WALT MASON, The Poet-Philosopher

"On James P. Jinks you can't depend—he doesn't keep his word." This is the punkest recommend that any man has heard. The delegate with that renown can't find much work to do; wherever he appears in town, employers cry out "Shoo." I hired a youth whose name is Charles, to help me bale some hay; to bind the deal I paid him arles, he said he'd come next day. But never did that youth appear, which made my lifeblood boil; he went a-fishing in the mere, and passed up honest toil. He comes to me when days are lorn, and hits me for a job, but evermore I turn him down, the piker and the swab. He comes to me when tempest blows, and asks me for a pie, but I've no charity for those on whom one can't rely. I hire a youth named Bennie Bird to ply the saw and sperthe, for lads who do not keep their word are of but little worth. The down-and-outs are mostly men who this false system played; who broke and broke, and broke again the promises they made.

Times Change

The other day I bought a hen, which fowl the butcher tossed me, and I was pained and startled when I found out what it cost me. Just eighty cents it set me back, that chicken, thin and scrawny; with wails I filled the butcher's shack, and tore my whiskers tawny. "When I was young," I sternly cried, "and lived three miles from Wooster, one-third that sum, doggone your hide, would buy a hen or rooster. Then for a dollar one could buy all kinds of goods and chattels, a fowl, a parasol, a pie, and divers baby rattles." "When you were young," the butcher said, "a man would work like thunder, and when at night he crawled to bed, he'd earned but little plunder. I have no doubt your father deemed a dollar big as blazes; too wonderful and great it seemed for any human phrases. You take in ten where he drew one, and yet, when buying chickens, because your plunk won't buy a ton, you grumble like the dickens." And then, because his heart was sore, he wept a briny river, and with my person mopped his floor, and smote me with a liver.

WHITMAN URGES GERMANS TO ENLIST

Albany, N. Y., April 12.—Governor Whitman has taken steps to obtain support of prominent German-Americans in the principal cities of the state for his home defense plans. He sent the following communication to them:

"In my recent request for the appointment of home defense committees in the various counties it was my purpose to enlist the energies of patriotic citizens in the support of the government, national and state.

"Consistent with that policy, and having in mind the many problems to the solution of which Americans of German ancestry can bring sympathetic understanding, I have determined to supplement the work of home defense by the appointment of a state wide committee of such citizens.

"The authorities of this state will encounter many new situations in these trying days which citizens of German birth and descent can greatly assist in solving. In many of the matters affecting the resident law abiding subjects of the governments with which we are at war with you, because of your familiarity with their language, customs and habits of thought, can be of peculiar service to the authorities of this state to the end that order may be maintained and unnecessary friction prevented.

"I am therefore asking you and the others whose names appear on the enclosed list to become members of such committee."

FIND 10,000 CARTRIDGES.

Soldiers Discover Them on Connecticut German's Farm.

Hartford, Conn., April 12.—Discovery by a detail from Company L, First Connecticut Infantry, of 10,000 rounds of ammunition under the barn stairs on the farm of Christopher Kempf, near Putnam, has resulted in a state wide search by federal secret agents and troops on guard duty for privately stored ammunition. Throughout the day the farming districts were combed by investigators, scores of places being searched.

Kempf was not arrested. The authorities hinted, however, that sensational developments may follow the discovery. Kempf said the cartridges had been sent to the farm a year and a half ago by his son Joseph of New York, who, he said, had received them in part payment for work. Kempf added his son was in the habit of bringing hunting parties to the state and for this reason asked for the ammunition instead of money.

ARMOR PLANT U. S. FIXED.

Charleston, W. Va., Selected For $11,000,000 U. S. Plant.

Washington, April 12.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has announced that Charleston, W. Va., has been selected as the site of the government's armor plate and projectile plant, construction of which at a cost of $11,000,000 will be begun at once.

Charleston was the choice of the general board of the navy and the army war college over 103 other contending cities, because its location in the heart of the Appalachians gives it necessary protection from invasive attack and guarantees greater efficiency and economy to the government by the accessibility of raw materials in that region.

Opposes Paying County Committees.

Hackensack, April 12.—By a vote of 13 to 5 the executive committee of the Bergen county Democratic committee defeated a movement to bring about the payment to each county committeeman of all parties in the wake of about $50 a year. The plan included co-operation with the Republican county committee in obtaining the necessary legislation.

Fire Sweeps 500 Acres.

Succasunna, April 12.—Between 400 and 500 acres of timber was burned over by a fire that started north of the Succasunna-Flanders road. The fire died out when a shift in the wind turned the flames back over the burned area, which includes land on the Ridge estate and the farms of Harry, Alward and James Serbe.

Lloyds Sees Peace Soon.

New York, April 12.—A report has reached Wall street that Lloyds of London was offering 10 to 1 that peace would be accomplished within ninety days. The report was received by the head of a prominent banking house.

DR. ALEXIS CARREL.

Famous Surgeon Who Says War May Last Fifty Years.

U. S. SOUNDS OUT LATIN-AMERICA

Envoys to Report on Feeling Toward This Country.

Washington, April 12.—A complete survey of the feelings of the nations of Pan-America toward the war between the United States and Germany is under way through the state department. American diplomatic officials in South and Central American countries have been ordered to sound out the sentiment at their posts and communicate to the department at once the results. Continued conflicting reports as to the leanings of some of these nations prompted the instructions.

All doubt as to the position of Argentina was dispelled when the Argentine embassy transmitted to the state department a note "recognizing the justice" of the United States declaration against Germany. The state department has been concerned over conditions in Argentina for some time following reports that a wheat embargo had been imposed and that various other measures which might embarrass the United States or the entente powers were contemplated. The note received "the government of Argentina in view of the causes that have prompted the United States to declare war against the government of the German empire recognizes the justice of that declaration, founded as it is upon violation of the principles of neutrality established by the rules of international law which have been considered definite conquests of civilization."

Raider Off S. W. Coast.

Buenos Ayres, April 12.—A vessel identified as a neutral steamships as a raider was sighted off the Atlantic coast. The mysterious stranger was seen at a point between Montevideo, in Uruguay, and Rio Grande, in the extreme southern point of Brazil.

SON HAS CONVICT FATHER ARRESTED FOR VAGRANCY.

Court attaches said the old man twenty years ago shot and killed his wife and a grandchild. Bernard was said to have lost an eye. A year ago Michael Schwab was paroled from Sing Sing prison in his son's custody. The latter charged his father with begging. He was held for examination.

SUMMIT PASTOR NOT DISLOYAL

Church Trustees Vote Confidence In Dr. Doan.

WANT HIM TO KEEP PULPIT.

Point Out Danger of Attempts to Suppress Free Speech in the United States Because of Honest Convictions Against War and Reiterate Admiration For Pastor While Disagreeing With His Views.

Summit, April 12.—Trustees of All Saints' church stand unequivocally behind Dr. Frank C. Doan, their pastor. Nothing he said in his anti-war sermon Sunday is capable of interpretation as treason or disloyalty to his country they say in a resolution at a special meeting.

Dr. Doan in his sermon said, among other things, that he would resist conscription and would refuse to enlist if a call was made for volunteers. As a result of these utterances he received a visit from an agent of the secret service department and was also interviewed by Mayor Rudolf Franklin.

It was made plain at the trustees' meeting that that body had no thought of accepting Dr. Doan's offer to resign.

The resolutions in full are as follows:

The trustees of All Souls' church of Summit, N. J., in view of newspaper comment and various current rumors, and in justice both to their minister, Dr. Frank Carlton Doan, and themselves, wish to put on record their admiration for his sincerity, tolerance, courage, idealism and loyalty to the best as he sees it.

While by far the larger part of his congregation are not in agreement with his views regarding peace and war, they believe in a broad tolerance of opinion and in freedom of pulpit utterance.

Nothing that Dr. Doan has said is capable of interpretation as treason or disloyalty to his country.

The trustees believe that there is more danger today in attempts to suppress honest opinion than there is in a frank and free expression of sincere pacifism.

Let us not see the ghost of Benedict Arnold in every phrase which is not sufficiently warlike to satisfy our emotions. Let us rather respect an honest man whether he agrees with us or not. In short, while fighting one form of tyranny let us beware lest we build up another.

FIVE PRIESTS TRANSFERRED.

Newark, April 12.—Transfers affecting five assistant rectors in the diocese have been announced by Bishop O'Connor. They will take effect immediately. Rev. John E. Holton, assistant rector of All Saints' church, Jersey City, will go to St. Nicholas' church, Passaic, and Rev. Joseph A. Shovlin, assistant rector at the latter church, will succeed Father Holton.

Rev. Thomas Judge of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Elizabeth, goes to St. Cecilia's church, Kearny, to succeed Rev. Charles F. Shaw, who becomes assistant rector at St. Michael's church, Jersey City. Rev. John J. Clark of the latter church succeeds Father Judge at Elizabeth.

REVIVES "JAG BOARD."

Barnardsville, April 12.—A reform wave has struck Barnardsville. In order that the drinks of the village might be cleaned up it was decided to rejuvenate the board of protectors. So John W. Hoffman, proprietor of the Claremont hotel, was made a member of the board to succeed Edward S. Allen, who has gone to Bismarck, N. D., on an extended trip.

Mr. Hoffman has always had a private "jag list" of his own, but now he wants an opportunity to make up officially a "jag list." And though the activity on the board place teeth in the power of the board.

RED BANK WANTS SUNDAY.

Red Bank, April 12.—Efforts are being made by Red Bank residents to get Billy Sunday to run down here some Monday during his campaign in New York to give a sermon in the armory, if it can be secured.

A summer resident, Howard Whitfield, has charge of the ushering in the tabernacle and has promised to use his influence in getting Mr. Sunday to come. If the evangelist cannot be induced to come to Red Bank there is talk of chartering a train and getting up a party to go to New York to hear him.

WANT HIM TO KEEP PULPIT.

Point Out Danger of Attempts to Suppress Free Speech in the United States Because of Honest Convictions Against War and Reiterate Admiration For Pastor While Disagreeing With His Views.

Summit, April 12.—Trustees of All Saints' church stand unequivocally behind Dr. Frank C. Doan, their pastor. Nothing he said in his anti-war sermon Sunday is capable of interpretation as treason or disloyalty to his country they say in a resolution at a special meeting.

Dr. Doan in his sermon said, among other things, that he would resist conscription and would refuse to enlist if a call was made for volunteers. As a result of these utterances he received a visit from an agent of the secret service department and was also interviewed by Mayor Rudolf Franklin.

It was made plain at the trustees' meeting that that body had no thought of accepting Dr. Doan's offer to resign.

The resolutions in full are as follows:

The trustees of All Souls' church of Summit, N. J., in view of newspaper comment and various current rumors, and in justice both to their minister, Dr. Frank Carlton Doan, and themselves, wish to put on record their admiration for his sincerity, tolerance, courage, idealism and loyalty to the best as he sees it.

While by far the larger part of his congregation are not in agreement with his views regarding peace and war, they believe in a broad tolerance of opinion and in freedom of pulpit utterance.

Nothing that Dr. Doan has said is capable of interpretation as treason or disloyalty to his country.

The trustees believe that there is more danger today in attempts to suppress honest opinion than there is in a frank and free expression of sincere pacifism.

Let us not see the ghost of Benedict Arnold in every phrase which is not sufficiently warlike to satisfy our emotions. Let us rather respect an honest man whether he agrees with us or not. In short, while fighting one form of tyranny let us beware lest we build up another.

FIVE PRIESTS TRANSFERRED.

Newark, April 12.—Transfers affecting five assistant rectors in the diocese have been announced by Bishop O'Connor. They will take effect immediately. Rev. John E. Holton, assistant rector of All Saints' church, Jersey City, will go to St. Nicholas' church, Passaic, and Rev. Joseph A. Shovlin, assistant rector at the latter church, will succeed Father Holton.

Rev. Thomas Judge of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Elizabeth, goes to St. Cecilia's church, Kearny, to succeed Rev. Charles F. Shaw, who becomes assistant rector at St. Michael's church, Jersey City. Rev. John J. Clark of the latter church succeeds Father Judge at Elizabeth.

Barnardsville, April 12.—A reform wave has struck Barnardsville. In order that the drinks of the village might be cleaned up it was decided to rejuvenate the board of protectors. So John W. Hoffman, proprietor of the Claremont hotel, was made a member of the board to succeed Edward S. Allen, who has gone to Bismarck, N. D., on an extended trip.

Mr. Hoffman has always had a private "jag list" of his own, but now he wants an opportunity to make up officially a "jag list." And though the activity on the board place teeth in the power of the board.

RED BANK WANTS SUNDAY.

Red Bank, April 12.—Efforts are being made by Red Bank residents to get Billy Sunday to run down here some Monday during his campaign in New York to give a sermon in the armory, if it can be secured.

A summer resident, Howard Whitfield, has charge of the ushering in the tabernacle and has promised to use his influence in getting Mr. Sunday to come. If the evangelist cannot be induced to come to Red Bank there is talk of chartering a train and getting up a party to go to New York to hear him.

BASEBALL CHATTER FROM LOCAL FANS

A Few Brief Notes on Doings About the Local Ball Fields

The schedule of the City Baseball League has been drawn up by Secretary Dan Randolph and is now ready to be submitted to the meeting of the circuit which has been called for next Monday evening at the secretary's home. The list of dates calls for the opening on Saturday, April 28, this date having been decided upon at one of the previous sessions of the circuit's magnates.

The outlook for the coming season of the league, from present indications, is very bright, and reports from the various managers on hand show that every manager is on the job ready to produce something a little better than last year in the line of a team.

Manager Randolph of the First Baptist aggregation has called for another practice of his entire squad for next Saturday afternoon at West End Oval. The make-up of the team will be selected at that time, and those selected will be measured for suits. A full turn-out of candidates is desired.

The old squad was out yesterday afternoon watching the scoreboard in front of the Courier-News building. A number of old-timers were again on the job, and from present indications the aggregation will grow daily until the world's series is over next October.

Little, if anything, has been heard of late concerning the Central New Jersey League organized in this city several weeks ago. The publicity man has evidently fallen asleep by the wayside.

WESTFIELD TENNIS CLUB PLANS WORK

The following schedule of tournaments for the summer was adopted:

May 30.—Opening tournament, men's progressive doubles.

May 30.—Ranking tournament begins and continues all summer until September 29.

June 30 and July 4—Open men's doubles tournament for championship of Westfield.

July 9 to 14.—Open boys' singles tournament for championship of Westfield.

July 14—Women's singles tournament for championship of club.

July 28 to August 4—Mixed doubles tournament for championship of club.

August 18—Inter-club match with Westfield Golf Club.

Sept. 1 and 3—Men's singles tournament for championship of club.

September 15 and 22—Men's handicap singles tournament.

The board also decided to erect a flagpole on the grounds this year and to purchase a large American flag.

HIGH SCHOOL CORPS SELECTS OFFICERS

Student Organization is Divided Into Nine Squads for Training

The Plainfield High School Cadet Corps will hold its weekly drill tomorrow afternoon. As Capt. John Brandeth of the United States Reserve Corps has been called for duty, Acting Captain W. E. Tomlinson will probably take command.

During the past week the following appointments for officers have been made and the corps has been divided into permanent squads: First sergeant, Charles Greene; acting sergeants, Clinton Berrien, Alan Stevenson, Juan Babcock, Hamilton Wilmerding and W. Marder; lance corporals, Chester Alpaugh, Judson Blake, Mac Fullerton, Wesley Johnson, W. Sutton, Everett Case, Martin Snyder, William Addis and Monroe O'Donnell; trumpeters, Haywood Erickson and Irving Manley; artificer, John Richards; clerk, Harold Stevenson. The appointments are only temporary. At a date to be announced later Captain, First Lieutenant and Second Lieutenant will be elected from among the non-commissioned officers acting at that time.

The squads have been arranged as follows:

TEMPER, TEMPERAMENT AND THE GREAT GAME

Ty Cobb's outburst for freedom in strikes, perpetrated in Dallas, Tex., with Charley Herzog, the goat, is sufficient to lead any one to wonder if baseball is not nearly every great star in baseball has participated in many bursts of temper, many times, ending in first exhibitions.

Cobb himself has had innumerable episodes of temper, and many times they have developed into blows. The occasion of the butchery nearly put Ty out of baseball for a season, and there was a time when he clambered into a grandstand to take up the issue with a spectator.

Herzog is a scrappy individual and a star. Heinie Zimmerman is always eager to argue with some one—and he is a star. Joe Wood has had his little experiences. John McGraw was a fighter and a fast one. Johnny Evers has encountered trouble in his baseball days more times than any one ever has set down on paper.

It appears that the unchecked spirit that carries men to heights in baseball effort is just as likely to lead them to heedless effort when an argument presents itself. That probably explains why Herzog and Cobb mixed.

Cobb has confessed he intentionally spiked the Giants' second sacker. There undoubtedly was a reason for that, and when Herzog grappled with the Georgian and they went to the Texas sand in a rough-and-tumble exhibition, it was evident the fires had been smouldering.

It was a queer thing that each participant in this melee was playing under orders of two of baseball's scrappiest managers. John McGraw himself has gone through more pugilistic capers on the diamond than any man in the game, and Hugh Jennings was a baseball player of some ability with his fists. Both were members of the old Baltimore Orioles, a club that learned fighting almost as soon as it did baseball.

OSCAR VITT SUSPENDED.

Detroit, April 12.—Oscar Vitt, star third baseman of the Detroit Americans, who declined to sign his 1917 contract because of salary differences, was automatically suspended yesterday. Suspension was the result of his failure to report to Manager Jennings before the opening game.

It is understood that President Navin offered Vitt an increase in salary, but that the infielder demanded a much larger sum.

INNER-TRIANGLES WIN THIS SERIES

Defeated Y. M. C. A. Seconds in Final Basketball Contest of Local Season

The local basketball season for the 1916-17 season was formally closed last evening when the Inner-Triangles of Netherwood took the Y. M. C. A. Seconds into camp by a 39 to 22 score. Both teams put up a good game, and likewise both teams had "ringers" in the respective line-ups.

By virtue of their victory the Inner-Triangles will now lay undisputed claim to the junior championship of the city.

Neither team will be in the junior class next season, if our information concerning the ages of the players on the teams is correct. As a matter of fact, neither team has a rightful title to the designation of "junior teams" this season, claims of the two managers notwithstanding.

Last evening's score:

JERSEY BOY WAS THE FIRST BOXER ENLISTED

While nearly all the prominent boxers in America have announced their willingness to serve Uncle Sam and doubtless will do so, Eddie Nugent, a welter boxer, of Nutley, N. J., has the honor of being the first pugilist to enlist and begin actual service. Nugent left his home yesterday from Pensacola, Fla., where he will take up his duties as a member of the United States Aviation Corps.

Nugent is one of two out of eighty applicants at the Nutley recruiting station who passed the rigid examination for admission to the country's air fighting service. He is 21. During his ring career he participated in sixty-three fights in various nearby cities.

In many of the bouts he fegured the popular decision. His last encounter was several weeks ago in New York with Farmer Sullivan, whom he outclassed in ten rounds. For many years Nugent was under the care of Mike Donovan, whose instruction enabled him to do well in the welter class.

CONTRIBUTORS TO DEFENSE LEAGUE

Subscriptions Still Needed to Bring Amount Up to Requirements

The Home Defense League still requires contributions to bring the amount up to $6,000, which is the estimated sum needed to equip and drill 150 men and to assist the High School Cadets.

Other cities such as East Orange and Montclair have quickly raised larger amounts by voluntary subscriptions. Contributions have been generous so far, and, if the general public will send in small amounts of $1 or $2, or even less, the full sum will be obtained without burden. There should be a much larger list of names of contributors.

If you have not already subscribed send in your contribution to the Plainfield Trust Company. Amounts are not published, but the names of subscribers will be daily given.

The following is the list of the subscribers up to the present time:

DESCRIBES LIFE AT PLATTSBURG CAMP

C. H. Frost Gives Interesting Talk to Members of Hiawatonomo Tribe, Red Men

Explaining in detail the advantages of the military training provided at the Plattsburg Camp, Charles H. Frost addressed a large attended meeting of Hiawatonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order Red Men, last night, and at the same time he exhibited many views showing every phase of life at Plattsburg with which he is familiar. Mr. Frost spent several weeks in training at the camp and he spoke from personal experience.

The pictures, which are the property of the U. S. Government, give one an excellent idea of the camp, its daily routine, fortifications, the manoeuvres of the soldiers and general training, all of which were explained in an interesting way.

Mr. Frost recalled one incident of particular interest, that of the soldiers being called out at 3 o'clock one morning and after a long hike they engaged in a sham battle. Mr. Frost's description of this experiment was very amusing. Besides describing the pictures, the speaker prefaced his talk with personal incidents.

At the conclusion of the above talk, William Osmun, who is employed at the Pond Tool Works, related some of his four years' experience as a marine in the U. S. Navy. He made a trip around the world on the Battleship Arkansas, and his description of that journey was full of interest to everyone present.

Milady and the New York Shops

Spring Is Here!

Spring is in the air. Spring is in the sky. Spring is in the flowers that are budding forth from their long confined winter. Spring is in the birds that fly with renewed zest over the housetops. Spring is in the stores and shops where gay colors and pleasing styles run riot. But nowhere does Spring evince itself more fervently than in the country, in the suburbs where the grass is greenest, the sky bluest and the children happiest.

It is time to dress your country home in its new spring garb. The winter velvets and leather look so cold and unfeeling now. You must put them away in your big cedar chest and go a-hunting for what is new and beautiful in light, airy, summery hangings, draperies and coverings.

But you won't have to look far. Come with me while I tell you about the wonderful assortment that B. Altman & Co., that wonderful establishment of this really refined, which occupies the block between Fifth and Madison Avenues and Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Streets.

See that marvelous couch hammock, long enough for a six-foot giant to stretch out in his ease. The stand itself is quite distinctive, being of nickle plate. But the covering: It is a beautiful large-figured imported cretonne, with two cushions to match, and the cover can be unbuttoned and removed for the birds' branch on the porch. This is but one of the many exclusive styles of couch hammocks offered by Altman's. One can easily discern that those in charge of this department take time and thought to study artistic effects and color combinations, creating such amazing results with gold and black, rose and green, tones of gray and numbers of others.

You stop at admire the wonderful variety of the hand-blocked prints for bed-spreads, table covers and bureau covers. Another variety of prints are those in Japanese designs, and in the favorite blue and white Japanese designs, so hard to get these days. You cannot resist the stenciled table covers, made up in original and exclusive patterns, especially for B. Altman & Co.

There are screens covered with cretonne in nursery designs, for Baby's private use. Even the darling Little Man must have one of Altman's baby hammocks, with a top to keep the sun off, sides to keep him from a cruel fall. In it he can lie all day long in the fresh air and Mother or Nurse can look after him while doing other things, and he will be perfectly content.

Of course you discover that the facilities of B. Altman & Co. for estigating work on slip covers, shades and awnings for summer, homes is most unusual. And immediately you wonder why you did not think of it before, to take them to some out and measure up your whole house for new summer garments.

You can take your pick amongst theirgreat collection of imported cretonnes in New York City; with the prices specially reduced now by Altman's, in rich and harmonious colorings. Then they know you can have your particular design made up into shoe boxes, shirt waist boxes and hangings.

Even the baby is not forgotten, and lovingly over the bawbette outfits, each composed of a metal tabes with a fluted umbrella to shade the sun of which can be adjusted at any angle according to the sun's rays, also a set of chairs. These can be used indoors or without slip covers, but you would not think of doing without them, for they make such a charming effect when one feels like taking a light meal out in the garden or on the porch. The bawbette outfits are shown in many attractive color combinations, but the most striking are beautiful shades of yellow and lavender, piped with black.

Even here, His Majesty, The Baby, is not forgotten, for a lawnette set is specially designed by Altman's for a very young child, with the full equipment in miniature, with the cretonne covers in nursery rhyme design.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

Letters with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

In continuing the article of last evening, dealing with suggestions for setting an attractive and, at the same time, inexpensive family table, it must be remembered that tasty salads play a very important part, especially during the spring and early summer season, in helping out what might otherwise be a rather meager menu.

In serving salads, however, do not put a large plate of green lettuce leaves, to be dressed, in front of each person, but have the salad blended with the dressing and nicely garnished. In a previous article, published a few weeks ago, recipes were given for a number of delicious salad dressings and with the aid of these a great variety of salads can be provided without incurring much expense. Sprinkle over your lettuce, one day, a few cooked peas and just a suspicion of freel mint and on another day, string beans (finely sliced), chopped tomatoes or cucumber, this latter with the addition of a couple of tiny, minced onions, a few beets that have been left over dusted with chopped parsley or cold asparagus tips, and you will have different salads for almost every day in the week.

A dainty dish of potato salad is a very agreeable accompaniment to cold roast beef; with cold mutton serve tomato or pea salad and with cold chicken, a Russian salad flavored with celery seed. A good rule to remember, in making a salad from uncooked vegetables, such as cress of lettuce, is to blend the dressing with lemon juice, while cooked varieties, such as string beans, asparagus or cauliflower, are better with tarragon vinegar.

Leftover vegetables are also very good to use with eggs, in a great variety of ways. Dainty fillings for omelets, used in connection with scrambled eggs, or in the shirred egg preparations, are a few suggestions that will change a simple "egg dish" into quite a different formula.

Fruits and cold desserts are more acceptable and, as a rule, more wholesome at this season of the year than heavy pies and puddings. Custards of all varieties, rice and tapioca puddings, floating island, with different flavors and used in connection with fruit, gelatine preparations and simple frozen dainties, are all excellent. Also, at this time of the year, when eggs are reasonable in price, dainty souffles and whips may also be indulged in.

Almost everyone likes a good dessert and when they are made from milk, eggs and some of the cereal preparations, their food value is considerable. Take this into consideration when planning the rest of the menu, for in these days of high prices, while a sufficient amount of calories should be provided, there is no need to overdo the matter, and by furnishing an over-abundance of food material, tax not only the family pocket-book but the digestive organs as well.

A Quick Prune Whip

Remove the stones from one dozen large, cooked prunes (sweetened). Drain the fruit thoroughly and press through a potato ricer, or chop finely to a pulp. Drain again and mix with the stiffly whipped white of two eggs. Heap into sherbet glasses and serve with either a chilled custard sauce (made from the egg yolks), or sweetened, whipped cream.

Banana Sponge

Soften one-quarter of a package of gelatine in one-quarter of a cupful of cold water and then dissolve in one-quarter of a cupful of boiling water. Peel and press through a potato ricer sufficient ripe bananas to fill one cup. Heat the pulp of the bananas to the boiling point, add the juice of one lemon, the gelatine and three-quarters of a cupful of sugar. Remove from the fire and beat occasionally as it cools. When it begins to thicken, pour into a mold that has been lined with parchment paper and on which has been placed thin slices of bananas. Set in a cold place to chill and serve unmolded garnished with sweetened, whipped cream.

BLACK HEN'S MISTAKE

Mr. Fox had been bothering the hens and turkeys at the Hill Top farmhouse all the spring, so the farmer thought he would repair the house where the hens and turkeys lived, and then Mr. Fox would not have so easy a time getting at them.

Of course, Mr. Fox did not know anything about what the farmer thought and cared less, for Mr. Fox was a selfish fellow and thought only of his own comfort.

One night when the house was without a door the farmer tried to drive all the hens and turkeys into the barn to sleep, but the turkeys did not like this and flew into the branches of the trees.

"We will watch for old Mr. Fox," said old Mr. Gobbler, "and call out to you if we see him."

"I guess if we waited for you to see him to give us warning," said Mrs. Black Hen, "we would all be dead by morning. Why, you go to sleep and never wake up until Mr. Rooster calls you at sunrise."

When all the hens and chickens were safely housed in the barn the farmer closed the barn door, thinking they were safe for one night from Mr. Fox, but he did not notice that a window which was open had a barrel standing right under it.

Mrs. Black Hen was inquisitive, and when she found that she could not see outside from where she was roosting on the side of a stall she jumped down and hopped up on the barrel under the window.

"If I could get up to the sill of that window," she thought, "I should be able to see everything, and above all else I should be able to see old Mr. Fox, for I just know Mr. Gobbler will sleep right on till morning. He took up his perch on the branch on which to sleep, I noticed."

To think was to do with Mrs. Black Hen, so she flapped her wings and landed on the sill of the window.

"Mercy me!" she exclaimed, for in the moonlight she saw what she thought was a big trough of meal mush. "Why, I never saw so much mush in all my life before. I guess the master is going to give us a feast in the morning."

Then Mrs. Black Hen could not go to sleep for thinking of the meal mush and she forgot all about Mr. Fox.

"I really should fly down there and just taste it," she mused; "then I can tell the others how good it is. I believe I will."

So out of the window went Mrs. Black Hen, almost landing on her head, for the window was not very near the ground.

Old Mr. Gobbler heard her when she landed on the ground, for Mrs. Black Hen hit a milk can standing under the window, and over it went, making a noise.

"Gobble, gobble!" said Mr. Gobbler, "that is the world is that silly Mrs. Black Hen doing outside the barn where master put her for safekeeping. I wonder if she wants to be carried off by old Mr. Fox."

Mrs. Black Hen flew right over to the trough of mash or what she thought was mash, and hopped up on the side of the deep trough.

Just then old Mr. Gobbler saw something moving close to Mrs. Black Hen which she did not see because the something was behind a pile of boards.

"That looks like old Mr. Fox now," said Mr. Gobbler, stretching his neck a little. "It is Mr. Fox and he is after Mrs. Black Hen," he said, after taking another look.

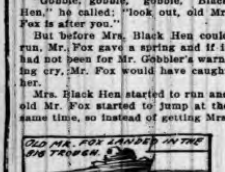
But before Mrs. Black Hen could run, Mr. Fox gave a spring and if it had not been for Mr. Gobbler's warning cry, Mr. Fox would have caught her.

Mrs. Black Hen started to run and old Mr. Fox started to jump at the same time, so instead of getting Mrs.



Black Hen, old Mr. Fox landed in the big trough, which instead of being filled with mush, was filled with mortar.

Mrs. Black Hen did not need to be told to run again; she ran and flew and finally was in a safe place.

"The stupid old fellow will eat all our mush, I suppose," she said to Mr. Gobbler. "Why, how he does act! Why doesn't he get out and run off home?"

"That isn't mush, you silly creature," said Mr. Gobbler, "Don't you know that is mortar the master is to use on the house he is fixing for us?

"Mr. Fox will get out and run as soon as he can, but he is wondering just what has happened to him, I guess."

"I guess you have a coat you will not get off very easily, Mr. Fox," called Mr. Gobbler, as Mr. Fox finally jumped out and ran out of the barn yard.

Mr. Fox did not stop to reply. He ran for the woods, and when he was deep in it he rolled and rolled, rubbing himself against the rocks and trees trying to be rid of the dreadful stuff that clung to his fur, but it was a long time before he was free from the mortar, which mixed thoroughly with his long, hairy coat.

"Luckily I saw Mr. Fox," said Mr. Gobbler, "for otherwise you would be among the missing tomorrow morning, Mrs. Black Hen. But will you tell me, please, why you came out of the barn when you knew the master put up there so old Mr. Fox could not get you?"

"I forgot all about Mr. Fox, the night was so lovely," fibbed Black Hen, flying up to a place of safety near Mr. Gobbler.

Mr. Gobbler was almost asleep, and so was Black Hen, when Mr. Gobbler gobbled right out loud laughing at something he had thought of.

"What is the matter?" said Black Hen. "I was almost asleep and you woke me up!"

"Oh! I just thought of something," said Mr. Gobbler.

"What was it?" asked Black Hen.

"Oh! I am afraid you would not think it as funny as I do," said Mr. Gobbler, "I may tell you some time. Good night."

"What is the use of telling her I knew she thought the mortar was mush. She would only be angry and she never would own up, anyway," he said, settling down to sleep once more.

Carter, J., were elected as elders, the latter succeeding Ellis W. Hedges, who retired after a term in that capacity for the past twenty-one years.

The benevolent contributions of the year was the largest in the history for one year, with a single exception, contributing $25,124 as follows: Foreign missions, $7,365; home missions, 45; 285; chapels, $5,400; local benevolence, $1,781; miscellaneous, $3,793; ministerial relief, $1,500. The total receipts of the year, including those for current expenses of the church and for benevolences aggregated $41,153.76.

The entire parish of the church, including Bethel and Warren Chapels, has a combined membership of 1,750, distributed as follows: Home Church, 1,160; Bethel Chapel, 146; Hope Chapel, 444. The three Sunday schools have an enrollment of 1,128, as follows. Home school, 295; Bethel Chapel, 219; Hope Chapel, 624.

During the course of the meeting, reports of the activities were made by James E. Kimball and Rev. William L. Imes, for Bethel Chapel, and G. Herbert Condict for Hope Chapel.

First Presbyterian

The reports of the First Presbyterian church were most encouraging and showed that the church had passed through the best year in its existence. There is a balance of $690 in the general treasury and this was transfered to a contingency fund. The budget was increased to $7,200, which increase was found to be justified by the pledges. The Italian Mission was taken over into the budget of the church.

A fine acacia was presented to Eugene M. Cave in recognition of twenty-five years faithful service as elder.

First Baptist Church

Encouraging reports for the past year, together with the election of officers, featured the annual meeting of the First Baptist Church held last night. Not only were all obligations met during 1916, but the church debt which amounted to nearly $14,000 was reduced to about $4,600, and 564 pledges were reported for a total of $11,411.20 for the coming year's expenses.

L. V. F. Randolph, as chairman of the board of trustees, presided at the parish meeting which was held first. The report of John G. MacLaughlin, treasurer, showed that a total of $20,000 had been raised for church purposes, meeting all apportionments, and all but $600 of the $14,258 had been secured toward the church debt. The balance has been pledged and will be paid within a short time. L. V. F. Randolph and O. B. Leonard were re-elected trustees for three years The former took occasion to comment upon the excellent spiritual and financial condition of the church.

The congregational meeting followed at which Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, presided, and reports from the various departments were made. George C. Church, secretary of the Sunday school, reported a total membership of 980, with an increase of 52 during the year. There were 67 converts, that number of members uniting with the church. There were five deaths. The receipts for the year were $1,602.45 and the present balance $795.05.

Mrs. J. Herbert Case reported for the Women's Missionary Society, showing an average attendance of fifty. The receipts for the year were $1,008.60. The reports for the Sunshine and Hasbur Chapters of the World Wide Guild, and the Beta Alpha Chapter, all showed that much had been accomplished, and that the year gave a most excellent review of the work of the Hudson Junior Templars for the year. This showed that $23.65 had been given to missions.

Cedric Ostrom, representing the Christian Endeavor Society, reported fifty active members and thirteen honorary members, with a balance of $28.35 in the treasury. He also reported for Troop 14, Boy Scouts, stating that the troop is now three years old, has a membership of 32, and efforts are being made to recruit up to war strength, which is forty. Miss White, superintendent of the Home department, reported a total of 154 members and receipts for the year of $119. Mrs. Robert Love reporting for the Teacher Training class, stated that the membership is sixteen and regular meetings have been held.

Frank W. Ames presented the report for the board of deacons, showing receipts for the year of $1,202.02. And expenditures of $543.60. There is also $2,600 in a trust fund and $900 in an emergency fund. Miss Agnes Manning gave an informal report for the deaconess fund.

Wilbur W. F. Randolph gave an excellent report for the benevolent committee. This showed receipts of $10,114.18. He stated that 564 pledges had been received for the coming year, representing $11,411.20, as against 415 pledges with $8,721.04 last year. There was expended for benevolences last year $6,001.17, with a cash balance of $1,113.01. The membership of the church is 795, there being a number of additions during the past year. Wilbur W. F. Randolph was re-elected deacon to succeed himself for the full term.

At the close of the meeting, Dr. Strong presented Miss Luella Evans, a senior at Syracuse University, who is a guest at his home, and she recited an Easter story. Miss Evans, it was explained by Dr. Strong, won a prize-speaking contest several years ago in which he was interested, and is now preparing to become a teacher of elocution.

Park Avenue Baptist

At the annual meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening David M. Runyon presided and the attendance was large and the interest manifest. The reports were most encouraging and showed that all departments had done excellent work during the past year and that there were balances in all treasuries.

The budget for the ensuing year is about $5,000 and will be met. The receipts last year were $3,632 and the expenditures were $5,011. The benevolences were about $1,200.

The following were elected as trustees: H. C. Runyon, Francis R. Mortimer, George W. V. Moy, Thomas H. Cuming, for two years, and Nelson Van Winkle, for one year. The trustees organized with President, H. C. Runyon; chairman of finance committee, George E. Hall; secretary, Francis R. Mortimer; financial secretary, Willard M. Maxim.

SPOKE ON THE EXTRA SESSION

IN THE HARTRIDGE

Discussed War Message and Described Stir Made By Appearance of Miss Rankin

Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, D. C., gave the first of two extra "talks on current events" in the auditorium of the Hartridge School yesterday afternoon. She took up points in the President's war message and spoke on the United States' preparedness program.

There was, she began, no such day as April 2 known in Washington since the Civil War. When the Sixty-fifth Congress convened the city was filled to overflowing with citizens from all parts of the country and the assemblage in the House comprised the most notable men in the land. The first sensation of the day was when a Congresswoman from Montana came in quietly and modestly and took her seat. Miss Rankin made a most attractive appearance. She was pretty and was dressed in black Georgette over white and blue, and wore her hair in marcel. She received a great ovation, and one would almost suppose that the 424 Congressmen had been looking forward all their lives to the happy day when woman should come into her own.

A noble defense of the attitude of Miss Rankin was made by Miss Richards. She recognized fully the intense strain of the moment and the

LINCOLN FRATERNITY IN PATRIOTIC SOCIAL

The Abraham Lincoln Chapter last evening held a short business session and then adjourned to the Frat rooms in the Frost building, at which considerable routine business was transacted. After the fraternal session, the gathering adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gwilym Lewis for a social time.

The social portion of the evening took the form of a patriotic gathering, the singing of "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" marking the opening and the closing of the affair. Short addresses of a patriotic nature were made by President D. Evan Hill and Vice-President H. W. Reed.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing of games and dancing, while refreshments were served at the conclusion of the event. Those present at the social included a number of women friends of the members.

The "frat" is at the present time endeavoring to secure a number of new members among the young men of this city.

CLOSING NIGHT OF "LAND OF MYSTERY"

Appreciation Shown by Round After Round of Applause and Flowers

The third and closing performance of "The Land of Mystery," the big comic opera which has been appearing at the Plainfield Theatre under the auspices of the Plainfield Lodge of Elks, was given last night before a large and well pleased audience.

As on the previous evenings the opera again made a big hit with those witnessing it. The Elks certainly have the satisfaction of knowing that their reputation for producing an annual successful attraction has been maintained. All those taking a leading part won round after round of applause, and it must have seemed to the audience that all the florist shops in the city had been entirely depleted, judging from the countless floral offerings showered upon the different members of the cast by their admiring friends. Even the children in the "Ballet of the Fairies" came in for some of the bouquets, while Mr. and Mrs. Skilling, who produced the opera for the Elks, were not forgotten.

The committee in charge of the affair worked very hard for success and feels deeply grateful to all those who appeared in the opera for the many personal sacrifices made to attend rehearsals, etc. It also wishes to thank the firemen who so kindly assisted in looking after the children's safety. Arrangements have been made with Manager Shannon of the Plainfield Theatre for entertaining all the children who appeared in the opera on Saturday afternoon, April 21, when, in addition to the regular performance, some attractions appealing particularly to the little folks will be added.

The committee in charge of the production was composed of the following well-known Elks: W. C. Mulvey, W. R. Cawsbrook, LeRoy Woodhull, A. F. LaRock and L. E. Starker.

YOUTH WHO TALKED WITH KAISER IS HERE

Today and tomorrow at the Plainfield Theatre vaudeville will be resumed. An unusual feature will be Norman A. Sper, the nineteen-year-old American boy who was granted interviews by President Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt, Governor Fielder, Lord Kitchener and the Kaiser. In vaudeville an American comedy, "The Slacker," will be presented, showing the funny side of a serious subject.

Sper needs no press agent. He has the experience, being the official representative of the Boy Scouts and former editor of the Boy Scout magazine. His has been in the public eye for some time. His best stunt, no doubt, was going to Europe at the outbreak of the war and making his way to the front of fighting at that time.

DUNLAP-VERNON NUPTIALS

Miss Ruth M. Vernon and Clarence Dunlap, both of Potters, were married last evening by the Rev. E. W. Roberts, in the parsonage of the Shiloh Baptist church. The bride was a traveling dress and the young couple stalled on a trip east immediately after the ceremony. On their return they will reside in Rahway.

ENTERTAINMENT AT COLUMBUS CLUB

Affair Was Given for Those Who Assisted Knights at Recent Bazaar

In the Columbus Club last evening, an entertainment was presented to those who assisted the members of Watchung Council in their recent bazaar. The financial reports of the various societies interested in the work were read and several short addresses made. Andrew Kenney was chairman of the meeting and Arthur A. Ca... was in charge of the various reports.

Thomas McLaughlin, Supreme Warden of the Knights of Columbus, gave an interesting talk on the patriotism of the Knights and also told several humorous stories. Mrs. Alfred Seidel, of North Plainfield, and Miss Kempf of Roselle, rendered vocal selections. Other songs and recitations were capably given by visiting members of the Knights of Columbus.

John J. Viggy spoke in behalf of the Knights and Mrs. Varley made a report for the daughters of Isabella. John F. Casey, Sr., president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, spoke in their behalf and emphasized the true spirit of Hibernianism.

Frederick M. Greene presented the report of the St. Joseph's Bible Class and "Joe" Gallagher spoke for the St. Mary's Total Abstinence Benevolence Society. The salute to the flag was given by H. B. Greenwood and the evening's program closed with "Star Spangled Banner." Refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed, music being furnished by Professor Squires' orchestra.

MANY ENJOY EASTER DANCE AT PARK CLUB

Patriotic Decorations Feature Social Function Which is Largely Attended

The annual Easter dance at the Park Club last night was one of the most successful social functions given at the popular club in a long time. There were about 250 guests, including a large number of young college folks home for the spring vacation. The club house was elaborately decorated for the occasion. The true patriotic spirit was shown in the display of hundreds of American flags arranged about the auditorium and stage. The setting was complete through the use of tulips and other spring flowers which adorned the stage.

The music for the evening was furnished by Van Eps Brothers' orchestra of five pieces, and a popular program was presented, including several patriotic numbers. The orchestra was generous in responding to encores throughout the dance which continued until 2 o'clock this morning. At midnight there was an intermission when refreshments were served by the steward, Henry Johnson, under the direction of Mrs. P. B. Cregar.

The affair was arranged by Mrs. Lelia H. Gates as chairman of the entertainment committee of the club, and she was assisted by several co-workers on the committee.

TO POSTPONE BUILDING

Directors of Y. M. C. A. Decide Not to Erect Headquarters Just Yet

LOCATION IS QUESTIONED

Some Raise Objection to Proposed Site on Account of Inconspicuous Position, But Others Deem it Satisfactory

During the building campaign of the Y. M. C. A., it was announced that before the new building was located, an advisory committee of leading citizens would be appointed and its advice would be sought, so that the people of the city outside of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. would have a voice in the selection of a site for the new building. So many members of the advisory committee had been absent from the city that it has been impossible to secure a meeting until last evening, when a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held and the following members of the advisory committee was present: Charles W. McCutchen, Alexander Gilbert, H. C. Munger, G. A. Condict and W. A. Garrigues.

The first question taken up by the meeting was whether or not the association should build on the lot owned by the association, on the corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets. The advantages of this location, as well as the disadvantages, were discussed and letters were read from some members who could not attend on account of other engagements. W. G. Besler, president of the New Jersey Central Railroad, who is in the hospital, recovering from an operation, wrote, through his secretary, that he was unalterably opposed to the suggested location, saying, "A public building which may be a credit to the community, such as is contemplated, ought not to be given an inconspicuous and in-

FIFE AND DRUM CORPS ELECTS OFFICERS

An interesting meeting of the T. A. B. S. Fife and Drum Corps was held last night in the new club house on West Fourth street. Sixteen new members were admitted into the corps. All the members seem much interested, and they hope to make it one of the best Drum Corps in the city, if not in the State.

The T. A. B. S. has always been considered one of the leading corps in this part of the county, and from last night's meeting it certainly looks as though the T. A. B. S. Corps will be one that Plainfield will be proud of.

The following members were elected for the ensuing year: President, M. D. O'Keefe; vice-president, J. T. McCue; recording secretary, Hugh A. With British Armies in the Field, April 13.—Another mile of the Hindenberg line was captured by the British forces today. Desperation stalks behind the German lines.

The German army chiefs, so astounded at the tremendous unceasing strength of the British smash, are using prisoners to dig trenches, thus relieving more German soldiers for battle while waiting for reinforcements. "DIAMOND JIM" BRADY DIED THIS MORNING

By United Press:

Atlantic City, April 13.—James Buchanan Brady, New York's famous "Diamond Jim," died here today. Not even his famous "million dollar stomach" was proof against the illness that afflicted him the past year.

His stomach had been "made" for him at Johns Hopkins Hospital some years ago and had served its purpose well. In gratitude for the operation Brady gave large sums of money to this hospital.

Mr. Brady formerly owned the Ellis stock farm at South Branch, Somerset county, which he purchased from the late Senator William J. Keyes a dozen years ago. He entertained lavishly there and was well thought of by his neighbors. He was president of the American Pressed Steel Car Co. and stockholder in many of the principal railroads of the country.

FRANCE WANTS WHEAT MORE THAN MUNITIONS

By United Press:

Paris, April 13.—More important to France just now than money, munitions or men at the front is American wheat.

The United Press was told by official sources today that the most pressing problem in France is for grain. Among officials here sentiment favors America sending workmen and practical engineers with skilled men rather than troops to France.

THE DEATH OF MRS. SCHERMERHORN

Mrs. Sarah Schermerhorn died last night at the residence of Mrs. Isabella R. Pope, of North avenue, in the eighty-fourth year of her age. Her illness dates back two years, when she sustained a fall, but the infirmities of old age were the chief cause of death. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Schermerhorn was the widow of Chas. H. Schermerhorn, a veteran telegrapher who died seven years ago. Mrs. Schermerhorn was born in Schenectady but had lived here for many years. She was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. She leaves a niece, Mrs. Neal, of West Front street, and a nephew, Prof. W. H. Winfield, of Yale University.

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG STRIKING FOR CAMBRAI

A special dispatch says that the total of guns captured from the Germans so far in British offensive has now reached more than 150.

The official British announcement today says:

"We have captured a number of positions on the wide front north of Havricourt and Metzonerie and have seized the Sart Farm, the Gauche Wood and the Gouzeaucourt village and wood."

Paris, April 13.—The French have captured several lines of trenches, taking prisoners and a considerable number of machine guns in an attack this morning on the line just north of St. Quentin. They also made further gains east of Coucy La Ville, taking prisoners and materials.

Bryant. Particular attention will be paid to the safeguarding of plants where munitions are manufactured, and this will be carried out in co-operation with the Federal Government.

The meeting yesterday was one of a series conducted by Commissioner Bryant during each year. Its principal purpose was to advise inspectors as to the provisions of newly enacted legislation and for the consideration of other subjects coming under the supervision of the department.

SPOKE ON THE EXTRA SESSION

agony of mind out of which Miss Rankin was forced to vote "No." It was not feminine weakness that caused her tears; it was the evidence rather of the power of her feeling. Striving then shed tears as well as this tough woman.

Miss Richards took up the discussion of the message as read by Mr. Wilson. She drew attention to the technical advantages of a declaration of war, saying that it provided for the arrest of suspects, the seizing of enemy ships and the interment of men of enemy nations. Everything that the declaration permitted had been carried out without hysteria.

Perhaps the most remarkable part of the message was that which began "We have no quarrel with the German people." It might have been in the mind of Mr. Wilson that such a word would lead to just such a revolution in Germany as had taken place in Russia, but any such overthrow of autocracy among the Germans was unlikely. The belief in the authority of the Kaiser, the worship of the Kaiser as the father and and hope of the people had been grounded into the minds of the people for generations and not likely to be easily uprooted. Such a revolution would probably delight the Socialists, but they were in the minority. The Prussian Government had suppressed the publication of the message, but the French and English had made translations of that particular part of it into German and had spread it broadcast over Germany and into the army lines by means of airplanes and they had used it as huge posters over such trenches as were near enough for the Germans in nearby trenches to read.

The speaker then went into the matter of the war preparations and explained the meaning of "selective conscription." She recognized the urgent need for more agricultural industry and believed that the Government would provide farmers with funds at small interest and would take any crop failure risk on its own shoulders.

TO PREACH WAR SERMON FROM DR. DOAN'S PULPIT

Summit, April 13.—In the same pulpit from which Rev. Dr. Frank C. Doan preached an anti-war sermon Sunday morning, Rev. James V. Macdonald, of West Upton, Mass., will next Sunday morning, in All Souls' Church, preach in justification of the United States' entry in the European war.

Mr. Macdonald is of Scotch descent. His subject will be "The War from the Point of View of a British Subject." Following the sermon, there will be the usual discussion.

Nothing truer was ever said about the value of a good appearance to a young man with his own way to make.

COMPARISON IS THE TRUE TEST OF ALL THINGS

COMPARE — Tepper's, Plainfield's Fastest Growing Department Store Invites Comparison PUT US TO THE ACID TEST — COMPARE

THIS store, one among five great Tepper establishments, offers to the people of Plainfield and adjacent territory, values unsurpassed.

The staple merchandise offered for sale in this store has in most cases been purchased a year, and in some cases two years ago, at prices which are far below the present market prices of goods of the same quality.

It is through our great purchasing power that we have been able to keep the prices at a far lower level than most stores under the present conditions.

And Remember—This Stores Invites Comparison.

Editorial

Quit the Value, Quote the Price

There is a tendency among some stores to quote values or worth of the articles they advertise. Beware of these—they lead to exaggeration, and undue superlatives (and superlatives are dangerous). They belittle the intelligence of the average ad readers. In fact, the intelligent readers of newspapers are beginning to pass over these values, either because they are not interested or because they disbelieve them. What they want to know is the PRICE of the article, and not the WORTH.

The Tepper policy is to advertise without comparatives. We let our customers find out the values for themselves after purchasing and utilizing the article.

We feel, however, that you ought to know the former price of an article after it has been reduced, and this is what we tell you. Former prices and not comparative prices.

We do not compare, we let you compare our values with those of others, and then—every clear-minded person, judge for yourself!

BOROUGH DEFENDERS HELD DRILL

Were Put Through Military Manoeuvers in Debele Hall Last Evening

The North Plainfield Home Defense League held its second drill at Debele's Hall last night. There was a large class in attendance, numbering nearly fifty men. Allan Cowperthwaite conducted the drill instructions and manouvers. He was assisted by John D. Duffy, George McHugh, H. C. Wells, C. W. T. Overton and L. N. Davis.

A number of experienced military men observed the training and pronounced it excellent work for beginners.

Much interest and enthusiasm was shown by the members of the league. Reports were handed to the Commission giving details of the cost of uniforms and equipment.

Chairman Kenney on behalf of Mayor W. L. Smalley thanked the members for their interest, and said it was the purpose of the Mayor and Commission to make the Home Defense League efficient in every way, and in this the members themselves could be most helpful by their prompt attendance and interest in their work.

He said the work of the Commission was going on satisfactorily and that every detail was being looked into carefully. It was not the purpose of the commission to cause any excitement that was not warranted, and yet he wanted the league's efficiency and strength known.

Mr. Cowperthwaite announced that the next drill will be held in the Park Club on Tuesday evening, April 19.

THROUGH THE WICKET

Friday evening, April 20, the American Nest of Lady Owls will hold a masquerade ball in Saengerbund Hall. Halbfoerster's orchestra will furnish music.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., held in the new meeting place, East Front street, last night, one application for membership was received. Other business transacted was of a routine nature. The Uniformed Rank will attend divine service at the Netherwood Reformed church Sunday evening. All members and other Juniors desiring to attend the services should meet at the clubhouse at 7 o'clock.

MINNESOTA FARMERS BUY 100 AUTOS

By United Press:

St. Paul, Minn., April 13.—One hundred autos were purchased by the National Non-Partisan League here today for use in what probably will be the greatest and the hottest farmers political campaign ever waged in Minnesota.

The cars will be delivered within a few days and with these and many others owned by the league, each manned by a non-partisan league organizer, every farmer in the State will be visited.

The league plans to organize the State as completely as the North Dakota farmers were organized when they captured the legislature last year.

"By the time the next political campaign arrives the league will have as members 95 per cent of the farmers of Minnesota, said A. C. Townley, president of the league, here today.

SIXTY-TWO YEARS IN ONE JOB

Although on Oddfellow for seventy-one and one-half years, Richard J. Jones of Wilmington, N. C., joined the church only last year. Mr. Jones joined the church during the Chapman Alexander meetings. He then showed to friends a letter from his mother, written over sixty years before, urging him to become a Christian. He had treasured the letter, meaning to take the step it prompted, but had put it off from year to year. On February 5, he was ninety-five years old, and still active in business, being treasurer of three organizations, positions which he has held since 1855, 1887 and 1888, respectively. He seems to be the American champion holder of a steady job.—The Christian Herald.

Health as an Aid to Beauty

Everybody knows that beauty depends more on one's physical condition than on anything else. You simply cannot have a clear complexion, sparkling eyes and buoyant step if you are weak, nervous, listless. The first principle of beauty is health and strength. Why don't you discover the fountain of youth as thousands of other women have? Begin today to take malto-ferrin, the wonderful new tonic.

To tired bodies and shattered nerves malto-ferrin gives new vitality and strength. It stimulates the circulation of pure, rich blood, bringing color to the cheeks and brightening the eyes. It helps you eat better and enjoy your food, makes you sleep soundly, restfully, tones up the digestive organs and creates strength that makes your work seem like play. Go to the nearest druggist today and get a bottle of malto-ferrin. Take a tablespoonful after meals and you will be simply astonished at the wonderful results. It is delicious—palatable—and harmless to all the young women and children who take it with great benefit. Both fifty cents and one dollar sizes. For sale at Drug Department of United Cigar Stores Co.—Adv.

significant location." Mr. Besler also advocated the postponement of building operations until the return of normal conditions.

John F. Hartman wrote concerning this site: "I think well of it on account of its accessibility from the railway station; its nearness to the trolley lines; its intermediate location between two business streets, desirable for many reasons; its proximity to two of our leading churches, the size and shape of the lot for the purpose for which it will be used, and its practically central position in our city, where it will be constantly in evidence both to citizens and visitors.

"I regret that Plainfield has not succeeded in having a Civic Centre around which our public buildings could be grouped and their architectural attractions be a source of interest and inspiration to our people, so that we must make the best of the present situation should some other site possessing superior advantages be presented. I would be glad to hear of it."

Two opinions were expressed: One, that the building should be put where it would adorn the city; the other that the chief consideration is where can the best work be done for the least money.

Among those present of the members of the Board of Directors who took part in the discussion were the following: Senator Ackerman, Percy H. Stewart, Wm. D. Muir, Charles A. Rice, Howard McWilliams, J. W. Gavett, G. H. Rittenhouse and J. W. Sanford.

The general feeling of the meeting seemed to be that in the present uncertain condition of affairs, the subscribers to the fund, while living up to the promises made when they made their subscriptions, ought to be patient with the Y. M. C. A., knowing that everything was being done that can be done in existing circumstances.

One thing that was decided upon, and for which the people will be glad, was that the lot on the corner of Sycamore and Fifth streets be cleaned up and put in respectable condition.

It was the general opinion that in view of the war and unsettled conditions, building operations ought not to be begun now.

AUXILIARY NEEDS $300 PER WEEK

The Volunteer Auxiliary Committee, which was appointed by Mayor Calkins last summer, to relieve the dependents of men who went to the border with Troop D, met in the Mayor's office last night, with the Ladies-Auxiliary Committee, of which Mrs. A. V. Heeley is the chairman.

Judge William Newcorn presided. Captain Charles Peterson, of Company K, who was in town over night, was present and made a statement respecting the families of members of his company now doing duty in Monmouth county. At the close of the Judge's talk, Newcorn stated that the Auxiliary Committee will require $300 per week for immediate use. "Last year, when Troop D was called out there was a pretty generous response to our appeals," he said, and we expect the same generosity now.

The least that can be done by the people of this community, in to see to it that a man who enlists in the service of his country shall be relieved of the worry incident to the uncertainty as to how the folks at home are getting along.

"Men who have to worry about their families, are of necessity, not of the same faultless morale as those who know that all is well with the folks they have left behind," he declared.

SHOW FOR STIRLING FIREMEN

A vaudeville show will be given tomorrow night in St. Vincent's Hall Stirling, for the benefit of Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 of that place. The firemen are endeavoring to retrieve the loss they suffered last fall when their fire house burned down.

MISS VOORHEES MARRIED IN MARTINSVILLE

The wedding of Miss Ellen H. Voorhees, daughter of Mrs. Carrie E. Voorhees, to Russell Lowell Smalley took place Saturday evening, April 7, at the home of the bride's mother in Martinsville. Only the immediate family was present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. D. D. Smalley, father of the bridegroom. The bride's only attendant was Miss Harriet Smalley, sister of the bridegroom. Samuel Voorhees, cousin of the bride, acted as best man.

THE INEFFICIENT SEVEN-DAY WEEK

Although the Japanese worker has no Sabbath, he gains nothing in the long run, for in one case in which figures were available and which may be considered fairly typical, the laborers only worked from 22 to 27 days a month, the rest of the time either being indisposed or actually too sick to work. The number of "substitutes" hired by the factories is very large, and a few laborers can keep up even the leisured pace to which they are accustomed for any long period.—Maynard Owen Williams, in The Christian Herald.

WILSON'S TRIBUTE TO SPIRIT IN COLLEGES

New Haven, Conn., April 13.—President Wilson, in an interview in the Yale News yesterday, pays a tribute to the spirit of American colleges in the present national emergency. He says:

"The patriotic spirit of the American college man of today has never been surpassed in any other age. Our American universities are the sources of production of efficient and well-trained men for all branches of national service in time of peace or war. Upon such men as Yale has given to the country has been based the strength of the American nation.

THE HOME GUARDS HAD SOME DRILL

Residents of that portion of the city where the Home Defense League has been holding its drills and maneuvers were considerable wrought up yesterday morning when they found their lawns, flower beds and privet hedges trampled down by a brigade of recruits that passed through back yards while drilling on Wednesday night.

Just how the guards happened to be in back lots is not fully explained, although it is said that they have become so thoroughly disciplined that when an order was given to advance in a certain direction and the order was not changed, they proceeded until they reached a back fence and were ordered to halt.

JURY GIVES VERDICT AGAINST DALEY BROS.

In the local District Court yesterday before Judge James Henry Craig and a jury, the suit of the Wilkinson-Gaddis Company, of Newark against John, James and Charles Daley, who formerly conducted a grocery business here under the name of Daley Brothers, was tried.

The suit was brought to recover payment for groceries amounting to $311. The defendants disputed the bill and then an effort was made to show that John Daley was not a member of the firm, but that he was simply employed by his brothers.

Witnesses testified that several years ago they were told that the three brothers constituted the partnership.

After deliberating for three hours the jury returned a verdict in favor of the Wilkinson-Gaddis Company. Harry C. Runyon was counsel for the plaintiffs.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the Quickest and Surest Stomach Relief

You don't know what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and achy; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul; tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quick, sure, safe, harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It is truly wonderful; it stops food souring and sets things straight, so gently and easily, that it is really astonishing. Your stomach will digest your meals if you keep acids neutralized.—Adv.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR BACH FESTIVAL

Special to Courier-News:

Bethlehem, Pa., April 13.—Announcement of the program for the Eleventh Bach Festival, to be held at Lehigh University on Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2, has just been made by Dr. J. Fred Wolle, conductor of the Bethlehem Bach Choir.

Three cantatas and a motet will be sung at the four o'clock session on June 1 and four cantatas at the evening session. This will form a first day program of varied character.

On June 2 the great Mass in B Minor will be sung, as usual, Part 1 at 2 p. m., and Part 2, at 5 p. m.

The chorus will include the three hundred singers who took part in the anniversary program of the New York Philharmonic Society in Carnegie Hall, New York city, on January 29 last. This trip, which was the first time the Bach Choir has ever sung outside of Bethlehem, was made possible by the generosity of Charles M. Schwab, the largest guarantor of the Bach Festivals.

GRAND JURY GAVE A LOVING CUP TO FOREMAN

At a dinner given last night to the Union County Grand Jury, at the close of its labors in Elizabeth, a silver loving cup was presented to the foreman, Charles F. Brown.

Among those present at the dinner were Assistant Prosecutor Martin P. O'Connor, Sheriff George C. Otto and Lieut. Francis V. Lowden. A theatre party was made up after the dinner.

PERMANENT PAVEMENT TO COST $135,442.99

The John C. Bentley Company of Elizabeth submitted the lowest bid for laying concrete pavement on certain streets of this city at a meeting of the council on Monday night. They also submitted the lowest bid for laying brick pavement in Madison avenue. Their proposal was $88,849.05.

The Newark Paving Company was the lowest bidder on brick pavement for other streets, their proposal being $66,593.94. These contractors will be awarded the contracts at the next meeting of the council on Monday night.

GARDENER PLOWS UP HIS LOST WATCH

John Miller, who had charge of grading the Kenyon gardens last year lost his watch while at work at that time and after a long search gave up looking for the timepiece.

Yesterday while plowing the same ground Mr. Miller was surprised to turn the watch up in the soil. The time-piece was not damaged, and when wound up began ticking as usual. The leather fob attached to the watch had rotted away.

TO BUILD BRIDGES OVER LOCAL BROOKS

The sum of $2,000 was appropriated by the Union County Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon for the use of Prosecutor Stein in any investigations he may make as a result of the war. The resolution was offered by John N. Cady, chairman of the war emergency committee.

The board adopted the report of the bridge committee, recommending the issuing of $69,200 bonds for new bridges. The bonds will not be issued, however, until bids are received. The expense mentioned is approximate.

A $4,000 structure will be built at Stelle avenue, Plainfield, over Cedar Brook and a $5,500 span at Norwood avenue, over Green Brook. A $1,100 bridge will be built over Meadow Brook at Martine avenue, Fanwood and two bridges costing $1,500 each, at Leland avenue and Cedar Brook, Plainfield, and Netherwood avenue, Plainfield.

The jail farm committee reported that it was the unanimous sentiment at Tuesday's hearing on the jail farm plan that a farm site be purchased, and the committee's recommendation to this effect was unanimously adopted. The Plainfield Common Council wrote the board indorsing the movement.

LET US RAISE POTATOES

In anticipation of the coming shortage of food supplies the following suggestion is made by Brown Rolston and Maxwell E. Perkins.

That a committee be formed competent to estimate the needs of the community for the coming winter; the total amount of land in Plainfield and North Plainfield which could be utilized for the production of products of supplies; the proportion and distribution of all the vegetables required, and the labor necessary and obtainable through co-operative endeavor to plant and raise them.

Probably no more effective steps could be taken by this community in its own interest or in that of the county; the city might well be made so nearly self-supporting that the large increase in the cost of living brought by the war taxes and the food stringency would be at least very largely offset, and any such increase in the general supply of food would tend to lessen the stringency elsewhere.

The Department of Agriculture, in recognition of these facts, has urged the cultivation of all available ground; but if this is left entirely to individuals it will be done far less thoroughly, generally, or effectively than if systematically undertaken by the community as a unit.

Everyone is asking what he or she may do to help in the war; let them give their support and their property and perhaps their labor to such a plan as this. It is directed against the most pressing danger; it will help a little to supply the most vital needs of ourselves and our Allies.

Supplementary to the suggestions of Mr. Rolston and Mr. Perkins, it may be said that an organized effort on the part of various local societies could be utilized with good effect and that a large acreage of unused land in this vicinity could be made to produce potatoes or other vegetables, and relieve the stress that must necessarily be felt for some time hence if dependence were to be placed in the usual sources of supply.

If every church would organize the unused energy that is apparent in every body of men and boys, and owners of land that is lying idle 20,000 bushels of potatoes could be raised in the territory around Plainfield. This crop could be apportioned in part to the Hospital, the Children's Home and other local organizations which depend upon contributions, and the rest be divided among the people who do the work. It probably would be possible to get the use of men and teams to do the plowing, and the work of raising the crop could be done by the various organizations. Many helpers make light work, and such a crop as could thus be raised would cost little aside from the seed, and would go far to relieve the stress that everyone feels.

The question is not alone the money to buy food, but a question of food to buy, and the utilization of unused land and unused energy among men of more or less leisure and boys who would be glad to turn their labor to use, would do much in a time of need.

OPENING OF SIBERIA

One result of the present war will be to bring the American people nearer to and make them better acquainted with Russia and its vast domains, Siberia, the land of treeless steppes, and perhaps better known for the least desirable of its features, the dreaded mines, where prisoners who fell under the displeasure of the Romanoffs were sent to wear their lives away. Under the democratization of Russia a new vista will open for that great part of the Far East especially to the commercial world. It will mean much to the United States, whose various kinds of machinery are needed in the country of so many incongruities, from icebergs to pomegranates. After the war the way will be open to a great business for the United States in the Russian possessions which have up to this time been known more for the surly attitude of their people toward an unfeeling, inconsiderate autocracy than for its unlimited resources. But the American manufacturer who intends to do business with Siberia must consider a new order of things and study the needs of his new field and be able to supply just what it wants and of the quality it wants. The American manufacturer should have his eyes open to the possibilities of starting industries in Siberia, because, with the supply of raw materials and labor, a great increase in manufacturing is certain after the war. Already one American firm is taking advantage of the situation. The International Harvester Company is now making farm implements in Russia to meet the country's agricultural needs. There is found in abundance in Siberia iron ore (not developed because of lack of transportation facilities), linseed oil, and timber. This industry is being encouraged by the Government so that manufacturers will put in plants not only for exports, but also for the manufacture of pulp paper. Siberia is a good market for the following products: Paints (in large centers), stoves, particularly oil stoves; dry goods, electrical supplies, as all the large towns have electric lighting systems; machine tools and machinery, especially circular saws; dairy machinery, separators, etc., but this line is attended with great difficulties, as the machinery must be passed by the Government and wide advertising must be done.

AMERICAN POWER

The war lords of Europe look on the United States with contempt. They regard us as "too fat to fight." We are supposed to be absorbed in money getting, full of ease and love of pleasure. But before they rate us too far down they want to reflect on American history a bit. Our present lack of preparation is due not to physical inability or lack of courage, but because as a people we look on war as a folly. But on occasion our people have fought with a bitterness and a determination never excelled. The sons of those who fell at Gettysburg in slaughter as horrible as that shown on the fields of France are still on earth. They can do over again what their fathers did if they have to. Every tale of heroism and endurance and daring from April 13, 1917, it is now possible to matched right out of our own history. The Kings and Kaisers would better let sleeping dogs lie!

UNION COUNTY IS SIXTY YEARS OLD

Was Set Off From Essex Co. by Act of Legislature, April 13, 1857

Union county is sixty years old today, and in recognition of the anniversary the office of County Register Frank H. Smith in Elizabeth is decorated with flags and bunting.

Union county was set off from Essex by formal act of the Legislature April 13, 1857. It is now possible to make a full period search of titles to Union county property without resort to the records of Essex county, although in some instances access to these old records is sought.

The first court officers of Union county were George W. Savage, of Rahway; Apollos M. Elmer, of Elizabeth, and Theodore Pierson, of Springfield, as judges of the inferior Court of Common Pleas; John Joseph Chetwood, of Elizabeth, prosecutor; Henry R. Cannon, of Plainfield, county clerk, and Jonathan Valentine, of New Providence, surrogate. The sheriff of Essex county, Edward Pierson, was continued as sheriff of the new county until the next election, at which time Melinda W. Halsey was elected. The term, as now, was three years.

The officers of the first Board of Freeholders were James H. Burnett, director; Moses M. Crane, collector, and Oliver Pierce, clerk.

Henry R. Cannon held the office of county clerk for twenty years, from April 13, 1857, to November 13, 1877. His successors were James S. Wosseler, who died in office; John L. Crowell, to 1892; James J. Gerber, one year; died in office; William M. Oliver, 1893-4; William Howard, 1894 to 1904; James C. Calvert to 1910, who was succeeded by William B. Martin, the present clerk.

The surrogates have been Jonathan Valentine, Robert S. Green, Addison L. Clark, James J. Gerber and George F. Parrot, the latter having served for the past thirty years.

The sheriffs have been Edward Pierson, 1857; Meline W. Halsey, 1857 to 1860; Thomas W. Reynolds, 1860 to 1863; Nathaniel Bonnell, 1863 to 1866; Edgar Pierson, 1866 to 1869; Joseph M. Osborn, 1869 to 1872; Seth B. Ryder, 1872 to 1875; Nathaniel K. Thompson, 1875-1878; Seth B. Ryder, 1878 to 1881; Thomas M. Forsythe, 1881 to 1884; George M. Stiles, 1884 to 1887; Frederick F. Glasby, 1887 to 1890; William H. Hicks, 1890 to 1893; George Kyte, 1893 to 1896; William T. Kirk, 1896 to 1899; Robert Houston, 1899 to 1902; B. Frank Cortell, 1902 to 1905; W. H. Lawrence, 1905 to 1908; Robert J. Kirkland, 1908 to 1911; W. H. Wright, 1911 to 1914; George Otto, 1914 to the present time.

FRIENDS ASK FOR SERVICE

New Bedford, Mass., April 13.—Resolutions addressed to President Wilson asking that its members be permitted to render "honorable service not under military system" were adopted yesterday by the Society of Friends. An attempt to name the American Red Cross as an acceptable branch of service was defeated on the ground that the organization was of a semi-military nature.

THIEVES ABANDON AUTO IN MIDDLESEX BORO'

The Ford automobile in which the New Brunswick hold-up men made their get-away was found yesterday in Middlesex borough. The machine had the license number 61034-Pa. and it is believed the machine was stolen at Allentown, Pa., Wednesday.

The thieves had a sense of humor. Two of them in the car drove into the yard of a Middlesex farmhouse and one said to the mistress that the Ford had a broken "wishbone" and desired to leave the car there for a few hours and return for it. The woman not being acquainted with automobiles did not appreciate the "wishbone" joke. From then on the clue to the thieves is lost.

Twent-one Tiffany rings set with the most expensive gems were included in the loot. The New Brunswick firm suffers the loss unless the jewels are recovered.

Hurrah! How's This

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.—Adv. drug store tomorrow morning.

LEAGUE FORMED FOR HOME DEFENSE

At a patriotic meeting held in the Watchung school, a branch of the Home Defense League was established in the Borough of Middlesex last evening. The proceedings of establishment were carefully laid out by Mayor George W. Harris and a committee of prominent citizens whose interest it was to form such a League.

Resolutions were adopted pledging the loyalty of the members to the Government of the United States and sustaining the action of the Federal Government in the defense of our natural rights.

Addresses were made by George R. Sours, president of the Middlesex Borough Board of Trade, and Mayor George W. Harris. Both received hearty applause at the conclusion of their talk.

Principal Wm. Love, of the Borough schools, with the assistance of Miss M. Schlig, a member of the teaching corps, and a number of the school children, provided entertainment with the singing of patriotic songs, in which the entire assemblage participated. Miss Schlig presided at the piano.

The following were appointed on the various committees: Committee on Home Defense and Military Training, Leon L. Chevraney, J. V. N. Polhemus, Fred R. Stephenson; committee on Woman's Service, R. F. Campbell, W. Edward Smith, Arthur S. Moore; committee on census, L. V. Poulson, Wm. Beardsley, Nelson M. Giles; committee on finance, W. G. Betsch, Fred J. Maudsley, F. E. Morits, Adkins R. Baker; committee on publicity, John J. Campbell, Edw. Godchaux, Clarence T. Holt, Harry Giles, John J. Rafferty.

The meeting, which was adjourned until Tuesday evening, the 17th, was featured with a large attendance, not least among which was a large number of the ladies of the borough, who voiced their patriotic sentiments in no uncertain terms.

ASSASSINATION OF LINCOLN RECALLED

Fifty-three years ago tomorrow, Abraham Lincoln, the Martyred President, was assassinated in Ford's Theatre, Washington, and that incident which then stirred the country as never before and has always remained fresh in the minds of the people, is recalled by many Plainfielders who have recollections of the sad event in American history. The name of Lincoln will always serve as a stimulus to patriotism among those who have lived to enjoy the fruits of his wise administration, and especially at ants time when the country has just entered the great European war.

Pacifists and all others who have taken the position that the United States should not engage in the present war, are reminded of Lincoln's letter to Boston Republicans, in which among other things he said: "Those who deny freedom to and under a just God cannot long others deserve it not for themselves, retain it."

Captain S. C. Peck, of West Front street, recalls seeing Lincoln in 1864, behind the earthworks between Petersburg and Richmond, and btween the James and Rappahannock rivers.

President Lincoln was making a visit to the army, and rode along the trenches on horseback, wearing his proverbial tall silk hat and big cape. The lines of the two armies were close together, within speaking distance, but the President was protected from fire of the Confederates, by the height of the earthworks.

As he came along the word preceded him for the soldiers to make no noise, and a moment later Lincoln, his wife, his son Tad, and General Butler appeared on horseback. After he had passed the Union soldiers could not restrain cheering, and the Confederates called out: "What's all the noise about, Yanks?" The Unionists replied "Lincoln just passed by." The Confederates asked: "Why didn't you tell us so we could see him."

The pickets of both armies often spent the night chatting together, and would swap tobacco and coffee. On long picket duty the opposing pickets would often stack their guns and talk half the night together. Some very good friendships were formed in this way, that continued, and resulted in visits to each other long after the war was over.

One Confederate soldier corresponded with Captain Peck for a long time after the war and urged him to make a visit. In one letter he said: "I cannot entertain you as lavishly now as before the war, but will do so just as heartily." Previous to the conflict this confederate had five thousand acres of land and hundreds of slaves, but afterward only the bare land remained in his possession.

Washington, April 13.—Costa Rica's waters and ports are placed at the disposition of the United States in the war with Germany in an official communication in which the Government defines its attitude to the State Department. Following is the text of the note delivered by R. Fernandez, diplomatic agent of the Government:

"The United States having declared that a state of war exists with the Imperial German Government, my Government has instructed me to reiterate to Your Excellency the assurances of Costa Rica's most loyal and sincere friendship for the United States.

"The Costa Rican Government considers that it is the duty of all American republics to support, at least morally the noble attitude assumed by the United States in defense of the highest ideals of law, of right and justice and of democracy.

"The republic of Costa Rica regrets that because of its lack of material strength it cannot in this crisis tender to the United States more aid."

ARRAS BATTLE MAY BE WAR'S GREATEST

London, April 13.—That the Arras conflict will develop soon into the great est battle of the war was the prediction made today by Major General F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office, in his weekly interview with the Associated Press.

General Maurice declared the present British offensive was being conducted according to a project completed in February, thereby controverting the assertions of the Germans that their retreat had upset the British schedule and that the Teutonic military authorities control the situation.

Foley's Honey and Tar

Mothers know it stops croup because it cuts the thick choking mucus, clears the throat of phlegm, stops the hoarse metallic cough, eases the difficult breathing, then quiet sleep.

Mrs. T. Neureuer, East Claire, Wis., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup. We know from experience that it is a wonder for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough."

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

SKETCHES OF THE MEN WHO RUN THE U. S. NAVY

By United Press:

Washington, April 13.—Vice Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, is of the old school of American sea fighters. He is an officer after the American heart.

It was Admiral Mayo who, upon his own responsibility, demanded that the Mexican government salute the American flag when American marines were arrested and paraded through the streets of Tampico in the heat of the Mexican embroglio. Mayo acted as he thought right and asked for authority from Washington afterwards—and he got it with the full backing of the Navy department, even though the flag was never saluted.

Mayo was the first vice-admiral appointed under the provisions of the 1915 naval bill. His authority in handling the fleet is virtually absolute. The Navy department in choosing him for this heavy responsibility is said by naval men to have known what it was picking.

ONLY 442 AMERICANS REMAIN IN GERMANY

Amsterdam, April 13.—The Rheinische Westfalische Zeitung says that the Spanish Legation in Berlin ascertained that there are 442 American citizens in Germany, of whom 149 are men, 175 women and 78 children. Of the total number 46 are students and 145 businessmen, dentists, doctors, artists, etc. Only 186 of the 442 were born in America. The newspaper says:

"These Americans, who have turned their backs on the old country, possibly to escape military service, now claim the right of hospitality here, while their hearts and tax bills belong overseas. Perhaps the noble Prince of Peace, Wilson will claim them back to help American militarism fight German militarism. Students continue their studies here, which is comprehensible, as we still are treating Americans as of the elect."

TO PERMIT ALLIES TO RECRUIT IN THE U. S.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Legislation permitting allied powers to recruit their subjects who are residing in the United States has been agreed to by the House Judiciary Committee and will be introduced and reported by Representative Webb, chairman of the committee. The bill was drawn at the request of the President and the Attorney General.

It amends Section 10 of the Criminal Code so as to provide that this section shall not apply to citizens or subjects of any country engaged in war with a country with which the United States is at war.

AMERICAN VESSEL SUNK; CREW DRIFTS 48 HOURS

Washington, April 13.—The American schooner Marguerite, of New York, was captured and presumably sunk by a submarine thirty-five miles southwest of Sardinia on April 6, and her crew, including one American, exposed for forty-six hours in open boats. A despatch to the State Department from Ambassador Sharp at Paris forwarded the information from the American Consul at Tunis. The ship made no attempt to escape or resist but all aid was refused by the submarine.

NOTES FROM WAR ZONE

Special to Courier-News:

Petrograd, April 13.—The munition workers at Putiloff and Okhta have decided to work in three eight-hour shifts daily to provide material for pressing the war with even greater vigor.

Washington, April 13.—The State Department denies all knowledge of a peace move being made by Austria and Bulgaria. All that is known here about it apparently is confined to press dispatches.

MINERS' WAGE QUESTION

Special to Courier-News:

New York, April 13.—Following a meeting of bituminous coal operators this morning it was announced that no proposition had as yet been agreed upon in reply to the demands of the 225,000 soft coal miners for a wage increase. The joint conference was resumed this afternoon.

THUMB-NAIL SKETCHES OF MEN WHO RUN U. S. NAVY

By United Press:

Washington, April 13.—The man who supplies the fleet with its vast quantities of "housekeeping" supplies—food, fuel and other stores—is Admiral McGowan, chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

The navy names him as the man who has made "a smoothly running military machine" of the great supply system. Under his regime great strides have been made in furnishing the fleet at an instant's notice with all it needs for any task. His is the business side of the navy, which calls for sound business judgment. He was selected for the post because of his "remarkable efficiency" as fleet paymaster.

McGowan is one of the best looking men in the navy. He has the strength and forcefulness of a giant, weighs about 200 solid muscled pounds, has a voice like a bull and is as democratic and companionable as a politician running for office.

DUAL CITIZENSHIP PROHIBITED IN BILL

Washington, April 13.—"Undivided citizenship" is the object of a bill under consideration by the Senate Immigration Committee.

Introduced by Senator Thomas Sterling, Republican, of South Dakota, the bill aims to prohibit dual citizenship in the United States. For instance, a German who takes out naturalization papers in the United States cannot retain his citizenship in Germany, as he can do now under the existing law.

The committee also is considering a bill introduced by Senator Robert L. Owen, Democrat, of Oklahoma, to restore citizenship in this country to expatriated Americans now serving in the armies of the Entente Powers.

SCHOOL BOYS TO WORK ON FARMS

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, April 13.—Simultaneously with the announcement of Commissioner of Education Kendall that he has called a meeting of all city superintendents of schools for next Saturday morning at the State House to discuss the employment of school boys in the work of planting and the production of food supplies and their consequent excuse from school, the Department of Agriculture Advisory Board issued a statement today calling attention to the grave food shortage situation facing the people of both the State and the country at large.

BIG TAXATION BILL

Special to the Courier-News:

Washington, April 13.—In reply to a question today by Representative Austin, of Tennessee, as to how money will be raised by the Government, Chairman Kitchin, of the House Ways and Means Committee, said: "It will be raised in a hundred different ways. Hundreds of articles that never have been taxed before will be taxed. The Ways and Means Committee has not yet taken up this question, but before this session adjourns the largest taxing bill ever presented to any legislative body on earth will be brought before this House."

ALARMING FOOD RIOTS IN GERMANY

Special to Courier-News:

Amsterdam, April 13.—Alarmed by the food riot and fearful that they will assume even more formidable proportions, the German authorities have requested the public not to send any more food to the soldiers. They urge that the home people are great, and growing greater, and see in the diversion of food to the front danger that the populace will suffer even more keenly.

MAKE COUNTY POOR HOUSES MORE COMFORTABLE

By United Press:

New York, April 13.—Housing experts are preparing plans to be presented at the National Conference of Charities and Correction at Pittsburgh in June which will make life more livable for destitute old men and women in county poor houses all over the country. The plans will be presented in competitive form.

No other class of dependents has been so completely neglected as the aged, according to the statement of Dr. I. L. Nascher, of New York. "The child dependent has the world for its guardian, the aged dependent is disowned by his relatives," says this eminent authority. "There are scores of works dealing with the child in the home and in the institutions. Until recently there was not a single work on the institutional care of the aged." Dr. Nascher is the author of the only American scientific work on the subject, a book entitled "Geriatrice."

Today there is scarcely a home for the aged in which the special problem of feeding is understood or even considered. Dietaries are arranged either haphazard or else copied from institutions of a different character.

THIRTY THOUSAND BRITISH SALOONS TO BE CLOSED

(By United Press)

London, April 13.—Thirty thousand British saloons probably will be closed within the next few months.

English brewers themselves have suggested a sweeping measure on these lines as the solution of difficulties arising from the restricted output of beer. At present, they say, there are far too many distributing agencies, a third of which could be put out of business without inconveniencing the public, while trade would be carried on more economically. England must quench its thirst on ten million barrels of beer a year or go thirsty, under the recent government restrictions, and the brewers are hurrying to meet the contingency.

In the rural districts, instead of three breweries competing for business in one locality through thirty saloons, twenty of them will be discontinued and one joint firm will supply all the beer to the ten.

RUSSIA TO PLACE R. R. CONTRACTS HERE

Special to Courier-News:

New York, April 13.—A press despatch from Petrograd by way of London says that the Russian Provisional Government has decided to place a contract in the United States for 40,000 railroad cars and 2,000 locomotives, to be delivered by July, 1918.

PHILIPPINES WILL RAISE THREE REGIMENTS

Manila, April 13.—The Governor General, Mr. Harrison, issued a call today for the immediate formation of three militia regiments, with a total of about 4,000 men. Members of the British colony in Manila are offering their services for insular defense duty.

SUBMARINE CHASERS BEING BUILT IN CHICAGO

(By United Press)

Chicago, April 13.—Two submarine chasers, planned to be the speediest of their kind, are being constructed in Chicago and within a few days will be on their way to the Atlantic seaboard. For obvious reasons, the place of their construction and the time of their departure is kept secret by their owners and the Government.

The two boats, which their owners expect to be of inestimable service as submarine chasers, are the Disturber VI, owned by Commodore James A. Pugh and the Kanawha, owned by John Borden.

The Kanawha, which will carry four six poundern and two machine guns, is 225 ft. long and has a gross tonnage of 475 tons. It has a speed of twenty-five miles an hour and carries a crew of sixty-five men. It was the first yacht to be offered to the Government and is being remodeled under Government supervision.

The Disturber VI is one of the fastest boats afloat. It is low and almost invisible to an enemy at a distance of two or three miles. Capable of making a mile a minute, the speed boat, with its sharp steel bow can be upon a submarine even before the commander can give orders to submerge. It is to be armed with a 4.7 inch gun. Whether other armament will be carried Commander Pugh refused to state.

The Disturber is being used by the Government as a model for the construction of 200 similar boats. It is 110 feet long and has a 16-foot beam. A 2,500 h. p. engine generates power enough to make a speed of seventy-five miles an hour in still water.

According to its commander, the Disturber VI is strong and staunch enough to make a cruise around the world at a high rate of speed. It is to be manned by a crew of fifteen men who will take it East as soon as water transportation opens up through the lakes.

OSCAR STRAUSS COMES OUT STRONG FOR WAR

New York, April 13.—In an impassioned address at a noonday meeting yesterday Oscar S. Strauss exclaimed:

"All my life I have been a peace man, but now I am for war. A hundred and forty years ago Patrick Henry said, 'Give me liberty or give me death.' That is the issue today. It is the contest between autocracy and democracy.

"Our liberty is just as much at stake as the liberty of France," he said. "It is asked why should an American army fight Europe's battles. An American army is to go to Europe to fight America's battles for American liberty and American democracy. Our liberties are as thoroughly at stake today as they were in the days of the civil war and in the War of Independence. A people unwilling to sacrifice everything for liberty is unworthy to possess the great crown of liberty.

"It is our duty to defend our liberty regardless of sect, creed or nationality, but with the one thought for America. I hope when you mention my name you will go only as Americans—not as German-Americans, British-Americans, Jewish-Americans. I regret that I am too old to set you the example. But what I cannot do my only son will do for me."

PRISON FOR BOMB MAKER

Hoboken, April 13.—Fritz Kolb, a German chemist who posed as an unedumcated waiter, was sentenced yesterday to serve from three to five years in the New Jersey State prison at Trenton. Kolb was convicted of having bombs and other explosives in his rooms in a hotel at Hoboken. Two completed bombs were found in his rooms when the police broke into the place on March 5. The police alleged that they had evidence that Kolb had said he was about to cause another explosion of war munitions at Black Tom Island.

The jury that convicted Kolb was unable to agree on a verdict in the case against Hans Schwartz, arrested in connection with Kolb's bomb making activities. Schwartz will be placed on trial again next week. Kolb will be taken to Trenton today.

DAY-DREAMS BY E. WHITE

Domestics

By WALT MASON, The Poet-Philosopher

We've had about a thousand maids, who worked for us for wages; they cleaned the floors and window shades, and cooked, by easy stages. And ever and anon they'd quit; their time had come to marry; and Grace would wed her smiling Kit, and Jane would wed her Harry. And I felt sorry for the groom, when'er there was a wedding; when matrimony lost its bloom, he'd find some rocky sledding. Of all the thousand girls we've hired, not one was truly saving; economy would make them tired, and sometimes set them raving. It was the same with Beryl, Maud, with Susan and with Sally; they'd roll things up into a wad, and throw them in the alley. They wasted sweetmeat and steak, as good as you have tasted; they wasted pudding, pie and cake, and all that could be wasted. They wasted soap, they wasted soup, and did it all with jesting, and didn't seem to care a whoop for wailing or protesting. So when they go away to wed, I weep for those they marry, for Clarence, William, Stephen, Fred, Adolphus, James and Harry.

The Adding Machine

I watched a wonderful machine count up five miles of figures; the operator, all serene, just pressed some keys and triggers; it didn't sweat or tear its hair, it didn't make a blunder; it counted all the figures there, and put the product under. A set of books I used to keep, when I was young and husky, and homeward wearily I'd creep when dusk was growing dusky. I counted figures all day long, above my ledgers bending, and always got the darned things wrong, and sad sorrow was unending. And when the long day's work was o'er, my troubles home I'd carry, and there, despondent, sick and sore, I'd miss old Ned and Harry. My children were afraid of me, and so was Old Dog Rover; my wife would often climb a tree until my grouch was over. But now the keepers of the books are not worn out and weary; they seek their divers inglenooks with faces glad and cheery. A thing of springs and bolts and nuts does all the work of all its rigors; a thing with brass and iron guts counts up the dizzy figures. And everything, in endless ways, invention makes things lighter, and brings some sunshine to the days of every toiling blighter.

MAYOR SMALLEY IS 50 YEARS OLD

Celebrates Birthday and Has a Word to Say About Current Events

Fifty years ago today, in the building now known as Blimm's Hotel, in Somerset street, William L. Smalley, Mayor of North Plainfield, was born. His father was a butcher and conducted a market in West Front street, and his slaughter house was located a considerable distance from the house on the banks of Greenbrook. In that day Greenbrook was a stream of greater volume than it is today.

Mayor Smalley had a birthday luncheon at Ahern's pleasant this afternoon, and a feature of the affair was a large birthday cake with fifty candles on it. As the Mayor was on his way to the luncheon a representative of the Courier-News took occasion to congratulate him upon his arrival of the half-century mark and obtained from him an expression of his views of life and the public questions of the day. The Mayor said:

"A man at fifty is not an old man. He is not one that has climbed the hill and is going down the other side. Life is just what you make it. Those who have opportunities should to the best possible advantage. I turned down a soft job with the union when his term expired the other day and went to work.

tained a more mature age. There is nothing better than keeping busy. Those who work hard are happy. They may not have all the luxuries of life—in fact, they cannot have them—but if they do their job as best they can their conscience is clear and they don't have time to go wrong.

"We are at war with Germany. It is too bad, but it could not be helped. The time came when we had to assert our rights or submit to indignities which a nation the size of ours should never submit to. I do not expect that we shall see much fighting in the United States. I hope not. I wish that the war would end tomorrow, not because of any timidity on the part of our people, but because the slaughter across the seas has already assumed such terrible proportions as to appall mankind. The war will have an awakening influence upon the American people. We shall henceforth prepare to defend ourselves against aggression of all kinds. Our production will be increased and the easy-going life that we have led for the past twenty-five years will give place to a more serious consideration of those things which will be of greater benefit to all.

"Our boys and girls should be taught to work, to be useful and to know how to take care of themselves. We should practice greater economy and eliminate the waste that in an emergency means want.

"Military training for boys is a good thing, but industrial and military training combined is better. We should teach every boy and girl to do something useful. When we do this we shall have more, and if we look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

other. There should be no such thing in America as the unskilled man.

"The immigrants who come here teach us a lesson. They do the rough work, but they see to it that their children learn trades, because they appreciate the value of training. There is plenty of room in this country for all who are here and more that will come. No one should fear the economic competition of men who come here to enjoy better conditions than they enjoyed in their native land. We want them. There is work for them to do, and if we show them a good example they will develop into good citizens.

"Every man is entitled to fair wages and a proper work day. Those who want men to work from early morning until late at night cheat themselves because they reduce the productivity of their employes by long hours. An exhausted man cannot do good work.

"We should all stand firmly behind the President in the existing difficulties and support the Government to the utmost."

Asked if he would be a candidate for Senator in Somerset county, the Mayor said:

"I have been asked by a goodly number of citizens to seek the nomination, but at this time I cannot say whether or not I will be a candidate. There is plenty of time to decide.

"If I decide to become a candidate I shall seek the nomination as a local optionist and on a platform promising a business administration in fact as well as in theory.

"Just now I am interested in the movement to increase our food supply. Everyone who has a garden should cultivate it, and if he doesn't want to do so he should allow someone else to use the land. The more foodstuff that is produced this summer the better we shall live next winter and the cheaper will be the living. I believe that if every man in the United States were to cultivate a garden and raise potatoes, cabbage, beans, onions and carrots the high cost of living would get a hard rap."

By United Press

Washington, April 13.—The man who puts the teeth in the Navy's dreadnaughts is Admiral Ralph Earle, Chief of the Bureau of Ordinance.

His is the task of building and installing the giant guns for the fleet. He it is who must keep abreast of the ceaseless struggle of the nations for the "Out-ranging gun."

Striving for the faction of ordnance power which may mean success or failure to a fleet, Admiral Earle is installing in the Navy the biggest guns now known to naval warfare. Rumor has it he is even now planning to reach into the future with bigger ones.

The ordnance bureau, under Earle has taken rapid strides in naval development. The Navy Department briefly reports, "he has discharged his duties in a most satisfactory manner."

"Most satisfactory." Indeed, they must be, that he is retained in charge of this vital bureau during this period of national preparation.

DANISH SCHOONER IS TORPEDOED IN ATLANTIC

Special to Courier-News:

MAIL DELIVERY FOR BERNARDS

The Postmaster General has authorized John J. Foley, the Bernardsville postmaster, to install a free postal delivery after June 30, the end of the present quarter and beginning of the new fiscal year.

Bernardsville residents have been requested to number their houses and to place receptacles for mail on their doors. The postmaster also has ten street letter boxes to erect, and he has been authorized to add two carriers and a substitute carrier to his force.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach or Bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, fever gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

PATENTS FOR ARTIFICIAL LEGS

(By United Press)

London, April 13.—In the second full year of the world war, there were 18,686 applications for patents registered at the British patent office. This represents an increase of 461 applications over the previous year. A good proportion of the applications were made for parents of instruments and munitions of war. Artificial legs are being perfected too, the list shows.

It is a curious fact that the only patent granted an enemy alien since the war began was issued to a German. It was a process for "grinding swords" and licenses have been issued to Sheffield firms to use the new invention.

LABOR LEADER LAWSON GOES BACK TO MINING COAL

(By United Press)

Denver, April 13.—John R. Lawson, the labor leader who was convicted of murder in connection with the Ludlow massacre a while back, yesterday gave up his place as a leader, donned overalls, fixed a miner's lamp to his cap, shouldered his tools and went down into a little mine in the Fredericksburg district to earn his living once more digging coal.

Lawson came up from the ranks. He was a members of the International council of the United Mine Workers. He turned down a soft job with the union when his term expired the other day and went to work.

GETS COURT SUMMONS AS BIRTHDAY PRESENT

Robert Lowrie, of this city, received, among other presents last Tuesday, his thirtieth birthday anniversary, a summons to appear in police court in Elizabeth for exceeding the speed limit while driving an automobile in Westfield avenue.

He told that to Judge Mahon when arraigned on the speeding charge in Elizabeth police court yesterday on complaint of Traffic officer Sattler. He said that the speedometer on the machine was out of order and he didn't realize how fast he was going.

The court warned him not to repeat the offense, and because as the summons coming as a birthday gift, imposed a fine of only $2. Lowrie's wife was with him in court.

LAPS

The lap is one of those rare human institutions though constantly being sat upon still survives. It always appears when you sit down. Nobody knows where it goes when you stand up. It was invented by mothers. Mothers have worn laps ever since Eve evoluted from fig leaves to furbelows. Fathers have the framework for laps, but they lack the connecting links. Laps are used for many things—among matrons for holding babies and bowls full of cake batter, smong lovers for holding each other, and among various classes of persons for a various number of things. Some folks haven't room in their laps for anything but their stomachs.

Errors galore spoke defeat for the Jefferson School lads yesterday afternoon when they bowed to the Grammar School aggregation at the wrong end of a 20 to 8 score. Elliott, pitching for the losers, put up a good game, holding the opposing batsmen down to a round of seven hits, but his support was so far off that his work went for naught.

The contest produced a pair of star batsmen, one from each team. Perez of the Jeffersons cleaned up three hits in four trips to the bat, while Mowen secured four safeties in six visits to the plate.

The next contest of the league is booked for tomorrow morning between the Washington and Whittier school teams.

BOROUGH PINNERS TAKE SIX GAMES

While Bound Brook Bees Cop But Brace of Tilts During Last Evening

North Plainfield put it all over Bound Brook at Ellinger's alleys at the latter place last evening, when Gates and Vail, two of the borough's best seasoned pinners, walloped Koechlein and Snyder to six of eight games. Six double century scores were chalked up during the course of the evening, two being to Koechlein, two to Vail and one each to Snyder and Gates.

Vail tied up the two honors—high score of 232 and high average of 198.

The result of last evening's contest gives North Plainfield the advantage in the home-and-home series between the two pairs, securing thirteen of eighteen tilts rolled. Ten games were staged at the borough alleys earlier in the week.

The scores:

Bound Brook

Snyder—172, 167, 155, 159, 210, 190, 197, 183. Average, 179.

Vail—169, 232, 184, 199, 192, 182, 222, 197. Average, 198.

COLLIE BEST OF SHOW

Wishaw Queen, an imported collie owned by Patrick J. Tally, was adjudged the best dog at the annual match of the Hudson County Kennel Club at Union Hill last night. The dog was first shown at the Westminster show shortly after her arrival in this country and was adjudged the best of her breed.

The award for the best of the opposite sex was made to Ivy Dazzler, a wire-haired fox terrier, owned by the Florham Kennels of Arlington. Mrs. Henry Hill's Orange Pomeranian, Sunbright Dazzler, was adjudged the best toy.

BAKER'S DOUBLE ENDS GAME

New Brunswick, April 13.—A double by Baker in the tenth inning gave Rutgers a 5 to 4 victory over Hamilton here yesterday. Riker, pitching for the locals, weakened in the sixth and Waterfield went in and held the visitors scoreless.

BASEBALL CHATTER FROM LOCAL FANS

A Few Notes Gathered From Here and There on the Local Situation

Wanted—An umpire or two for Plainfield City Baseball League. File your application with Secretary Dan Randolph, 508 Lee place, or President Walter C. Dobbins, Courier-News office. Applications will be received only from those who know the rules and have no objections to be called a hard name or two. Appointments will be made at the meeting next Monday evening.

The First Baptist and Hope Chapel teams practice at West End Oval tomorrow afternoon. Every last candidate of both teams wants to get on the job if he expects to land a berth for the coming season.

Something is radically wrong at P. H. S. Here we have reached Friday, the thirteenth of April, and no announcement of the schedule as yet. Either our correspondent is holding off copy in order to have the loose change on some slow week's account or the manager of the Red and Blue is awfully slow in putting the aforesaid schedule in shape. The one who is responsible for said condition may consider himself properly called down.

A week or so back one Joe Alberts, of Scotch Plains, started in to do more or less talking of bright prospects for a ball team at the Plains field during the coming season. And then—well, the talk suddenly stopped. Hope to hear from Joe within the course of a day or two on some further advance dope of the coming season.

We beg to announce the fact that the Dunellen Field Club is now ready for the opening of the baseball season for 1917, with Clarence Waldron as captain, Raymond Wyckoff assistant manager and C. W. Huff manager. Manager Huff is now arranging his schedule and is desirous of hearing from teams in the section from Elizabeth to High Bridge. Friend Huff claims to have a fast team and is willing to produce his hand as soon as the games are arranged. Manager Huff may be addressed North avenue, Dunellen, N. J.

After indulging in batting practice about fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon the N. P. H. S. boys were driven to cover by a sudden shower.

Who will get the N. P. H. S. twelfth suit is still undecided, but Bill Barry, '19, and Ted Zeller, the young grammar school lad, are the most likely candidate for the uniform.

What will probably be the regular N. P. H. S. infield for the coming year has been practicing throughout the week. Newt Mair is still covering the keystone sack and Roy Force, '18, has about landed second base, although two other lads will keep him on the jump. Ed Yates in the St. Joseph's and Alumni games showed how well a second baseman can also do short field duty. Bill Ahern will pick them up around third. The outfield is still undecided, but will be settled after a few games have been played.

P. H. S. TO START SEASON TOMORROW

Some Good Material Has Been Developed This Spring at Local School

The Plainfield High School baseball team is all prepared to score its first victory. The team will line up against the Roselle High School bunch tomorrow afternoon at Roselle.

The local boys have been going through a stiff series of practices and started early in the season when they tossed the ball about the gymnasium. Then when the weather permitted Parker Field and Crescent Ova1 saw a fast crowd of candidates for the Red and Blue nine. As time went on this crowd decreased, but increased [illegible] Now when Parker Field welcomes baseball players it welcomes a real team of players.

The battery has offered some problems this year. Snyder will see his first year of service on the baseball field. He has been selected to catch. Three likely twirlers are Hutchcroft, J. Newell and Irving Hand. Hutchcroft is a left-hander and worked in the box last year. He will grace the mound in tomorrow's game. Arthur Kyle, captain, will cover first base, while Lowe and Mundy will take turns at second. Brandt will take care of third.

The outfield will be looked after by material left over from last year. Coudray and Keating are the most prominent shortstop men and Milk will be seen in centre field. Hooper and Morris will fill the garden positions.

Plainfield High will start its season with five members of last year's nine, two of them being regulars.

Coach Patch has put the team through many stiff practices, and the result of his endeavors are certain to become apparent in due time.

MORRISTOWN GAME OFF

The management of Morristown High School notified Manager Kenneth Lowrie of North Plainfield High School yesterday morning that the game scheduled for tomorrow at Morristown is cancelled on account of lack of funds in the Morristown H. S. treasury. The borough management is endeavoring to book a nearby school team for a game on Hyde oval for tomorrow afternoon.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

KAUFF IS READY FOR HIS BEST SEASON

If reports from the pre-season contests in which the Giants participated are worth anything, Benny Kauff, the blushing violet of the Federal League, stands a fine chance of enjoying the best season of his career this summer. Kauff, the box scores show, hit the ball on the nose with startling regularity and firmness, and the box scores also showed that he occasionally drew a base on balls instead of swinging wildly at the bad ones.

When the season ended last fall Kauff was showing some of the stuff that made him a king of batters in the old Gilmore circuit. He was whaling away at the horsehide in a manner that would have soon boosted his batting average to very near the .300 class. It was the result of close study by Benny and some close tutoring by John McGraw. Kauff had been told he couldn't swing in the general direction of a National League baseball and slam it out of the lot.

When Benny entered the circuit presided over by John K. Tener it became a standing joke that he would take a smash at anything, sincere and certain in the belief that a baseball couldn't be thrown past him very often. It was a fact. He was so eager to hit that he would swing at anything.

That's all changed now. Benny has learned to wait and get the good ones. And when he connects it means something, for there are few batters in either big league with the driving power that is contained in his stock frame.

It's partly Ty Cobb's fault that Benny is making such marks for himself, the reports say. Benny grew almost green with jealousy when he was thrown into a series against the Georgian, and when Ty attacked Buck Herzog, with whom Benny rooms, his desire to eclipse the famous Tiger knew no bounds. He out-Cobbed Cobb in some of those games, punching the ball around for the base hits and turning in fielding plays that were sensational.

With his ambition, powerful arms and natural ability to hit there is no reason why Kauff shouldn't take his place among batting leaders of the National League. And, it is proper to remark, Benny has learned to wear a heavy batting average without danger of it running over.

YANKS TO AID RECRUITING

Interest in recruiting in Jersey City will be stirred up at West Side Park Sunday afternoon when the Yankees will play Dave Driscoll's Jersey City independent club. The occasion will have more martial trimmings than a big league opening. The Yanks will give an exhibition drill, a military band will make things lively and home cadet corps will add their bit to the ceremonies. Bill Donovan intends to use his regular line-up. Howard Lohr, who refuses to report to the Cleveland club, will be in the outfield for the Skeeters.

POSTPONEMENTS

The following big league games booked for today have been postponed until dates to be announced later:

Ebbets Field—Dodgers vs. Phillies (cold weather).

Philadelphia—Senators vs. Athletics (wet grounds).

Polo Grounds—Red Sox vs. Yankees (wet grounds).

CHILD WELFARE WORK DISCUSSED

Mrs. A. H. Talbot of New York Gives Practical Talk on Vocational Training

Questions pertaining to the interest of the work of the Child Welfare Council were discussed at the annual meeting of that body held yesterday afternoon at the Evergreen school, and the members had the privilege of listening to a practical address by Mrs. Anna Hedges Talbot, of New York University, who is extension specialist on vocational education for girls in New York State.

The first part of the meeting was devoted to business during which these officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. James E. Kimball; vice president, Mrs. William M. Sandford; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Frank W. Rowley.

The reports for the past year were most encouraging, showing that considerable progress had been made in advancing the interests of the council. Eight of the eleven associations comprising the council were represented at yesterday's meeting.

After the business Mrs. Talbot was introduced and she told the women what has been done in New York State in promoting vocational work for girls in the public schools. She is employed under the direction of the New York State Educational Department and part of her duties is to travel throughout the State visiting the various schools.

Mrs. Talbot's plans of which she is the originator, and which have been in successful operation in the schools of more than one hundred towns and cities of New York State, aim to teach the girls to work for others. She believes that the girls in learning to cook and sew for others who are needy, also learn to do for themselves and thus become co-operators with others. Their work is not solely confined to individual persons, but the idea is to have them sew for institutions or cook for families or groups.

Mrs. Talbot believes that the girls should visit institutions and learn something about the condition of those who have become dependent, and thus be made to realize the importance of doing for others. It is her idea that in this way girls are taught to avoid ignorance and vicious habits. It is a "community work" that Mrs. Talbot is promoting.

Another plan that has met with considerable success. Mrs. Talbot said is that of having the girls work for the Red Cross. They are formed into groups of ten, the membership fee being ten cents. Women's clubs furnish the materials and the girls make the articles needed.

The council was greatly interested in Mrs. Talbot's plans, and her talk was followed by an informal discussion. The speaker was afterward entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jones, on Central avenue.

STEAMER TREVEAL REACHES CUBA

Special to the Courier-News:

New York, April 13.—The British steamer Treveal is safely anchored today at a Cuban port. This fact was ascertained through a statement made by an official of a large sugar concern that received cable advices from Cuban agents this morning.

WAR ODDITIES

Glasgow, April 13.—City fathers made the gentle barmaid taboo; barmen were all conscripted; the fathers won't let the barmaids come back and in consequence the old boys who love their foaming brew are having a hard time of it. The "pub" owners are having a tough time getting anyone to serve the suds.

Tulsa, Okla., April 13.—Everybody in Tulsa went to school today. It was All Go To School Day for young, old and middle aged of all sorts. They all went, too.

LOCAL GUARDSMEN IN FINE CONDITION

Capt. Peterson Reports That Company K Boys Are Enjoying Active Service

Captain Charles A. Peterson, of Company K, Second Regt., which is now in active service doing guard duty "somewhere in New Jersey," returned to Plainfield today, to look after the storm sewer work which he started before the company was called out.

Captain Peterson reports that the members of the company are all in excellent health and enjoying their service. Like many other guardsmen of the State, the Plainfield boys are protecting strategic points and property where articles for the United States Government are being made.

This is a new experience for the Plainfielders and they seem to enter into the work with a great deal of enthusiasm, feeling that they are doing their little bit. There is a daily routine followed and arrangements have been made for the best of care for the guardsmen. The new order issued by the Government this week directing that all members of the National Guard who have dependents must be sent home, may effect some of the boys of the local company, but there are a number of married men who will continue in the service, their circumstances being such that their families will not suffer by reason of their absence from home.

The motor truck presented to the company by Plainfield people has already proved its usefulness and has been of great help to the organization in the short time it has been in the field in carrying supplies back and forth. The company is working under sealed orders and while it is kept busy at present, it does not know when it may be directed to move to some other place. The battalion headquarters are located at New Brunswick and each company makes its report to that place.

"HI-Y CLUB" FORMED AT Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

The closing banquet of the High School Discussion Clubs held at the Y. M. C. A., last night was a great success. Covers were laid for seventy and an excellent dinner was served by the boys' work committee of the Woman's Auxiliary. Everett Case, the retiring president, was the toastmaster for the evening. There were informal talks by H. J. Center, boy's secretary of the association; Dr. Robert Eardley, principal of the North Plainfield schools and J. S. MacClymont, in which they encouraged the boys in their laudable work. John Hammond gave a toast of appreciation to the women who served the dinner, followed by hearty applause.

During the evening the boys organized what will be known as the "Hi—Y Club," and these officers were elected: President, Harold Leitzsaur; vice-president, Carl Willett; secretary, Mac Fullerton; treasurer, Sydney Dunning. This club, the membership of which is composed of boys in the city and borough high schools, will in the future, as the past, continue the plan for discussion of various topics which has been along practical lines.

RUNYON FOR ORATOR ON MEMORIAL DAY

Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., has invited the Hon. William N. Runyon to be the orator at the exercises of the Post on Memorial Day and the invitation has been accepted. The Post has invited all the various military organizations of the city and borough to join in the parade and the Uniformed Rank, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be the escort in place of Company K, which is away from the city engaged in national service.

The major will be William N. Pangborn, who will ride on the beautiful charger on which the late Captain William Hand so proudly rode at the head of the parade for so many years. This horse has passed into the possession of Captain Hand's son, Recorder Frederick W. Hand, by whom it is held in the same affectionate care that the late captain always showed for it. The horse has never been used but by the late captain or his son, but now Recorder Hand says the use of the animal shall pass to the successor of his father as major of the parade.

P. O. OF A. CLASS INITIATION

The regular meeting of Camp 1, P. O. of A., this city, will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, and it is hoped every member will be present. There will be a class initiation of twelve.

The initiatory work will be done by the national team from Camp No. 8, Jersey City. Miss Hannah Meyer, past national president, is president of the team.

Camp 1 will have other invited guests with them from among the national officers. After the closing of the meeting a social hour will follow.

NEW MEMBERS AT SWEDISH CHURCH

The Swedish Lutheran Gethsemane church is progressing most encouraging. New members are being constantly received and five were added last Sunday evening.

LUCKY STRIKE

The real Burley Cigarette

It's toasted

THE slice of toast that is made on your modern gas range is pretty good. But do you remember when they made it over the coals of the kitchen stove, with a long toasting fork? Browned just right, crisp, and buttered hot. Those were the days.

We made this discovery after five years of experiment. Before this you couldn't have a ready-made Burley cigarette; flavor wouldn't hold. And you certainly wanted it; look at the sixty million pounds of Burley you poured out of those green, red and blue tin boxes last year. "Blame good tobacco!"

So now go to it; Lucky Strike Cigarettes; delicious, toasted Burley. It's a new flavor—you'll enjoy the idea of the buttered toast.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

About the Flag Pole

To the Editor of the Courier-News:

Dear Sir: When I wrote to the Courier-News suggesting that a flag pole be erected on Crescent Green and paid for and maintained by voluntary contributions, I was ignorant of the fact that our city did not own the property. I feel, therefore, that an apology is due the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, which does own it.

It was not my intention to advocate the use of private property for even a patriotic public purpose without at least first consulting the owner.

Respectfully
FRANCIS L. MONTGOMERY.

Pay the Soldiers

To the Editor Courier-News:

When the State of New Jersey called the men of its National Guard to the colors, the various units of the Guard laid aside the tools of peaceful trade and commerce, and, equipped with the lethal weapons of war, took the responsibility of protecting the property of the State, and the lives of its citizens, jeopardized by a state of war just proclaimed.

It is the duty of all loyal citizens to assume such responsibility, and, in inverse ratio, it is the duty of the State, as a whole, to assume the responsibility of protecting the families of the men called away from their homes, and the established source of revenue necessary for its support.

The duty of the citizen to the State is no greater, and no less, than the duty of the State to the citizen. It is not understood that the State has the right to call on the citizens to defend it, and to make paupers and objects of charity, of the wife and children of that citizen. The United States is the richest country in the world. It is too rich to pauperize, with any legitimate excuse, the defenders of that very wealth of which it is so proud.

No wife, mother, or child of any man wearing the military uniform of the United States should ever be the recipient of charity. And when the American man dons that uniform, it should be with the full assurance that he is not committing an act that will bring to such mother, wife, or child that uncalled for, undeserved, and unjust humiliation.

Well-to-do and wealthy ladies may, for reasons best known to themselves, form associations or societies, ostensibly for the purpose of providing food and shelter for the families of our soldiers. It is very laudable and very kind. But in God's name, why should it be at all necessary for them to do so? Why should Mrs. Jones have the pleasure of driving up in her Brurlous car to the door of an American soldier's home, and after asking that soldier's wife a long list of questions, that border on insult, offer her a few dollars, and many ridiculous instructions in regard to its expenditure? The shame and disgrace of such a condition of affairs is too colossal for words.

Nothing in this protest is to be regarded as in anyway reflecting on, or unappreciative of, the work of such ladies, but the family of the soldier should be paid by the State in the same business like manner, and at the same just rate for value received, that it pays for any of its war supplies.

To those kindly and influential ladies I would suggest that they exert their time and efforts in behalf of legislative action covering the case. And, to those who spend their time grouching about that "15 dollars per," I would also suggest that they spend a two cent stamp on a letter of notification to the Senator of their district, that it is their desire, that a bill be introduced calling immediately for an appropriation to pay our soldiers a rate per month sufficient to meet the requirements of a home and family in accord with the present cost of the vessentials of life.

If the United States will be as patriotic as its citizens, it will be the most powerful Government in the world.

Kindness, sympathy, and honor for the American soldiers' family; bring that aplenty to his home; but do not bring the insult of Charity.

J. WATSON.

The Food Problem

Editor Courier-News:

One of the greatest problems of the war will be the food supply. The United States will be charged with the duty of supplying it as well as ammunition. The food situation the world over is serious, and even America, the breadbasket of the world, is threatened with a shortage. Will you not, therefore, as a patriotic duty, begin a propaganda to arouse the people of New Jersey to the gravity of the situation? Ask the other newspapers to co-operate with you. Tell the farmers how great is the threatened shortage of food and feed crops. Tell State officials, banks, chambers of commerce, boards of trade and business men throughout the State what we are facing, and urge them to a prompt co-operation with the farmers.

Food and feed crops were short throughout the world last year. Wheat production was 25 per cent. smaller than the previous year. The seven principal countries which in 1913 produced 3,300,000,000 bushels of potatoes, only raised 1,750,000,000 bushels last year. With the exception of rice it was the same dreary tale through the list of food and feed crops.

Europe does not raise sufficient to feed itself. In peace times it imports about 550,000,000 bushels of wheat a year. This is principally supplied by the United States, Canada, Argentina, Australia, India, Russia and Roumania. So long as the Dardanelles are closed no wheat can come from Russia or Roumania, even if they had it. Argentina, which is one of the largest exporters of wheat, corn and oats, completed its wheat harvest in January. The crop was such a failure that the government had an embargo on further exports of wheat and flour. The outlook for corn and oats also is bad.

India is expected to have 50,000,000 bushels for export, and Australia, provided its surplus of old wheat is undamaged, 150,000,000. This makes a total of 200,000,000 bushels, while the estimated import requirements of Europe this year are 600,000,000 bushels.

The submarine peril is greater in the Mediterranean, and the haul from Australia so long that imports from that country are almost prohibitive at this time when the ocean tonnage is below requirements. A heavier burden, therefore, is laid upon the United States and Canada.

Canada is a spring wheat country; what it can do, this year, therefore, is guess work. Last year its exportable surplus was 150,000,000 bushels. If that be the measure of its capacity this year, the United States must strain every nerve to fulfill its obligations.

In peace times we consume 625,000,000 bushels of wheat a year, including seed. In the five years between 1910 and 1914 our average production was 728,000,000 bushels. In 1915 large acreage and unusual weather conditions increased that yield 50 per cent. On the other hand, it decreased nearly 100,000,000 bushels last year. Our potato crop and all other food and feed crops, rice excepted, were small also.

The Government has just made a report on the condition of winter wheat, and the condition is lower than it has ever been in our history. The forecast is for a winter wheat crop of 430,000,000 bushels. Compare this with the 5-year average of 495,000,000! The balance of our wheat crop, or about one-third the total, is spring variety, which is not yet sown, but it is obvious that even with a good crop there will be no surplus of breadstuffs. When peace comes there will be a still greater scramble for food, and prices must be high for several years thereafter. We must not forget that, once the war is ended, the starving Germans will look to us for food supplies.

But the immediate future is our concern. Never within living memory has the weal or woe of the world been so dependent upon crop production. Our ability to carry on the war will be measured by the farm production. Every available acre should be planted with tested seed of high vitality and thoroughly cultivated. Money judiciously used to finance needy farmers in the purchase of tools, labor-saving machinery and good seed may be a deciding factor in the war. It is a recognized fact that if we lose the war, government by the people will perish from off the earth; upon the farms, therefore must depend the maintenance of the troops fighting democracy's battles, as well as the maintenance of the people at home.

D. C. HARROWER.

Special to the Courier-News:

QUADRI-CENTENNIAL OF REFORMATION

Plans and activities for the appropriate observance of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the birth of the Protestant Reformation are broadening and gathering force.

At least 75 denominational bodies have appointed committees to promote interest in the appropriate celebration of the work of Luther and the other reformation leaders.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America has appointed an important committee whose function it will be to further the celebration, particularly in its 30 constituent denominational bodies. The chairman is Rev. W. H. Roberts, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. Rev. Howard B. Gold is secretary of this committee.

The most complete Quadri-Centennial organization is the Joint Lutheran Committee with offices at Philadelphia. This committee represents several Lutheran bodies. The chairman is Rev. T. E. Schmauck, of Lebanon, Pennsylvania. The executive secretary is Rev. Howard R. Gold, who is in charge of the Philadelphia office.

Local committees have been organized in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Topeka, Spokane, Charleston, Savannah and in other cities. The New York Committee maintains a well equipped office and is promoting study of the history of the Reformation and its significance, in and around New York city. Hundreds of addresses have been given under the auspices of this committee and other hundreds of study classes have been organized in churches, Sunday schools, colleges and through other agencies in the metropolitan district.

Dr. Roberts and Mr. Gold, representing the Federal Council, have issued circulars addressed to the colleges and universities of the country urging the participation of these institutions in the celebration of the nailing of the epoch making ninety-five Theses by Luther upon the doors of the church at Wittenberg, and another circular addressed especially to churches and Sunday schools.

In celebration of the Quadri-Centennial throughout the coming months, culminating October 31, there will be sermons, lectures, study classes, a system of publicity reaching the whole country through the religious and secular press, lists of books and pamphlets and study subjects carefully prepared, a popular life of Luther by a well-known American writer and an appropriate medal. Other features will be exhibits in various cities, tableaus and pageants. A memorial arch and Luther statues are projected.

NATURALIZATION FEES SOAR

The months of February and March saw the county's treasury at Elizabeth increased by large amounts from the naturalization fees collected at the county clerk's office in the Courthouse, according to the report of County Collector N. R. Leavitt. For March the revenue from this source exceeded all the other collections in this office. Following are the sums collected by the county from naturalization fees for the first three months of the year: January, $33; February, $320; March, $181.

LLOYD GEORGE LAUDS UNITED STATES

Special to Courier-News:

London, April 13.—Premier Lloyd George in a speech yesterday at the American Luncheon Club, said that the advent of the United States into war had given the final stamp and seal to the character of the conflict which is a struggle against military autocracy.

"America will not only assist us in waging an efficient warfare," he said, "but will, by her active assistance, insure an early and beneficient peace. She has already assisted us to a very great extent, especially in the battle about Arras, since the machines that manufactured many of the shells that destroyed the German trenches, and made possible the victorious advance of our troops, had their origin in the United States."

The Premier rejoiced more in the knowledge that America was going to win the right to sit at the conference table when terms of peace are decided, than the resources she would bring to the Allies. "I can see peace coming now," said the Premier.

He said that it would mean endless preparation for strife and bloodshed, but a real peace which this old world has never known. He added that strange things had happened in this war, and that strange things were to come.

"Today," he said, "a devastating war is being waged. Tomorrow, perhaps not a distant tomorrow, war might be abolished forever from the category of human crime."

CAMPAIGN PROMISES TO BE LIVELY

(By United Press)

Washington, April 13.—Washington is looking forward to a lively party when the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution gather here next Monday for the twenty-sixth annual congress.

Four energetic candidates are in the race to succeed Mrs. William Cumming Story, of New York, as president general; Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey, State regent of Kansas, has a slight lead over her three opponents in pledged votes.

Eleven vice presidents-general and a full ticket of national officers, are to be voted upon, with candidates galore for each office.

WOMEN VOTERS PEEVED AT REMARKS ABOUT STOCKINGS

By United Press:

Trinidad, Col., April 13.—Silk stockings don't have anything to do with a lady's ability to cast her ballot intelligently, says the female ballotists of this town. And they're on the war path today because some mere male person made disparaging remarks about "women with silk stockings and high heeled shoes voting on questions that affect the common people." The women assert that "the womanhood of the town has been openly discredited," and they promise retaliation at the next election.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

Spring Enthusiasm

The more I sing of gentle spring, the more I want to carol; these pleasant days I turn out lays and anthems by the barrel. As fresh the earth as when its birth occurred in distant ages; we shed our years and hop like steers, or kangaroos in cages. All winter long my works were wrong, and grief in me was reigning; and other jays who went their ways in anguish were complaining. I'd walk a mile before a smile I'd see upon a critter; all men were sore and o'er and o'er they cussed the winter bitter. But now I walk around a block on legs that wish to gambol, and fifty styles of cheerful smiles I witness in my ramble. Spring, sweet and calm, is nature's balm for all our ills and ailings; our souls it cheers, and dries our tears, and shames our idle wailings.

Too Sick To Work

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." —Mrs. O. M. RHINES, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga.—"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited."—Mrs. W. E. LINDSEY, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

TAXATION PLAN CONGRESS ISSUE

Huge War Expenditure Must Be Met Quickly.

REDUCE INCOME EXEMPTIONS.

Imposts on All Luxuries, While Special Taxes on Liquor and Tobacco, Excess Profits and Inheritances Will Be Increased—Call For 500,000 Volunteers to Be Issued Pending Conscription.

Washington, April 13.—Taxation to supply the revenues necessary to meet the stupendous requirements as to the principal and interest of the $7,000,000,000 bond issue will hold the attention of the financial committees of congress for the next several days. A bill providing for the raising of $2,000,000,000 by direct taxation must be reported quickly.

The ways and means committee is engaged in its preparation. The certainty that there will be only brief discussion of the bond issue increases the need for speedy and thorough consideration of the tax bill. It is the hope of the committee on ways and means that the bill can be reported in a fortnight.

Secretary McAdoo has set the scientific machinery of the internal revenue bureau at work on a comprehensive war tax program to old congress. Commissioner of Internal Regenue Osborn has been directed to marshal his figures with a view to raising approximately $2,000,000,000 by taxes.

Special War Taxes.

The new internal revenue taxes will likely be additions to the present imposts, according to the preliminary survey of the tax situation. The excess profits tax and the estates or inheritance tax will be increased, and special war taxes will be levied on liquor and tobacco.

The plan indicates that the national prohibition movement which has been expected to appear in strength because of the state of war will not have the support of the administration during the first year of the war at least. It is understood the administration feels the revenues derived from liquor taxes cannot be relinquished at this time.

The internal revenue plan contemplates a reduction for the present $3,000 income tax exemption to $2,000 and the increase of the 2 per cent rate to 3 or 4 per cent.

Other taxes are planned for all luxuries.

"Uncle Sam's army needs 517,959 men to volunteer for service, and it needs them now," was the message sent to the country by Secretary of War Baker. The half million are wanted "for the period of the war," and their services are imperatively demanded in the regular army and in the national guard at once, said Secretary Baker.

This half million the war department plans to raise under the nation's time honored volunteer system while the country waits for the first half million increment to be raised under the "selective draft plan" proposed in the army bill now before congress.

Stands by Draft Bill.

Under the war department plan the first half million of volunteers must take their places in the regular army and the national guard, bringing these organizations up to full war strength before the organization of the new national army under the conscription plan can be made effective. Secretary Baker said the department will work hard to obtain these voluntary enlistments, meanwhile urging upon congress the need for immediate action on the conscription bill. There will be no abandonment of the selective draft plan, the secretary makes it clear.

Convinced that an organization of high efficiency under the control of a master executive is responsible for continued munitions explosions and fires, the army of spy catchers are seeking the center of the network of plots. Evidence discovered in connection with the Eddystone explosion, while closely guarded, is known to have shown that the disaster was engineered from a distance by a well organized conspiracy.

In this connection it was stated that the continued bomb plots and incendiary fires, with their consequent loss of life, may lead to the laying of a death penalty for such crimes. Under the president's war time authority, he would be able to impose the death penalty on enemy aliens plotting or consummating such crimes. A simple proclamation would impose capital punishment.

Food For Allies First.

The American merchant marine will be devoted to supply the entente allies with food, clothing and munitions. Federal shipping authorities have decreed that practically the whole strength of American shipping at this time will be diverted to carry supplies to France, where the need is greatest and where the chief fighting is going on.

Plans for the diversion of American merchant ships to the Franco-American trade were discussed at a conference between Ambassador Jusserand of France and Sir Frederick William Dehman of the shipping board. Details as to the number and class of ships to be diverted are in course of preparation.

Bergenfield to Celebrate.

Hackensack, April 13.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the enlargement and rededication of the old South church of Bergenfield will begin Friday evening of next week. Four special services will be conducted by out of town ministers. The music and hymns used on the occasion of the rededication in 1867, which are out of print, have been reproduced and will be sung. The original roll of membership in 1724 and other old documents will be exhibited.

What must we do? People throughout the country are going to see that those who prepare by having a garden, no matter how small, will eliminate to a great extent, the cost of their weekly bill for Table Vegetables. Plant every available piece of vacant land, including small back yards.

Our line of Seeds, Fertilizers and Farming Implements are of the Long Standing Reliable Kind. We have sold them for years, the kind that have been tested and found true every year.

We are able to sell you positively fresh seeds this year without an increase in cost over prices standing last year.

TRENTON HEARING ON SCHOOL DRILL

State Board of Education to Hear Arguments.

YOUTH WILL BE MOBILIZED.

Boys and Girls Asked to Aid In Production and Conservation of Food and Other Essentials of Nation as Junior Industrial Army—Work For Them Mapped Out.

Trenton, April 13.—The state board of education will meet tomorrow afternoon at 10:30 to decide whether there shall be military drill in New Jersey high schools. The legislature passed a law requiring physical training in all schools, but left the question of military training with the board of education. The board will hear all interests at the meeting.

Assistant State Commissioner of Education Lewis H. Carris has completed the plan for the junior industrial army of the state. This organization is to mobilize, direct and utilize the youth of the state to increase the production of necessities.

The First division will consist of those willing to work on farms. Plans are being worked out for placing and care of the members of this division. An adequate wage will be paid.

Second Division.—Boys' vocational schools, to manufacture articles in constant use by all branches of the regular army and sailors.

Third Division.—Girls' vocational schools, to furnish supplies for the Red Cross or similar duty.

Fourth Division.—Household arts division, to cooperate with associated charities in furnishing household necessities for dependents of soldiers.

Fifth Division.—Manual training division, for shops furnishing equipment.

Other divisions will be formed as required and experience dictates. Formation of the first division is proceeding rapidly, the state grange and the state department of labor aiding.

BANKERS MEET MAY 11.

Annual Two Day Convention Set For Atlantic City.

Jersey City, April 13.—The annual convention of the New Jersey Bankers' association this year will be held at Atlantic City on May 11 and 12. Headquarters, as heretofore, and sessions of the association will be at Hotel Chelsea.

The customary program of distinguished speakers is now being prepared. William J. Fields, secretary of the association and vice president of the Commercial Trust company of Jersey City, has received assurances of a large attendance.

John D. Everitt, president of the Orange National bank, is president of the New Jersey Bankers' association, and William Chambers of the Vineland Trust company, Vineland, is vice president. In the ordinary course Mr. Chambers will be elected next president of the state association.

EDMUND B. OSBORNE DEAD.

New Jersey State Senator Victim of Paratyphoid.

Montclair, N. J., April 13.—State Senator Edmund Burke Osborne is dead at his home here after an illness of six weeks from paratyphoid. He was fifty-six years old and is survived by a wife and two sons.

Senator Osborne was widely known in national politics. He left the Republican party with Colonel Roosevelt, but returned to the fold in 1915. He was a delegate to the national convention in 1912 and a delegate-at-large to the progressive national convention in August of the same year, after the break. BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are a product of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.
These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.
Most headaches, dizziness and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy," and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Safe Home Remedy for Skin-Troubles
Eczema, ringworm, and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need never hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful, that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for over twenty years.
Generally resinol stops itching at once, and heals the eruption quickly and a little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.
Resinol Soap is not only unusually cleansing and softening, but its regular use gives to the skin and hair that natural beauty of perfect health which cosmetics can only imitate.

T. F. SMITH WINS CONGRESS SEAT

Tammany Hall Secretary Elected In 15th District.

New York, April 13.—Thomas F. Smith, for many years secretary of Tammany Hall, was overwhelmingly elected to succeed the late Michael F. Conry as representative in congress from the Fifteenth district, which extends from Fourteenth to Thirty-seventh street and from the East to the North river. Of the 12,015 votes cast several thousand more than the special election was expected to bring out—Mr. Smith received 8,838, against 2,450 for the Republican candidate, John N. Boyle.

John D. Cannon, Socialist candidate, who ran on an anti-war platform—one of his campaign declarations was that the United States plans to imitate the tyrannical policy by which Europe has ruined her people and enriched her capitalists and autocrats—was a bad third, receiving only 729 votes. Mr. Smith carried eighty-three out of the eighty-seven election districts and all the assembly districts.

Mr. Smith said he had not yet decided whether he would resign as secretary of Tammany Hall, but would resign immediately the post of chief clerk of the city court, which he has held for the last nineteen years.

"I shall go to Washington," said Mr. Smith, "to be first of all an American and to support with full vigor all measures designed for upholding the government in the prosecution of the war, to the end that our country may be free to pursue her rightful duties and callings on land and sea."

Rifle Club Progresses

Further progress in organization was made last evening by the Somerset County Rifle Club at its meeting in the armory. While the men were drilling in three companies under the direction of officers of the First Regiment the executive committee of the organization was meeting in another room. WESTFIELD

RECITAL DELIGHTS MUSIC LOVERS

The auditorium of the Westfield High school was filled last night with a host of music lovers who had gathered there to hear the recital given by Miss Maude Klotz, the talented singer and who is a resident of this town. The recital was not only attended by local people but by people from all parts of Union county as well as New York. Miss Klotz was assisted in the recital by Maximilian Pilzer, a noted violinist who is the concertmeister of the Philharmonic Orchestra in New York. The recital was given under the auspices of the Grant school Parent-Teacher Association and the proceeds will go towards the purchase of a stereopticon machine for the Grant school.

The numbers on the program sung by Miss Klotz were for the most part English songs as she, like most other noted singers, thinks that the majority of American audiences prefer to hear songs in their own language.

It was indeed a great musical treat for those who attended, as both Miss Klotz and Mr. Pilzer were at their best and captivated the hearts of their hearers from the time they sang and played their first numbers until the last, and that they were appreciated was evidenced by the hearty applause they received at the close of each song and violin selection. The Parent-Teacher Association of the Grant school are to be congratulated upon having been able to secure Miss Klotz and the town and school board a lifelong resident of the Pottersville-Gladstone section. Besides his widow he leaves two sons, Charles and Frank Miller, of Pottersville, also a brother, Elias Miller, of Far Hills. He was a member of the Pottersville Reformed Church.

This is a laughable sketch and is most amusing from start to finish. This is the first appearance of the Dramatic Club in the town and the cast which is given below is particularly good and promises to make a name for the club.

The cast is as follows: Arthur Sewall, a theatrical warrior, Daniel Gilmartin; Ira Wilton, his father-in-law, George H. Riley; Harry Brentworth, Arthur's friends, Irving DeMilt; Reginald Dudley, an Englishman, Frank Traynor; Jim Buckner, known as "The Parson," Frank Tuhly; Conrad Meeker, a plumber, John E. Niland; Eliza Wilton, Ira's better half, Mrs. J. J. O'Connell; Grace Sewall, wife of Arthur, Miss Lucille Winkler; Laura Wilton, daughter of Ira, Miss Mae Walsh; Lena, a German maid, Miss Florence Hartman.

FANWOOD

COMMUNITY FARMS TO BE PLANNED

The Fanwood Community Farms is on the verge of complete organization. A move is being made here to organize the community farms for patriotic purposes and an opportunity for every man, woman and child to aid will be given.

There are two ways to make this organization a success. The first is by a financial investment and the second by labor. Money invested will go towards purchasing seeds, fertilizer and necessary hired labor.

The season's harvest will be sold at market prices, investors having the first opportunity to buy. This organization has already received invaluable help. H. C. Lockwood, real estate agent of New York, has offered the use of as much of his land in the borough which can be cultivated.

Blanks have been distributed which when filled out by each individual in the borough, will show that he intends to do his bit for his country in this manner. A fond shortage may occur at any time and if Fanwood is prepared to meet this, the citizens will have won a victory through preparedness.

An opportunity is given for everyone to make this organization a success, for a man who cannot do his bit of the physical work may be able to assist financially. Both ways of aiding are of equal importance, for one cannot be had without the other.

Fancher-Fricle Nuptials

Miss Ethel Fricle, of Bayonne, N. J., was quietly married to Edwin Crosby Fancher, of North avenue, yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the presence of only members of the immediate family of the couple at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Arthur Hay, of Martine avenue. The Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the Scotch Plains Baptist Church, performed the wedding ceremony.

Miss Marion A. Fricle and Miss Ruth Hay were the bride's only attendants and Dr. Ray T. Munger of Fanwood stood up for the bridegroom.

Following the wedding ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The newly married couple left for a trip to the South, after which they will return to their new home, which is now occupied by James Minneseck on Midway place.

WATCHUNG

Watchung to Be Guarded

The regular monthly meeting of the Township Committee of North Plainfield Township was held last evening in the Town Hall. A communication regarding the Home League Defense was read by Mayor Harry B. MacDonald, and a patriotic speech was made by Dr. Charles E. Moldenke. After considering the communication it was decided that, owing to the peacefulness and quietness of the inhabitants of Watchung, the necessity of a patrol force was not particularly needed, as at the present time there is the volunteer police force.

But the chair appointed Francis E. Bodin as military instructor, and Mr. Bodin said he would begin with the Volunteer Fire Department, which has a membership of about 20 men and are practically considered all "minute-men." So in the near future the valleys and hills of the beautiful Watchung will be well guarded.

The Township Committee has appointed the following committee to act with Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R. in the matter of the Springdale cemetery. The members of the committee are: Richard Moldenke, Francis E. Bodin and Harry McWaide.

There will be a special meeting in the Improvement Hall tomorrow evening of the committee of the Agriculture Preparedness League. As this is important all members are urged to be present.

BRITISH AGAIN GAIN GROUND

Pierce German Lines and Repulse Attacks.

CANADIANS GAIN TRENCHES.

French Also Attack Near St. Quentin and Defeat Fierce Counter Attacks. Teutons, Heavily Re-enforced, Struggle Desperately to Hold Positions and Claim Heavy Losses Inflicted on Foe.

London, April 13.—The huge British "steam saw" flung its teeth fast and deep into the Teuton line on the fourth day of the world war's most terrific battle.

At ten more or less widely separated points the British tore new gashes into the German wall of men, iron or steel or hurled back onslaughts by Hindenburg's infantry legions. Farther south, below St. Quentin, the French helped along, reopening with success their drive on the keypoint in the Hindenburg line.

To the Canadians again went the lion's share of the day's honors.

On the strategically most important front, that on and around the famous Vimy ridge, they added new laurels to the victory wreath they have been winding since the morning following Easter Sunday. They stormed forward on a front of one mile just south of the blood soaked range of heights, wresting from the Teutons a mile of bitterly defended trenches.

Canadian Losses Heavy.

Still farther south the Canadians pushed their lines to the crest of hill 145. Hurricane after hurricane of shells greeted them. Again and again they leaped forward, each time cutting a new crack into the foe's defense, until finally the Canadians streamed back down the slopes of the height, giving up the futile struggle. The usual Canadian casualty list will not be slight, but "all our objects were attained," was the triumphant message of their commander to headquarters.

Four 8.5 inch guns, five 9.5 guns and twenty field pieces were added to the Canadians' booty.

Inspired to superhuman efforts by the example of their brethren from across the sea, Sir Douglas Haig's forces north and south of Vimy ridge battled their way forward and made great strides in the fifty mile offensive.

North of the ridge they captured two vital strategic positions in the German line, bringing their own lines astride of the River Souchez. Southwest of the range, the Canadians in the fore, they took a thousand yards of trenches and cleared the ground to the Lorette river, also they occupied a German trench running southeast of Neuville-Vitasse and took hill 90, while between Croisilles and the Scarpe river they took eleven more big German guns.

French Do Their Bit.

Meanwhile the French, driving northward against St. Quentin, on the front between Coucy and Quincy-Basse, hurled the Germans back to the southwestern edge of the upper Coucy forest, taking a number of important positions. In the Champagne they drove troops of the crown prince out of trenches east of Sapigneul.

In the face of these numerous gains, which after all are of a local importance rather than affecting the general situation, though undoubtedly weakening the German morale, Hindenburg's forces battled fiercely. Not a foot of a trench was yielded until after the bitterest hand to hand fighting. Along the whole front the battle resolved itself into thousands of pairs of men clutched in desperate life or death struggles. Wherever the British or French did not attack the Germans flung themselves against the foe, aided by murderous artillery and machine gun fire.

At two points, it is officially admitted, the Teutons held their own throughout the day, at Bullecourt and on the eastern slopes of Vimy ridge.

In counter attacks at Bullecourt the Germans claim to have taken 1,000 prisoners.

"Heavy losses" by the British continues to make the official Berlin reports. The German war office admitted the loss of Monchy-le-Preux "after frequent fruitless assaults," adding that "south of the Scarpe the enemy thrust strongly against us." To the north of Monchy, however, Berlin asserts, British attacks participated in by cavalry and "tanks" broke down with heavy losses.

There has been strong stiffening of the Teuton front all along the line of the British attack. Countless reserves have been thrown into the gaps, and the artillery, too, has been greatly augmented. British headquarters intimated that some time must pass before any thrusts equal to those of the first two days can be launched, since the new lines must be consolidated and the big guns brought up. Snow and slush again impede operations and the cold continues severe.

MOOSE LEADERS WANT NEW PARTY

St. Louis, April 13.—National Progressive party leaders are gathered here to unite under the moose banner the liberal elements of all political parties to organize a party and a campaign for 1920.

Neither Theodore Roosevelt nor George W. Perkins were invited. Albert D. Norton, who has been a member of nearly all parties and an ardent moose since 1912, is the leading spirit of the convention.

The plan is to weld the liberal elements of the Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Labor, Prohibition and women's parties in a national liberal party.

Among those interested in the party are Matthew Hale of Boston, formerly a member of the moose national committee; J. A. H. Hopkins of New Jersey, John M. Parker of Louisiana and others. It is hoped that Bainbridge Colby, Victor Murdock and other middle western leaders will take an active part in the convention.

Norton and other leaders said the "solid south" would yield only to a third party that embraced the ideals of all parties now in the field.

Permanent working plans for the future will be formulated, and nation wide prohibition and a declaration for universal military training will be added to the platform of 1912, which, it is expected, will be indorsed.

A committee of the Socialist party which has been in session here for nearly a week will meet with the executive committee of the bull moose.

It's a Fact That Goerke's Have Cornered the Popular Price Trade of Newark, Elizabeth and Vicinity

Not the so-called "bargain-hunting" trade that sticks to no store but goes wherever the bargain lure is strongest, irrespective of quality; not the "silk stocking" trade with its call for novelties in merchandise, which is often unprofitable to handle. No, not these trades at all. GOERKE'S has cornered the "happy medium" crowd—the people who are keen for values, yet will not sacrifice quality to price; the people who want staple things without gaudy display which raises prices; the people who are really the power—who can make a store great beyond its fellows. That is the trade GOERKE'S has cornered. They are your friends and neighbors. Why not join them and learn what store satisfaction is!

AGRICULTURAL BOARD ISSUES A CALL

The Union County Agriculture Board has issued the following call: "Under normal conditions, less than fifty per cent. of the available land in Union county, that could be profitably cultivate, is utilized. Unusual conditions now prevail. Food shortage stares us in the face unless our food supply is increased far above the average. Now is the time to plant if the harvest is to be gathered. There are many who are willing to help increase the food supply, but they have no land. There are hundreds of acres in this county awaiting the plow. The Union County Board of Agriculture is going to try to get together the men who are willing to till and the men who have more than they can till.

"The first things to ascertain is who has more land than they can cultivate and is willing to offer some free for tilling, and who wants some land to till. With all who have land to offer, write to C. H. Brewer, Secretary Union County Board of Agriculture, Rd. 2, Railway, N. J., stating how much they have that they are willing to donate the use of and where it is located.

"Those who are looking for a place to plant, and mean business, are also requested to send their names and addresses to Mr. Brewer, stating whether they have any farming or gardening experience. Both sides are requested to communicate with Mr. Brewer at once for there is no time to lose.

"As soon as this preliminary information is secured a meeting of the County Board of Agriculture will be called by the president, D. B. Collins, for a get-together meeting and for organizing the work. Committees will be appointed in the various localities to look after the work and help when needed."

ASK FOR REMOVAL OF ELECTION OFFICERS

New Brunswick, April 13.—Application was made yesterday by fourteen local citizens headed by Charles A. McCormick in the Middlesex County Court before Judge Peter F. Daly for the removal by the County Board of Election of Leveritt Smith, Frederick Whitehead, Albert Applegate and Joseph Cathcart, election officers in the Second District of South River, on the ground that they are not competent to perform their duties as such.

In this district gross irregularities were discovered as the result of the Carson-Scully recount, there being a difference of fifty votes, enough to have elected Scully without a recount. Judge Daly fixed next Monday as the date for the hearing upon the application.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids and urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

BOUCK WHITE GETS OUT OF JAIL TOMORROW

New York, April 13.—Bouck White, the self-styled anti-patriot and cummyack-garbed pastor of the church of the social revolution, who was convicted of burning the stars and stripes in a melting pot with other flags here some weeks ago, will get out of jail after serving 30 days therefor tomorrow.

In sentencing White, Judge McIntyre said he was sorry the sentence was not for 30 years. White replied that the judge had never had a more unrepentant sinner at his bar. He said the thing burning was symbolical of his "internationalism;" that he was "a good citizen of the world, but a poor patriot of any country."

Whether White will subside since the international situation has become what it has become is not known. The police, however, will watch him.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

At the Columbia

A new burlesque in two parts will be presented at the Columbia Theatre the week beginning Monday afternoon, April 16. The first section is called "The Globe Trotters" and the second "Trotting Around." It was written by B. K. Wells and is in eight scenes that carry the spectators to various points of interest in Europe and America. While there is no claim made for a connected story it is said that the performance is full of intensely amusing scenes and situations, enlivened by many vaudeville specialties and elaborately presented musical features. The cast embraces several of the most popular players in burlesque, among them Frank Hunter, Eddie Swartz, George Hickman, Elsie Lavedan, Clara Keating, Virginia Ware, Francis Reynolds, Gus Stevenson, Douglas McIver, Jack Hayden and Gus Goodwin. It is said the production is new throughout and that the scenery and costumes are upon a scale of more than ordinary beauty, with several original and skillfully devised mechanical and electrical effects.

BLANCHE BATES TUESDAY AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Miss Blanche Bates, the dynamic American actress, in a new play by Paul M. Potter, entitled, "Eleven P. M." appears at Plainfield Theatre Tuesday, April 17, matinee and night.

A hearty welcome will be extended this foremost American actress who, for the past few seasons, has been absent from the stage on account of the impossibility of securing a play suitable to her talents. The present production, written by the author of the renowned "Trilby" is said to be a sparkling melodramatic comedy full of opportunities for the star to exert the power and contagion of her wonderful personality.

Associated with Miss Bates, and her principal support in the present play, is Wilton Lackaye, who created the original role of Svengali in Mr. Potter's play "Trilby" and has appeared in many other famous roles throughout his brilliant career. Other equally well-known players in the cast are: Charles Hammond, Thomas J. McCrane, Charles Butler, Louise Mackintosh, Janet Travers, Jeffrey Lewis, J. H. Barnes, Ford Fenimore, Maria Ascarasa, Sallie Bergman, George Shelton, Henri Virey and Albert Prisco.

GERALDINE FARRAR NEXT WEEK AT PROCTOR'S

Miss Geraldine Farrar in a filmed version of the life-story of Joan of Arc, entitled "Joan the Woman," will be seen at Proctor's Theatre for three days beginning next Monday, April 16.

"There is something so different about creating a role for the camera and creating a part for the opera," said Miss Farrar. "The two arts are not so closely allied as one would think. With the opera there are weeks of preparation, to be sure, and then comes the premier. It is true that great latitude is allowed on the operatic stage for the development of character and to the broadening of effects. But after all, the fundamentals of the performance continue the same in its various repetitions.

DOUBLE FEATURE PRESENTED AT PROCTOR'S TODAY

A double feature program is presented at Proctor's today consisting of Fannie Ward in "Witchcraft," a pleasing and unique comedy drama in five parts, and Ethel Clayton in the five-part William A. Brady production "The Web of Desire," a powerful story told in an intensely interesting manner.

A continuous performance will prevail each of the three days and "Joan the Woman" will be offered three times daily at 1.45, 5 and 8 o'clock. EWS PRINT PAPER MAKERS INDICTED even Charged With Plot to Control Prices.

New York, April 13.—Seven of the most prominent manufacturers of news print paper in the United States, all members of the executive committee of the News Print Manufacturers' association and controlling more than 55 per cent of the news print manufactured in this country, were indicted by a federal grand jury in New York city on the charge that they had formed an unlawful conspiracy in restraint of trade. It is alleged in the indictments that the seven men arbitrarily fixed the prices of the product which they enrolled and that they restricted the output of the factories.

In presenting the indictments Special Assistant Attorney General Bainbridge Colby requested Judge Cushman to issue bench warrants at once for the arrest of the men indicted, who are:

Philip T. Dodge, president International Paper company.

Edward W. Backus, president of Minnesota and Ontario Power Company and St. Francis Pulp and Paper company.

Alexander Smith, Chicago banker.

Investigation into the situation in the news print paper trade has been going on in Washington for some time. Government officials asserted they had evidence of great increases in prices which threatened to stifle the newspaper industry of the country, and the matter was taken up by agents of the Federal Trade Commission.

Joan the Woman

By Jeanie Macpherson

Copyright by Jesse L. Lasky

IN the small village of Domremy, France, in the war-torn year of 1429, there lived Joan of Arc with her simple parents, Isambeau and Jacques d'Arc, and her brother and younger sister, Pierre and Katherine.

Her father, like most of the people of his province, owned a small herd of cattle and sheep—a somewhat cantankerous man of honest but narrow mind, who no more understood his inspired daughter than did good Isambeau, the mother, who had, however, a more gentle nature. Joan was a dutiful, loving daughter, taking her share in the work at home and in the fields just as any other peasant girl of her day. At no time was she a cold, ascetic young saint. She laughed and cried as other girls—was enthusiastic and patriotic, and frankly intolerant of disloyalty; in no way very different from the girls around her except for her extraordinary loyalty to her King—in great contrast to the indifferent villagers, who were neither for nor against their King.

Many felt Charles VII. to be weak and unmilitary because he did not rise up and lead what remained of his scattered army in an attempt at least to drive out the ever victorious English. But Joan saw only the pathetic side of her King—the wistful and impoverished young man, one-half of whose kingdom had deserted him finally to join the standard of the English invader, whose own capital city, Paris, was frankly less French than English; whose own cousin, the rich Duke of Burgundy and most powerful man in France, had deserted him to fight on the side of the English King against his own country; whose insane father had signed away his rights of succession to the throne in a shameless treaty.

All this touched the girl's patriotism and in time developed in her strongly spiritual nature a great inspiration. Joan, as shown by exhaustive research, was never other than a wonderfully inspired, very human girl—never a celestial being from another world.

The story opens with a modern beginning in an English trench "somewhere in France." Young Eric Trent, an English officer, and his "chinkie," Davis, are seated one evening about sundown, chatting, in their "dug-out." Davis is painfully trying to darn his socks, while Eric, hammering at a loose board in the trench wall, comes upon an ancient, rust-eaten sword buried deep in the dirt. Eric shows it to Davis, and both wonder what "queer old chap" could have carried it—and in what long forgotten battle!

The Colonel of their regiment has found it necessary in order to destroy a certain German trench to call for volunteers, and Eric and Davis are called to report to the Colonel with several others. The Colonel shows the little group the deadly bomb that must be carried to the enemy trench, and in asking for volunteers explains the extreme hazard of the mission. All of the men, including Eric, volunteer, but the Colonel points out that the man who goes cannot possibly come back and will probably be killed. He tells the group that he does not wish them to give a hurried answer, but to return to their trenches, think it over and report to him at midnight.

Back in their "dugout" Eric urges Davis not to go because of the photograph of his (Davis') "kiddies." He points out that it is no more fitting for him, being unmarried, to go. Davis refuses to proclaim and retires to his bunk, where he soon falls to sleep.

Suddenly his eye falls again on the old sword. He picks it up and fits his hand to the hilt, weighing it. As he does so, a strange sense of familiarity steals over him. "Where—when—how," did he hold this kind of sword before? Then, with a feeling of a new presence in the room, he turns toward the dim shadows and sees standing in lustrous, shining armor the figure of Joan of Arc. He can only watch her, stupefied, as she stands gravely regarding him. Finally she speaks with a certain command, though with a gentle womanliness too, and says: "The time has come for thee to expiate thy sin against me!" Eric leans toward her, asking breathlessly: "What sin?"

For answer Joan only motions him to follow her. She steps slowly backward, growing fainter and fainter as she goes, and Eric reaches out straining arms.

The scene fades into blackness—then the mist gradually clears and we are back in 1429, in the French village of Domremy, the birthplace of Joan. Here, under sunny skies, with their house facing the little church, the d'Arc family spend their quiet, busy humdrum existence, in which the coming of Joan's Uncle Laxart is an event. He has walked many dusty miles with his "handkerchief bundle" slung on a stick over his shoulder. Joan is plainly his favorite niece and she adores the gentle old man.

He is to spend several days with the d'Arc family and a busy preparation for one of good wife d'Arc's special suppers begins. During this preparation, as Joan is roasting partridges over the "spit" in the fireplace, she hears Laxart retailing the latest gossip about the King, and stops to listen. She hears Laxart saying that the English take a new town each day, that the armies of the King are running, and that the King himself is preparing to flee France!

This makes a great impression on the patriotic Joan, and when her mother remarks that if things keep on "all France will soon be English," Joan's anxiety knows no bounds. Isambeau goes on to recount hopefully, however, the old French proverb that 'France, lost by a wanton, will be saved by a virgin." As Joan listens to this, absorbed, the partridge slips from her hand into the fire. She reaches to rescue it, but the grease spurts up in a flame and burns her hand. She pulls back with a frightened cry, "The fire! The fire!" suddenly knowing that some place, some time, she will feel this same flame on her flesh again.

Meantime, knowing of Charles's impoverished court and his great love of luxury, the cunning English Regent, the Duke of Bedford, conceives a plan to ruin Charles and get possession of the remainder of his kingdom. So he takes his capable young captain, Eric Trent, and decides to visit the Duke of Burgundy, Charles's cousin, who is unfriendly to Charles and loyal to England.

Burgundy welcomes Bedford and Eric Trent and the plot against the French King is laid. Bedford tells Burgundy that there's a "plum in the pie" for both of them if England takes the crown of France, and in order to do this they must first strip Charles of all power.

Appealing to Burgundy's ambition, he adds that when this is accomplished he, Burgundy, may have as reward the Governorship of Paris. This suits Burgundy, but he asks how all this is to be done. Bedford replies that the people are sure, in time, to rally around the standard of a ragged Charles, whom they would pity, and suggests that "this princeling must be petted and amused, while English soldiers perish the few who call him King."

The idea is to overwhelm the weak Charles in luxury and amusement, giving him everything he desires but a crown. For their purpose Burgundy procures a rich commoner called George de la Tremoille. Burgundy explains that men call him "the Spider," and that he will do anything for a title. He is to become England's tool, though pretending loyalty to Charles.

Bedford and Burgundy tell "the Spider" that he is to seek out Charles in his shabby court, taking with him jewels and fur-lined robes as gifts for his uncrowned King. This done, he is to set Charles up in a gorgeous court which more befits him, and when Charles is grateful enough to create him Prime Minister he is to make it his business to see that Charles spends no money for any military projects, or makes any move which will conflict with England. In other words, he is to become the King's keeper. Tremoille is well baited with a promise of a Dukedom and starts out. The Duke of Bedford returning to England, leaves his young captain, Eric Trent, to represent him with Burgundy and tells Burgundy that Eric will in all things serve him.

Charles is having his own troubles with naked hills and impatient creditors. One long suffering cobbler interrupts Charles just as he is instructing his faithful young page in the art of lute playing (Charles's favorite pastime). The cobbler, disgusted at the King's occupation, pulls the very shoes from his feet, telling him "he'll get no more till those are paid for." Charles, therefore, is in no mood to hear the earnest entreaties of his faithful General, La Hire, to send food and funds to the army, as the hungry soldiers are despiring to the camps of his Burgundian cousin. Charles asks him how he can send any help when he himself has no shoes, and, dismissing La Hire with scant courtesy, the young King turns his attention to graver matters—the curling of his hair by a barber!

The Duke of Burgundy calls a company of his soldiers together, puts Captain Eric Trent, the Englishman, at their head, and orders them to forage in the pastures of Domremy for cattle. So split is the France of this period in nations' sentiment that Burgundy considers Domremy—though part of his own France—the enemy's country, and Eric and the Burgundians set out to raid the fat pastures of Domremy.

The doctor, a friend and his son were looking over some old guns and revolvers when the boy picked up a revolver, and, ignorant of the fact that it was loaded, pointed it down at the floor near a table where his mother was sitting and pulled the trigger.

GIRLS! MAKE LEMON LOTION TO WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY SKIN

In all weathers the skin and complexion can be kept wonderfully clear, soft and white by the use of this inexpensive lemon lotion, which any girl or woman can easily prepare.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion. It naturally should be used by ladies, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and hidden beauty of any skin. Those who will make it a habit to gently massage this lotion into the face, neck arms and hands once or twice daily may be repaid with a skin that is flexible and young looking and a peach-like complexion.—Adv.

PATRIOTISM AND "AMERICA FIRST"

More than 1,000 members of the rite were present and all sections of the State were represented. James W. McCarthy, of Jersey City, presided as toastmaster. At the guest table were Robert A. Shirrefs, of Elizabeth, deputy from the Supreme Council for New Jersey; William M. Thompson, Red Bank, deputy grand master of Masons in New Jersey; George Tennat, Jersey City, judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Hudson county; Walter W. Griffith, commander-in-chief of New York Consistory; Nelson Y. Dungan, Somerville, Circuit Court judge, and Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan, formerly of Newark, now of New York, all of whom were introduced as speakers. A valuable testimonial from brethren of the rite was presented to Mr. Shirrefs.

Word was received of the continued improvement in health of William R. Meakle, grand master of Masons for New Jersey, who has sufficiently recovered from a recent operation to be able to leave the hospital, Paterson fans present thought Mr. Meakle might be able to look in at the Grand Lodge, which is to meet at Trenton next week.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Times is authority for the statement that "D. Cozzolino, a chemist of Los Angeles, California, long ago conceived the idea of developing a process for eliminating the alcohol from wine and other beverages. His efforts have culminated in perfecting a method of distillation which transforms intoxicating liquor into a harmless drink." The chemist and the proprietor of the idle brewing plant came in touch with each other. The former outlined to the latter his process of extracting the alcohol from beer and wine without affecting the appearance, taste or aroma of the beverage. "Everything to which the drinker is accustomed is retained, except the kick." Mr. Hemrich instantly recognized an opportunity to develop a new industry, manufacture a non-intoxicating beverage, produce numerous by-products at the same time and turn the force of his immense property into constructive channels.

It is stated that "the formula used has been approved by the Government and the entire process is closely watched by internal revenue officers who keep the tanks locked until the alcohol is denatured and no longer of any use in the manufacture of intoxicants." Mr. Cozzolino has letters from about seventy-five sources, representing many of the largest brewery interests in the United States, seeking rights to the new process. How much this discovery will mean to the idle breweries is suggested by the fact that practically all of the former equipment is utilized.

A quarter of a million dollars is to be expended in the Seattle plant in the installation of necessary equipment for the manufacture of by-products. When complete the output of denatured alcohol will be a carload a day. Now will this be all. The highest possible grade of malt vinegar will be produced by a new process vastly superior to the old. Maltose syrup, yeast, stock food, vinegar, denatured alcohol and Rainier Cereal Beverage comprise the variety of products now proposed to be manufactured by the new process.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic affairs, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

The manuscript cook-book of a famous New York chef has painstaking directions for preparing potatoes in more than eighty different ways, as a vegetable alone, to which can be added a long list of miscellaneous recipes, including soups, entrees, stuffing, sauces, salads, breads, pancakes and biscuits.

The potato is more than three-fourths water and eighteen per cent. starch. It will be seen, therefore, that this tuber furnishes necessary bulk to food rather than the extreme proportion of nourishment often accredited to it. White potatoes contain but two per cent. of protein and sweet potatoes somewhat less. The potato, like other roots and bulbs, has stored in it the nourishment of the young plant and because of this accumulation has a higher food value than most other fruits or green vegetables, except beans and peas.

As potato sprouts receive their nourishment at the expense of the starch nearest the skin, they should be plucked off as soon as they appear; otherwise, the potato withers and the nourishment is lost.

Potatoes for boiling or baking should be selected with more care than when the vegetable is to be cut in slices or dice. The following is an old-fashioned rule to the farmer: "The smaller the eye, the better the potato."

Inspection of a cross-cut section of a full-grown, raw potato will show four more or less distinct rings, namely: First, the skin. Second, a narrow, close-called layer, rich in mineral salts and starch. Third, the fleshy portion. Fourth, a somewhat watery core. The thin layer next the skin, which is frequently lost by careless paring, is estimated to contain nearly as much nourishment as all the rest of the potato.

This is a strong argument in favor of boiling potatoes in their jackets, or at least removing nothing more than a center paring to allow for the expension of the starch in cooking, as a properly boiled potato to should be "too big for his clothes."

New potatoes need only be scraped, but old potatoes must be thinly pared, the eyes removed and the vegetables allowed to soak in cold water for at least one hour before cooking. In boiling large potatoes, the best authorities on cooking recommend adding a cupful of cold water when the outside of the vegetable is tender. The cold water drives the heat into the center of the potato and finishes the cooking without over-boiling the outside. Too-rapidly boiling water is responsible for the ragged appearance that some boiled potatoes present.

Following will be found a number of novel ways of preparing this most popular vegetable:

Potato Omelet

Mashed potato left from dinner can be used in this way: Add hot milk to soften and allow three well-beaten eggs to each cupful of potato. Season to taste with salt and paprika and turn into a heated omelet pan, in which has been melted one tablespoonful of butter. Cook over a moderate heat until well risen, turn over into a neat half circle and let it cook through. Serve inverted on a hot platter, with crisp, brown sausage.

Delmonico Potatoes

Cut cold, boiled potatoes into small dice. Mix in a saucepan with a seasoned cream sauce and a little chopped parsley. Butter a fire-proof baking dish and arrange in it alternate layers of the creamed potatoes and grated cheese. Cover over the top with dried, crushed crumbs, mixed with cheese, and set in a hot oven for twenty minutes. Serve in the baking dish.

Potato Duchess

For each cupful of hot, mashed potato, add one tablespoonful of melted butter, the beaten yolk of an egg, a little onion juice or celery salt, as preferred, and the usual seasoning of salt and paprika. Beat thoroughly and press through a pastry tube, in the form of small rosettes, on a buttered baking sheet. Brush over with melted butter and place in a hot oven to brown. Serve as a border around broiled steak or chops.

THE DISOBEDIENT KITTENS

Tommie and Tim were two little kittens, and their mother, Mrs. Tabbie, had more trouble with her two sons than she did with all the rest of her large family.

If there was a place they should not go that was the place to find Tommie and Tim Kitten. Once they went to the barn and crawled up the post that led to the hay loft, and then they could not get down.

Poor Mrs. Tabbie looked at them and meowed that they were the plague of her life and wondered how in the world she ever would get them to the floor again.

They were too big for her to carry about and they were too small to risk a jump from the hay loft. They did not know how to scramble down, and, to make matters worse, Gyp, the fox terrier, came along and began to bark and jump at them. Tommie and Tim opened their eyes wider than before and began to cry, and if it had not been for the farmhand coming along just then and taking them down they might have fallen off and been hurt.

"Now see if you two can keep out of trouble for the rest of the day," said their mother. "Crawl into your beds and go to sleep. I have to hunt some mice."

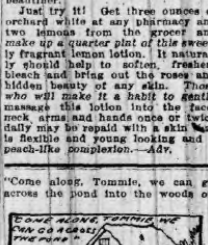
Tommie and Tim did not tease to go as they often did. They were too thankful to be safely out of the loft, but their mother had been gone but a short time when they poked up their heads from the bed and looked about for something to do.

"Let us go out in the yard," said Tim. "Maybe we can scare the chickens."

The old mother hen soon chased them away, and the first thing they knew they were down by the pond.

There was a thin coat of ice on the pond, but Tim and Tommie kitten did not know anything about thin ice. They thought it was all alike, so when they saw it Tim said:

"Come along, Tommie, we can go across the pond into the woods on the other side. We always wanted to see what was in the woods."



Tommie was glad to go, and so they ran on the ice, and all might have been well if Gyp had not spied them.

Gyp was the only thing Tim and Tommie were afraid of. He did not bite them, but he chased them and barked, and after them he came, barking as he ran.

"Crackle, crackle," went the ice as Gyp bounded toward them; and then just as he reached them, "Crack, snap," and the ice gave way.

Into the cold water went Gyp and the kittens; they clawed and clawed at the ice, but Gyp would break it away every time, trying to get out.

Gyp being a dog knew how to swim, and after awhile he scrambled up on the bank, while poor Tim and Tommie Kitten bobbed up and down in the cold water.

Oh, how sorry they were they had not been good and kept out of mischief under their mother! They thought of their nice warm bed, but it was too late; they felt sure they would never, never again sleep in it.

But the good farmhand saw them struggling, and he waded in and rescued them again.

Up the bank they scrambled more dead than alive, and ran into the barn to their bed just as Mrs. Tabbie arrived.

"What in the world has happened to you now?" she asked, beginning to lick the water from their coats.

But Tim and Tommie were too frightened and cold to say a word. They crept into bed and even drank the bad-tasting drink Mrs. Tabbie gave them without a meow.

Mrs. Tabbie tucked them into their bed, and there they stayed all day, and all their brothers and sisters came and looked at them, and heard their mother tell how near they came to going under the cold water in the pond.

Every time they thought of the cold water and how awful it was they shivered and crawled under the cover.

"I am going to be good after this," said Tim the next morning. "So am I," said Tommie. "But if it had not been for that bad Gyp dog we would have seen the woods on the other side of the pond."

"I don't care about those woods any more," said Tim, "I shall wait until I am grown up like mother, and then I can walk around the pond."

Mrs. Tabbie smiled as she heard them talking, but she knew very well that she would have to watch them just as much as ever, they were too full of mischief to remember their narrow escape long.

Vol. 2, No. 35 NEWARK, N. J., APRIL 13, 1917 Priceless

Editorial

That was an interesting talk on the care of the feet given at the meeting of the Rotary Club, last Tuesday, by Dr. Ernest G. Stanaback, the noted chiropodist.

"The army travels on its feet," declared Dr. Stanaback, quoting General Leonard Wood, "and upon the condition of the soldiers' feet may depend in large measure their spirit, morale and courage."

It was pointed out that the big, broad, army shoe is the shape people should wear and, using one of our Tru-Tred shoes as an illustration of the scientifically correct shoe for grown-ups or children, the chiropodist declared that corn troubles, callouses and ingrown nails are the result of using shoes unfitted for the feet.

Shoes like Tru-Tred, he said, admitted of the proper exercise of the toes in walking and saved one from most of the ills the feet are heir to. Tru-Treds were particularly commended for growing children.

All of which confirms what we have been telling you about Tru-Tred Shoes.

AMBITIOUS YOUNG MEN ENLIST IN NAVY

The need for additional officers in the United States Navy is being more keenly felt, with the commissioning of every new dreadnought. One of the last Acts of the Congress which ceased to exist on March 4, 1917, was to provide that 100 midshipmen of the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, were to be drawn from the enlisted personnel of the Navy. Every enlisted man under twenty years of age, with one years' sea service, is eligible for one of these vacancies, and the examinations are entirely competitive, the highest 100 young men receiving the appointments.

The average young man in the navy like the average young man in civilian life, has not had a high school education, and this fact is inducing high school boys to enlist in the navy, as it is practically certain that any young man with a ground work of two years or more high school training, who really desires to enter Annapolis, can do so.

Naval authorities consider midshipmen with this preliminary training afloat of particular value, as their knowledge of naval affairs give such young men a much better grasp of the possibilities of their future career, than is held by the candidates appointed directly from civil life by Congressmen. The men appointed from the enlisted personnel must be recommended by their commanding officer, and an officer zealous of maintaining the best traditions of the naval service, will give preference to the ablest men under him. This places the highest honors of the naval service within the grasp of any young man who has "future fitness to win."

The regiment of midshipmen are always the personnel guard of the President at his inauguration. The Academy course being for four years, every midshipman participates in one inauguration, and generally, in later life as a commissioned officer, in many more.

Midshipmen make three cruises during their Naval Academy career, each cruise held during the three summer months. The itinerary of these cruises is laid out—Germany, Norway, England, Gibraltar, etc. In 1915, it was considered inadvisable to send the training squad to European waters on account of the war, and they were therefore sent to San Francisco, through the Panama Canal, to view the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

The standards of living, of discipline, of manhood, and of scholastic ability, are maintained at a high level. The pressing need of officers has not lowered these standards, as was recently shown when the usual percentage of the midshipmen were "twilighted" (forced to resign for deficiency in studies.

The young man who has an aptitude for the sea; who wishes to enter the naval service under the best conditions, who has the ambition to reach the top, and is willing to do his utmost to realize such an ambition—such a type makes the successful naval officer. Such a man has within his grasp the chance to become the commander-in-chief of one of the world's greatest fleets.

America's future is linked with sea power. Our merchant marine must become a reality, not a vague hope; our navy must be powerful enough to keep the seas open, and our coasts safe, at all times. The men at Annapolis today will be the moving figures, in a few years, in carrying out our national inspirations on the seas.

TIMELY HINTS FOR THE HOME GARDENER

Special to Courier-News:

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The importance of thorough and continuous cultivation in the home vegetable garden is pointed out in a new Farmers' Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture, No. 815, "The Small Vegetable Garden." After the seeds have sprouted or after the plants have been set in their permanent location, continued cultivation becomes necessary.

The gardener should never permit the surface of the soil to become baked or even to form an appreciable crust. Constant stirring with hand tools or a wheel cultivator should be practiced between the rows and about the plants. Such a stirring permits the air to penetrate the soil, where it facilitates chemical action and bacterial activity, destroys weeds which otherwise would utilize large amounts of plant food, and, finally conserves the moisture supply. The rake is perhaps the gardener's most valuable tool in cultivating. This can be passed backward and forward over the ground until it is in an open, mellow condition. Where vegetables grow closely in the rows it often will be necessary to supplement the cultivation by hand weeding. Small implements are made for this purpose, and may be purchased cheaply. It is well also in some cases to pull up weeds by hand, especially where they grow closely about the stalks of the garden plants.

MEASURES BEING TAKEN TO TILL VACANT LAND

To bring together those who have vacant land and those who are willing to till it, the Union County Board of Agriculture has asked land owners and prospective gardeners to communicate with the secretary, C. H. Brewer, R. F. D. No. 2, Rahway. Owners of land have been asked to tell the size and location of plots they are willing to donate. Those willing to till the land have been asked to register their names and tell what farm or garden experience they have had. When the information is obtained the board will call a meeting and organize the work.

WOODMEN OF AMERICA OFFER 50,000 MEN

Atlantic City, April 13.—Indorsement of the action of the sovereign commander in offering 50,000 trained men to President Wilson for service, as well as of the action of the President and Congress in declaring war upon Germany, was given Tuesday at the second biennial convention here of the New Jersey section of the Woodmen of America. New Jersey's share in the Woodmen's offer is 400 men. The total membership of the order throughout the country is 800,000.

Nominations for offices were made as follows: Head consul, F. O. Thompson, Metuchen; head adviser, A. W. Fenwick, Newark; head banker, James J. Flynn, Perth Amboy; head clerk, W. S. T. Andrews, Elizabeth; for head escort, Harry Olsen, Perth Amboy, and Walter Allen, Bergenfield; head watchman, Valentine Gleehner; head sentry, F. Bindhammer, Trenton.

DOUBLE DRILLS ARE STARTED AT RUTGERS

Military training will be given two periods instead of the customary single period on drill days at Rutgers College, beginning today. Captain C. B. Lessure, U. S. A., instructor of the college battalion, has obtained faculty sanction for the innovation.

Speeding up the military training was suggested by Captain Lessure as a means of insuring a full course of training to students who may, in accordance with a faculty ruling, be graduated before the close of the academic year if a call for recruits comes. Official publication has been given the faculty decree extending to undergraduates leave of absence without loss of standing and permitting seniors to be graduated without completing their course or having to take examinations in the event of a call to the colors.

JERSEY BANKERS WILL MEET AT SEASHORE

The annual convention of the New Jersey Bankers' Association this year will be held at Atlantic City on May 11 and 12. Headquarters, as heretofore, and sessions of the association will be at Hotel Chelsea.

The customary program of distinguished speakers is now being prepared. William J. Fields, secretary of the association and vice-president of the Commercial Trust Company of Jersey City, has received assurances of a large attendance.

MUNITIONS MAKING PACIFIST MUST GO TO THE FRONT

(By United Press)

London, April 13.—S. H. Thomas, an Australian, living in London, will be called to the colors May 6, for garrison duty abroad, despite his conscientious scruples against killing Germans.

As manager of a metal company Thomas sold tons of material for the munition factories, but his conscience didn't bother him.

"I admit taking a profit from munitions which are intended to kill people," he said; "but I entered the business as a boy when there was no war."

Conscientious objectors whose scruples against killing are recognized by the military authorities are no longer compelled to work as direct war auxiliaries. But if they are called upon they must participate in some work of national importance.

WHAT WHOLE WHEAT CAN DO

(Written for the United Press)

Washington, April 13.—Whole wheat which can be bought in the grain at seed or feed stores is one of the best all-around cheap and nutritious foods in the country. Every American home should keep a supply of whole wheat. When soaked for several hours and cooked an equal length of time it makes a delicious breakfast food. Ground in a hand grist mill which can be bought for three or four dollars, it is equally palatable when made into bread or used as a cereal.

It has been estimated that whole wheat, cooked over night in a fireless cooker, or cooked all day on the back of the kitchen range, makes a cereal costing 1-16 the price of some of the patent commercial breakfast foods, and furnishes, moreover, fully equal nourishment.

Whole wheat may be cooked without crackingout cracking or grinding, but it requires many hours in a double boiler to cook thoroughly. Whole wheat ground in a hand grist mill should be cooked at least three hours over the fire or all night in a fireless cooker. To have the best flavor it should not be too moist. The longer it is cooked the better; it is possible to cook up enough for several days and warm it over as desired. If whole wheat is soaked several hours, it will not need to be cooked so long.

The Bureau of Chemistry has worked out a recipe for bread made primarily from home ground meal. Two cupfuls of wheat meal, 1 cupful of white flour; 1 ¼ cupfuls of luke warm water, ½ cake of compressed yeast, 1 level tablespoonful of salt, 1 level tablespoonful of sugar, and 1 level tablespoonful of shortening if desired, is the formula. Dough of this kind has only 2-3 of the usual rise of white bread. It should be baked slowly for ¾ of an hour.

Every American woman should know and use whole wheat.

Mr. Nelson was born at New Market, and during his residence here was engaged in business as a well driver. He leaves two sons, William S. Nelson, of South avenue, and Edward Nelson, of North avenue. MISS FLORENCE WILSON MARRIED IN NEW YORK

The marriage of Miss Florence Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilson, of East Sixth street, to Paul Mariboe, of Morristown, took place this afternoon in St. Bartholomew's church, New York City. The witnesses were the bride's brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Mariboe will reside in Morristown on their return from their wedding trip.

OFFERS GROUND FOR PLANTING

James Nash, of 826 West Front street, has two plots of land on Everett place, near the Sanurer Motor plant, which he will offer to anyone desiring to plant the ground free of charge. The first worthy applicants will be accommodated. The plots are about 150 by 125 feet square, each.

Mr. Nash wants to afford this opportunity to deserving persons who will plant all the land and get the benefit of it. The land is unoccupied and he is glad to see it used. He feels that the seriousness of the food question calls for real effort, and that there are many people hereabouts who would be glad of the chance to raise a food supply if they had the ground.

It is a thoughtful act on the part of Mr. Nash, and perhaps his offer will be followed by others.

BOROUGH THESPIANS PRODUCE PLAY

Presentation Made to Mayor Smalley During Production of Play

Before a large and appreciative audience in the Plainfield High School last evening the Boys' Athletic Association of North Plainfield High School presented its annual play, "All of a Sudden Peggy." The play was written by Ernest A. Denny, the noted English playwright. It was first produced in London in 1905, and later Marie Tempest starred in the role of "Peggy" at the Bijou Theatre, New York City.

The ease and finish of the acting by all those taking part was a pleasing surprise to the audience, which frequently responded with applause. Between the second and third acts President Alfred Willett of the Athletic Association, and in its behalf, presented Miss Irene Duchesne, who coached the production, with a handsome picture. Andrew McDonough produced a surprise by calling Mayor William B. Smalley of North Plainfield, who yesterday celebrated his fiftieth birthday, to the stage and presenting him with a basket of beautiful roses as a token from the girls' basketball team, the baseball team and other friends. The Mayor, visibly affected, responded with a few words of thanks.

The Marguerite Barkalew, in the role of Peggy, by her sudden decisions, threw the family of Lord Crackenthorpe, William Seidel, into consternation. Miss Barkalew's acting was superb. Robert Daley, playing opposite her as Jimmy Keppel, Reverend Edwin Bramley, Miss Dorothy Lee, as Lady Crackenthorpe, the dominant old mother of Jimmy, handled the situation of matrimonial relations in a pleasing way and provoked much merriment by her trite sayings. Miss Marion Hain, as Millicent, the Simmons baby, always managed to say the right thing at the right time, no matter with whom she was conversing.

The aged widow of Prof. O'Mara, F. R. S., mother of Peggy, the part taken by Miss Lillian Spencer, delighted the audience, especially on the third scene in her interview with Lord Crackenthorpe. The other parts were acted by the following: Mrs. Colquhoun, Miss Madeline Blair; Major Archie Phipps, Vincent Forte; Jack Menzies, Andrew Scarborough; Parker, William Ahern, and Lucas, Alfred Willett.

DAN KEIDERLING DISCOVERS A FIRE

Dan Keiderling, who used to be a driver for Chief Doane of the fire department, and who is now engaged in the livery business in West Second street, went to his home at 123 East Second street, at 10 o'clock last night, and retired.

Soon afterwards he was awakened by his wife, who insisted that she smelled smoke. After serving ten years in the fire department, Dan thought that he could recognize the smell of smoke as quickly as any one, so after sniffing the air for a time or two, he concluded that there was no ground for his wife's suspicions, and he told her so.

She persisted that she could smell smoke, and since Dan wouldn't get up and make an investigation, she decided to do so herself.

As she looked down the stairway, she saw clouds of smoke rising from the floor below. She screamed, and then Dan knew something was doing. He got down the stairs on the double-quick, and found a lively fire raging in the side wall of the kitchen.

He called the firemen and they put out the blaze. Electric light wires are said to have caused the fire. The damage amounted to about $100.

MISS TITUS GUEST OF LAFALOT CLUB

Miss Alice Titus, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was the guest of the Lafalot Club, of Bound Brook, last night, at a pleasing affair held in the Congregational church that place.

The club which is composed of young women, enjoyed an interesting talk by Miss Titus in which she told of the work the Y. W. C. A. is doing for the girls and young women of Plainfield. During the evening a delightful supper was served by the club.

WILL WED THIS EVENING

The marriage of Miss Ruth Wean, of this city, and Sydney Powell Carr, of Washington, D. C., will be solemnized this evening at the First Presbyterian church, the pastor, the Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, officiating. Miss Wean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Wean, of Park avenue.

ST. JOSEPH'S BAZAAR OPENS TONIGHT

A bazaar which will run for one week will open tonight at 8 o'clock in St. Joseph's Hall, North Plainfield. It is being held for the benefit of St. Joseph's church. Mayor William S. Smalley will open the bazaar with a brief address.

The committee of arrangements which has worked industriously under the able direction of Patrick J. McDonough, have spared no effort to make the bazaar an attractive enterprise. The hall has been prettily decorated for the occasion and an endless variety of useful articles fill the several booths.

The booths are in charge of members of church societies as follows: Holy Name, Robert McCormick, chairman; senior Sunday school girls, Roxanna McDonough, chairman; Bible Class and Chi Gamma Chi, William B. Mead, Jr., chairman; Boys' Club, Earle Moran, chairman; Women of the Altar, Mrs. James B. Bailey, chairman; Children of Mary, Miss Mary Jacot, chairman. The refreshment booth is in charge of a committee of which Cormick McDonough is the chairman.

Within the last two years the Rev. Father Hart has incurred considerable expense to improve St. Joseph's church property and the bazaar has been conceived as the best means of raising a fund to liquidate a part of the indebtedness.

The members of St. Joseph's parish have been untiring in support of the Knights of Columbus when their recent bazaar was held, and it is believed that the Knights and their friends will co-operate with Father Hart's parishioners in their present effort.

Those who desire to purchase fancy articles, a good cake, a box of candy, or something more substantial will find them on sale at the bazaar.

Besides offering an unusual line of useful articles, the bazaar will have other features which will entertain the young and old.

PREPAREDNESS AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Units for All Kinds of Work Are Formed and Provide Opportunities for Pupils

The Plainfield High School is not lying idle, so far as preparedness plans are concerned, for the move is being made in that institution of learning to organize units that will specialize in different descdiptions of work that will be of use to this country when the need of aid is urgent. The work about to be begun is of varied nature, thus giving students of different vocations an opportunity to do their bit. A series of units have been planned for and with the sufficient help of several members of the faculty, the organization of these units will be immediately begun. The plan is to receive all those students of the school who wish to volunteer to take part in the movements which plan will eliminate every thing resembling compulsory service.

A number of the leading schools of this State are considering the plan which the local school has already expressed its determination to carry out. It is generally believed that many public schools of New Jersey will follow Plainfield's splendid preparedness move, which will offer every scholar of the school an opportunity to volunteer to give an services where needed.

Students of the local high school are each interested in one way or another in the following brands of work. A Farming and Gardening Unit, a Sewing Unit, a Secretarial Unit, a Map Making and Map Reading Unit and a Motor Unit are about to be organized for patriotic purposes. Already a successful Cadet Corps has been formed, and drills under the command of proficient drill masters are held weekly. The *girls are do*ing every bit that could be desired of them. They have organized a First Aid Class as well as a Hiking Club. The Corp is being conducted under the supervision of Coach Ralph S. Patch, while the First Aid Class is being conducted by Dr. Gray, the Hiking Club was formed under the direction of Miss Ruth Elliot.

The following dates, when opportunity for enrollment for service will be offered, have been selected:

Farming and Gardening Unit, Tuesday, April 17 at 2:15, with H. R. Hubbard; Sewing Unit, Tuesday, April 17, at 2:15 o'clock, with Miss Ariadne Gilbert; the Secretarial Unit, Wednesday, April 18, at 2:15 o'clock, with J. C. Evans; *Map Mak*ing and Map Reading Unit, Tuesday, April 17, at 2:15 o'clock, with Clarence L. Woodman; Motor Unit, Wednesday, April 18, at 2:15 o'clock, with L. D. Bears.

MASS MEETING FOR BELGIAN SUFFERERS

Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, of Commission, Will Tell of Work Among Starving Children

The Plainfield Belgian Relief Sub-Committee on Supplementary Meals will hold a meeting in the Hartridge Auditorium on the evening of May 2 to give to the generous people of Plainfield, who are responding so nobly to the committee's appeal for funds, an opportunity to learn at first hand just how great is the need of the starving children of Belgium, and also just how the supplies of food and money are transported and distributed in Belgium.

Mrs. Kellogg, whose husband is the receiving and distributing agent for the commission at Rotterdam, and who has herself been actively engaged with him in his work, will tell of the conditions in Belgium and of her recent experience within the "Iron Ring," and in addition to Mrs. Kellogg, George Barr Baker, head of the commission in this country, will tell of the commission's work, and of the organization which has made possible this great work of charity, which is the hope of a nation.

Just now when Herbert Hoover, "The Feeder of Belgium," has accepted the office of food supervisor for our own Government, the wonderful work which his commission is doing must hold an added interest for all loyal Americans, and with the knowledge that we as a nation are committed to the cause of liberty and justice for which Belgium has sacrificed her all, the citizens of this country should, as one man, rally to the support and comfort of her stricken children.

Among the subscribers to the fund for supplementary meals for Belgian children are:

H. Ma Battfield, Dorothy S. Burke, Elsie Burke, Esther G. Barclay, Chandler C. Chapman, Sophomore Class Seminary, Cuming, B. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jewett, Mrs. Richard Boardman, Mrs. Homer Smith, Mrs. Willis West, Willis West, Mrs. F. H. Martin, F. H. Martin, Rachel Gray Miller, Mary L. Myers, Martha W. Lamson, Mary G. P. Charles, Louise D. PROSECUTOR STEIN'S WARNING TO ALIENS

Expresses Confidence That President's Proclamation Will be Obeyed Promptly

Prosecutor Alfred A. Stein, of Elizabeth, when interviewed today concerning the notice to alien enemies, under the President's proclamation to surrender firearms and implements of war, said:

"The chiefs of police of the larger municipalities, having been requested to warn alien enemies to surrender firearms and implements of war within twenty-four hours, and desiring the smaller municipalities to be likewise notified, Chief Galatian, by my order, has given notice to them.

"I trust that all alien enemies throughout the county will surrender the things which the President proclaims to be unlawful for them to have in their possession, to the various chiefs of police in the cities, or at the prosecutor's office in the Court House, in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

"All such aliens who do this will, at once, give proof of their inclination to be subservient to the orders of the President of the United States.

"Failure to comply with the request will result in strict enforcement of the President's orders."

C. O. S. TO ENCOURAGE HOME GARDENING

Appeal Made for Funds With Which to Purchase Seeds and Implements

Spring is in the air and the C. O. S. has a seasonal need. Just now it can spend to advantage about twenty-five dollars on vegetable seeds and garden requirements. This is no new scheme developed by the dread food scarcity. The C. O. S. has encouraged vegetable raising for a number of years, and the results in health, happiness and economy have been great. Surely this is not the time to give up such activity, yet special funds are needed to carry it on.

The march report of the C. O. S. showed that there were 176 families under care;; an increase of seventeen over last March. Of these 50 required material relief, and forty-four a definite plan of relief was made. The cause of distress in these 44 families was, in 13 instances, that the male head of the family was dead; in thirteen he was non-supporting; in twelve incapacitated; in six families there was not sufficient income. Fourteen families received emergency help for the same four reasons.

For relief work during March the C. O. S. had $130 which was paid in by seven families toward repaying the loans the C. O. S. had made them, and, from various sources, $249.54. The money used was $490.70, making a deficit for the month of $111.16.

The number of families that need what money cannot buy, and the C. O. S. can give, such as intelligent planning or friendly sympathy and advice, reached 176 in March. There were eight Friendly Visitors who had nine families in their care, and other volunteer workers to the number of twenty. The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees had been postponed from Tuesday to last night. The president, Mr. S. T. Carter appointed three of the members of the Board to serve as an Emergency Committee to be ready to co-operate with other organizations and the city in case of any special need produced by the condition of the country.

The C. O. S. clothing department still needs children's clothes. Instead of folding away the outgrown winter garments, it is suggested that they be sent to the C. O. S. where there is ample room to store them away till the need of the autumn.

EMPOWERS WILSON TO SEIZE RAILROADS

Adamson Bill Reintroduced as War Measure.

Washington, April 14.—Power for the president to order railway officials to operate any part of their rolling stock during war time as he may see fit, without actually taking over the railroads, is given in the common carrier regulation bill of last session, reintroduced in amended form by William C. Adamson, chairman of the house commerce committee.

Provision to permit the president to control and operate all railroads, telegraph and telephone lines; to draft their employees into the military service; to use the military in protecting the operation of railway lines, and to increase the personnel of the Interstate Commerce Commission from seven to eleven members are included as in the previous bill.

Compensation for the use of rolling stock by the government would be fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The bill not only was approved, but was requested by the president, it is understood.

MOOSE WILL AMALGAMATE.

Hughes, Republican nominee for president, and named a new national committee to carry out plans for amalgamating with the Prohibition party. The plans for this amalgamation were approved by the convention.

Victor Murdock of Wichita, Kan., who presided over the Progressive national convention in Chicago last June, was elected chairman of the executive committee of the party, and Matthew Hale of Boston national chairman. Other officers chosen were F. H. Chase, New York, national secretary, and J. A. H. Hopkins of New Jersey, national treasurer.

The executive committee is composed of Victor Murdock, John M. Parker of Louisiana, D. H. Carroll of North Dakota, F. M. Driscoll of Idaho, John Taylor of New York, Albert B. Norton of Missouri and C. D. McClure of Georgia.

DREW NOT TO MERGE.

Plans For Consolidation With Hackettstown Abandoned.

Hackettstown, April 14.—Plans for merging Drew Seminary For Young Women at Carmel, N. Y., with Hackettstown Collegiate Institute have been abandoned entirely, it is reported by Egbert J. Tamblyn, head of the board of trustees of the latter institution, which is the larger and more prosperous.

Rev. Dr. Robert Johns Trevorrow, head of Drew, who is to assume Monday his new duties as president of Centenary, has been released by the Drew trustees and will be on hand at Hackettstown to take up active work. It is said the Drew trustees did not look favorably upon the idea of losing the identity of their institution.

Dr. Trevorrow, who is young and is looked upon as progressive in his educational ideas, is expected to infuse new life into Centenary.

Bridgeport Austrian Long Resident Was in Forbidden Zone.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 14.—John Szesback, an Austrian, who has lived nineteen years in this country, owns his own home and has taken out his first citizen papers, was forced to remove from his home, 403 Helen street, which is within the one-half mile of the restricted zone about the Remington Arms Union Metallic Cartridge company, as he is classed as an "alien enemy."

Szesback is well supplied with money, but because of the scarcity of houses here was unable to find a vacant dwelling place outside the restricted district and was forced to take his family to Hillside home, the city poorhouse.

PRISON HEARING NEXT TUESDAY

Secrecy on New Charges Filed With Commission.

HEADKEEPER IS NOT NOTIFIED

Inquiry Commission Has Been Quietly Continuing Its Investigation Into Conditions of Institution at Trenton. Complaints Regarding Treatment of Prisoners Have Been Received, Counsel to Commission Admits.

Trenton, April 14.—Considerable mystery surrounds new activities of the prison inquiry commission in regard to the state prison here.

In announcing that a hearing would be conducted Tuesday Chairman William B. Dickson of the prison inquiry commission said it concerned charges which have been brought to the attention of the commission in connection with the management of the prison.

Nelson B. Gaskill, counsel for the commission, would not divulge what the charges were, but added that for some time the commission has been continuing its investigation, during which some complaints have been made regarding treatment of men. He also said it had not been decided whether the hearing would be held at the statehouse or the state prison.

"I have no knowledge whatever respecting the hearing to be held Tuesday," said Head Keeper Mulheron. He added he had not received any formal notice of the hearing.

SUES DISBARRED LAWYER.

Executrix of Jackson Estate Seeks to Recover $7,269.

Atlantic City, April 14.—As a sequel to disbarment proceedings instituted against Attorney Sidney B. de la Rue of this city for alleged irregularities in the handling of the estate of the late George W. Jackson of Philadelphia, a civil suit against the lawyer has been filed in the supreme court here by Mrs. Mary M. Jackson, executrix of the estate, to collect $7,269.92.

The complaint sets forth that Mrs. Jackson employed De la Rue as proctor on Feb. 24, 1914, and that it was provided he was to receive for his services an amount to be fixed by an orphans' court judge.

It is charged that during the time he was employed he withdrew from the funds of the estate $14,987.36. On July 24, 1916, Judge Sloan fixed the fee of the executrix at $5,000 and allowed the defendant $2,627.44. The complainant charges that the $7,260.92 held by De la Rue belongs to her.

NEWARK LEADS NATION.

First in Recruiting In Proportion to Population.

Newark, April 14.—According to figures from Washington, Newark is now the banner city of the country in responding to the government's appeal for navy recruits.

For the last week the New Jersey metropolis in proportion to population has led all the big centers of population in its contributions to the personnel of the navy.

The only cities that in actual figures show a higher enlistment than Newark are New York and Boston, and their lead is not so pronounced at that.

As reported to the navy department, the leading figures are: New York, 180; Boston, 119; Newark, 107; Philadelphia, 95; Kansas City, 105; Chicago, 83.

There were over 300 rejections at Newark, so that in the period referred to nearly 500 New Jersey patriots offered themselves to their country through the navy recruiting station there.

"Quit the Value—Quote the Price" was the heading of an editorial of one of our leading department stores last evening—we quote further as follows:—

"There is a tendency among some stores to quote VALUES or WORTH of the articles they advertise. Beware of these; they lead to exaggeration, and UNDUE SUPERLATIVES. They belittle the intelligence of the average ad readers. In fact, the intelligent readers of newspapers are beginning to pass over these values, either because they are NOT INTERESTED or because they DISBELIEVE THEM. What they want to know is the PRICE of the article, and not the WORTH."

The Rothberg Store in all its advertising has NEVER quoted "value prices." We believe in quoting the right price for our "Things Men Wear." That's another reason why our customers have confidence in the Rothberg Store.

BEST FOR LIVER, BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Tonight sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up with your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right and feeling fine. Get rid of sick headache, biliousness, constipation furred tongue, sour stomach, bad colds. Clear your skin, brighten your eyes, quicken your step and feel like doing a full day's work. Cascarets are better than salts, pills or calomel because they don't shock the liver or gripe the bowels or cause inconvenience all the next day.

MAYOR WILL URGE GARDEN PLANTING

Within the next few days Mayor Calkins will call upon the people of this city to make arrangements for planting their back lots this spring, and if those who have a space for planting do not care to cultivate it themselves, the Mayor will ask that they permit others to use the space for gardening purposes.

The Mayor will call attention to the fact that vegetables will be more profitable than flowers this year, because of the probable scarcity of food next winter.

The Mayor is collecting a lot of information on the subject of gardening, and as soon as he has compiled this information he will give it to the public.

He realizes that too few Plainfielders know anything about cultivating a garden and he wants to inform them how best to utilize any space they may have for this purpose.

Most of the information that has been given out on this subject has been of a general character, and has simply been an exhortation to plant gardens without telling what to plant or how to plant it.

ENLISTMENTS BEST IN CENTRAL STATES

Washington, April 14.—The central States lead in enlistments in the Marine Corps, although the Eastern States have by far the most applicants for enlistment, and the Southern States furnish the least number of "Soldiers of the Sea," according to statistics just made public.

The general poor physical condition of Easterners, the healthy outdoor life which young men of the interior enjoy, and the proportionate scarcity of Marine Corps recruiting stations in the South account for these differences, say recruiting officials.

"Only one man in five can meet our requirements," said Major General George Barnett, Commandant of the United States Marine Corps," and these requirements are not severe. Men accepted must conform to certain prescribed age and size limits, be of strong constitution, well formed, sound as to senses and limbs—spirited young men who are physically able to perform the "two-in-one" land and sea service of our first line of defense."

$500 PRIZE FOR THE BEST POSTER

The Conference Committee on National Preparedness, New York city, has been authorized to offer prizes of $500 for the best design for posters to stimulate army and navy recruiting. One prize of $250 is to be awarded for the best design for a navy poster and a similar sum for the best design for an army poster.

At the opening of the war very effective work was done through the silent appeal of a pictorial poster in England, and it is with the expectation that American artists may thus aid in arousing patriotism that the prizes are offered.

Awards will be made by a competent board of nationally prominent men. The competition closes April 30th.

BIDS FOR DREDGING MANASQUAN RIVER

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, April 14.—Sealed proposals for dredging a section of the proposed inland waterway connecting Barnegat Bay with the Manasquan river, will be received by the State Department of Commerce and Navigation here on May 15 at noon, according to Chief John C. Payne, of the department.

About $50,000 is available for this work, and the right of the department to reject any or all the bids is reserved.

STRONG APPEAL FOR WAR SUFFERERS

Unless Help Comes Soon Many Must Die, Says Judge Newcorn

"There is only one thing worse than being dunned for money to aid various charities, and that is doing the dunning," said Judge William Newcorn, this morning, in discussing the difficulties that have attended his efforts to raise $10,000 here for the benefit of the Jewish War Sufferers.

"Difficult as the task is, it must be done by some one, and I feel it to be my duty to do whatever I can in this direction," he said.

"Those who are unwilling to aid their fellow men and women who are suffering and in want, fall utterly to appreciate the Divine injunction 'Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself.'

"It is with profound regret that I feel called upon to again bring to the attention of the people of my city another appeal in behalf of the Jews. I am forced to do this because the amount which must be raised if the pangs of hunger that gnaw the vitals of those unfortunates in the war zone are to be appeased, has not been realized.

"I know that the people of this city would not stand idly by and see men, women and children starving and shivering in the elements without helping them.

"That is the exact situation which exists across the sea. I have tried to convey to the minds of Plainfielders the awfulness of the war sufferers plight, and if a true picture has not been presented it is perhaps due to the fact that I have been lacking in forceful expressions of what I know to be the case.

"The money that goes to the war sufferers is handled by responsible men. A report of all that is collected is sent to the State Department. There is no waste in maintenance of expensive administrative bureaus. Some of the foremost men of the nation are devoting their time to this work, because they see it as their duty to still the cry of the hungry child, the wail of the suffering men and women, and the piteous groan of the aged and infirm.

"There are so many to whom the Jewish War Sufferers appeal has met with no response, that I am convinced they have temporarily forgotten the matter, and that they do not intend to refuse the aid sought.

"The time for raising $10,000,000 throughout the United States has been extended through April and May, as it is my sincerest wish that Plainfield may not fail to respond with a gift of $10,000 which I know will do so much good and bring joy to those who give.

"The amount thus far contributed is far below this figure. An appeal has been directed most forcefully to the Jews, and while they have in many instances responded generously the failure of some to do their part makes it necessary for me to appeal now to all men and women. This appeal is made in all seriousness, and with a sincere appreciation of what has been done in the past unless help comes now, many must die."

MAY DELAY NEW ROAD BUILDING

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, April 14.—Whether or not Gen. George W. Goethals will be compelled temporarily to relinquish his duties as State Engineer and his plans for the new State highway system, will depend upon the extent of work President Wilson will ask of him, provided he undertakes the task or organizing the Federal campaign to build at once 3,000 wooden ships to hurry food and munitions to the Allies. It is understood at the State House that even if Gen. Goethals does give up his work as State Engineer of New Jersey to serve his country, this will be only a temporary interruption of the highway work.

Sit Up And Take Notice Now is the Time to Plant

The United States Government reports that we must supply a large part of the world with food during the Fall, Winter and Spring of 1917-18. The result will be shortage of food supplies, resulting in Higher-than-Ever prices, if not in an actual famine.

What must we do? People throughout the country are going to see that those who prepare by having a garden, no matter how small, will eliminate to a great extent, the cost of their weekly bill for Table Vegetables. Plant every available piece of vacant land, including small back yards.

Our line of Seeds, Fertilizers and Farming Implements are of the Long Standing Reliable Kind. We have sold them for years, the kind that have been tested and found true every year.

We are able to sell you positively fresh seeds this year without an increase in cost over prices standing last year.

Act quickly to take advantage of the unusual conditions and at the same time help to avoid food panics and famines next Fall, Winter and Spring.

WHO ARE THE PATRIOTS?

When the "Star-Spangled Banner" is played in the theatres the audience arises and when the American flag is displayed on the screen the audience breaks out in spontaneous applause. It would seem that every gathering of citizens in public places is imbued with patriotism and the martial spirit. Now, the national Government wants to know who are the real patriots and who are the men willing to back up their patriotic applause by action in placing themselves at Government disposal to take part in force for national defense. The insidious Prussian warfare, exemplified by the audacious approach of submarines to our shores, the torpedoing of ships almost within sight of Boston, the possible location of submarine bases along the American coast, the proposed blockade of our harbors at New York, Charleston and Savannah and the mouths of the Delaware and Chesapeake Bays, is high-handed impertinence which must stir the blood of American citizens and prompt them to join with one accord for national defense. Allied to that is the very present danger of hostile aeroplanes along our coasts, which will make the shore resorts unsafe and require that no lights shall be allowed along the shore at night. We are threatened by a foe which has the ways and means in its desperate struggle to conquer the world, to cross the broad stretch of water and destroy our cities along the shore and then to follow it up with invasion from Mexico if we tamely submit to such invasion without resistance. A country of a hundred million people would be an easy mark for such a foe as the Prussians if it lies down on the opportunity to make a defense of its rights to life and property. The individual citizen would not thus submit to an attack by a midnight assassin upon his family and no more should the people of this great country collectively submit to the assassin who comes in the form of an army. There should be no question among the young men of this country as to the attitude they should take in support of the Government when it is threatened and when able-bodied men are patriotic enough to stand when the national air is being played. Their fathers responded to the call in 1861 and settled a question that had plagued the young republic from the time of its inception. They handed a clean, free country to their descendants, and now it is up to their sons to see that that country is not assailed by a foe which seeks to rule or ruin. The spirit of Americanism will never stand for that sort of a declaration from a dying autocracy, which, however, still has life enough to scatter destruction over peaceful peoples if they timely submit. The flame that lighted the fires of patriotism at Concord and Bunker Hill still burns in the breasts of true Americans, but the quiescent flame is not going to do any good in the preservation of American rights and liberty, unless America's sons, one and all, the sons of real patriots, rally at the call of their Government at this time.

MILITARY SERVICE

The Woodmen of the World have made a noble offer of 50,000 members for military service. This sort of enlistment is a great encouragement, coming from a fraternal organization and setting an example for others. There are thousands of young men who would be glad to enroll in the cause of their country, but they are a little shy of recruiting offices, for no reason except their diffidence, but if there were some in each community to lead off hundreds of young men would accept the call of country without hesitation. There is a feeling throughout the country akin to that of pacifists who argued that if our country maintained a peaceful attitude toward Prussia and made no show of resistance we should be safe from invasion. Just how well that theory holds is shown forth daily in the accounts of American ships torpedoed and lives lost. There also are those who think the other fellow will enlist and be enough to protect our country, but that theory also is exploded in the detonation of plants that are blown up by plotters who pose among us as the most innocent persons imaginable. That sort of pose is almost their whole stock in trade, except the bombs which they make in concealed places and ready to carry destruction to lives and property in our country, which some maintain should still remain unprepared. Every man a soldier, ready to do any service for which he is fitted, either on land or sea, and wherever his country finds him useful, should be our national slogan until the snake is scotched, the mad dog slain and human rights and freedom made safe from the inroads of a fast-decaying autocracy. In the death throes of feudalism the worst danger to those who would seek to resist its invasion may be expected and such expectations should be our prompting to be on guard. All the people of our great country are satisfied with our Government and institutions, even they who came across the seas and who have not yet become assimilated fully in our great democracy, and so it is up to all our people to face the question of war resolutely and with a determination to take no step backward. When this war is over it is hoped, if we do our part, that such another crime may not be put on the world again from the same source.

PATRIOTISM

Among the great virtues of life the world gives the highest veneration to patriotism. A man may have many faults, but if he has been loyal and courageous in his service to his country many defects are overlooked. This is because patriotism is a generous ideal and it blesses and benefits everyone. Wherever men have risked their lives in the service of the country they have helped to build civic institutions and placed them on a secure foundation. When they die their names live on monuments and in public records, where less generous lives leave no mark behind. There are some who in a time of peril think only of money making. They are reconciled to war if they see a dollar in it. If it is going to hurt business or the job they squeal. Patriotism is not shown merely by the splendid sacrifices of those who enlist for military service. It is also displayed by all who support the honor of our country, disregarding the effect it may have on our private interests.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If it was thought that some of the food speculators could be bankrupted by an over-supply of food crops and low prices there would be some enthusiasm about the garden movement this year.

Having had plenty of opportunity to test political sentiment in their home districts, the new Congressmen should know pretty well what their own sacred and unalterable convictions are.

The Pacifists feel that this Government should hang off until the Kaiser has demonstrated his affection for us by sinking a few more American ships.

Having declined to enlist in the army because of the risk and danger involved many men proceed to shorten their careers by too much sporting life.

Most of the college boys are ready for military service while the army men who make fun of college fellows are saving their own skins at home.

Keen interest is felt by New Yorkers to see Billy Sunday, as they are anxious to show him how wicked they are.

After deploring the waste of our national resources that leads to a food shortage many people will go out and plant large flower gardens with no vegetables.

According to the German bulletins when they retreat they win a big victory, the French are anxious for them to win another victory by falling back to the frontier.

TIMELY BOOKS.

Baumann—Persons and Politics of the Transition.

"The particular transition in question is the end of the last century and the beginning of the present in England, 'when the extension of the franchise, compulsory education, the application of science to comfort and a cheap press transferred power from the upper to the lower class.' Our objection is that the war indicates and implies a transition so much deeper and wider than the changes on which Mr. Bauman dwells and that men whom he takes to represent them are or will be almost obliterated by it. We hope that when we are successful in the war Mr. Bauman will again review the situation, for he thinks for himself and writes well."

Bridges, col.—Spirit of man; an anthology in English and French, from the philosophers and poets.

"The most spiritual of all English anthologies not avowedly religious, and in literary merit ranks with the 'Golden Treasury.'"

Brooks—Dante, How to Know Him.

"The purpose of this book is to make some of the unparalleled beauty and common sense of 'The Divine Comedy' accessible to many who are unfamiliar with the poem, or are kept from it by its reputed difficulties."

Christian—Eat and Be Well.

"The author says, 'The advice and the food prescription contained in this book are the boiled down results of twenty years' practical experience in prescribing diet for the cure of disease and maintenance of health.'"

Clutton-Brock—Ultimate Belief.

"According to Mr. Brock, the ultimate beliefs are three: Belief in morality; belief in truth; belief in beauty. The merit of the book does not lie in an original theory of value, but in acute comments on education. The philosophical foundation of the book is adequate to its purpose. Its tone is modest; its thought is not daring, but its common sense is sound."

Cox—Singing Fires of Erin.

"Irish romance and legend are the inspiration of these poems, which contain perhaps more sheer beauty than any other book of the year."

Gilbert—Ambitious Woman in Business.

"Accurate but popular, adapted to the use of any people and direct in treatment, it is probably one of the best books yet written on the subject. Author is one of the editors of the woman's page of the New York Sun and the Philadelphia Public Ledger."

Howells—Years of My Youth.

"A book of real charm, and as well a valuable addition to our social history."

Leacock—Further Foolishness.

"Peace, war and politics; movies and motors, men and women; follies in fiction; timid thoughts on timely topics, make up the contents of this new book of humorous sketches. In all of them we find the ideas which have occurred, half formed, to us less gifted folk. Here they are developed, and played upon by the iridescent light of wit and fancy."

Masters—Great Valley.

"The early poems of this book tell the story of Chicago, the story of its marvelous growth as vigorous old men and women, who live close up to the century mark and remember back to the early days of Fort Dearborn, have seen it. And towering among all the figures in the book is Lincoln. You may reject the author as a poet if you do not appreciate free verse and still find keen zest in the material of this book. It is American—in the main—with some few exceptions that had wisely been omitted—and it spades deeply into the soil of our constructive nationalism that has been almost forgotten by the younger generation."

Root—Addresses on Government and Citizenship.

"The second volume of Mr. Root's addresses relates chiefly to government. It contains four lectures on 'The Citizen's Part in Government,' two on 'Experiments in Government, and the Essentials of the Constitution,' with a number having to do with the New York State constitutional conventions of 1894 and 1915. There are also addresses dealing with the profession of law, the administration of justice, the law's delay, individual liberty, and the responsibility of the bar, and the whole range of professional service, obligation, and opportunity. No serious student of the American political system can afford to ignore the masterful exposition of its principles which this volume contains."

Smith—O. Henry, Biography.

"The first effect of this book on the reader will be to send him back to the stories. I should advise that the biography be read with the collected volumes close at hand, and with a bookmark, too, for the reader will want to stop more than once to refer from the life to the stories."

Tarbell—New Ideals in Business, an account of their practice and their effect upon men and profits.

"It is thoroughly informing; it reveals not only details of management, but also the personal reactions of employers and employes. The movement for the employment of higher ideals in business is bigger than the average man realizes, and Miss Tarbell's book is a book to be read."

Withers—International Finance.

"The writer was long the financial editor of the London Times; more recently was the adviser of the British Treasury, and now is the editor of a financial weekly of world influence (The Economist). The point which he stresses is the relation between international finance and domestic trade. The solid foundations of many a moderate competence, and of a national strength surpassing anything the world has ever witnessed, are offered to those who grasp the truths which are expounded to us by this Englishman. No American has written with such authority and lucidity upon these subjects."

Yeats—Responsibilities, and other poems.

"The disillusion of these new poems is felt in their crippled rhythms. The poems must be estimated with the greatest Irish poetry; they have rare returns to the old cloudy loveliness, but in the main the philosopher has mastered the singer."

REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITIES

FIVE years ago I sold a client a seven-room house for $2,500. The mortgage was $1,500. He paid $250 cash and $12.50 per month with interest on unpaid balance. He was saying $20.00 a month rent for a flat at the time I met him. Today he lives in his own house that would rent for at least $25.00 per month, and his expenses are now less than $10.00 per month. I can do the same for you. U. B. Crane, Real Estate, 315 Watchung avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

HELD EASTER ASSEMBLY DANCE

Although not so largely attended as in previous years, the Somerville Athletic Association Easter assembly dance, held in the armory last evening lacked none of its usual brilliance. There was the same congenial crowd, the same fine music and the same enjoyable time as before. About sixty couples were in attendance, and nearly all of them remained until the last number had been completed.

The armory was prettily decorated with American flags. The floor, covered with dancers, handsomely-gowned women and well-groomed men, presented a striking contrast to its appearance of the night before when 200 men met to drill for the defense of their country.

The music, which was by Van Eps' quintet of Plainfield, was of the very best. The players were stationed in the centre of the drill floor, partly hidden by an embankment of palms and ferns. The patronesses received from the northwest corner, in front of an immense embankment of flowers and greens. There were dainty refreshments in abundance in other sections of the room. No dance orders were used.

The patronesses were Mrs. John D. Case, Mrs. Louis P. Gaston, Mrs. William J. Kirby, Mrs. Charles J. Smith and Mrs. Francis S. Vander Veer.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Edward L. Keenan, Augustus Duryea, Runkle F. Hegeman, Taylor S. Brokaw and Francis S. Vander Veer. Two of the number, however, Duryea and Brokaw, are in camp in South Jersey with Company M.

A sphinx was mounted on a platform of platinum with a background of three carved pyramids on each side, also of platinum, in the center of which was an emerald in which were cut the initials R. F. R. H. The presentation was made by H. H. Hood. At the conclusion of the speeches sixty of the members put on a fine minstrel show.

SUGGESTS FORMATION OF BICYCLE SQUAD

U. B. Crane, of this city, suggests that the efficiency of the Home Defense League could be greatly increased by organizing a bicycle squad. He says: "The silent steed would be useful in carrying messages or doing scout duty. Each rider could furnish his own mount, and be relied upon to make from fifteen to eighteen miles an hour, which is more than can be said of some automobiles."

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Our Slogan: Let Nothing Be Wasted

In the newspapers we see articles on making use of our back-yards and planting every inch of ground. Our Governor has issued a proclamation designating a special day and also a week for planting in our own State, all of which is very commendable and will be a great help to our country in this time of war.

Another step just as important but not considered, is canning or preparing by other methods all the fruit and vegetables possible, so they can be kept for use in the winter.

In every community of our country should be held classes where girls of the age of twelve and upwards, as well as the women, can be taught canning and other methods of preparing fruit and vegetables for winter use. This work could be done by the teachers and lecturers, who are connected with the Home Economics Departments of our State Agricultural Colleges.

Every family as far as possible should be required to raise, care and prepare enough for its own use.

In rural districts or where it is the most practical, headquarters should be established where all the surplus of fruit and vegetables should be taken, and here under the direction of experts the women with the assistance of the boys and girls can prepare, either by canning or other methods, this surplus for local use or to be distributed by the Government.

Arrangements should be made so those who have no place to plant, can buy direct from the producers, strictly fresh fruit or vegetables for these purposes. This could be arranged by the Mayors or Councils of our cities and towns, who could have certain streets set aside where a market could be held, but where only the producers can sell their produce at reasonable prices, and not where dealers or commission merchants can unload their unsalable stock.

MRS. H. R. K.

Trail of the Stars and Stripes

To Hon. Leighton Calkins,
Mayor of the City of Plainfield; and
Hon. William L. Smalley,
Mayor of the Borough of North Plainfield.

Gentlemen: Having watched with sincere approval the splendid work which both you gentlemen have been doing to prepare this community against the nation's foes, and having seen the readiness with which our citizens have responded to your call to service, I am firmly convinced that the great company of men and women constituting our citizenship are patriotic to the core.

And such being the case, it occurs to me that there is one way in which Plainfield and North Plainfield could give unmistakable evidence to all who come within their borders that their hearts are attuned in perfect harmony with the cause of liberty throughout the whole world.

My thought would be that on every cross cable, supporting the main trolley wire, there should be hung an American flag; to the right of centre on one cable, and to the left on the next; this scheme to prevail on all the main streets through which the trolley runs.

This plan of course, would necessitate obtaining permission from the Public Service corporation, but I am optimist enough to believe that this would prove no difficult task. And the effect I believe, would not only carry a tremendous lesson home to all beholders, but would be beyond description for beauty.

I realize that to accomplish this end, money must be expended, and in that connection I desire to say that I shall be glad, should this scheme meet with your approval, to offer my services as one of perhaps, six citizens to collect the necessary funds from the public.

Trusting that the above suggestion may gain your earnest consideration and support, I am,

Respectfully,
H. C. VAN EMBURGH.

Joan the Woman

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALMENT.

Joan, daughter of a peasant couple living in the village of Domremy, France, hears word of the victorious Burgundian defeats that fall upon the armies of Charles VII., her young and weak King. The English have seized more than half the land.

Eric Trent, a young Englishman, fighting in the France of to-day, finds in an old sword and in the night a vision comes to him in which he sees Joan tortured by the sorceress of her France. The Burgundians and the English have sent one George de la Tremoille to Charles with instructions to keep the young King engaged in pleasures while they ravage the country.

TO the little village then returns one Gaspard, a young peasant soldier who has always loved Joan. Gaspard is a coward and has deserted the discouraged army of the King, refusing longer to fight even at the scornful Joan's exhortation to return. He says as an excuse that all the armies of Charles are running—that the men are getting sick of fighting on empty stomachs for a King who's afraid to lead them. He throws down his sword impatiently, telling Joan he is through with fighting.

Patriotic Joan is unable to see any sword once drawn for France thrown down, and tenderly picks up the weapon, carrying it from the room in her arms. One outside she stops at the cabbage patch to consider the pitiable sight of France when Frenchmen are throwing down their arms. As she dwells on this—her heart swelled to pity—there suddenly appears a blowing light in front of her, in the midst of which forms a radiant cross. As Joan watched, too awed to move, the arms of the cross change gradually into a hilt, and the whole becomes a great sword of light suspended in the air in front of her. Even as she looks the sword fades, and Joan is left wondering and frightened.

To Charles', shabby court comes Tremoille, "the Soldier," who pledges the King his loyalty and his purse and takes him from his shabby surroundings to set him up in a glittering court at Chinon.

Eric and his Burgundians ride to the pastures of Domremy to raid the enemy's cattle. At his plough in the fields Joan's brother sees them coming and rushes back to warn the peasants that the Burgundians and English are coming. Jacques d'Arc (Joan's father) takes charge of the situation, and herding the frightened peasants together—each carrying his or her dearest possession—he hurries them off toward the forest of woods.

Joan helps him, and when it comes to finding some one who will stay and parley with the Burgundians to give the rest time to reach the woods, Joan suggests that Gaspard can wipe out his recent disgrace by remaining. Gaspard, though unwilling, is forced to remain when Joan brings him his sword in front of the others.

As soon as the peasants are out of sight, Gaspard's cowardice gets the better of him and he runs into the cow shed and hides in the hay loft. Joan, who is the last to flee from the village, sees this and straightway returns, unnoticed by the rest, to take Gaspard's place. As the Burgundians ride through the village she steps into the road in front of Eric's horse and begs him, as he draws rein, "in the name of God" to turn back!

Eric laughs at the girl's earnestness, and telling his impatient men to raid the place he dismounts—and finding the pretty drums Joan, in spite of her protestation, into the cow shed, where he seizes her in his arms. Joan, looking at him with her strange, earnest eyes asks, "What wouldst thou with me Englishman?" and Eric seeing something in her face which stays his eager hands, slowly releases her. This is Joan's first victory. Eric finds himself fascinated, yet feels a kind of reverence for this strange peasant girl.

Eric's men finish their looting of the cow house and come to the cow shed for cattle, but Eric, still under Joan's spell, orders them to let her cattle remain and says they are to return to camp and that he will follow later. They go, Eric's squire, Guy Townes, speaking at his chief with what he considers perfect understanding. Joan thanks Eric gratefully for saving her cattle.

Up in the loft Gaspard, still hiding under the hay, hears the friendly talk below. Pulling himself over to the window, he notes the increasing friendliness between Eric and Joan. Jealousy flushes high in him as he sees that this stranger—and enemy—has already won an expression in Joan's eyes which he himself has never been able to win.

Pulling out the great sword which Joan had brought to him, he smashes it down on the unsuspecting Eric's head. Like a shot Eric drops to the ground, blood flowing from the gash in his head. Joan, frightened, drops by Eric—finds he is still alive, though unconscious, and turns just in time to catch Gaspard sneaking down the ladder and attempting to make his escape. Joan tells him in a few concise words what she thinks of him. For answer Gaspard kicks Eric and points out that he is their enemy and that she should be glad to have him wounded.

Joan calls him for the second time "Coward"—tells him not to dare touch Eric again and bids him leave her yard at once. Finding that the Burgundians are no longer in the street, Gaspard leaves. Joan, realizing that she must hide Eric somewhere and take care of his wound or he will bleed to death, and knowing that she must effectually rid herself of Gaspard, follows the man to the street and sends him to the woods to tell the peasants it is safe for them to return.

Gaspard goes, and Joan returns to the shed where she succeeds after great effort in dragging Eric up the ladder to the hay loft. Here she hides him in the soft hay, and binds up his wound.

JOAN HELPS THE WOUNDED ENGLISHMAN, ERIC TRENT (WALLACE REID) TO THE HAY-LOFT.

Meantime, Gaspard reaches the peasants, explains pompously what a great man he is—how he put the Burgundians to rout single handed and how he slid Joan out of harm's way.

The grateful peasants return home with him. Joan, up in the hay loft, removes Eric's steel hood and gauntlets to make him more comfortable. With the touch of the steel as she takes the gauntlet into her hand Joan's expression suddenly changes. She looks with wide, wondering eyes at the gauntlet. Where, when and how is she to feel that strange touch of steel again?

Joan's mother and father return to see their home almost demolished by the recent raiders, but are delighted to find their cattle still unharmed.

Jacques d'Arc now promises Joan in marriage to Gaspard as reward for so bravely defending his cattle and protecting his daughter. Joan, however, pulls away from Gaspard's attempted kiss. Gaspard, in spite of Jacques' reassurance, is not so sure that Joan's coldness is not due to the attractive young Englishman. He suspects where Joan could have hidden him, knowing he badly wounded to escape. When he comes upon Eric's gauntlet on the floor of the cow shed he decides Eric may be hidden in the loft, but at this point old Jacques calls him to help in the garden, and he is not able to continue his search. An several spring days go on with Joan making secret visits to Eric with food, nursing him back to health, and guarding the hay loft from the curious Gaspard.

Eric finds that he is losing his heart to the sweet young peasant girl who has saved his life, and Joan, not understanding, only knows that it is making her happier than anything that ever happened to her, to see Eric daily gaining strength. When Eric asks Joan why she is so good to him she replies simply that she would do as much for "any wounded soldier," but when Eric asks slowly "ANY—soldier?" she finds herself unable to answer.

At the river one day, as Joan is washing clothes, Gaspard approaches with a bunch of field daisies which he presents pompously, suggesting that the time is at hand for Joan to set their wedding day. Joan thanks him for the daisies, which she tosses somewhat indifferently into her clothes-basket, but responds that she is not marrying any one, nor is Gaspard able to obtain any other answer. Instantly Gaspard understands—her heart is with the detestable young Englishman.

Stung with jealousy, he takes Eric's gauntlet from the loft, and showing it to her, sneeringly suggests that perhaps it would please her to have him tell her father where she has hidden its owner. Gaspard sees that his arrow has found its mark, but Joan looks him squarely in the eyes and says that he can do exactly as he sees fit, that she is not afraid of him—as he seems to think.

After Joan has left, Gaspard looks at the gauntlet, pondering. Making up his mind that he will watch his chance and find out if Joan has REALLY concealed Eric in the loft, he follows her.

Joan goes to the shed to fetch Eric's pitcher for fresh water, unaware that at a nearby tree Gaspard is watching her. She puts down her basket to open the door and notices the forgotten daisies. Joan starts to throw them away—remembers Eric—hesitates, then decides to take them in to him and enters. Inside she climbs to the loft for Eric's pitcher. He sees the daisies boys for one and Joan shyly hands it to him.

PRESIDENT AS FOOD DICTATOR

Proposed War Bill Gives Him Full Authority.

HUGE BOND BILL PASSES TODAY

House Allows Only Limited Debate on Most Gigantic Financial Measure Ever Undertaken by Any Nation—Labor to Have Place In American-Entente War Council—Farm Labor Army of 2,000,000 to Be Mobilized.

Washington, April 14.—With the passage of the $7,000,000,000 war loan by the house (the first) step has been taken toward the most gigantic radical and drastic legislation ever even suggested in the United States or any other nation. These include:

Making the president food and price director of the nation to insure production and conservation and check greedy speculators. A bill to this end is being prepared.

Mobilization of a farm labor army of 2,000,000 men and boys to be moved from place to place as required.

By a special unanimous agreement the house confined the activities of the members to general debate on the bond issue. The bill was read item by item and the debate restricted by the five minute rule. Not more than three hours were consumed in this fashion.

Consideration of the bond issue measure developed little or no opposition to the general terms of the measure.

In introducing the bill Chairman Kitchin said:

"This bill represents the most momentous project ever undertaken by the United States. This bill contains an authorization for the largest amount of bonds ever issued for any government in the history of the world. The bill comes to you with the unanimous vote of every member of the ways and means committee—Democrats, Republicans and Progressives. There is no politics about it."

Explains $3,000,000,000 Loan.

In the course of his speech advocating the bond issue Chairman Kitchin was subjected to a fusillade of questions. The most of these dealt with the question of the $3,000,000,000 foreign loan.

In answer Kitchin explained he was not at liberty to detail the distribution of the vast fund, but said it would be lent individually to the enemies of Germany and not as an aggregated or funded credit to a group of the entente belligerents.

The senate committee on finance is prepared to rush the bill to final passage just as soon as it can be disposed of in the house.

Legislation giving the federal government ironclad control over food production, marketing and distribution and extending the widest authority to the president and his advisers to fix prices and prevent speculative practices will be drafted immediately and rushed through congress, Secretary of Agriculture Houston announced after a conference with President Wilson at the White House.

After President Wilson had given approval to the proposed legislation Secretary Houston arranged to confer with Chairman Lever of the house agricultural committee to perfect plans to clothe the government heads with the power they deem necessary to meet war time needs.

President to Fix Prices.

President Wilson will be empowered to wield unlimited authority through the medium of the department of agriculture to check absolutely any tendency toward manipulation of prices, although the law as it is expected to be passed will convey the greatest authority to fix prices of food products, such power will not be exercised unless war exigencies make it necessary.

Unqualified support of such a law was pledged by agricultural representatives of thirty-two states in conference with Secretary Houston at St. Louis. Secretary Houston, returning from this conference, carried with him to the White House assurances of the utmost co-operation by the country's principal farming interests in fulfilling the president's plea for conservation and increased production of foodstuffs. The government's machinery is ready to be set in motion to carry out the authorizations that congress is expected quickly to grant.

Secretary Houston also hastened plans for the quick enlistment of 2,000,000 volunteers in the farm army. No one capable of giving military service will be accepted. Houston and his aids are mapping out details to use the farm army where it will accomplish greatest results. The army will be shifted from one section to another in such numbers as are necessary to suit seasonal conditions.

In appeals sent out through congressmen by the American Defense society the governors of all states are urged to speed the move for greater production by designating the period between April 15 and May 1 as "planting month." Representative Fisher of Tennessee, leading a delegation of Memphis business men, called at the White House and urged the president to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the south to raise more foodstuffs this year even at the expense of cotton. Mr. Wilson promised to take the suggestion under advisement.

Labor will take its place with finance, commerce and business in the conferences that plan the part of the United States in the struggle against German menace.

Labor In War Council.

Premier Lloyd-George of England cabled Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and Chairman of the labor committee of the National Defense Council, acceding to his request that British Labor Leaders Appleton and Bowerman be sent to America with the British co-operation commission.

"Delighted to comply with your request," said the British premier's cable. "Two labor leaders and representatives of welfare department of ministry of munitions will leave for America as soon as possible."

Complete naval and military co-operation will be worked out by constant exchanges of visits between American and entente army and naval officers. The navy department confirmed the arrival of Admiral W. S. Sims in London, and it was stated that a group of American army officers will soon appear in the British and French capitals to take advantage for this country of the entente powers' war time experience.

French Ambassador Jusserand discussed with President Wilson and Secretaries Lansing and Daniels details of co-operation and the course to be followed by the French co-operation commission headed by Minister of Justice Viviani when it reaches Washington. The president and his advisers contemplate turning over the American end of the co-operation conferences to Secretaries Baker, Daniels, Houston, Redfield and Lansing. They will be assisted by the National Defense Council.

New York, April 14.—"Be patriotic financially and pay your income tax due next June, now or as early as possible." This appeal was sent out to New Yorkers by William H. Edwards, internal revenue collector.—Adv.

You can have a wealth of Beautiful Hair

Nothing equals an aureole of beautiful hair as a frame for a pretty face. Without a background of nice hair a really pretty face frequently becomes plain but, with it, unattractive features assume life and beauty.

Every woman can increase her natural charm by using Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide makes hair beautiful. Dandruff saps the vitality of the hair. Herpicide applied intelligently and regularly, checks this destruction of hair life and prevents the hair from falling out, giving it a snap and luster, a soft silky fluffiness which can be acquired in no other way.

GERMANS FORCE ALLIED SHIFT

Hold on Vimy Ridge Makes Haig Change Drive.

BRITISH STRIKE NEW LINE

Gain Mile of Trenches on Nine Mile Front, Taking Four Positions; While French Hammer Teuton Defense Near St. Quentin and Repulse Two Strong Attacks In Verdun Sector.

London, April 14.—Sir Douglas Haig has shifted his sledgehammer blows from the Arras-Lens front to the Cambrai-St. Quentin line. In a mighty onrush his infantry forces smashed into the Teuton positions between Hargicourt and Metz-en-Couture, a front of nine miles, bending that sector of the Hindenburg line back fully a mile and capturing four formidably fortified German positions—Sart farm, Gauche wood, Gouzeaucourt village and the wood of the same name.

Farther to the north their advance swept away a salient two miles wide and nearly a mile deep.

Altogether more than 100 German guns have been taken by the British since the new drive began.

The French in a vigorous resumption of the drive on St. Quentin from the south carried several lines of German trenches between the Somme and the St. Quentin railway, taking some prisoners and machine guns. They also made further progress south of the Oise to the east of Coucy-le-Ville. Here, too, prisoners were made, and machine guns captured.

Berlin Disputes Claims.

Meanwhile the crown prince's army struck two surprise blows on the Verdun front. General Nivelle's troops were fully awake, however. The German infantry columns were greeted by a hail of shells and were forced to abandon the attempt before reaching the French lines.

Berlin officially claims that "preliminary successes" by the British were balanced by Teuton counter thrusts. "Twice the attacking enemy was repulsed with heavy loss," said the German war office report, asserting further that the British attacks southeast of Arras "failed," as did the French attacks around St. Quentin.

Reasons for the sudden shifting of Sir Douglas Haig's drive and the possible consequences of his new successes are seen in the fact that the Germans still hold the best part of Vimy ridge.

When the British launched their new drive Monday their purpose was to break through the Teuton front between Lens and Arras. The main German bulwark on that line was Vimy ridge, which in fact was the northern pivotal point of the whole "Hindenburg line."

The Canadians in their famous rush against the ridge carried the crest and the northern slopes. Unprecedented disaster faced the Germans.

German Line Only Bent.

But while the bulk of the defenders in the face of the Canadian frontal attack were routed or captured, the Wurttembergers and Bavarians holding the eastern slopes of the range, refused to yield. While everything about them crumbled they stood steadfast, giving back blow for blow, battling with the desperate fury of men who knew that upon them depended the fate of millions.

These Wurttembergs and Bavarians saved the day for Hindenburg. After three days of "punishment" at the hands of the tenacious Canadians they still hold their ground. To them Hindenburg owes the fact his line was not broken, but only bent. Meanwhile he is still mustering powerful forces of reserves to the Lens-Arras front.

It was this heroic defense of the eastern ridge that prompted Sir Douglas Haig to switch the momentum of his offensive to the sector further south. A wedge between Cambrai and St. Quentin, Cambrai encircled, would mean enforced German withdrawal from the Lens-Arras front—all the Wurttembergers and Bavarians in the Teuton army could not save it then.

Hard Fighting Ahead.

But towards that important object the new advance, military critics here admit, was only one step. Bitter, ferocious fighting is expected before the object can be fully attained. For in those fateful hours intervening between the British great onrush of the Canadians Monday morning and the second blow at which Monchy-le-Preux fell, Hindenburg had time to throw reserves into the gaps.

The triumphant confidence of the British troops has been heightened rather than weakened by the events of the last few days. There exists in all ranks of the British army an inflexible "will to victory" and an equally firm conviction that the striking and offensive powers of the Teuton are on the wane, that the German morale is being slowly but steadily impaired by the continuous backward movement.

JERSEY OFFERS CANALS.

Asks Government to Take Over and Improve the Inland System.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 14.—Counsel from all of the civic organizations of south Jersey, representing property interests of more than $200,000,000, attended the hearing here by United States army engineers on the bill before congress authorizing the government to take over and finish the inland waterway system from Sandy Hook to Cape May. The project was heartily indorsed.

State Senator Emerson L. Richards for the state administration declared that New Jersey was ready for the transfer. He said the waterway would be of strategic importance, especially during the present crisis. Submarines and smaller war craft could be taken safely from New York to Philadelphia without having to venture out in the ocean when the system is deepened to fifteen feet, as provided by congress.

SIMS NAVY ENVOY TO ALLIED FLEETS

Admiral Sailed on Liner That Hit Mine.

London, April 14.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., heading a mission of American naval officers, arrived in London this week aboard the American line steamship New York, which struck a mine while coming in.

He is here conferring with the British admiralty and arranging for co-operation between the navies of the two countries, especially regarding the warfare against submarines, chasing down German sea raiders, policing the South Atlantic, increasing the American merchant marine and other matters.

Admiral Sims is well known to British naval people. He has been in England a good deal, where he is popular because of his "blood is thicker than water" speech ten years ago in London, when he came close to pledging American aid to Great Britain when it was needed. He received a formal reprimand from Washington at the time, but the English are pleased with his selection for so important a mission.

There is strong reason to believe that the United States navy will suddenly and unexpectedly take an important part in the war.

AFTER BILLY SUNDAY.

New York Naval Reserve Wants Him to Enlist.

New York, April 14.—Captain Patton, U. S. N., in charge of the naval reserve force at one of the local headquarters, sent a letter to Billy Sunday asking the evangelist to enlist.

"On Tuesday we enlisted an Episcopal minister," Captain Patton wrote, "so you see we are playing no favorites. We would be pleased to have you personally join. The men at the front need a spiritual leader as well as officers. Can we count on you to direct the men where to enlist?"

SIGNATURES

The signature is something a man writes at the end of his letters so nobody will know who they're from. Some business men who are really interested in knowing who writes them employ signature fiends. That is, bright young men who take the wild signatures, chase it to its lair, lash it into a fury and force it to divulge its identity. Then there are other methods. Sometimes the ferret is able to nail a signature's owner by comparing it with the printed list of directors or managers, or something like that printed at the top of the letterhead. But this is not often possible. Some folks have signatures and others write their names.

BULLS TAKE ODD TILT FROM THE TAB TIGERS

The Bulls of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society house bowling tourney, which was resumed last evening, took the odd game from the Tigers in a very satisfactory manner. A single double century score marked the evening, that being topped by one Rufus Larew. Monteferonte took the high average honors for the evening at a chalking of 186.

Diamond Nuggets Picked Up From Local and Nearby Fields of Action

Words has been received from the Triangles of New Brunswick, an organization which has sent a basketball team to this city on several occasions during the past season, that they now have a baseball team on the field for action. This aggregation would like to arrange games with some of this vicinity averaging from 19 to 21 years, to be played at home or abroad. All communications should be sent to Louis Halos, 38 Dunn street, New Brunswick, N. J.

Manager Littell of the Middlesex County Vocational School No. 1 has announced the following schedule for the season: April 25, Perth Amboy Vocational at Perth Amboy; May 2, Metuchen High at New Brunswick; 9, Bound Brook High at New Brunswick; 16, Jamesburg High at New Brunswick; 19, Newark Vocational at New Brunswick; 23, Perth Amboy Vocational at New Brunswick; 26, Metuchen High at Metuchen; 30, Newark Vocational at New Brunswick; June 6, Jamesburg High at Jamesburg; 9, Bound Brook High at Bound Brook.

Members of the First Baptist aggregation of the City League are to meet at Harry Dreier's this evening at 8 o'clock to be measured for suits. The final make-up of the team is being picked this afternoon. Among the new men who will strengthen the Baptists this year will be Morley Dilts, Ison and Lasch, constituting a fine batch of players. Manager Randolph is also counting on Mills, who did some great work at the latter end of last season, to do great work.

Very little has been said as yet by the management of the T. A. B. S. outfit as to its plans for the coming season or as to its possible line-up. The short editor, however, will get in touch with some of the brethren over the week-end for some dope. The same applies to Hope Chapel.

It is expected that some big doings are to be pulled off at the meeting of the City League Monday evening at the home of Secretary Dan Randolph. The adoption of a schedule and the appointment of a few "umps" are to be the big features. Rumor hath it that two additional clubs will file applications for berths on the circuit. This, however, has not been confirmed in the late despatches from the front.

GATES AND VAIL ARE AGAIN CHALLENGED

The party responsible for arranging the recent Koechlein-Snyder and Gates-Vail home-and-home bowling series has been appealed to again to act in a like capacity. This time the challenge comes from Mathews and Koechlein, who are prepared to meet the Plainfielders next week—ten games at Somerville and eleven at North Plainfield, or vice versa.

As in the former match, all details can be arranged by getting in communication with Peter Koechlein or writing Jim care Efinger's bowling alleys, Bound Brook. Now Messrs. Gates and Vail, interest yourselves in this challenge and prove that your good work in the previous series can be repeated.

KILLIFER OBSERVED A NATAL DAY YESTERDAY

William J. Killifer, who made the bulk of his baseball reputation with the Philadelphia Nationals, yesterday celebrated his thirty-first natal day, being born at Paw Paw, Mich., April 13, 1886. Bill first entered the baseball arena with the St. Edwards College team in 1906 and started his professional career with the Kalamazoo and Jackson teams of the Southern Michigan League during the following season.

His first contract in the major league circuits was with the St. Louis Nationals in 1909, graduating from the Houston team of the Texas League. In 1911 he dropped back to the Buffalo team of the old Eastern League and was quickly brought back to the limelight by the Phillies during the same season. Killifer stands five feet nine and weighs in the neighborhood of 172 pounds.

PLANS READY FOR THE ANNUAL Y. M. C. A. SHOW

Plans are rapidly being completed for the second big annual circus of the Young Men's Christian Association. From present indications the show will equal and possibly surpass last year's exhibition. The sale of tickets indicates that a record crowd will be present to see each performance. Reserved seats may be had at the office of the association.

The boys are working hard to perfect the different stunts on the program. One of the features will be an exhibition flag drill to be given by the boys of the Indian League.

HOW THE CUBANS PUT THIS FIGHT ACROSS

A story of how the Cuban secretary of the interior, all unconscious of it, helped a bunch of Cuban fight fans out of a hole was brought here recently by a traveler from Havana. The fight was staged in Havana over the protests of the Mayor and the chief of police, much to the satisfaction of the promoters—and to the extreme chagrin of the secretary, who found out about it later.

The fight was advertised to take place, the hall was packed, the cigarettes were going big and the Cubans were happy. Just as the announcer was telling his audience what a fine pair of scrappers the two antagonists were and how the fur was going to fly, in clumped a sergeant and ten toy soldiers, designated police. Down the aisle they marched in precise military formation and were brought to an abrupt halt at ringside by the sergeant, who with a flourish, informed the audience and the promoters that by order of the Mayor no fight was to be held.

"But I have the authorization of the secretary of the interior to hold this fight," the promoter protested.

"Can't help it," replied the sergeant. "Orders are orders and I work for the Mayor. Clear out."

The debate grew and the words were flying fast.

"Suppose I should show you a letter from the secretary of the interior. You know his signature, don't you?"

And the promoter produced his letter.

"That's his signature, all right," replied the policeman, "but the fight can't go on."

"If I should get the secretary on the telephone and he should tell you to allow the fight to proceed would you change your mind?"

This was agreed to and someone rang up the secretary, who informed the policeman that the fight must be held. The policeman made his apologies, bowed very low, and a lot of times, and he and his men took front seats and watched the show. Next day it was found the secretary was out of town.

GETS JUDGMENT AGAINST MYERSVILLE MAN

Morristown, April 14.—William A. Helm, of Florham Park, who figured as plaintiff in a divorce case tried here before former Governor J. Franklin Fort, obtained judgment for possession of a bay mare, runabout and harness, in the Morris District Court. The suit was against Samuel Ortman, of Myersville. Mr. Helm testified that about three months ago his rig disappeared from his place. Raymond Baldwin, whom he named as one of the co-respondents in the divorce case, he said, in some way got possession of the horse and wagon and took them to Mr. Ortman's place. Mr. Helm said that he had located the property and now had it again, but desired the court judgment.

Cecil De Mille's Marvelous Spectacle, Presented in Twelve Parts
In the world since history began JOAN OF ARC stands supreme as the greatest woman who ever lived. Ignorant, unlettered, she rose from a peasant's hearth until, within a short space of two years, she stood beside kings.
At seventeen years of age she was commander-in-chief of the French armies. At nineteen she was burned at the stake by the people she loved. They did not understand.
It is a story which has thrilled men, women and children through the centuries. Now it is told beautifully, wonderfully, by the marvelous motion picture.

Today above the smoke of battle in desolate France 2,000,000 men are following JOAN OF ARC as their forefathers had followed her. They see her figure all in white, leading the charge, and hear above the battle's din her voice of impassioned command. You will grasp JOAN'S spirit of holy patriotism when you see "JOAN, THE WOMAN."

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any Luxury relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

Sometimes an apparently good meal leaves a person in a dissatisfied condition, that invariably leads to longing for an elusive something or other that has not been provided. This is often because the meal does not balance, according to the law of dietetics.

A normal appetite craves a variety of foods that harmonize and balance each other and Nature is a trustworthy teacher. Years ago, she taught the good, old-fashioned combinations of pork with beans, bread and cheese and pork with apple sauce, because they tasted good together, and her pupils probably did not realise that the foods in each combination supplemented each other.

One of the greatest mistakes occurring in most households is the serving of an acid fruit, followed by cereal with cream. Some cast-iron stomachs can stand this combination, but usually it brings about fermentation, with its accompanying ills.

When a cereal is to be served, the fruit should be bland, bananas, apples, stewed figs or prunes—not only because it is the correct thing to do, but because it "tastes good." In this case, the heavier part of the meal should be planned accordingly and contain foods of marked flavor. If scrambled eggs, for instance, follows a bland fruit and cereal with cream, the effect is "flat." On the other hand, if a little frizzled dried beef or bacon is substituted, a better tasting meal is provided.

If the meal starts with an acid, like grape fruit, pineapple, strawberries, etc., the main course can be heavier and somewhat bland. Plain, scrambled eggs, or an omelet, would be suitable in this case, also corn muffins or bran gems, as no cereal is served.

Potatoes should never be provided when a cereal appears, as both are starches and, therefore, too similar in texture and taste. When fried foods, like fritters, or griddle cakes are used, an acid fruit should appear, because the acid assists in breaking up the fat in which the cakes are generally cooked.

As the weather grows warmer, heavy dishes must be partially replaced by foods Nature has provided. Either luncheon or supper, as the lightest meal of the day, offers great opportunity for combinations out of the beaten track, not only of foods purchased for the purpose, but of left overs." The greatest help in planning combinations is to schedule meals for the week, as lack of variety shows very plainly when put down in black and white. In this connection it is sometimes best to leave the luncheon vacate and then fill in with whatever may happen to be on hand in the larder. Heavy salads fit into luncheons better than any other meal and may often form the main dish, while a fruit salad is always acceptable in place of dessert. The perfect dinner begins with a soup, which starts the gastric juices and prepares the stomach for the balance of the meal. As a general rule, any clear soup is in order. Made, however, from stock of different flavor from the meat to be served. When the weather is warm it is permissible to commence the dinner with a fruit cup, in which case, fruit should be omitted from the rest of the meal. Grilled bouillion (either beef or chicken) and tasty canapes that act as appetizers will also prove popular.

When two vegetables are served besides potatoes, rice or macaroni, one should be green, like string beans, peas or asparagus, and one more plebeian character, like onions, beets or carrots.

As a general rule, sweets and savories do not mix, but occasionally they may be blended, such as currant sauce with mutton, orange fritters with duck, apples with roast pork and wild grape jelly with game.

Desserts depend entirely upon the rest of the meal. Fruit, either cooked or fresh, is always acceptable with fish or fat meats; pies and steamed puddings are suitable with cold meat or chops, and a frozen sherbet, or similar dainty, after a hearty roast or joint.

A country housewife once remarked: "Somehow, a corned beef dinner and ice cream don't keep company." This is quite true, for ordinary, substantial foods do not, as a rule, combine with those of delicate type. The two clash and do not harmonize any more than walking shoes do with an evening dress.

All these little points must be remembered in planning the well-balanced menu, and considerable thought and study should go into them. A mixed diet is always to be preferred, provided the combinations are right, and with the coming of the spring season, fresh vegetables and fruits, Nature's own tonics, should be included whenever practical.

POLLY PUT-OFF'S PARTY

Polly came running back from school in a merry mood. It was November, and the day a dreary one in the village, with its muddy streets and dripping eaves. But it was Friday afternoon; next day would be a holiday and besides, in the evening she was to have a big birthday party, with fourteen candles on a chocolate cake.

"You must have everything ready in time, Polly," said the girl's mother, as the child slid her books into a table drawer. "Remember, there is the cream you must phone for, the cake you must bring from the baker's and the candies are not even selected. You ought to have some batches of candy and a bowl of grape juice, too, as well as flowers. Now make a list and see to it at once."

Now, if there was anything in the world about which Polly was lazy it was in doing things in time. She could never get the buttons on the waist or new laces in her shoes till it was time to start for school, and then she was in a great flurry. As she sat looking out at the sun breaking through the rain and enjoying the prospect of a bright day on the morrow, she said that she could attend to the matter of the party tomorrow and just rest in the sunset now.

"Plenty of time in the morning to attend to things," she said aloud.

"Plenty of time, is there?" shouted a gruff voice in her ear. "If you think so, just take a spin with me in my skyblle." Polly sprang to her feet to run, but she felt a strong hand gently seize her around the waist. It had turned suddenly clear and still. Outside of the window stood a queer machine that looked like a wire bedspring, only under the front was a whirring motor.

"We will take a trip in our skyblle," said the gruff voice, and Polly felt herself bumped down on the machine. Then she saw that the voice belonged to a fat little man dressed in bed ticking. He grabbed the wheel that stuck up out of the bedspring and called to Polly to sit tight. The skyblle gave a quiver, then rose gently in the air. Swaying like a boat it was wafted over the tree tops into the country. Below in the plain Polly could see a train rushing along toward a bridge. It came to the center, the drawbridge was up and the long line of lighted cars was hurled down, down, down into the foaming river.

"That's the result of plenty of time," said the fat dwarf, who stopped the machine so Polly could see well. "The guard at the drawbridge neglected his work because he thought there was plenty of time ahead."

Ahead in the road a courier sat on a bank eating. Down the pike clattered a golden coach in which rode the king, then suddenly from the opposite direction swept a troop of cavalry, who swooped down on the coach and took the king prisoner.

"Another case of plenty of time," sighed the pilot. "That scout failed to go ahead and now the king is a prisoner, and will never again see his native land."

The machine rose higher. It floated over the sea. There, in the midst of mighty waves the girl saw two ships run into each other and soon disappear.

"The man at the wheel did not pay attention, the ships struck each other without warning," remarked the dwarf again.

Then the skyblle sailed over the village again. Polly could see down through the roofs, as if they were glass, and the sights were strange. In some homes the dinner was late and the meal burned, for the mother had thought there was plenty of time." In others the boys did not learn their lessons till too sleepy, the girls did not mend their clothing or help about the home, always putting it off, and always ending in a disorderly, uncomfortable state of affairs. They rushed about with shoes hanging half on their feet, faces half washed, breakfasts half eaten, all because they thought there was "plenty of time."

At last the machine rested on their own roof, and looking in Polly could see a table spread as if for a party. But the feast was a sad one. The children were restless, for the cream had not come, only half of the cake had been delivered, there were no candles or flowers, and everything had an air of discomfort. Then Polly understood—this is what would be the fate of her party if she put off and said there was "plenty of time."

"Oh, goodness! I wish I had begun in time and fixed things," exclaimed Polly.

"Well, child, you have enough time if you begin right now," exclaimed her mother's voice at her elbow, and Polly sprang up looking wildly at the dinner table.

"Oh, my! but I am glad my dream wasn't true," she exclaimed, "and I am sure that in future I will not be Polly Put-off any longer, but do things in time."

Kidney Trouble May Cause Dropsical Swellings

Foley Kidney Pills Highly Recommended For This Condition

Dropsy, with all its signs and symptoms, including weak heart, general debility, swollen joints, ankles and limbs; headache, sleeplessness and nervousness, are all evidence of a certain kind of kidney trouble. Irregular bladder action, too frequent passage of water, and rising time after time at night, are also proof that the kidneys are not in a healthy state.

Foley Kidney Pills have handled just such cases with absolute success. They have cleared away the dropsical condition, have restored the kidneys to normal activity, and brought the sufferer to a state of sound health.

Mrs. Hattie Graham, Box 479, Battis Creek, Mich., has written fully in regard to her case with dropsy as part of her letter which says: "I was troubled with kidney and bladder trouble that finally developed into dropsy. I had a dull pain in my back, first my ankles swelled up, and then the whole lower part of my body became bloated and swollen. I used Foley Kidney Pills and the relief was immediate, and after using them for sometime, I feel permanently cured."

Foley Kidney Pills are sold everywhere in 50c and $1.00 sizes. The $1.00 size is the more economical buy, as it contains 2½ times as many as the 50c size. Evans' Boco Drug Store.

TRAINING CHILDREN

(By Mrs. Max West of the Federal Children's Bureau, written for the United Press.)

Washington, April 14.—It is of great importance to the child to train him to a good carriage of body. The power to hold the body erect is wholly lacking at birth, and is acquired, with some difficulty, at about two years of age.

While the body is developing in every part the mother should take frequent note of the manner in which the child stands, how he sits and how he carries his head. An erect spine is necessary not only for beauty and grace but for health. Slouching, stooping or crooked shoulders detract much from the appearance, and the curved spine allows the upper part of the body to press into the trunk and deprives the stomach, heart and other organs of some of their proper space so that they must work at a disadvantage.

In order that a child may learn the habit of an upright carriage, much exercise is necessary, especially outdoors. This will strengthen the muscles of the back and neck and make it easier to hold the body erect later when growth is rapid.

Sitting on the floor, bent over playthings and toys, sitting too long in a high chair or baby carriage, dangling the feet, carrying books or papers on one hip or shoulder are some things which tend to twist the spine and distort the body.

The mother should watch carefully to see that such troubles are arrested at this period, while the bones are soft. If difficulties are encountered it must be remembered that they will sometimes disappear of themselves if the general health is improved.

HANDKERCHIEFS

That little square of cambric is almost losing its identity with its importance as a dress accessory. Now, instead of being a handy object when a nose in the head is insistent, or when summer heat brings the perspiration to the fevered brow, the handkerchief is used to express the latest fad or to give a touch of color to a somber frock.

One may have striped sports handkerchiefs in colors to match the striped skirt or blouse. They should peep from the pocket of the plain part of the sports costume. Often they are of silk and encircle the sports hat or swathe the neck of the sports blouse.

Handkerchiefs are no longer square, either. They are round, or show rounded corners, or corners cut to follow the outline of the embroidered motif. Not handkerchiefs of no earthly use, but of much dainty beauty, come in all shapes and sizes. They are usually finished with net footing.

Yes, and you may have a tasseled handkerchief. It matches your tasseled veil, too, by the way.

AMERICAN BOY SCOUT HERE TONIGHT

Norman L. Sper, the American Boy Scout, who interviewed President Wilson, the Kaiser, Lord Kitchener and other world famous characters, will be at the Plainfield Theatre today, when he will tell of his experiences in traveling about the world. Although only a youth, he has seen more and gone through more than many a full grown man and narrates it in an interesting manner.

Another number on the bill that is especially appropriate to this season of the year is a comedy sketch with a patriotic moral entitled, "The Slacker." It is presented by Johnny Walker and his company and treats lightly with a serious question. The other three numbers on the program include: The "Parlor Car Trio," Harry Baker & Lane, clever girl dancers and singers, and Ross & Stewart, variety artists.

The latest run of moving pictures will be shown, including Pathe news and Mutual comedies.

"MIDNIGHT MAIDENS" AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The old reliable organization of burlesquers known as "The Midnight Maidens," comes to the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, matinee and night, including new, bright and pretty faces, comedians, singers and dancers, offering two big surprises and a sensation, "Stolen Sweets" and "Wine, Women and Song," which may well be designated as an effervescent concoction of hilarity, and that promised surprise, "Stella."

The following well known performers are responsible for the fun: Harry Hearn, Charles Cardon, Billy Barry, Frank Hanscom, W. J. Hoyt, Little Pani, the smallest Japanese midget in the world; Fern, Bigtow and Meehan, and a bunch of entrancing women among whom may be numbered the famous "Midnight Maidens" chorus.

BLANCHE BATES COMES HERE TUESDAY

Blanche Bates will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre Tuesday, matinee and night, April 17, in her new vehicle, "Eleven P. M.," with Wilton Lackaye in the remarkable cast provided by her managers.

Miss Bates is cast as Anne Lombard, a queen of the half world, humorous, sincere and, in the unconventional way, good, but the owner of a considerable past. This she shows when she meets the Earl of Kew, by the simple process of having Fanny Lear, of Paris and California, die. For she once was known as Fanny Lear.

She enters the first act, laid in a reading room of a hotel in Normandy as the Countess of Kew, very much in love with her husband, for the first time in her life, and determines to gain recognition as the wife of Richard, the Earl. To do this, she leads the unsuspecting young man to the hotel where his parents are stopping, and cleverly forces the situation. From then on her life is almost a series of that one might term "overt" acts, which gradually arouse the suspicion of Richard and end at last in a melodramatic denouement.

"JOAN THE WOMAN" AT PROCTOR'S NEXT WEEK

"Joan, the Woman," Cecil de Mille's wonderful twelve-part spectacle, comes to Proctor's on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week, with Geraldine Farrar, the renowned operatic star, in the title rols of Joan of Arc, exactly as presented at the 44th Street Theatre, New York City, enhanced by a special symphony orchestra playing a score written precisely for this attraction.

The spectacular is introduced only as a natural requirement in the authentic interpretation of Jeanie Macpherson's powerful story woven about this great character in the world's history. Whenever it is required that there be a battle scene, hordes of men are aggregated fully equipped and scrupulously costumed according to the time. The enormity of the scene of Charles VII's coronation and many others of like magnitude is staggering. There will be a continuous performance daily, three complete shows being presented, the first at 1:45 p. m., the second at 5 p. m. and the third at 8 p. m. No seats are reserved and the prices are arranged attractively to suit all pocketbooks.

A special added attraction Monday and Tuesday is "Patria," starring Mrs. Vernon Castle. The theatre has been gaily decorated in commemoration of the occasion and everything will be done to insure the comfort of the patrons.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

At the Strand

A varied and interesting bill will be presented at the Strand Theatre. The principal photo-dramatic feature is "Sleeping Fires," in which Pauline Frederick is the star. It is a combination of a thrilling detective story, plot with a love theme that is romantic enough to suit the most exacting matinee girl.

A second film adaptation of the famous O. Henry story series will also be shown. It is "Friends at Sea Rosario," which promises to make as much a sensation as "The Third Ingredient" did last week. Another feature of exceptional interest is "A Spring Ideal," one of Paula Blackton's charming country life stories. There will also be some beautiful and interesting educational studies and the Strand Topical Review, which contains the latest news pictures from this country and abroad.

The musical program is an exceptionally pleasing one. Ross Lind and Nann Lit Koster will render a duet from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana." Grace Hoffman, the talented soprano, will also be heard in a new intricate coloratura number and George Halprin will play Liszt's "Etude Concerte" as a piano solo. Armando Marsano and Ralph H. Brigham will render solo selections on the pipe organ.

MARQUISE DE POMPADOUR

The Marquise de Pompadour died April 15, 1764. She was a leader of fashion in Paris, and inaugurated the custom that other nations have since followed in looking to Paris for their fashions.

By her beauty and dash she captivated Louis XV, and really was the power behind the throne over the whole of France. She was skillful as intrigue and her interference in French politics led to the Seven Years' War through which France lost Canada to Great Britain.

EXPLAINED DUTY OF RESERVE FIREMEN

Mayor Calkins Told Them They Will be Called in an Emergency

At a meeting in his office last evening, Mayor Calkins explained to the retired call men of the fire department the plan of organization under which they will act as a fire fighting reserve in the event of an emergency fire call.

The Mayor outlined the work that is being done by the Home Defense League and expressed his appreciation that the retired call men were so willing to offer their services to the fire department.

Under the plan of organization the call men will be divided into groups with formal assignments to the various fire houses; but, if a signal is given calling them all out they will proceed direct to the fire and there report to the various captains.

The details regarding the assignment of the men will be worked out by the Mayor with the Fire Committee and Chief Jennings. The call men will then be advised. They will be called out by a signal from the fire whistle which, of course, will be different from the signal to be given in calling out the Home Defense League.

Out of thirty-four of the retired call men all but four were present at the meeting with the Mayor last evening and these were detained on account of illness or absence from Plainfield. The response by the call men was therefore remarkable and greatly appreciated by the Mayor and Messrs. Coes, Graves and Smincok of the Fire Committee who, with Fire Chief Jennings, were also present at the meeting.

WOMAN EVICTED AT 94 SENT TO ALMSHOUSE.

New York, April 14.—Mrs. Mary Walsnick, aged ninety-four, was dispossessed from her little home at 332 East Seventy-third street. She was put out in the street with her rickety and scanty furniture because she lacked $5 to make up her rent money.

She was sitting in her one chair, tears rolling down her cheeks, while her son Charles, sixty-three years old, patted her shoulders, when Policeman Reardon saw her. Reardon bought them both her coffee and took them to Yorkville court. Magistrate Nolan sent Mrs. Walsnick to the almshouse.

The wise do not neglect it. It's impossible to leave it alone for long at a time. It attracts ever so much attention. It is nice and pink and white. It is charming and full of the most delicious thrills. You are glad and happy every time you see it. What is it?

Measure the Elgin Six Against $985

Your verdict will be: "Under-priced by several hundred dollars."

Note the style, size and specifications that successfully compete with high-priced cars in quality—and beat them in price.

Consider the Elgin velvet-acting clutch, that eliminates gear-shifting and enables this "Beauty of the Road" to be started on "high" under ordinary conditions, thus removing the last obstacle to the successful handling of a motor car by women.

Note the improved cantilever rear spring suspension, found only on the Elgin Six, that has set a new standard of motoring ease and comfort at high speed. You can safely and comfortably drive the Elgin Six at 35 to 50 miles per hour over roads so rough that the average car is limited to 15 to 25 miles per hour.

And as for style and beauty—no other Six selling under $1250 has the fashionable center cowl of the high-priced European models. The beautiful yacht line design of the Elgin Six was established by a famous artist, and gives this car a distinction that sets it aside from the monotony of the common designs of average cars.

NOTE: The Elgin Six, in addition to establishing a new record of 67½ hours between Chicago and Miami, Fla., has made perfect scores and won highest economy honors in some of the most gruelling endurance and economy runs of the past year.

MISS ROTH WEAN AN EASTER BRIDE

FOLLOWED BY RECEPTION

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring Officiates—After Wedding Trip Couple Will Reside at Hancock, Md.

Miss Ruth Isabel Wean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brinton Wean, of Park avenue, and Sidney Howell Karr, formerly of Plainfield, were married Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attractively gowned in ivory duchess satin, trimmed with duchess and rose point lace, and she carried a bouquet of Easter lilies. She was attended by Mrs. Carlton L. Smith, of this city, as matron of honor, who was gowned in green charmeuse and tulle embroidered with silver. She carried a silver and tulle basket of yellow rose buds. The bridesmaids, Miss S. Marian Wean and Miss Mildred C. Niles, of North Adams, Mass., were cousins of the bride, were gowns of yellow charmeuse and tulle with silver lace and carried silver vases and yellow tulle baskets with daisies.

The best man was William Good and the ushers were Gordon Moy, Carlton L. Smith, Theodore Hamilton, James Lindsey, Alfred Manley and Alfred Karr.

The wedding march was played by Clifford A. Braider, former organist of the church. The bridal party, consisting the ushers, bridesmaids and matron of honor, preceded the bride and her father to the altar where the bridegroom and best man were met. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The church decorations comprised an artistic arrangement of Southern smilax and Easter lilies which formed an attractive background for the ceremony. After the wedding the bridal party with the relatives and intimate friends returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held. Congratulations were offered and an elaborate wedding supper was served. The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable gifts.

Mr. Karr and Mrs. Karr were graduated from the Plainfield high school in 1911. Later Mrs. Karr entered Syracuse University, from which she was graduated in 1915. Mr. Karr was graduated from Penn State College the same year. The latter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Powell Karr, of Washington. He is now fruit farm manager for the Maryland Orchard Company and he and his bride will make their home at Hancock, Maryland.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO MRS. GEORGE WESTON

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Weston, aged 55 years, widow of George Weston, died of pneumonia, last night at the home of her niece, Mrs. Henry W. Williams, 128 Crescent avenue. She was first stricken in February last and had about recovered when she suffered a relapse.

Mrs. Weston was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Nichols, and was born at Weston, Conn., where she spent her early life. Later she removed to New York. In recent years she had spent much of her time with her niece in this city. Mrs. Henry W. Williams, the niece, is the only surviving relative. The funeral, which will be held at the late home in charge of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Church, will be private, and the burial will be at Stamford, Conn., on Thursday.

RECRUITING FOR GUARD IS TO BE RESUMED

Captain Charles A. Peterson, of Company K, has received word from the Adjutant-General's office, Trenton, that recruiting for the National Guard is to be resumed at once and arrangements have been made to have Co. K armory kept open every night from 8 to 9 o'clock for that purpose. One of the members of the Veterans' Association of the company will be in charge to give any information desired and to receive applications for membership in the guard.

It is hoped that there will be a large number of applications so that Plainfield may be able to have a good representation in this branch of the service.

Former Judge of District Court Succumbs to Affliction of the Heart

ILL FOR A LONG TIME

Practiced Law for Thirty-eight Years—Was City Clerk in 1883 and Served Two Terms in Common Council

Former Judge of the District Court Walter L. Hetfield died early this morning at his home, 552 East Second street, following an illness of more than two years, during which he suffered from an affection of the heart.

For the past three weeks he had been confined to his home, but for the past three days his condition showed improvement and yesterday he felt very comfortable and was able to be about the house.

He retired early last night, and was asleep when the members of his family retired about nine o'clock.

At 1 o'clock this morning Mrs. Hetfield was awakened by her husband coughing in the bath room. She hurried to aid him, and with her son and daughter, whom she had called, led him back to his bed, where he died immediately.

He was sixty-one years old, and had been a practicing lawyer for the past thirty-eight years. He was a son of the late Levi Hetfield, and was born in this city July 21, 1856. He attended the local schools and after graduating studied law in the

GEORGE CREEL HEADS BOARD OF CENSORS

George Creel, who has just been appointed to the highly important position of chairman of the Board of Censors, or Committee of Public Information, as it is styled by President Wilson, by whom it was created, is a man well fitted for the place. He is widely known as a magazine writer, newspaper man, and formerly director of public safety in Denver. Secretary of State Lansing, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and Secretary of War Baker, together with Mr. Creel, will compose the board, but the latter will be chairman and act as executive head.

When it is considered that everything pertaining to the war, its operations and also important questions of national policy will be under the censorship of this new board, it will readily be appreciated what an important appointment this is. A point of local interest is the fact that Mr. Creel is the husband of Blanche Bates, the actress, who appears at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow matinee and night, with Wilton Lackaye in "Eleven P. M."

TO ENTERTAIN FOR PUBLIC SCHOOL LEAGUE

The entertainment and dance, which is to be held on Saturday evening in the Evergreen avenue school auditorium for the benefit of the Public School Athletic League, promises to be one of the most interesting of the season.

A special attraction will be the Greek interpretive dances presented by Miss Dorothy Hall, of New York. Miss Hall is an unusually talented young woman with great charm of personality and simplicity of manner. She is a graduate of the Chaliff school. The dances she will present are unique and beautiful, surpassing anything that has been given here before.

It is hoped that a large audience will turn out to enjoy the program and the dancing, which is to follow, thus giving support to the new athletic league which has just been organized for the youngsters of the public schools. The baseball schedule of the league is now well under way. The athletic badge tests for physical efficiency are to begin this week. Those who give their support to the league are doing their bit toward "Preparedness" which must necessarily be beginning with the young boy. The Athletic League is conducted under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee.

Y. W. C. A. LIBRARY PARTY GREAT SUCCESS

The library party given at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday night under the direction of the educational committee, of which Mrs. W. C. O'Donnell is chairman, was a great success. As a result about twenty-five new books were added to the association library, each person attending presenting one for that purpose. An amusing part of the affair was that each guest appeared representing a well-known book, some of which were "Soldiers of Fortune," "The Light That Failed," "The Woman in White," "Foot of the Rainbow" and "A Bow of Orange Ribbon."

The young women had lots of fun guessing the names of books represented, as well as the names of various compositions, as a few bars of each were played on the piano by one of the number. At the conclusion of the entertainment refreshments were served under the direction of the general committee in charge. During the evening the Crafts' Classes presented four new books to the association.

P. O. OF A. HOLDS CLASS INITIATION

Under the auspices of Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order of America, there was class initiation at the meeting Saturday night, the work being done by the national team from Camp 8, of Jersey City. Miss Hannah Meyer, past national president, is president of the team and George Kuhn, past vice-president of the national association, is captain. There were about twenty-five members from Camp No. 8 present and a large delegation from Camp 87, of Dunellen, and one visitor from Camp 40, of Dover.

Among the candidates initiated was Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, past State councilor of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty. After the business of the evening a social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served. Camp 1 is constantly growing in membership due to the members striving for a $10 prize, which is presented upon attaining a certain number of members.

FRANK LEE HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM BURNING

Frank Lee, an employe of Boice-Runyon Company, while engaged in repairing a gasolene tank in an automobile Saturday night, had a narrow escape from burning to death. He was using a blow-pipe to solder the tank when in some way his clothing caught fire.

Clifford Cole, of Cole & High, undertakers, was attracted by the accident, and rushing across the street, threw his overcoat about Lee. The latter's clothing was considerably burned, but his body was scarcely affected.

ARRIVAL OF DAUGHTERS

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, of Berckman street, and Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, of Clinton avenue, are receiving congratulations today upon the arrival of daughters, each home being brightened yesterday by the event. William and George Miller are brothers.

SUDDEN DEATH OF HERBERT E. CLARK

Was for 37 Years Connected With the Chemical National Bank of New York

Herbert E. Clark, aged 55 years, a life-long resident of this vicinity, and for thirty-seven years connected with the Chemical National Bank, New York City, died yesterday at his home, 171 Sycamore avenue, North Plainfield. He had been ill for nearly a year with complications, and although detained from business for several months he was able to be about and come down town on Saturday. While the family realized that his condition was quite serious his sudden death was a severe shock.

Mr. Clarke was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. Clark and was born in New York. Soon afterward the family removed to this city and Mr. Clark continued to reside in this city and borough the rest of his life. He went to work with the Chemical National Bank when a boy and was advanced from time to time until he was finally put in charge of the foreign department of the institution, which position he held up to the time he was obliged to leave because of illness. Mr. Clark was an attendant of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church for many years.

Mr. Clark leaves three sisters, Miss Florence M. Clark and Miss Mabel H. Clark, who live at home, and Mrs. Robert B. Clark, of New York; also one brother, Frank B. Clark, of this city. The last named was for many years clerk of the Plainfield Board of Education. The funeral will be held at the late home Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Part of the proceeds of the concert will be turned over to the use of Dr. H. D. Corbusier's orthopedic clinic in Muhlenberg Hospital, which he has established for the treatment of victims of infantile paralysis.

NEWCORN ATTENDED BIG CONFERENCE

Judge William Newcorn attended a conference of the Jewish War Sufferers' Committee, at the Temple Emanuel, New York, yesterday afternoon, and later was the guest of Jacob Schiff, at a dinner given at the Savoy Hotel, at which plans were discussed for collecting the $10,000,000 wanted for the relief of the Jewish war sufferers.

It was decided to divide the country into four districts, with headquarters in New York, Chicago, New Orleans and San Francisco, and to make a determined effort to get amount required. Several substantial contributions were made yesterday.

Judge Newcorn reported what has been done in this city, and stated that while the full amount, $10,000, has not yet been collected here, he is hopeful that it will be in hand before the first of June.

JUDGE HETFIELD PASSED AWAY

office of William B. Maxson. He was appointed Judge of the Plainfield District Court in February, 1912, by Governor Woodrow Wilson and completed his term of five years on March first, this year, when he was succeeded by Judge James Henry Crane.

Judge Hetfield was one of the ablest lawyers in the State, and frequently appeared in the higher courts. In politics he was a Democrat, and in the dark days of his party he managed to hold together an organization which met yearly in his office and nominated candidates for local office, although there was no hope for their success.

He was city clerk in 1883, and served two terms in the Common Council, 1886-7 and 1895-99. He was a member of the "Big Six," as the Democratic majority was called, and it was his boast that the Democrats were responsible for more progressive improvements here than their successors.

While he was in the Council the Fire Department Headquarters building in East Second street was authorized, and the hook and ladder truck and other modern equipment of that day was purchased.

The "Big Six" made an issue of water supply and sewers, contending that the water franchise was of sufficient value to warrant the company securing it to pay for constructing the system of sewers, because the use of the sewers would require enormous quantities of water and holders of the water franchise would soon be repaid. The advocates of this plan were retired in favor of Republicans before the scheme could be put through.

Judge Hetfield is survived by his wife and four children. They are Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., assistant corporation counsel; A. M. Hetfield and Miss Calida Hetfield, who lived with him, and Herbert L. Hetfield, of Worcester, Mass., and one sister, Mrs. Andrew Manning, of Madison avenue.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been announced. It will probably be held on Wednesday. Judge James Henry Crane of the District Court announced this morning that his court will stand adjourned on that date as a mark of respect to the late Judge. City Judge De Meza also announced that there will be no session of the City Court on that date for the same reason.

The Plainfield Bar Association will meet in the District Court room on Wednesday morning where eulogies of the late Judge Hetfield will be made by members of the bar. The deceased was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, F. and A. M., Odd Fellows, Unity Lodge, K. of P.; Woodman of the World, and B. P. O. Elks.

Mrs. A. M. Manning is now the only one surviving of the four children of Levi Hetfield. The others were Jos. M. Hetfield and Mrs. Harold Serrill.

UNIFORMED RANK ATTENDS CHURCH

The Uniformed Rank, Jr. O. U. A. M., attended service in the Netherwood Reformed church last evening and heard a thrilling and arousing sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Edward S. Ralston. Mr. Ralston preached from the words, "Here am I, Send Me." The sermon was a splendid patriotic call. The preacher pointed to the text as the test between the coward and the hero, and rarely has a preacher in this city met with such response as that accorded to a sermon as did Mr. Ralston last evening.

The church was most effectively decorated with flags. The music was led by an orchestra. One of the officers of the National Special Aid Society was present and was in charge of a recruiting station.

LOVE COUNTRY NEXT TO LOVE OF GOD

So Declared Father Bogan in Sermon to Knights of Columbus

Declaring that love of country is next to love of God, and congratulating the members of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, upon their fine display of Christian morality in receiving Holy Communion in a body, the Rev. Father Bernard M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church, at the 7.30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, preached a sermon that was full of patriotic fervor.

"One week ago," said Father Bogan, "Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, issued a statement to the Catholics of America in which he said: 'Arise from your knees after Holy Week, and rally to the support of your country.'

"His message has been disseminated throughout the land, through the medium of the press.

"It is the most forceful patriotic utterance that has been made, and it conveys to all Catholics their duty in the present circumstances.

"If your country calls you, answer her call, and defend with your life the nation that has given you the most precious heritage, liberty of conscience. It is a principle of Catholic morality that a proper authority must be respected, because it is the voice of God.

"When a man in official place commands you, no matter whether you like the man or not, remember that the authority vested in him is greater than his personality, and obey that authority.

"Rally around Old Glory as she floats in the breeze, and support to the last the officers of your government in whatever they may undertake."

Referring to a collection which will be taken up on Sunday next for wrs. sufferers, Father Bogan said: "I know that we have been called upon to give to this charity and that also that we have been asked to help the peoples of different countries who have suffered through the ravages of war, but that makes no difference. The fact is we have something to give and they haven't anything, makes it incumbent upon us to give. There is an old aphorism, 'If you want to save a thing, give it away.' That does not mean profligacy, because the profligate wastes his money and his life, but those who give to the needy obey God's will, and what they give will be stored up to their credit in a spiritual way.

"We must help those who come to us, no matter if the men who are authorized to receive our offerings throw it away on the morrow.

"The fact that we give it with proper intention is sufficient, and those who receive it must be responsible for transmitting it to the ones we aim to relieve."

Bayonne Offers Corporation $1,000,000 For Rights and Plant.

Bayonne, April 16. — At a special meeting the city commission has voted to offer the New York and New Jersey Water company $1,000,000 for all its property, including right of way, pipe lines and existing contracts, providing the people at a special election approve such an offer. The date of the election will be fixed soon.

FIRST N. J. CAVALRY IS GETTING PREPARED

While the First New Jersey Cavalry has not yet been called out for service the scenes at the home stations of the troops are none the less interesting. During last week there was much enthusiasm at the Roseville avenue armory in Newark, where Troops A and C have quarters. Major Hobart B. Brown and Captains Russell P. Freeman and Wilbour Kyle, commanding Troops A and C, respectively, have attended to every detail in the matter of preparing the troops for a hurry call. Troops A and C are recruited to war strength, but Troops B and D of this city need more men to bring them up to war strength.

BAZAAR OPENED BY MAYOR SMALLEY

Says Those Who Frequent Social Organizations Should Engage in Production

Mayor William L. Smalley formally opened the bazaar of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, in St. Joseph's Hall, on Saturday night. The opening was attended by a large crowd and the words of the Mayor inspired the members of the bazaar committee with confidence in their ability to make the affair a success.

Mayor Smalley said that the bazaar is held for the benefit of the church and that anything done for the cause of religion is a worthy object. He complimented Father Hart upon the many improvements which he has made to the church property since coming to North Plainfield as the successor to the late Father Miller, for whom, the Mayor said, he entertained the greatest respect, and whose memory is cherished by the people of North Plainfield, irrespective of religious creeds.

The Mayor further said that the people of North Plainfield have always lived in harmony; that there has never been any prejudice or strife among them, and that there never should be.

"We are a people who live in the true spirit of neighborliness," he declared. "We co-operate with each other, and through this spirit of co-operation we have a better understanding of each other. Most of the unpleasantness in life comes from a failure to understand one another. I hope this bazaar will be a great success, and I urge upon all who have any part in the conduct of the enterprise, to bend their efforts to that end."

Father Hart made a brief address and Patrick McDonough, chairman of the committee, thanked the members of the committee for what they had done, and said that he felt certain there would be no cessation of their endeavors until the affair closes on Saturday next, the success that they all hope it will be.

Some new features will be introduced at the bazaar tonight.

Tomorrow night the T. A. B. Society of St. Mary's church will attend in a body. The Knights of Columbus and their friends will attend on Wednesday night. Thursday night will be "Old Home Night" when all the present and former members of St. Joseph's parish will attend, and on this night the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary will be present.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Sick, Sour, Gassy Stomachs Feel Fine

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into acids and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin helps neutralize the excessive acids in the stomach so your food won't sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is upset you usually get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it helps to regulate your stomach so that you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Pape's Diapepsin is positive in neutralizing the acidity, so the misery won't come back very quickly.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder due to acid fermentation.—Adv.

THE HOUR FOR SERVICE

The hour for service has come. The life of the nation, the liberty of a free people, human rights, privileges and interests are threatened, not only by the greatest war of the world's history, but by its dire accompaniment, the shortage of food. President Wilson appeals to the hundred million of American people for service. The efforts of every man, woman and youth are needed for a preparedness plan to meet a condition never before known. There will be need for a big navy which is being put on an effective war footing, and for a big army, in which patriotic young men will enroll as they always have done when their country has been threatened by a foe, but also, there is a service in raising food which is the stay of both army and navy, and also necessary for the use of those who stay at home. Not only the farmer but the home gardener, the owner of a small plot at his residence, the owners of larger tracts of idle land, and all with any available land must be depended upon for the food supply. With the many who will be under arms, there is a great shortage of labor, and this implies the necessity of effort on the part of men, women and children to produce food. It is a question of self-preservation in which the possession of money means but little, unless it is applied to actual production. And right here, the question of profit should not enter the question, but only arms, ammunition, and food should be the vital question until the terrible condition which war has thrust upon us shall be abated. Producers of food in various parts of the country have risen to meet the exigency, but all have not yet enrolled who can do something for the cause which is vital with them. This is a war which no individual of the great United States of America can view from afar, or in the hope of avoiding participation. Those who are not able to join the army or navy, because of lack of the necessary vigorous health, still have a place in the great plan to carry on the war in which our country is engaged. The place is open on the farm, in the workshop, in the dining kitchen, and in a hundred fields of usefulness, making the sinews of war. Self must be eliminated from the question. It is each for all, and all for each. Not what we can get out of our effort, but how much can we give to our country? We are confronted with a condition not of our own making, but one that has been thrust upon us while we thought we were too remote to be drawn into it. Now that we have been drawn into it, there is no way but for each individual to take an active part in upholding our nation.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING

Speaking for universal training, Thomas Nelson, secretary of the National Navy Advisory Board, says:

"Since returning from battle scarred Europe I have travelled our own land from North to South and from East to West. Everywhere I find prosperity, but there is lacking that presence of a national soul, which may be nothing but the sense of a common unselfish purpose which pervaded my days and nights in Europe. It lies in the power of our Congress to give our people that feeling of a common cause which alone will give us strength, which will lead the rich to the poor and the poor to the rich, and makes each one of us feel and know that we have a truly great country, not because of its resources, but because of its ideals and because we have the strength to make those ideals something more than idle dreams.

"We only realize that which has cost us something. Let every young man give but his little share of time and work to the United States and he will become a true patriot. The method proposed is so simple, so small in cost and so immeasurably great in value that it should not be necessary for a single man to raise his voice in its favor. Even if no emergency were now apparent universal training should be adopted without delay for the unifying effect that it would bring to our people. And even if we could see in it no such spiritual benefit it should be adopted to straighten the backs and fill out the chests of our slouching boys and to teach them the first principles of hygiene."

BIRD SONGS

In the poetic words of the Bible, "the time of the singing of birds has come." To all who are fond of nature the world takes on a new brightness when the feathered songsters begin their spring concerts. A bird's throat must be a mechanical marvel from the speed and facility with which it executes its roulades. No opera singer ever secures such flexible work. Many men have become somewhat skilful in reproducing these songs by imitative whistles and calls. But at best it is but crude imitation. The speed with which these bird notes are poured forth defies the human ear or any other instrument to catch. The older people say bird life is less common than it was years ago, though observers say there has been some increase within a few years since bird preservation was agitated. We need the birds not merely for their enormous economic value, but to add their notes of cheer and joy to country life.

YOUR COUNTRY'S CALL

It may be possible for some human beings to be pacifists and slackers in the face of Prussian horrors which include the unwarned sinking of hospital ships by submarines, and the destruction of helpless lives that have survived the tortures of the battlefield, only to meet a worse fate in the merciless ocean, but most people believe that such frightfulness ought to be stopped, even if the whole world has to rise in arms. Thomas Robins, secretary of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States, arraigns the pacifists in unmeasured terms in a recent address in which he says:

"Shall we permit this fair land to fall an easy prey to the wild beasts which have devoured Belgium and harried all of Western Europe? I have observed this war at short range, having dodged shells upon the European front and having visited the camps, munitions works and hospitals of England and France. I have seen the wounded and the dead, the widows and orphans and the ruins not only of buildings, but of broad fields which can never again be tilled. None of the pomp and circumstances of war, but all of its horror. Again and again I have heard the remark: 'If England had only listened to Lord Roberts, if we had only been ready this would never have happened.' I quickly became convinced that what I saw was no more the result of war than it was the result of the pacifist. Noble buildings which were the work of the imagination of the ancient artists are now in a condition which may truly be said to be the work of the lack of imagination of the modern pacifist. His smooth, fat hand had wrought as much destruction as the mailed fist of the Kaiser."

NEXT REGULAR MEETING WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18

NEWS FROM NEARBY POINTS

Readers of the suburban news will often find news of their town in other columns of the paper under headings from their towns when such news is too late for the regular columns.

SOMERVILLE NOTES

NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM IN SERVICE

Somerville's new common battery telephone system is in service.

All individual lines in Somerville, served by the old magneto switchboard in the building at 64 West Main street, became "dead" at exactly three o'clock Saturday. Five seconds later the new common battery switchboard on the second floor of the Forester's building at 69 West Main street, was in operation.

Only individual lines were affected at the time the transfer was made. Before the party lines could be connected to the new central office, it was necessary to change the instruments to conform with the system of ringing with which the new board is equipped. Until the substitution of the old instruments was completed this week the old magneto board served party line subscribers.

A number of telephone officials from the New Jersey Division and the New York office of the New York Telephone Company were present to witness the cut-over, and with them were several representatives of Somerville's newspaper circles who had been invited to see the community's telephone system changed from magneto to common battery.

Among the Somerville representatives were Charles H. Bateman, J. B. Varley, Robert S. Brunt, H. E. Durham and William S. Woodruff.

The telephone group included G. H. Merrill, division superintendent of traffic; I. J. Thorp, division superintendent of plant; C. H. Leonard, division auditor, and H. G. Kerr, division commercial manager, as well as district superintendents and commercial managers in charge of this section.

The system could be changed from magneto to common battery, every line entering the old central office had to be bridged or connected with the new switchboard, so that all lines were connected with the two switchboards simultaneously. This work involved the splicing of hundreds of wires at points where the wires in existing cables were connected with the wires in newly-laid cables that were carried into the new central office.

After the lines were connected with both switchboards the new apparatus was kept out of use by means of dead plugs inserted in individual subscriber line jacks.

In the old office, preparations for the "cut-over" was made by tying short strips of tape to the "heat coils," which are protective devices for each line. The individual tapes were fastened to master tapes which extended from the top to the bottom of the frame or rack, reaching almost to the ceiling of the room, on which the lines were arranged.

DUNELLEN

DEFENSE LEAGUE HOLDS BIG MEETING

"I can safely assure you that the interests of the borough are in as good hands as could be expected in this crisis," said Mayor Latham, in his opening remarks at the meeting of the Home Defense League at the Borough Hall Saturday night. Every seat in the hall was taken and much interest manifested throughout the meeting.

Mayor Latham further said that no trouble was anticipated at the present time, but the organization was ready to respond to any emergency call.

Mayor Latham, who is president of the League, presided at the meeting, and following a brief review of the preliminary work of the league, called on Chairman A. J. Hamley, who gave a report of the executive committee's efforts. The Defense League now has seventy-five members, but it is expected that the enrollment will soon reach 150 members.

The borough has been divided into four districts, with captains for each district, and Chief of Police Mohan as head.

Secretary William Deering then read the names of the members, with the following captains for each district: District 1, Captain W. S. Craig; District 2, R. R. Smalley; District 3, A. J. Hamley; District 4, Elwood Waller.

Excellent suggestions regarding the proposed formation of the Relief Committee were given by E. J. Dusel. Mr. Dusel closed his remarks by reading a patriotic poem.

On motion of Councilman Richard Ryan, the assemblage unanimously voted to have the secretary forward a letter of recognition from the League to each of the young men in the borough who have answered the call to colors. Sixteen thus far have joined Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

President A. F. Todd of the Board of Education and G. H. Reutschler, the supervisor of schools, were present and told of the efforts being made in the local schools to induce the pupils to take up gardening this summer. Mr. Reutschler stated that at least 300 of the 600 pupils enrolled would soon become enthusiastic gardeners. Many of the vacant pieces of land have been offered for gardens.

Frank Devone of the State Experimental Station at New Brunswick, spoke on the necessity this season of growing vegetables to meet the unusual demands of the nations at war. He suggested the planting of ordinary vegetables such as lettuce, peas, beans, sweet corn, beets, onions and potatoes. Canning vegetables he also recommended. The little soup bean, he said, had more nutrition than potatoes or rice, and it was easy to cultivate.

The Experimental Station has issued free pamphlets to assist the gardeners.

The meeting closed with a general discussion for the good and welfare of the organization. Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey suggested that there should be an advisory committee appointed to assist amateur gardeners.

The next meeting of the League will be held at Whittier school Friday evening, April 27. The ladies at this time will be invited to attend the session.

Desecrated Flag; Held for Grand Jury

Joseph Bralick, who was arrested for desecrating the American flag, mentioned in Saturday's Courier-News, was arraigned before Judge R. F. von Minden here later in the day and held for the action of the Grand Jury. Bralick pleaded guilty to the charge and was taken to New Brunswick Saturday afternoon by Chief Mohan and Marshal Waller and locked up in the county jail.

The prisoner has resided in these parts about seven years. He gave his age as twenty-nine, single, and a native of Austria. The fellow scaled a ladder on the Levgar factory on Friday night and ripped the flag into pieces. He told the court that he did this unpatriotic act "just for fun."

The Death of Dr. William Gale

Dr. William Gale, the pioneer druggist of this town, died at the Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield early yesterday morning after an illness of two weeks of pneumonia. Dr. Gale was born here and with the exception of six years which he spent in the Navy and a short time he lived in Elizabeth had always been a resident of this town. He was 85 years old on February 16. He started in the drug business in 1868, when he opened a small store on Central avenue. He was a graduate of the Long Island Medical College. When the office of justice of the peace, he was a member and one of the founders of the Union County Medical Society, a member of the Westfield Board of Trade, vice-president of the Retail Merchants' Association, an exempt fireman and at one time chief of the fire department. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the Men's Club.

Dr. Gale was one of those who attended the first public school in Westfield, which was a little brick building that stood in Mountain avenue. During the last few years he had been growing feeble, but was able to be in his store on Broad street until he was taken with a severe cold two weeks ago, which developed into pneumonia and resulted in his death. He leaves two children, Mrs. S. Chase Lamb, of Clinton, Ill., and William Gale, Jr., who has been taking care of the drug business for several years. Dr. Gale's wife died several years ago.

The funeral will be held from the Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, and will be conducted by the members of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R. Interment will be made in Fairview cemetery.

Relief Society Holds Dance

The Hall Signal Relief Association of Garwood held its second annual ball in the assembly hall of the Westfield Theatre hall on Saturday night, and it was attended by more than two hundred persons from this town, Garwood and Cranford. The music was furnished by Dow's orchestra, and those present tripped the light fantastic until midnight. There were twenty dances on the program and there was not an idle moment from the time of the first one until after the last.

The committee of arrangements was composed of Max Simon, E. J. Wilcox, W. T. Frost, Edward Frowery, J. O'Connors, A. Ashfield, G. L. Eveland and H. Englehart. H. Nicholson was floor manager. The officers of the association are: J. O'Connors, president; Max Simon, vice-president; W. S. MacManus, secretary; W. C. Wolff, treasurer; W. T. Frost, collector. The dance was a complete success and as a result about $100 will be added to the treasury of the association.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Elting Clark, who died at her home on Friday afternoon was held last night from her late home on Clark street at 7:45, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. W. Coe, of the Congregational church, of which Mrs. Clark was a life long member. The interment was made today in the family plot in Fairview cemetery.

The fire department was called out to three fires on Saturday. One of them was in the rear of the millinery store of John Embleton on Elm street, and the other two were grass fires, one of them being in the rear of houses on Clark street and the other on Tremont avenue. No damage was done by any of them.

The Board of Education will hold a special meeting tonight to take action on the resignation of Dr. J. J. Savitz, the supervising principal of the schools, who has been named as principal of the Normal school at Trenton, and to discuss the question of school gardens.

BRITISH HAMMER AT WALLS OF LENS

Capture of Great Coal City Believed Near.

London, April 16. — So irresistible seemed the onrush of the Canadians, as early Sunday morning they resumed their great "nutcracker" drive against Lens, that early in the afternoon word was flashed that the great French coal mining center had fallen.

In the opening sweep of the new assaults, launched amid a heavy downpour of rain, the Canadians captured the Teuton defenses east of Lievlin, from Raimont wood to the eastern corner of Cite St. Pierre, both close to the outskirts of the city. When a column of patrols was seen shooting across the blood soaked approaches of Lens, actually reaching the city lines, correspondents at the front telegraphed the "news" of its "capture."

But in the eleventh hour, it developed, Hindenburg had hurled sufficient reserves into the gaps on the Lens front to stem the British advance. Actual capture is believed to be only delayed, for the British pushed steadily forward east of Lievlin and were "approaching the outskirts of Lens," the bulletin from headquarters announced.

Thus for the third time in the war Lens is the prize of a battle transcending in fury and in cost of life anything previously seen. Each time the entente attackers were halted within the very shadow of the city's walls. In 1915, when General Foch led the French in the battle of Artois, his army lost 100,000 in killed and wounded. Later the British, in trying to take it from the north, lost 66,000 during the battle of Loos. But in both these battles Vimy ridge stood a firm bulwark to the allies' onslaughts. Today Vimy ridge is in British hands and wide gaps have been cut into the Teuton defense lines.

Moreover, in the battle now raging all dispatches from the front, official and unofficial, agree that where previously blood flowed in rivers on the entente side, it is now flowing in torrents on the Teuton side.

Boston Mayor Says Germany Offered It to C. M. Schwab.

Boston, April 16.—Mayor Curley has created a sensation by asserting in a speech at a patriotic mass meeting that an emissary of the German government offered Charles M. Schwab $100,000,000 if the Bethlehem Steel company would cease making munitions for the allies.

The mayor said he had received this information from Mr. Schwab himself at the launching of an Argentine steamship at the Fore River yards at Quincy. Mr. Schwab told him, he said, that the offer was made two days before congress declared that a state of war with Germany existed.

"And this great, big American, who stood for the great principles of the republic, refused," added the mayor amid applause.

PATROL FIRES ON STEAMER.

Attempt to Run by Fort Delaware Stopped by Shots.

Salem, N. J., April 16.—A steamer whose name could not be ascertained was fired on twice by government patrol boats in Salem creek cove just below Fort Delaware when she tried to slip by the guard and proceed up the river to Philadelphia. The first shot was a blank, and as the steamer continued at full speed a shell was fired across her bow. She stopped and returned to the line of steamers at anchor waiting for daylight to go up the Delaware.

The steamer took advantage of the searchlight being played on the Jersey shore to make a dash past the guard boats and forts, but the light was turned on just as she reached the lower end of the island, on which Fort Delaware is located.

ERIE GAMBLERS ROBBED.

Holdup Men Get $10,000 in Raid on Resort.

Erie, Pa., April 16.—Three bandits, one supposed to be a former heavy lower in the place, held up a score of house employees and players in Jake Strahl's gambling house at Twelfth and State streets and got away with about $5,000 and diamond rings, diamond stickpins and watches worth as much more.

Without warning three masked men appeared in the midst of the gamblers, and the leader coolly remarked, "Gentlemen, hold up your hands." All but one of those in the place complied with his request, as the order was backed up with three revolvers. One man well known in national and state bowling circles made a step toward the leader, and was knocked down with a blow on the jaw.

ARMED BURGLAR GOT AWAY.

Gave Up Loot and Then Drew Knife on Captor.

Orange, N. J., April 16.—A burglar was discovered in the home of Richard B. Danforth, general manager of the Public Service corporation, at 41 South Munn avenue.

He was cornered by Mr. Danforth, who commanded him to return the articles taken from the second floor. He reached into one pocket and, handing several pieces of jewelry to his captor, pulled a long knife from the other, with which he attacked him. Danforth let go of the man, who escaped through a front window, taking the glass with him.

Paraguay Is With United States.

Asuncion, Paraguay, April 16.—The government of Paraguay has sent a note to the United States expressing Paraguay's approval of America's declaration of war on Germany and voicing the closest sympathy with the cause of the United States.

WILSON CALLS NATION TO ARMS

Asks All to Serve In Great American Army.

"MERE FIGHTING FRUITLESS."

Vast Resources of Nation That Will Turn the Scale Called Into Being by Conscripting Housewife, Farmer, Middleman, Railroads, All Workers Into Army of National Service.

Washington, April 16.—The whole nation has been called upon for war service in a formal proclamation issued by President Wilson. Declaring that "mere fighting will be fruitless," the president demanded the active support and cooperation of men and women in every walk of life—"a great international service army." From farmer to housewife, each individual is called upon to do his or her share in conserving and making available for war use the vast resources of the nation.

"The supreme test of the nation has come," said the president; "we must all speak, act and serve together."

The text of the proclamation read:

My Fellow Countrymen—The entrance of our own beloved country into the grim and terrible war for democracy and human rights which has shaken the world creates so many problems of national life and action which call for immediate consideration and settlement that I hope it may be useful if I address to you a few words of earnest counsel and appeal with regard to them.

We are rapidly putting our navy upon an effective war footing and are about to create and equip a great army, but these are the simplest parts of the great task which we have addressed ourselves. There is not a single selfish element so far as I can see in the cause we are fighting for. We are fighting for what we believe and wish to be the rights of mankind and for the future peace and security of the world. To do this great thing worthily and successfully we must devote ourselves to the service without regard to profit or personal advantage and with an energy and willingness that shall make us worthy of the enterprise itself. We must realize to the fullest how great the task is and how many things—how many kinds of sacrifice and of service and self sacrifice—it involves.

Must Supply Food.

These, then, are the things we must do and do well besides fighting, do the things without which mere fighting would be fruitless.

We must supply abundant food for ourselves and for our armies and our associates not only, but also for a large part of the nations with whom we have now made common cause, in whose support and by whose aides we shall be fighting.

We must supply ships by the hundred out of our shipyards to carry to the other side of the sea, submarines or no submarines, what will every day be needed there and abundant materials out of our fields and our mines and our factories with which not only to clothe and equip our own armies and navy, but also to clothe and support our people, for whom the gallant fellows under arms can no longer provide. We must help clothe and equip the armies with which we are cooperating in Europe and to keep the looms and manufactories here in part supplied with coal to keep the fires going in ships at sea and the furnaces of hundreds of factories across the sea, stretched to the full with arms and ammunition both here and there. We must speed up production, increase our stock to take the place of those every day going to pieces, mules, horses, cattle, for labor and for military service, must see to it that the industries on which the people of England and France and Italy and Russia have usually supplied themselves, and which we have taken from them, the materials or the machinery to make.

All to Serve Nation.

It is evident that every man who runs our industries on farms in shipyards, in mines, in factories, must be made more profitable and more efficient than ever, must become more economically managed and better adapted to the particular requirements of your task than they have been, and what I want to say is that the men and women who devote their thought and their energy to these things will be serving the country and conducting the fight for peace and freedom just as truly and just as effectively as the men on the fields upon the trenches.

The social forces of the country, men and women alike, will be a great national—a great international—service army, a notable and honorable host engaged in the service of the nation and the world and the efficient friends and saviors of free men everywhere.

Thousands—nay, hundreds of thousands—of men otherwise liable to military service will be engaged in the same way and excused from that service and assigned to fundamental sustaining work of the fields and factories and mines, and they will be as much part of the great patriotic forces of the nation as the men under fire.

I take the liberty therefore of addressing this word to the farmers of the country and to all who work on the farms: The supreme need of our nation and of the nations with which we are co-operating is an abundance of supplies and especially of foodstuffs. The importance of an adequate food supply, especially for the present year, is superlative. Without abundant food alike for the armies and the peoples now at war the whole great enterprise upon which we have embarked will break down and fail. The world's food reserves are low.

Not only during the present emergency, but for some time after peace shall have come, both our people and a large proportion of the people of Europe must rely upon the harvests in America. Upon the farmers of this country therefore in large measure rests the fate of the war and the fate of the nations. May the nation not count upon them to omit no step that will increase the production of their land or that will bring about the most effectual co-operation in the sale and distribution of their products? The time is short. It is of the most importance that everything possible be done and done immediately to make sure of large harvests. I call upon young men and old alike and upon the ablebodied boys of the land to accept and act upon this duty—to turn to the farms and make certain that no pains and no labor is lacking in this great matter.

Food as Well as Cotton.

I particularly appeal to the farmers of the south to plant abundant foodstuffs as well as cotton. They can show their patriotism in no better or more convincing way than by resisting the great temptation of the present price of cotton and helping—helping upon a great scale—to feed the nation and the peoples everywhere who are fighting for their liberties and for our own. The variety of their crops will be the visible measure of their comprehension of their national duty.

The government of the United States and the governments of the several states stand ready to cooperate. They will do everything possible to assist farmers in securing an adequate supply of seed, an adequate force of labor when labor are most needed at harvest time and the means of expediting shipments of fertilizers and farm machinery as well as of the crops themselves when harvested. The course of trade shall be an unhampered one as it is possible to make it, and there shall be no unwarranted manipulation of the nation's food supply by those who handle it on its way to the consumer.

This is our opportunity to demonstrate the efficiency of a great democracy, and we shall not fail short of it.

This let me say to the middlemen of every sort, whether they are handling our foodstuffs or our raw materials or manufactures or the products of our mills and factories: The eyes of the country will be especially turned upon you. This is your opportunity for signal service, efficient and disinterested. The country expects you, as it expects every man, to forego unusual profits, to organize and expedite shipments, question of every kind, but especially of food, with an eye to the service you are rendering and in the spirit of those who enlist in the ranks, for their people, not for themselves. I shall confidently expect you to deserve and win the confidence of people of every sort and station.

Appeal to Railway Men.

To the men, who run the railways of the country, and to the financiers who finance and operative employees, let me say that the railways are the arteries of the nation's life and upon them more than upon any other single instrument depends the immense responsibility of seeing to it that these arteries suffer no obstruction of any kind, no interference or slackened power. To the merchant let me suggest the motto "Small profits and quick service" and to the shipbuilder the thought that the life of the war depends upon him. The food and the war supplies must be carried across the seas no matter how many ships are sent to the bottom. The places of those that go down must be supplied and supplied at once. To the miner let me say that he stands where the farmer does. The work of the mine waits on him. If he slackens or fails armies and statesmen are helpless. He also is enlisted in the great service army. The manufacturer does not need to be told, I hope, that the nation looks to him to speed and perfect every process and to omit only to remind his employees that their service is absolutely indispensable and is counted on by every man who loves the country and its liberties.

Let me suggest also that every one who creates or cultivates a garden helps and helps greatly to solve the problem of the feeding of the nations and that every housewife who practices strict economy puts herself in the ranks of those who serve the nation. This is the time for Americans to correct the unpardonable fault of wastefulness and extravagance. Let every man and every woman assume the duty of careful, provident use and expenditure as a public duty, as a dictate of patriotism, which no one can now expect ever to be excused or forgiven for ignoring.

Supreme Test of Nation.

In the hope in the maintenance of the nerve of the nation and of the world in this hour of supreme crisis may stimulate those to whom it comes and remind all who need reminder of the solemn duties of a time such as the world has never seen before I beg that all editors and publishers everywhere will give as prominent publication and as wide circulation as possible to this appeal.

I venture to suggest also to all advertising agencies that they would perhaps render a very substantial and timely service to the country if they would give it wide spread repetition. And I hope that clergymen will not think the theme of it an unworthy or inappropriate subject of comment and homily from their pulpits.

The supreme test of the nation has come. We must all speak, act and serve together.

WAR RIOTS IN ARGENTINA.

Mobs Attack German Legation and Consulate.

Buenos Aires, April 16.—Violence and bloodshed reigned here when furious mobs, demanding war with Germany, tried to storm the German legation and consulate and attacked a German owned newspaper.

Shots were fired, windows smashed and hand to hand fighting ensued between the assailants and protectors of the German property until the outbreaks were put down by the police.

Miners' Agreement Soon.

New York, April 16.—Following a conference between the soft coal operators and miners debating the miners' demand for a wage increase here, it was announced an agreement is expected today or tomorrow. Both parties are eager to reach an understanding because of the war crisis.

Would your skin stand this test?

The bright lights of an evening gathering show up mercilessly the defects of a poor complexion. But the regular use of makes it as easy to have a naturally beautiful skin as to cover up a poor one with cosmetics. It lessens the tendency to pimples, redness and roughness, and in a very short time the complexion usually becomes clear, fresh and velvety.

In severe or stubborn cases, Resinol Soap should at first be aided by a little Resinol Ointment. All druggists sell them.

SENATE TO RUSH BOND ISSUE BILL

$7,000,000,000 Measure Not to Be Debated Long.

WILL HAVE RIGHT OF WAY.

Record War Loan Act Reported Today, but Laid Over Until Tomorrow Because of Minor Amendments in the House—Army Conscription and Foreign Trade Combination Bills Reported For Quick Passage.

Washington, April 16.—Rapid progress in war legislation is planned by congress this week. The bill authorizing an issue of $5,000,000,000 in bonds and $2,000,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness, passed by the house unanimously, is the first and immediate consideration.

It was submitted today to the senate, was reported favorably almost immediately by the finance committee and will be passed not later than Tuesday, according to the expectations of the leaders. Approval virtually without opposition is regarded as certain.

Committee Acted Promptly.

To expedite the great bond issue measure, including its provision for lending $3,000,000,000 to the allies, Chairman Simmons called a meeting of the senate finance committee for this morning. The committee reported the bill to the senate shortly after it convened. While Senator Simmons will ask for its immediate consideration, it was probable that under the rules and because of house amendments the resolution will lie over until tomorrow and then have the right of way over all other business until it is passed.

The senate also received among other bills today the army's general staff amendments to the Hay-Chamberlain national defense act and the Webb bill to permit combination of exporters in foreign trade.

The advance report on the general deficiency bill, including an appropriation of $100,000,000 as an emergency fund for President Wilson to use at his discretion in prosecuting the war, will be adopted in both houses probably today.

Take Up Army Bills.

The consideration of the administration's selective draft army bill was taken up today by the senate military affairs committee. The committee has not decided whether to hold public hearings, but Secretary Baker, General Scott, chief of staff, and other army heads will continue their arguments for the legislation before committees of both houses.

The senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee, it is expected, will work simultaneously on the war tax bill. Senator Simmons said his committee would begin consideration of the treasury tax estimates as soon as the bond issue bill was passed by the senate.

Consideration also will be given by committees this week to the bill authorizing the president to operate the railroads in time of war and to measures designed to mobilize the nation's financial resources by inducing state banks to enter the federal reserve system, to increase and reorganize the Interstate Commerce Commission and to conserve and develop food resources.

After digests of the $3,000,000,000 deficiency bill report the house probably will adjourn until Wednesday to permit uninterrupted work by its committees.

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE.

Handsome Structure Planned on Site in Trenton.

Trenton, April 16.—A new Masonic temple will be built here to replace the present structure at State and Warren streets, which is about to be torn down to make a new home for the Trenton Banking Company and the Trenton Trust and Safe Deposit company. Demolition of the present temple will begin immediately after the session of the grand lodge of New Jersey in the old temple this week.

The property on Front street, including the site of the first home of the grand lodge in New Jersey, will be purchased as the site for the new temple, which, according to the present plans, will be constructed within three years. The site is adjacent to the state-house grounds and the old restored Revolutionary barracks and also adjoins the present location of the old Masonic temple, which was moved from its historic site about a year ago and given a place in Mahlon Stacy park.

FRANK ROCKEFELLER DEAD.

Youngest Brother Not on Speaking Terms With John D.

Cleveland, O., April 16.—Frank Rockefeller died here from a clot on the brain. He had not rallied from the serious surgical operation performed a month ago. He was seventy-two.

Mr. Rockefeller was the youngest brother of John D. and William A. Rockefeller. He was not on speaking terms with John D. and always protested against being referred to as "John D. Rockefeller's brother."

Frank Rockefeller was associated in the oil business for many years with his more widely known brothers. He was one of the nine presidents of the Standard Oil company. He severed business relations with these, however, and in 1890 became a stockman, acquiring a 12,000 acre farm at Belvidere, Kan.

Frequently there have been rumors that Frank and John D. had or were about to bury the hatchet; that John D. had restored the thousands of dollars that Frank asserted he had been mulcted of. But Frank Rockefeller stuck to his word never to close the breach.

SAVE DAD'S LIFE GET IT FOR HIM

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

This new drug called freezone is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freezone is sticky it dries up in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw while whitling, at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.—Adv.

Sit Up And Take Notice Now is the Time to Plant

The United States Government reports that we must supply a large part of the world with food during the Fall, Winter and Spring of 1917-18. The result will be shortage of food supplies, resulting in Higher-than-Ever prices, if not in an actual famine. To that must we do? People throughout the country are waking to see that those who prepare by having a garden, no matter how small, will eliminate to a great extent, the cost of their weekly bill for Table Vegetables. Plant every available piece of vacant land, including the small back yards.

Our line of Seeds, Fertilizers and Farming Implements are of the Long Standing Reliable Kind. We have sold them for years, the kind that have been tested and found true every year.

We are able to sell you positively fresh seeds this year without an increase in price over prices standing last year.

Storage of perishable goods was also favored. The meeting was one of several to be held throughout the State.

Joan the Woman

By Jeanie Macpherson

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALMENTS.

Joan, daughter of a peasant couple living in the village of Domremy, France, lives with pained interest of the continuous defeats that fall upon the armies of Charles VII., her young and weak king. The English have seized more than half the land.

Eric Trent, a young Englishman fighting in the France of today, finds an old sword and in the night a vision comes to him in which he sees Joan tortured by the persecutors of her France. The Burgundians and the English have sent one George de la Tremoille to Charles with instructions to keep the young King engaged in pleasures while they ravage the country. He also sends another Eric Trent, an ancestor of the present Eric into the village of Domremy at the head of a band of raiders. Only Joan is there to bid him stay his hand. The leader is impressed by the strange girl's bravery and spares the cattle of her father. As he talks to her one Gaspard, a peasant suitor of Joan, attacks him from behind. The raiders have gone on at their captain's orders, and the townspeople are beginning to return. Joan takes the wounded Englishman and hides him in a hay loft.

ERIC asks herself she knows the daisy game. She shakes her head and he explains: It is the game the daisy for the sweetest maid I know, and ask if she loves me? Joan watches Eric as he starts to pull away the daisy petals, one by one. Outside Gaspard has followed and is listening at the door. His jealousy knows no bounds as he finds that Eric is really in the loft and realizes that Joan has given HIS flowers to Eric. Eric now comes to the last two petals on the daisy repeating softly, "she loves me NOT." Joan is watching breathlessly. Eric pulls off the last petal, and looking at the eager young face so near his own, says slowly "She loves me!"

For a second both pairs of eyes look sullenly into each other's. Then the smile dies in each, and Joan, with a sudden realization that all this is growing much too dangerous, pulls back, dropping her eyes in confusion. She picks up the pitcher and in spite of Eric's appeal, hurries down. Outside, the furious Gaspard has picked up an axe and rushes in to dispose of Eric. He is met at the foot of the ladder by Joan, who is just coming down.

Gaspard, unable to proceed with Joan's scornful eyes on him, still quite raw with rage, and tells Joan he is going to tell every one that her hay loft conceals an ENGLISHMAN! Joan bids him leave her shed instantly, and Gaspard goes sullenly. Realizing that Eric must escape before Gaspard carries out his threat, Joan hurries to the loft. Here she gives Eric his sword and with difficulty overcoming his determination to meet Gaspard face to face and settle him, finally persuades the Englishman to leave. Follows a scene of parting in which Joan says a little prayer for Eric's safety and hangs her crucifix around his neck. Eric tells Joan of his love and begs her to marry him and let him take her out into the wide world which she has never seen.

Joan, listening to the calls is just about to go into Eric's arms when the Radiant Sword, the same that appeared to her in the vegetable garden begins to glow directly BETWEEN Eric and herself. Joan pulls back, awe stricken. She no longer heeds Eric who watches her surprised, but seeing what she does. When he finally fails to recall the absorbed Joan to his presence, he goes down the ladder and out, a little piqued.

Joan's eyes have never left the Radiant Sword, which hangs suspended in mid air. Back of the sword suddenly appears a vision of St. Michael, who brings his hands down on the hilt and says: "Prepare thyself, Joan, for thou art to save France and the King."

Then the vision fades from before Joan's startled eyes. The voice of Joan's mother impatiently calling the girl reaches her as she sits frightened and huddled where the vision left her. When Joan finally reaches her mother, Isambeau tells her that her father is late with the sheep and to go at once to the fields and help him. She scolds Joan for her dreamy, abstracted manner and fears that her heretofore helpful daughter is losing her mind.

Reaching her father in the woods, where he is rounding up his sheep for the night, Joan explains that "voices" have commanded her to FIGHT for her King and asks him to take her to the soldiers. Misunderstanding entirely, old Jacques angrily refuses, and in astonishment asks if she would become a "camp follower!" As Joan tries to explain, Jacques stops her and forbids her ever to bring up the topic again.

Joan is about to ask more—how she is to go—what she is to do, &c., when the vision fades. Joan—almost unnerved—is certain of but one thing—she must obey the voices that speak to her and reach the Governor! At home, when she again explains her mission, she receives only angry denouncement from her father and shocked surprise from her mother. During the quarrel which ensues, Jacques takes a large whip from the wall and starts to lash Joan. Old Laxart, usually gentle and timid, intervenes angrily, stopping Jacques.

Jacques tells him that he must keep out of his affairs or leave, and Laxart says he will leave with the dawn. After the rest of the family have gone to bed, Laxart sits dozing in the fire-light alone. Joan, meantime, having done up her clothes in a bundle and bade her little sister farewell, starts out of the house. Laxart, rousing, hears her, makes her stop and tell him why she is leaving. She explains about the voices and, insisting that she must save the King before it is too late, begs him to take her to the Governor. Moved by her great earnestness and conviction, Laxart finally gives in, and together they start out into the night.

Joan and Laxart reach Robert de Beaudricourt, Governor of the Province; and after overcoming many obstacles, obtain an interview with him. This ends in the Governor's telling Laxart to "box this hussy's ears and send her home to her spinning!" But Joan, far from daunted, tries several times again. Finally, through the help of Jean de Metz, one of the Governor's young captains, who has been won over to believing in Joan and her mission, she succeeds in getting another interview with de Beaudricourt. This time Laxart remains at the tavern, waiting.

Joan pleads long with Robert, saying that God has commanded her to go to the King that he might grant her men-at-arms; that she is to drive the English from France and win for Charles his crown. Robert whips out a sword and replies that if she has REALLY come from God, to show him what answer He would make to that! Joan turns to de Metz, takes his small poignard, and with a strange light glowing in her face strikes the blade of Robert's mighty sword. It crashes into bits!

Robert is astounded, and a little frightened; and as Joan pleads again he promises her a guard, headed by Jean de Metz, to take her to the King. De Metz is to tell Charles that "Robert de Beaudricourt's sword has withstood all blows but the Maid's!"

The problem of Joan's riding a hundred leagues in petticoats now presents itself, but is solved by fitting her in a page's outfit; and Joan starts for the first time in man's clothes.

The strange little party of horsemen leave Beaudricourt's gate to ride to the King's castle at Chinon. Old Laxart, very anxious indeed, after bidding his niece farewell, watches her leave on her strange mission to the King, with only de Metz's pledge that she shall be guarded safely.

Meantime, the day of Joan's wedding to Gaspard has come in Domremy and Gaspard has arrived with the old priest, to marry Joan. When the still angry Jacques and grief-stricken mother tell him that Joan has gone to the soldiers, he leaves in high dudgeon. To think that Joan should prefer anything to marrying him!

At Chinon, Joan changes back to her peasant garb while de Metz goes to the extravagant Court of Charles which the money of Tremoille, "The Spider," has purchased. Tremoille is now the power behind the throne, having been made Prime Minister by the grateful Charles, who is too much absorbed with arranging hunting parties and balls to bother with affairs of state. Tremoille and the Court are amused by de Metz's tale of the peasant who wishes to lead an army for the King!

But the King himself is impressed by the pieces of Beaudricourt's broken sword, and decides to see Joan. Tremoille, at once suspicious of this strange maiden, suggests that if she is really of God she will be able to find him, Charles, among the crowd.

Charles, failing in with the ruse, places Tremoille on his throne to represent the King, while he himself stands by, among the courtiers. Joan, who at last is to see her King, comes to Court. She is formally announced by trumpets, and finally finds herself in the great audience chamber of the King. Half fearfully she looks around; then taking courage, starts down the long aisle of beautifully dressed ladies and gentlemen who stare at her peasant dress.

Then, as she sees her King's throne at last, all her timidity is forgotten and she feels only the urgency of her mission. All watch her eagerly as she approaches the steps of the throne. There is a smile of triumph on the "Spider's" face which turns to a sudden frown as Joan suddenly hesitates just as she is about to kneel. The voices—close at her ear—are whispering that is NOT the King.

BUTTONS

In considering the great army of the unemployed let us not forget buttons. No question about it, there are too many idle buttons in the world. Thousands—yes, millions of them, loaf around on clothes with nothing to do. They congregate in lone, silent rows on men's coat-sleeves. They swarm on women's gowns, running aimlessly up and down seams and around collars without a buttonhole to their name. The worst-thing about buttons is they're never where they belong. No sooner do we get a bevy of them engaged in useful occupation on trousers, shirts and underwear than they begin to fly off and hide under beds and in other out-of-the-way places, waiting their chance to flock uselessly upon some already button-ridden article of apparel. The average button is a nomad, a ne'er-do-well. The vast majority of them simply will not go into a buttonhole and go to work. We favor Government regulation of non-productive buttons. There ought to be a commission appointed to control them.

The straight and narrow path is all to the good, but you'll find the biggest crowd on the great white boulevard.

Many a young man fails in love with a girl who doesn't exist, soon finding that it is a case of mistaken identity.

Bread is the staff of life, but that doesn't justify a man in making his existence a continuous loaf.

SAMPTOWN NAVAL BATTLE ON AGAIN

"Ward's Wreckers" and "Masked Marvels" Stage Baseball Fight

(By JOE)

The battle of Samptown Navy Yard, the sightless wonder of the world, was fought all over again yesterday, with the invaders making an unsuccessful attack on the first line trenches. While this conflict did not total such a large score as the previous mix-up, there was no shortage of heavy hitting. Each player hit everything in sight, but many quickly demonstrated that their eyesight was poor. The score card shows a tally of 8 to 6.

The home team, known as Ward's Wreckers, was particularly clever with the bat, while the invaders—"masked marvels," as they were—contributed no small share of the noise which Samptown citizens declare to be very annoying at times. The umpire was the coolest man on the field, and although his supply of pencils was quickly exhausted, his diligent labors made this chronicle possible. The opposing pitchers were Joe McEvoy and Bob Bauer.

Each admits that the only thing he had on the ball was the stitches, although on one or two occasions the contention that the high wind produced slightly visible curves was hotly objected to. The work of the opposing shortstops drew forth considerable praise from the select gallery of admirals," "commodores" and other people. "Get him a basket" was a popular admonition.

For the publication of this rather ineffective effort at newspaper writing we are duly thankful to the sporting editor, who knows a good story when he sees it—and he doesn't wear glasses, either.

FORMER MANAGER SCORES PINK TEAS

Fred Clarke Discusses the Evils Which Followed Introduction in Ball Circles

Fred Clarke, winner of four pennants and one world's championship with the Pittsburg Club of the National League, in an interview at Louisville, Ky., the other day deplored the "pink tea" tactics that have found their way into baseball. Clarke, who has retired from the game, feels he is qualified to point out weak spots in the national pastime.

The game, he says, lacks aggressiveness; there is too much brotherly love and fraternizing among the players. Players on opposing teams should be friends, he maintains, but not in the ball park.

"The fight between Ty Cobb and Herzog in Dallas, Tex., will do more to draw crowds than anything that could have happened," Clarke said. "Of course, I do not approve of fist fighting on the field, as was staged at Dallas, but I would like to see more aggressiveness and less of this brotherly love stuff."

Clarke believes that golf is vastly over-rated as a means for improving the hitting of a ball player.

"The golf itself does not hurt a man's batting, and may improve it," he said, "but I think that a player has all he can do to play baseball for six months without looking for more work. That extra exertion spent in trudging around a golf course is too much if you are playing ball. If a man should play golf all morning he would sap up energy that should be expended at the ball park in the afternoon.

"That is why I never played golf as long as I was in baseball. Since I retired in 1915, however, I have taken up the game and play a great deal."

Concerning the retirement of Hans Wagner, the veteran shortstop of the Pittsburg club, Clarke said that Wagner could go back 90 per cent. and still be above the average player.

Clarke has announced that he is ready and willing to lead or join a Rough Rider regiment. Clarke, who is wealthy, will help equip, as well as recruit, the regiment.

BRANCH RICKEY DEAL SETTLED

Branch Rickey is now the official and undisputed president of the St. Louis National League baseball club. Attorneys of the club consented to the lodgment of a permanent injunction against Rickey by the court at St. Louis without evidence being heard, this being contingent upon a subsequent agreement between the factions that have been fighting over Rickey's place in St. Louis baseball.

The agreement specified that the American League club retiree Rickey of the injunction twenty-four hours after it had been granted—on condition that the National club would not attempt to contract until after July 1 with Legore of Yale, Brandel of Michigan and Wright of Ohio State University.

The agreement further specified that Rickey was to use his best efforts to have the National League team turn over to the Americans Clyde Defate, an infielder.

DARCY-SMITH BOUT OFF

New Orleans, April 16.—The proposed 20-round bout scheduled to be held here April 23 between Les Darcy, of Australia, and Jeff Smith, of New York, will not take place, according to an announcement made last night after a meeting of the directors of an athletic club that had arranged the match.

It was said that Young Ahearn would be substituted for Darcy.

FIVE CHAMPION PLAINFIELD SETTERS

The Meadowview Kennels, owned by A. G. Mooley, of this city, has entered five English setters, two of whom are champions, in the Newark Kennel Club show to be held in Newark Saturday, April 21.

These setters have been shown all over the United States and have been winners wherever exhibited. Airedale terrier classes have an entry of forty-three dogs, the largest number ever having been brought out in this breed in Newark exhibits.

DAVENPORT IN BAD SHAPE

Dave Davenport is alive to tell the tale—how a rifle slipped from his grip several weeks ago, fell to the floor and exploded its contents in his frame above the waist line. He's alive, and he says he will be ready to pitch at least fourteen days after he reports to the St. Louis Americans.

If his forecast comes true—"I'll pitch for Fielder Jones two weeks after I start to practice"—he will fool those who have seen him walking with a limp and in anything but perfect physical condition. In fact, it will be a miracle if Dave Davenport retains his superhuman strength to pitch double-headers and win them.

HIGH BRIDGE WINS OVER ALUMNI TEAM

School Boys Take the Long End of a 9 to 5 Score in Fast Game

Special Correspondence:

High Bridge, April 16.—The High Bridge High School baseball team played the High School Stars, a team of Alumni, Saturday and defeated it by the score of 9 to 5.

During the first four innings the Stars succeeded in making a good showing. At the end of the fourth the score was 5 to 2 in favor of the stars. The High School team recovered its batting eye at the end of the seventh. Burke started things by sending a single over second base. O'Rourke got to first, forcing Burke to second. The third man filed to the third baseman, who muffed it, allowing the bases to become filled. Dorland walked two men, thereby forcing in two runs.

TAYLOR WINS FIRST INDIVIDUAL BOWLING HONORS OF CITY LEAGUE

Voorhees and Vail Complete "Big Three" of Local Circuit, in List of Averages—O'Keeffe and Gates Second and Third in High Scores

George Taylor, who has been holding down the leadership of the individual bowlers of the City Bowling League practically all season, is the winner of first honors in this respect for the campaign of the season of 1916-17, according to the final official averages of the circuit given out this morning by George Howe, secretary of the organization.

Taylor has been in the Knights of Columbus line-up all season and has participated in every league game of his team during the whole of the circuit's play. He secured an average of 183.17, with a high score of 248.

Voorhees of the North Plainfield Imperials came in second with an average of 181.32, and Vail of the Elks third with a chalking of 181.17. J. O'Keeffe of the St. Mary's T. A. B. Society was next to Taylor in the high individual score for the season at 245, while Gates of the Imperials came third with a marking of 244.

BOROUGH SCHOOL LADS TAKE BACON

N. P. H. S. Wins Over Roselle Parks in Somewhat of a Sluggish Contest

North Plainfield High School had an easy time against the Roselle Park High School lads on Hyde Oval Saturday afternoon, defeating them 9 to 1 in a slow and uninteresting contest. Sid Dunning worked on the mound for N. P. H. S., and the R. P. diamond men were able to garner only three hits off his delivery. Scarborough took his place in the ninth, and after striking out the first two batsmen that faced him retired the third man, who tapped to first.

The visiting team consisted of one real ball player, Cavanaugh, the pitcher, who managed to hold his own against the borough nine for the first two frames by some crackerjack twirling, tightening up in both sessions with three men on the tracks and fanning the batter for a third out. Errors by his team mates and a fusilade of hits from the borroughites' bats started the explosion in the third and North Plainfield crossed the platter four times.

Auburn was at the fifth on a scorcher to short. He stole second and came in on Dunning's safe drive to left centre. In the half of the same frame Roselle Park came through with a counter on an error by one of the N. P. H. S. gardeners, Scott, Schaik; Covaleskie, James, Mitchell, Couch, Spencer.

COBB STIRRED TO THE FIGHTING BY JIBES

Investigation of incidents which led up to the bout at Dallas, Tex., between Ty Cobb and Charley Herzog, settled by two days of riding by the Giants, lost his temper when he slid into second base ana spiked Herzog. His action in leaving the Tigers and refusing to take part in the exhibition games probably could be traced to the same cause.

Then chaffing which started Ty's temper upward began at Ft. Worth, where, after Cobb had reached third base on a hit, John McGraw began to open up. Cobb previously had been hearing various slurring remarks from the Giant bench and he warned McGraw that if he didn't cease there would be serious trouble.

"My little Jew, Herzog, will attend to any trouble that comes up," Cobb declared McGraw said to him.

And then came the next day, with Herzog's tongue and those of his team mates working overtime in an effort to rume Cobb. And when he went into second base he went in loaded for Herzog. Fletcher, Cobb charges, helped things along by dashing in and grabbing a handful of Cobb's hair. Fletcher maintained he was trying to separate the combatants. In the hotel that night Cobb walked to Herzog's table and asked him if he had taken enough and Herzog declared himself ready to finish the mill, with the result that Cobb was invited New Yorker to a hot room at 8.05. Then he told McGraw.

McGraw flew into a rage when he heard that Cobb and Herzog were going to have it out and began to upbraid him.

"In all my twenty-seven years of baseball I never saw anything dirtier than you accomplished this afternoon," he told Cobb, and continued his tirade by telling the Georgian Tris Speaker had kicked his pedestal from under him.

"I'm too much of a gentleman to fight you in this hotel lobby," Cobb told him, "but if you'll leave with me I'll ruin you." He turned on his heel and went to do battle with Herzog. Herzog admitted satisfaction after he had been given a fairly good beating, and the men shook hands and left.

Ty's action in quitting the team after this probably was due to a desire to avoid trouble.

FORMER LOCAL STARS IN JERSEY CITY GAME

Jimmy Clinton, the former Central New Jersey League star pitcher at Somerville, was touched up in lively fashion at Jersey City, where he twirled for the Independents against the New York Yankees. Twelve hits were secured off the Somerville boy. Clinton also gave three free passes to first and struck out seven men.

Joe Harter, outfielder, and Stallings, who played for the old Plainfield team under Dave Driscoll, who is now managing the Jersey City Independents in the days of the old Central League, were also in the line-up yesterday with Clinton. Both secured a hit, the latter securing two put-outs and an assist.

CITY LEAGUE MEETING

An important meeting of the Plainfield City Baseball League will be held this evening at the home of Secretary Dan Randolph, at which time the adoption of a schedule and the appointment of umpires will take place. Well-founded rumors have it that applications from two more clubs will be filed at this time, although no official information on the subject is at hand at this writing.

Y. W. C. A. "TAG DAY" ON SATURDAY

The Young Women's Christian Association has completed plans for a "tag day" celebration on Saturday, the proceeds of which will be used for the work of the association. All the members who can devote the day to the work will comprise a large committee of "taggers." They will appear very early Saturday morning and arrange to meet the commuter trains, and if it is also proposed to tag automobiles as well as people.

The association feels that while there are many outside needs which are demanding help from Plainfielders, the association should not be neglected. In case of emergency the association would no doubt be called upon to do its little bit in helping to care for the needy and for this reason it is necessary that its funds be replenished at this time.

MORE STRENGTH FOR FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

If all the old people in Plainfield realized what Vinol will do for them, we would not be able to get enough of it to supply the demand. We quote from a recent letter received from Mrs. A. E. Carson, of Kingston, N. Y.

She says:—"I am 89 years of age, and had been ailing for a long time with indigestion. I got rundown, was weak, dizzy and could not sleep at night. I consulted two doctors who said I had hardening of the arteries and at my age could not expect to be strong again. My daughter would give me no peace until I tried Vinol, as it had done so much for her. I have taken five bottles and my health and strength have come back, so I am able to do all the housework for my family of four, and I am recommending Vinol to all my friends."

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace building strength with renewed vigor, viz.: beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates, glycerophosphates, and a mild tonic wine.

FIFTY-FIVE APPLY FOR IDLE LAND

Plainfield Families Gladly Accept Offers of Ground for Growing Vegetables

As a result of the offer made by James Nash, of West Front street, through the Courier-News Saturday, fifty-five applicants called on Mr. Nash Saturday night and yesterday, seeking the use of the grounds he offered free for the raising of vegetables. All were deserving persons.

The first two secured the ground on Everett place, and will raise turnips, potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes and winter onions. One of the men, after attending church, came back with his wife and family, to assure Mr. Nash of the support he had in working the land. This family began work right away.

Mr. Nash feels that everyone who can should join in bringing about the use of idle ground in this city, in accordance with the suggestion of the mayor to avoid all waste, and to utilize every facility for food production. There are hundreds of acres of idle land in plots of various dimensions in and about Plainfield, which could be made to turn crops that are absolutely needed. Hundreds of thrifty people are looking for such opportunities and need only the information as to where such are available. They do not know just where to reach the owners.

The matter should be strongly agitated so that the land owners and willing hands can be brought together. It would be well to help these willing workers to procure seed, like cabbage, lettuce, onions and potatoes. Idle horses and plows that are rusting should be offered for use at this time.

It is of no use to say the food supply is controlled for speculation, for this is not wholly true, but there is a real food shortage, and everyone should be up and doing.

Mr. Nash says he believes the mayor would be personally interested in seeing that any contributed seed reaches the proper places.

Garret T. Dunham, overseer of the poor, is desirous of securing land additional to the city farm, which the inmates can work in helping support themselves.

The railroad has considerable land around the stations which could be utilized for vegetables in place of flowers and grass.

MEN'S CLUB HONORS THE LADIES

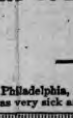
Patriotic Banquet Held Last Night at Seventh Day Baptist Church

Patriotism was the keynote last evening at the banquet given by the Men's Club of the Seventh Day Baptist Church to the ladies of the church. Even the menu cards contained quotations from our country's patriots, and in the Sabbath school where this affair was held, Old Glory was everywhere in evidence. After the opening prayer by the Rev. Edwin Shaw, the entire assemblage sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and then sat down to a splendid collation, furnished by a committee headed by John Cottrell. About 100 enjoyed the supper served, at 6.30 o'clock.

George M. Clarke, president of the club, made a most capable toastmaster, introducing the speakers, whose themes were appropriate to the occasion. The first speaker was the Rev. Lester C. Randolph, of Milton, Wis., and he was followed by the Rev. Dr. Theo. L. Gardiner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder; Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of city schools, and Orra S. Rogers. Between the speeches the banqueters sang patriotic airs.

A war game was played at the close by the entire gathering and proved very interesting. Roy Titsworth pleasingly rendered as a solo "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and in conclusion the song "America" was sung by all present.

AN OPERATION AVERTED



Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I soon noticed a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. Thos. McGonigal, 3432 Hartville Street, Phila., Pa.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic science. A stamped envelope must be necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

Now that the maple sap is running, look up the actual facts and you will find that most of our so-called maple syrup comes from sugar cane. The two are practically the same, as regards purity and wholesomeness, but cane sugar is not maple sugar and should not be labeled as such. Maple sugar from the cane is from forty to forty-five cents a quart cheaper than maple sap syrup.

If you can buy maple syrup at a reasonable price, in its season, do so and bottle it yourself. To make a success of this, the syrup must be bottled while hot, in air-tight bottles, preferably in pint size, for it very soon loses its flavor when left open. Following are some particularly good recipes for the use of maple sugar and syrup:

Lunch Cakes

One cupful of maple sugar, one-quarter of a cupful of butter, three-quarters of a cupful of sweet milk, one egg, two cupfuls of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Cream butter and sugar, add the beaten egg, milk and the flour sifted with the baking powder. Mix well and bake in well-greased muffin pans. Chopped nuts may be added, if desired.

Maple Frosting

One cupful of maple syrup, half a cupful of white sugar and the stiffly whipped white of one egg. Boil syrup and sugar until the mixture forms a soft ball when tried in cold water, remove from the fire, pour on the stiffly whipped egg whites and beat constantly until it thickens.

Cream Maple Sugar Frosting

Two cupfuls of soft maple sugar and one cupful of cream. Break the sugar into small pieces, put in a saucepan with the cream and stir occasionally until the sugar is dissolved. Boil, without stirring, until a soft ball can be formed with the fingers, when tried in cold water. Then remove from the fire and beat until of the right consistency to spread.

Maple Marshmallow Frosting

One cupful of maple sugar, half a cupful of boiling water, the whites of two eggs, half a pound of marshmallows, two extra tablespoonfuls of boiling water and half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Cook sugar and water without stirring until it threads from the spoon. Pour the syrup in a fine stream on the stiffly whipped egg whites, beating constantly meanwhile. Set the saucepan over a moderate heat for a moment until the egg is set and add the marshmallows cut into bits and melted with the two tablespoonfuls of hot water. Remove from the fire, flavor with the extract and beat occasionally until thick enough to spread.

Maple Rocks

Three eggs, one and a half cupfuls of maple sugar, three-quarters of a cupful of shortening, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one cupful of chopped and seeded raisins, two and a half cupfuls of flour, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder and one cupful of chopped nut meats. Drop from the tip of a spoon upon a buttered baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven.

Colonial Bread Cake

Two cupfuls of risen bread dough, half a cupful of butter, one and a half cupfuls of maple sugar, two eggs, half a teaspoonful of baking soda, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of powdered cloves, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of mace, half a teaspoonful of nutmeg, one cupful of seeded raisins and one-quarter of a cupful of sliced citron. Take the dough when light and ready to shape into loaves, beat hard, add the other ingredients. Beat again and pour into a greased tube pan. Bake when the cake has doubled in bulk, in an oven a little cooler than that used for bread. Ice when cold with a boiled frosting. This cake will keep fresh for some time.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

UNGRATEFUL MIMI

One day an old witch found a little beggar girl asleep near her cave, and, pitying the poor child, she decided she would change her cave into a beautiful house and that the little beggar could live with her.

It happened that this witch had once been a fairy, but she had tired of flitting hither and thither and had asked the Fairy Queen to change her into a witch so she could live in the beautiful woods all the time.

All witches are not bad, you know, any more than mortals, and this one was very good and kind and always helped everyone who came her way.

So she waved her cane over her cave and there appeared a beautiful mansion of white marble with a big door in the center and long windows opening on a great porch, which ran all the way around the house.

This marble mansion was in the midst of a beautiful garden of flowers and trees and there were fountains playing all about and birds singing in the trees so that when the beggar girl awoke she thought she was in Fairyland.

The witch had changed herself into an old lady with white hair, and, while she still wore a black dress and leaned on a cane, she did not look at all like a witch.

"Where am I?" asked the little Mimi. I forgot to tell you the beggar girl's name before.

"You are in your garden," answered the old lady. "I have taken you to live with me. This is to be your home now."

Mimi was as happy as a girl could be, for she found dresses and hats and shoes and stockings and ribbons and laces and jewels in her room in the mansion when the servants showed her where she was to sleep.

Mimi had a handsome carriage drawn by two black horses, and when she grew tired of those there were white ones to take the place of the black.

She went to balls and parties and dressed and lived like a little princess, and that would bring happiness to any little girl, and to this little beggar girl it all seemed like a dream for a while.

But by and by she grew used to all the splendor and grew proud and haughty, and if she saw a beggar at the gate she told the servants to send him away.

She forgot all about the good old lady who had given her all these beautiful things, and by and by, when a prince came along and fell in love with her pretty face—for Mimi was beautiful—she married him and went away with him without thought for the old lady she was leaving all alone in the mansion.

But the old lady was still a witch and held her magic power, and, while she was kind and good, she knew Mimi ought to be punished for being so ungrateful.

So the old lady changed herself into a witch again and the handsome mansion back to her cave, and the flowers and fountains disappeared. Then she changed a rock into an invisible horse with wings and away she flew after the Prince and Mimi.

She arrived at the palace where the Prince lived just as they were driving in through the gate, and while they could not see her, she could see the ungrateful Mimi sitting beside the Prince, haughty and proud.

She waved her cane before Mimi, who thought it was a passing breeze that brushed her face, and as it was dark, the Prince did not see the face of his bride until they entered the hall to the palace.

Then he gave a start, and all the servants fled from her, for instead of her beautiful face Mimi wore the face of a withered old witch.

"What is this you have done?" said the Prince in a rage. "You have deceived me. You are a witch instead of a beautiful woman. Be gone from here. I will not have a witch for a wife."

Poor Mimi was driven from the palace and she slept all night in the woods instead of the palace where she had expected to be mistress.

In the morning she found her way back to the place where she had lived, but the mansion and beautiful grounds had disappeared and she saw only a cave with an old witch sitting in front of the door nodding.

The old witch told her she could live there if she wished. Mimi was so grateful for shelter and kindness, now that she was in such terrible trouble, that the witch almost forgave her then and there. She knew, however, that Mimi needed a lesson, so she let her wear the withered face for a year, and then one day she changed her withered face to her own beautiful face and the cave into the mansion, just as it had been.

Mimi was no longer proud and haughty. She was kind to the beggar who came to her door and no longer neglected the old lady who had given her all the comforts and beautiful home.

One day the old lady said: "We will drive to the palace of your husband. I am sure he will be expecting you."

"He no longer loves me," said Mimi, "and I do not deserve to have him love me."

"We will see," said the old lady.

And the next thing Mimi knew she was standing on the steps of the mansion with her husband, just as she did the day she had left the old lady without a word or thanks or thought for her comfort.

But now she was saying: "I cannot leave this dear old lady, who has been so kind to me. She must go with us."

And the Prince said she should live with them in the palace the rest of her days.

So the old lady drove away with them and the Prince never seemed to know he had been separated from his bride a year, for fairies and good witches can make all things as they wish, for it is always for the happiness of others they use their magic skill.

Tomorrow's story—"Tim Kitten's Wish."

JOAN THE WOMAN" AT PROCTOR'S TODAY

"Joan the Woman," Cecil B. De Mille's marvelous spectacular photoplay production opens an engagement of three days at Proctor's local theatre today with Geraldine Farrar, the noted operatic favorite, in the leading role of Joan of Arc. In order to present this production on the elaborate scale it so justly deserves and enhance its attractive value for the patrons the management of Proctor's have secured a special symphony orchestra to interpret the music score written especially for "Joan the Woman." This is no ordinary picture, nor is it an ordinary spectacle, but seems to be far ahead of its time, marking a new era in the perfection of the photoplay and opening up a new avenue upon which future directors will travel the way to the hearts of the populace.

"Joan the Woman" is truly a remarkable production. It can be appreciated only by being seen. A continuous performance will prevail daily and three complete shows will be offered at 1:45, 5 and 8 p. m. No seats will be reserved and patrons are urged to attend the matinees and avoid the crowds. The scale of prices has been arranged to suit all purses.

On Friday and Saturday Charlie Chaplin will appear at Proctor's in his latest comedy success, "The Cure."

"MIDNIGHT MAIDENS" HERE THIS EVENING

The most pretentious burlesque of the season comes tonight to the Plainfield Theatre. "The Midnight Maidens" began a season of new triumph better fitted to please than ever before. The vehicle selected is entitled "Stolen Sweets" which abounds in hilarious fun and catchy music, with a piquant sauce of entrancing girls.

The cast, which is an unusual one for burlesque, includes Harry Hearn, Chas. Cardon, Hoe Flynn, George Gilday, W. J. Hoyt, Miss Annette Link, Miss Ella Travoto. A number of high class vaudeville acts will form an olio that may well be classed with the big time vaudeville theatre.

The entertainment will close with a skit in two scenes of fast and furious fun entitled "Wine, Women and Song." During the first part an innovation will be offered called "Have You Seen Stella?" because, if you have not you have missed half the joy of living.

BLANCHE BATES HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

The annual benefit production for Dave Rogers, treasurer of the Plainfield Theatre, will be presented tomorrow night by Blanche Bates and Wilton Lackaye starring in a notable cast in the popular play "Eleven P. M."

The pivot of the story is Fanny Lear, who, with her mother, Rosa Lombard, left California when the former was a very young girl and went to Paris. There Fanny led a rather fast life, and was at one time the favorite of the Follies Bergere. She met Richard, Earl of Kew, and enjoyed her first romance.

She loved the young scion of nobility devotedly and they were married. The Earl would not allow her to tell him of her past. They go to Normandy, where Fanny has secretly planned they shall meet the earl's parents. The Duke and Duchess of Oldacres were slow to accept Fanny, even at her face value, until she tells the old duke, who has been a soldier, that her father was a soldier in the same wars.

ORGANIZATIONS HELP

Alumnae Association, Special Aid Society, Boy Scouts, Relief Committee, etc., Offer Assistance

A short time ago the Muhlenberg Hospital authorities were asked by the Government as to the bed capacity that could be furnished in case of an emergency. They replied that 10 beds would be placed at the disposal of the Government at once; 25 beds more on twenty-four hours' notice, and greater capacity on reasonable notice. This is an excellent response to the present needs, and it is made without impairing the facilities for taking care of ordinary and usual local requirements.

To meet this emergency demand it was necessary to ask various organizations for assistance.

Through the Alumnae Association of the Training School of Muhlenberg Hospital 26 graduate nurses (20 of whom are graduates of Muhlenberg Training School) volunteered their services.

Through the National Special Aid Society 59 ladies offered their services as nurses' aids, to assist the graduate nurses and to relieve them of some of the work not requiring technical training.

Through the Boy Scouts the hospital in emergency will be provided with 10 young men for such service as may be needed for messenger and other work.

In the preparedness work it is of course necessary to provide additional equipment and supplies, and

CO-OPERATION IS URGED

The State Trust Company Offers to Assist in Increasing the Products of the Soil Here

The State Trust Company, realizing that from the present outlook there will be a great food shortage throughout the country unless drastic measures are resorted to in tilling every available foot of land, and also realizing that there are many people who could cultivate garden patches if the land were made available to them and, further, that the owners of vacant lots and acreage from property owners as well as applications from persons who would like land apportioned to them for cultivation,

Property listings or applications for land may be by letter or in person, and will receive prompt attention.

The above action of The State Trust Company was largely prompted by a letter received yesterday from The National City Bank of New York, regarding the question of food supplies for the future. This letter which has been sent to the correspondent banks and is addressed to the public, is as follows:

"In our monthly bulletin we have repeatedly pressed upon public attention the gravity of the situation which now confronts the world in the scarcity of food supplies, but we would not feel that we had done our duty if we did not utter a final word of warning and of appeal upon the

OFFERS 60 ACRES FOR CULTIVATION

J. B. Schwabacher of New York to Allow Use of Holly Crest Tract

J. B. Schwabacher, of New York, owner of the Holly Crest Realty tract, has offered to Mayor Calkins the free use of this sixty-acre plot of land for cultivation by citizens of this city to whom the Mayor may assign one or more lots as in his judgment seems appropriate.

Mr. Schwabacher, when seen by a representative of the Courier-News, yesterday, said:

"I wanted to see Mayor Calkins this morning, but arrived at his office after he had left. I shall call upon him at his New York office tomorrow. The sixty acres of the Holly Crest tract is virgin soil. It was formerly the Plainfield Driving Park, located near the Plainfield Country Club, and is easily accessible to the Arlington avenue trolley line, which runs to Hillside.

"I am intensely interested in the agricultural preparedness movement and would consider it a crime did I permit this tract of land to lie idle this summer, particularly when the President, Governor of every State, and the Mayors of cities are urging the people to raise more foodstuffs that we may feed ourselves and those with whom we are co-operating in the war.

"It has occurred to me that there must be a goodly number of people in Plainfield who might utilize my land in the production of crops. Mechanics are working only eight hours a day, and two hours' work in the open air cultivating a garden would be of the greatest physical and economical benefit to them. When an individual raises what he consumes he permits a greater distribution among those engaged in other lines of activity, than agricultural pursuits.

"The time was a few years ago when every householder cultivated his own garden and raised enough produce to feed his family during the growing season, and stored enough for several months.

"That was in the day of cheaper living. The cost of living did not begin to increase until we failed to utilize our land to the fullest extent. We shall have to do it now, and in order that I may not feel guilty of having failed in this great national emergency, I am going to turn over to the Mayor of Plainfield sixty acres on the southern edge of the city to be cultivated.

"I want no pay for the use of this land, and shall not ask for any part of the crops raised thereon.

"The tract is cut up into building lots with streets running through it, and it ought to attract those who want a garden of their own."

COUNCIL AWARDS PAVING CONTRACTS

J. C. Bentley to Lay Concrete —Newark Paving Co. Brick

The Common Council last night awarded to J. C. Bentley, of Elizabeth, a contract for laying concrete pavement in certain streets and parts of streets and installing brick pavement in Madison avenue, between West Front and West Second streets. The contract for laying brick pavement on streets and parts of streets was awarded to the Newark Paving Company.

It is the intention of the Council to extend the brick pavement on West Front street from Madison avenue to Washington avenue; on East Fourth street, from Watchung avenue to East Sixth street; on East Fifth street from Watchung avenue to Richmond street, and on Park avenue, from West Fourth street to West Seventh street. The concrete pavement will be laid on Park avenue between West Seventh street and West Ninth street; Crescent avenue, from Sixth street to Ninth street; East Seventh street, from Watchung avenue to Park avenue, and thence to Grant avenue.

The contractors are reputable men who have done work of this kind in several cities.

Many of the streets to be improved have been torn up for the installation of storm sewers and it would have cost a considerable amount to put them in shape. The Council decided that the ends of economy would be best served by putting down a permanent pavement that will stand the strain of automobile

E. A. LAING CLOSES IMPORTANT DEAL

One of the important business deals of the year was closed yesterday when Edward A. Laing, the hewdealer and stationer, leased a portion of his store on West Front street to Syman Hirsch, the ladies' tailor, who after extensive alterations are made will occupy the store. He expects to take possession on June 1. Mr. Laing will have plans prepared at once when the work of alteration will be started and rushed to completion.

The store has a frontage of fifty feet and Mr. Hirsch will have twenty feet on the east side of the building. An attractive new front will be built giving Mr. Hirsch ample room for window display as well as commodious quarters inside.

In connection with this change, Mr. Laing will effect an extension on that part of the building which he will continue to occupy. This will be 30x50 and will cover the land he owns directly back of the building, giving him plenty of room for his stationery business and the wholesale newspaper business in which he has been engaged for a number of years.

The new arrangement will give Mr. Laing a far better interior than at present and the entire business will be on one floor. He has been at his present location fifteen years and recently had a number of attractive offers to divide and lease a part of his store, but the one made by Mr. Hirsch is considered the most advantageous for both parties.

GIRL'S ASSAILANTS BEFORE COURT

Judge DeMeza Held Two for Grand Jury—Gave Others Sixty Days

Police Lieutenant Higgins and Patrolman Martin Walsh yesterday afternoon arrested Michael Comisky, John Boyle, Edward Conkling and Joseph Vitelli, young men whose ages range between 21 and 23 years old, charged with an attempt to commit an atrocious assault upon Sophie Costa, age eighteen, an Austrian girl employed in a Central avenue residence, on Randolph road, at 9:20 o'clock last Sunday night.

The girl was sent by her employer to Nagle's drug store in West Front street, corner of Grove street. She was unfamiliar with the city, having only been here three days, and was told to walk down Central avenue to West Front street, where she would find the drug store on the opposite corner.

The girl arrived at the drug store, made her purchase, but when she came out she became confused and walked down to Front street and Madison avenue. The four men stood on the corner and Vitelli asked her if she was lost. She replied that she wanted to find Central avenue. On the pretext of taking her to that street, he walked her to Madison avenue and Randolph road, where he attempted to assault her. Conkling, Comisky and Boyle followed them out. The girl put up a good fight, even Vitelli found that she was more than a match for him. Boyle undertook to help overpower her, and he, too, was beaten off.

The girl was screaming all the while and Conkling and Comisky ran away. Seeing them run down the street Boyle and Vitelli also fled. The girl made her way back to the place where she is employed, and reported to her mistress, who immediately notified the police.

The girl could not give a description of her assailants, but Higgins saw Comisky standing near the post office yesterday afternoon, and detected in his face evidence of guilt, so he immediately placed him under arrest. Conkling, we are told, was arrested by Walsh. From them the police learned who the other two were, and they were arrested by Higgins and Walsh last night.

In the city court this morning Judge De Meza held Boyle and Vitelli for the grand jury under bonds of $5,000 each, and sentenced Comisky and Conkling each to serve sixty days in the county jail.

In passing upon the case Judge De Meza told the men that they were social parasites, and that they should be put in a chain gang and made to work for a living.

FIRST ACT OF HOSTILITIES ON U. S. SINCE WAR WAS DECLARED

By United Press:

Boston, April 17.—A German torpedo was launched at a naval vessel, the U. S. S. destroyer Smith, from a submarine at 12.28 o'clock this morning, in the first engagement of the war, according to a wireless message received at Charlestown Navy Yard.

The torpedo missed and the submarine quickly disappeared. The destroyer was not damaged, but was unable to trace the enemy undersea boat.

This was the first appearance of a belligerent submarine in American waters since the United States entered the war. The wireless message came from Fire Island, off southern New England, and was relaid to the Navy Yard here by the scout cruiser Chester, which gave her position as latitude 40, longitude 73, which is about 120 miles due east of Barnegat.

The fact that the submarine is in adjacent waters, still probably well armed, caused a great stir in shipping and naval circles all along the coast.

The scout cruiser Chester is the flagship of the big patrol fleet now guarding the coast. The number of vessels on duty is not known, but it is known that both American and British ships are engaged in protecting the coast from Halifax to points far south.

UNAUTHORIZED USE OF GUARD UNIFORMS

Law Against Wearing Any Insignia of State Soldiers to be Strictly Enforced

Trenton, April 17.—Unauthorized use of the uniform of the National Guard having led to considerable confusion and trouble since the Guard was called to the colors, Adjutant General Barber announced today that steps would be taken at once strictly to enforce the law against the wearing of the uniform or any insignia of the State soldiers, except by those authorized to wear them. There is both a State and a Federal statute prohibiting the unauthorized wearing of the uniform or insignia.

The State law, which was just re-enacted in the new revision of the military law, provides that any person who shall wear any uniform or any device, strap, knot or insignia of any design or character used by the National Guard, except those authorized to wear them, shall pay a fine of $100 for each offense; such violations to be prosecuted by a Judge Advocate of the State Military Department.

Adjutant General Barber said today that in some plants of the State Guards had been employed since the state of war with Germany was declared and have equipped them with military uniforms to make their work more effective. Other cases have also been reported to General Barber of the unauthorized use of the uniform.

General Barber declared today that all the prosecutors of the State will be notified at once that the law must be enforced and the State military authorities will aid in its enforcement.

RESCUE MISSION NOTE

"A Brass Band Gone Crazy!"

That's the way a wag describes the original Dixieland "Jass" Band. Beyond that description we can't tell you what a "Jass" Band is because we don't know ourselves.

As for what it does—it makes dancers want to dance more—and more—and yet more!

You'll want to hear the first Victor Record by this organized disorganization—it's a "winner." "Livery Stable Blues," a fox trot, and "Dixieland Jass Band One-Step" are played with charming ferocity and penetration.

ASSISTING STATE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Mayor Harry B. MacDonald has recently been in communication with the State Department of Labor with an idea of getting in touch with farm labor to assist the farmers of Somerset county to get sufficient help to work their farms to their fullest capacity, so that they may prove to be of material aid to the Federal Government in producing a maximum agricultural crop in the season to come.

Mr. MacDonald urges all farmers who are short of help to apply to Lewis T. Bryant, commissioner of labor, 9-11 Franklin street, Newark, who has given his assurance that he will use every endeavor to fill the needs of farmers who apply. As there are no charges to pay in securing help through this medium it is hoped that this department of the State will receive the large support and patronage it deserves.

COUNCIL ENDORSES "PLANTING DAY"

Councilman Smirck of the First Ward introduced a resolution in Common Council endorsing the efforts of Governor Edge and President Wilson to stimulate intensive agriculture. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote. It is as follows:

"WHEREAS:—The Governor of the State has designated, by proclamation Saturday, April 21, as "Planting Day," and the week immediately following as "Planting Week."

Planting Day has been designated as a day in which the young people of the State may establish home gardens, and Planting Week as a week to be observed very generally by the citizens of the State in establishing home gardens on private or public plots of land available and suitable. Therefore be it,

"Resolved:—That we strongly indorse the Governor's suggestion which is essentially a preparedness movement. The conditions of the food supply are such in the State and nation that it is vitally imperative that all means be used to enlarge this supply during the coming growing months, and we urge all citizens to the best of their ability to follow the plans suggested in the proclamations of Governor Edge and President Wilson.

GERMAN WITH MARINE SIGNALS IS ARRESTED

Max Grossman, twenty-six years old, a native of Germany, was arrested Saturday night while loitering in the vicinity of the Marconi wireless station at Garwood. When he was searched by Chief of Police Simon Birmingham, of Roselle Park, several marine signals were found on him.

Grossman, who gave his name as Karl Peters, and claimed to be a Dane, was subjected to cross-examination by Chief Birmingham and Prosecutor Stein, and according to a statement issued yesterday admitted he was a German, a member of the crew of the steamer Australia, said to have been interned in New York, and had obtained entry to the country by claiming Denmark as his birthplace.

Grossman explained that the marine signals were used by him in study preparatory to seeking promotion in the merchant marine service. His apprehension was reported by Prosecutor Stein to United States District Attorney Charles Lynch at Newark for reference to the Department of Justice.

As left handedness is an inherited characteristic, apparently behaving as Mendelian recessive, it is interesting to note the belief of some investigators that it is one of the stigmata of degeneracy, says the Journal of Heredity. Bardeleben is quoted in German periodicals as saying:

"That a few great men, such as Leonardo da Vinci, were left handed does not neutralize the prevalent belief in all ages that left handedness implies a substandard subject. The percentage of left handed recruits is but 0.8; of school children somewhat higher. These figures are very deceptive, however, for of the left handed children who become right handed the percentage is some 26. This, added to the persistently left handed, raises the original percentage of left handed considerably."

After pointing out that the gibbon and orang outang are as a rule right handed and the gorilla and chimpanzee left handed the speaker decided there was no evidence at all that a left handed person was mentally or physically inferior.

Two Bits of Wood.

Importance cannot be reduced to a matter of size. The success of a piece of work may depend on a tiny detail. Such is the case in regard to that marvel of construction, the violin. Rev. H. R. Haweis in his "My Musical Life" tells of the care and labor expended on two little pieces of wood which go to make up the perfect whole. The sound bar is a strip of pine wood running obliquely under the left foot of the bridge. A slight mistake in its position, fooiness or inequality or roughness of finish will produce that hollow, teeth on edge growl called "wolf." It takes great cunning and a life of practical study to know how long and how thick the sound bar must be and exactly where to place it in each instrument. The sound post is a little pine prop, like a short bit of cedar pencil. It is the soul of the violin, and through it pour all vibrations. Days and weeks are spent in adjusting the tiny sound post. Its position exhausts the patience of the maker and makes the joy or the misery of the player.

MRS. KELLOGG TO SPEAK AT BELGIAN MEETING

Mrs. Kellogg, wife of Prof. Vernon Kellogg, formerly of Leland Stanford University, who has been abroad and can speak with authority concerning the great work of feeding the Belgians, will address a public meeting to be held at the Hartridge auditorium, Wednesday night, May 2, to which a general invitation is extended. Already a considerable sum of money has been subscribed by Plainfield people for "supplementary meals" which are saving Belgian children from starvation, and the local committee in charge of the work are hopeful that this sum will be greatly increased within a short time.

The fact that Herbert Hoover has been put in charge of the work of supervising the distribution of food, has inspired confidence in the movement, and those interested feel assured that the food will reach its proper destination. The need is pressing, and recent reports show that while much has been accomplished there still remains much to be done if the thousands of children are to be saved. The meeting to be held May 2 has been arranged with the idea of giving everybody an opportunity to learn as to what has already been done and as to future needs.

ANTIQUITY OF WHEAT.

This Cereal Was Common in China 5,000 Years Ago.

Probably man would survive if the earth never produced another grain of wheat. But he would not find it easy to get along without this useful grain for the eating of bread and other things made from wheat flour is a habit to which he has been addicted for nearly 5,000 years.

Wheat, it is thought, was first grown in the valleys of the Tigris and the Euphrates. Gradually it spread to the east, and it is known that in China it was cultivated extensively as early as 2000 B. C. Wheat formed the chief food of the people of Biblical times. The term "wheat" is derived from an old English word, "hvaete," meaning white.

The wheat of today differs somewhat from that of early history. Through intensive cultivation and cross fertilization it has reached a high state of perfection.

Wheat is the most widely known of the cereal grains. It is found wherever the white man has penetrated. It is grown on the Himalayan slopes 10,000 feet above sea level, on the great central plain of North America, in the tropical countries of Africa and India. We even find that as far north as the sixtieth parallel of latitude in Alaska, Russia, Germany, France and England, thousands of acres of wheat are harvested every year.

The fact that wheat can be readily adapted to various conditions of soil and climate makes it the most valuable of all cereal grains.

There are many different varieties of wheat due to the difference of soil and climate, but in general we divide it into two classes—winter or soft wheat, sown in the fall and harvested during the hot summer months, and spring or hard wheat, sown early in the spring and harvested late in the summer.

A grain of wheat is composed of four parts—the husk, which consists of five distinct layers of bran; the cereal layer, a thin membrane inclosing the starch cells, and the germ. During the milling process the bran coats and the germs are removed.

Graham flour is made by grinding the entire grain to a moderate grade of fineness. Entire wheat flour is made by grinding the grain and removing the three outer coats. If the germ were not removed from the flour the color and the keeping qualities would be affected.

There are twenty-four steps in the milling process from the time the wheat is weighed until it is sold as flour. The byproducts, bran and middlings, are sold to the farmer for the feeding of cattle.

There are over fifty varieties of flour made, but we must classify it chiefly according to the kind of wheat. Flour made from spring wheat is commonly known as bread flour. Bread flour is rich in gluten. Gluten has the power of expansion after the addition of moisture and heat, and a flour rich in gluten, as bread flour is, will produce a light loaf of bread.

Flour made from winter wheat is commonly known as pastry flour. Pastry flour contains less gluten and more starch than bread flour.—Exchange.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

AUTO SALESMEN

I journeyed forth to buy a car, a modern car with seats and wheels; I went where auto salesmen are, and listened to their divers spiels. And that is why you see me now, here in my padded cell alone, a cold wet rag upon my brow, my reason shaky on its throne. I saw ten thousand in my quest, ten thousand cars, from last to first; and every car was quite the best, and every other one the worst. If you behold ten thousand cars, of which each tumbril is the best, your intellect receives such jars as promptly knock it galley west. If you behold ten thousand boats, and all but one of them the worst, though you may live ten thousand goats, you'll lose them all, the last one first. The agents talked three weeks to me, all kinds of facts did they advance; they would not chop a cherry tree—a man could see that at a glance. They talked to me by day and night, each agent sang his sad sweet song; the car he handled was just right, and all the other cars were wrong. So in my padded cell I stand, filled up with mind-restoring drugs, and, with a slipper in my hand, I swat the roaches and the bugs.

A CREAMY LOTION MADE WITH LEMONS

Prepare a quarter pint at about the cost of a small jar of common cold cream.

When this home-made lemon lotion is gently massaged into the face, neck, hands and arms daily, the skin naturally should become soft, clear and white and the complexion dainty and attractive.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way: Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it naturally should help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons. In this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion ladies can easily prepare and have an inexpensive toilet aid which perfectly satisfies their natural desire for a beautiful soft skin.—Adv.

There must be organized personal work, headed in every locality by men of force and influence.

"The Governor of Iowa has called for the enlistment of boys from 13 to 18 to work either in town gardens or upon the farms. President Wilson says that these boys will be 'Soldiers of the Commissary.' There are fine possibilities in this idea. The boys may be brought to feel that they are serving their country as truly as their older brothers who enlist in army or navy; . . . the girls should have a chance as well. They should have a medal to keep as lifelong evidence of their service in the last great war—let us hope—of the world's history.

"Some of our correspondent banks are arranging for garden plots for all their clerks. Industrial employers are doing likewise, and will provide seeds and instruction. Organized work of this kind with suitable supervision will be most effective. Every employer in your locality should be waited upon by a committee, and invited to co-operate in this manner.

"Although it is of course desirable to increase the farm crops, and especially the spring wheat crop, it may be that the best chance to increase the food supply is by the intensive cultivation of garden tracts in and adjacent to towns, where labor additional to the regular farm supply can be secured for growing potatoes, beans, onions etc. Each community is able to go ahead upon this work without help from outside. The aggregate result will depend upon the efficiency of the local organizations.

"We take the liberty of addressing not only our own bank correspondents, but all bankers, believing that they will be quick to recognize the gravity of the situation, and that their relations with the business community are such as to enable them to secure general co-operation. We would appreciate advice as to what is being done in your locality."

The following excerpt from a letter received by an officer of the National City Bank from Sir George Paish, of London, dated March 21 last, accompanies the one issued by the bank:

"I have been endeavoring to form some sort of notion of the world's supplies of food both this season and next, and have come to the conclusion that if the American people will continue to help the world to get through this time of great stress and strain by (1) growing as much food as possible and (2) themselves consuming no more than absolutely essential the world will weather through, although the margin of safety will be very slender. Would it be possible for the ladies of America to start an economy campaign for the benefit of the women and children, not of Belgium only but practically of the entire world, for it is evident that many a poor family will not be able to buy food in the coming twelve or eighteen months in consequence of its dearness and scarcity unless those women who can afford to pay high prices voluntarily deny themselves and share the food which Providence provides with their poorer sisters? If they do this, then the heart of the world will beat with that mother-love which is all powerful for good and which will prevent the recurrence of such a disaster as that now threatening the human race.

"The need of humanity is great. The heart of America is also great."

HELD BOYS FOR JUVENILE COURT

John Anderson and John Donnelly, age 14 years old, of the West End, stole an automobile belonging to L. B. Woolston, of North avenue, from in front of the residence of William M. Stillman, West Seventh street, yesterday afternoon, and after driving it about the country abandoned it in Westfield at 8:30 last night. Then they went to the Westfield Theatre where they stole another car belonging to Dudley Green, of that place, while Mr. Green and the members of his family were in the playhouse. The boys were arrested by Patrolman Muir as they were driving the car through West Front street at 9:30 o'clock.

Judge De Meza held the boys for the Juvenile Court this morning.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.—Adv.

CECIL B. DEMILLE, FILM DIRECTOR, AND GERALDINE FARRAR PAY PRETTY TRIBUTE TO GREAT FRENCH WOMAN.

Upon completion of the gigantic motion picture based on the story of Joan of Arc, Cecil B. DeMille, director of the twelve reel production, and Mme. Geraldine Farrar, American grand opera prima donna, made a pilgrimage to the famous statue of Joan in Los Angeles, and in the presence of 2,000 persons laid a huge wreath of laurel at the feet of the bronze image. Jeanie MacPherson, authoress, participated in the ceremonies.

Mme. Farrar spent three months in the character of Joan during the making of the photoplay. She declared before leaving California she would show some special mark of tribute to the wonderful Joan. The exercises in connection with the placing of the laurel wreath at the statue were under the auspices of a committee of prominent Los Angeles residents of French descent.

CONSERVE YOUR FOOD SUPPLIES

subject. The situation grows more serious as spring advances and the disaster to the winter wheat crop of this country is understood.

"All of Europe—neutral as well as warring countries—has been placed upon food rations to eke out supplies until the new crop is harvested. The country entered the present crop year last July with 144,000,000 bushels of wheat carried over from the crop of 1915, and in 1916 produced 482,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and 158,000,000 of spring wheat; total supply, 804,000,000. This year there will be practically no wheat carried over and the Government's estimate upon the winter crop forecasts a yield of only 430,000,000. On this basis the spring wheat crop must be 214,000,000 bushels larger than last year in order to give us a wheat supply equal to what we will export and consume in the crop year now closing. This is an alarming outlook. The spring wheat crop is notoriously subject to weather conditions. More spring wheat should be sown, but it is doubtful if the wheat shortage can be made up. Other food crops must be grown to meet the deficiency.

"This country is now at war, and our Allies, Belgium, Great Britain, France and Italy are dependent upon us for food. They will have no reserves and must have more from us in the coming year than in the past, or they will not be able to feed all their people. Added to the appeals of starving humanity will be military reasons making it impossible for us to put an embargo upon the exportation of food. We must divide what we grow this year with these countries, and with the neutral countries—Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and Spain—which are not self-sustaining in grain supplies. And not only must we supply enough to keep these peoples from starving, but enough to cover the heavy losses at sea which result from the submarine warfare. If we grow no more food than we did last year—and so far the outlook is for less—there is danger of a food situation such as the world in modern times has not dreamed of. No other country has the resources in land and population to meet this emergency but the United States. There is no business upon which all other business depends as upon this of growing a big crop in America this year. And the work must be started immediately. There is no time to wait on organization from outside. The emergency can be met only by spontaneous action in every State, county and school district, forming local organizations.

"Picture in your mind what conditions will be in our own cities next winter, and of the effect upon all industry, if food supplies are scarcer and dearer than they are now! It must be impressed upon everybody that no wage advances or regulation of prices can add one bushel of wheat or potatoes to the supply after the growing season is over.

"The country is aroused, but mere alarm will not accomplish results.

PROTESTS AGAINST SIDEWALK STANDS

George H. Davies sent a communication to the Common Council last night protesting against sidewalk encroachments in Watchung avenue. The matter was referred to the street committee of which Thomas Hylan is chairman, and he said that action will be taken against all shop keepers who display their wares outside the building line, and curtail the space that should be devoted to pedestrians.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, petitioned the council for an appropriation for carrying out its Memorial Day program.

A letter from Joseph Tumulty, secretary to the president, expressed the executive's pleasure in receiving from the council, resolutions approving his course in the present international difficulties.

Permission to install a naphtha tank on its own premises was granted to the Insulated Rubber Company, of North avenue.

The council authorized the Public Service Corporation to install 400 candle power lamps throughout the city in place of the present lamps of 250 candle power. Councilman Collet, in recommending this stated that the lights would be an improvement over those now in use, and there would be a slight reduction in the cost.

SMALL FIRES

The Fire Department was called to the house at 607 West Fourth street, at 10:30 o'clock this morning, to put out a small fire in the hair-dressing parlor of Mrs. Hayes which occupies a portion of the building.

The fire was caused by a dividing curtain coming in contact with a stove. The damage was slight.

The department was also called out to extinguish a grass fire on Park avenue.

ENDORSES "BACK TO THE FARM" MOVEMENT

County Superintendent H. C. Krebs addressed the pupils of the North Plainfield high school yesterday on "The Back to the Farm" movement which has been inaugurated by Governor Edge, which has for its object the conservation of the present food output in the United States and to stimulate tilling of the soil.

This plan permits boys and girls over fourteen years of age to work on farms provided they have the consent of their parents or guardians. He urged favorable action on the part of the Board of Education in promoting the proposition. Mayor W. L. Smalley, Principal Albert Earley and Mr. Krebs are now co-operating in the matter. The following pupils have been named to cover the borough and locate all unused land available for gardening Jack Cannon, Earl Cooke, Edward Cummings, William Seidel, Stephen Bloorer, Norman Trembath, William Barry, George Ewald, Paul Peck, Harold Livingston, Randolph Douglas, Nelson Kenworthy, Norman McGee, Theodore Cooper and Charles White.

THE NATIONAL CRISIS

At a time like the present it is necessary to anticipate radical changes and revolutions in industrial methods and proceedings, and while other departments of industry are giving their best efforts to meet conditions and exigencies that may arise, the manufacturer must show equal forethought for solving problems that will present themselves to him in an emergency. The problems must be anticipated before they can be solved, and while much can be gained from the observation of industrial adjustments made by the foreign belligerents, this observation cannot replace initiative, analytic and constructive thought on the part of the individual who is confronted with specific problems and on whose conclusion depend the success or failure of the solution adopted. How can I serve my country most efficiently in case of eventualities? is the problem which is now before every one, to be answered with all the wisdom at his command, with all the courage of his convictions and with deeds—not words. The question cannot be evaded; it must be answered, and that answer must be based on sense, not sentiment. The conclusions must be drawn from facts, not hopes; from figures, not figuratives. One fact stands out predominantly, and that one is that in case of war the country needs men in the regular branches of its armed forces, and it requires men of vigor and vitality, not weaklings and cripples, to withstand the hardships of the service, and it must draw these men from industry. But also the wheels of industry must continue to turn at increased speeds. Greater efficiency will be required of your plant, or your plant may have to be remodeled to turn out entirely new products with a new and comparatively inefficient operating force. Boys and women may replace strong and well-trained men, and their physical and mental deficiencies must be counteracted by supplemental measures entirely new to your method of operation in normal times. How can these supplemental measures be provided? How can your plant organization be adjusted to liberate the best men for the country's service and at the same time turn out more and different products for their use and consumption? How can new and untrained and physically inferior employes be brought up to the old standard of operating efficiency? Your problems are "how" problems rather than "why" problems, and their solution lies in your initiative and ability to meet complex conditions with sane, constructive methods based on true analysis of conditions as they exist, and prompted by the unselfish patriotism which throughout the life of the nation has made possible the growth of your industry and your own pursuit of happiness.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO

In his sermon at a special service for the Daughters of the Cincinnati last Sunday, the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, of Trinity church, New York, spoke upon what the women of the country can do in the war against Germany. Expressing confidence concerning where the women would stand, Dr. Manning declared that they could help most in an indirect way by using their influence against pacifism and for a strong war policy and by encouraging the men of their families to do their duty and directly by serving in special capacities and by discouraging extravagance in dress and living. "From the beginning," said Dr. Manning, "many of us have realized that the issue of this conflict was of as deep concern to us as to any people in the world. The progress of events has made this more and more clear. The brutal assault of the Belgians, the martyrdom of Serbia, the miseries of Poland and the unspeakable outrages in Armenia have brought their message to us. The lawless attack upon our own liberties and the murder of our men, women and children on the seas have brought this outbreak of crime to our own door. We have been forced to realize that this war is an attack on the very principles of civilization; that it is a 'war-fare against mankind.' We have been compelled to see that a world dominated by the principles of Prussian militarism would be a world unfit to live in. It would be a world of brute force, of ruthless aggression, of broken oaths, of 'military necessity' regarded as superior to every consideration of law, or right and of humanity. We are summoned to uphold those principles of right and of human freedom for which the founders of this republic felt it a privilege to give their lives. We are summoned to do our part to make the world safe for democracy. There can be no peace in the world menaced by the power of Prussianism. As Christians and as Americans we enter this war not merely to defend our own rights or our own interests, but to help put down hideous and infamous wrong and to obtain right, justice and lasting peace for the world. We may look, and we shall never look in vain, to see our women as firm, as fearless, as resourceful, as high-souled and as true Americans as the men beside whom they stand. The mothers and wives and daughters of France and Britain have not faltered. They have met their call with a spirit that has thrilled the world. And we know well what the women of America will do."

THE CASE OF GENERAL WOOD

Criticism of the transfer of General Wood to a military department of apparently inferior importance was to be expected. He has become a popular figure, partly by his abilities, partly by force of circumstances. The antagonism aroused by his sudden elevation has died away. His exceptional qualifications for the rank he holds are recognized. Others may be quite as able and more experienced. But he has done exceptionally valuable work in pointing out the weakness of our present army system and in stirring public opinion to a demand for greater efficiency. The accusation that this fact has influenced the action of the Secretary of War may not be true, but it certainly suggests the need of a further explanation of that action than has yet been given. General Wood may have greater opportunities to serve his country at Charleston than he would have had at Governor's Island. Yet there seems to be a general belief among army officers that his experience of three years as commander of the Department of the East justified his retention there. He had an acquaintance with the difficult problems of transportation, for example, which his successor can hardly acquire at once. These are technical considerations which have no doubt been taken into account. There should be no hasty assumption that any motive but the good of the service prompted the change. Yet the resentment it has provoked is a fact which cannot be ignored. The duty of unhesitating support of the administration in a crisis like this is unquestionable. It is a duty which most Americans cheerfully recognize. But it does not involve silent acquiescence in obvious mistakes. Whether the transfer of General Wood comes within that category or not we do not pretend to say. But the belief among many well-informed persons that it does should suggest to the administration some explanation that will satisfy the public. The action was taken in a rather peremptory fashion, calculated to arouse the suspicion that it was intended to humiliate the subject of it. Such a situation is bound to be unfortunate, and the administration is therefore bound to avoid creating it. The obligation of confidence is mutual. The people must support the Government, but the Government must deserve support. It would not be patriotism, it would not be loyalty to abstain from warranted criticism or to fail to point out mistakes likely to have serious consequences.—Philadelphia Ledger.

DINING AND WINING

Even in the shadow of national peril the high life continues to eat, drink and be merry. The New York Society of Restaurateurs figures that their business put out $709,000,000 last year. In our greater cities money flows in unstinted stream for food and drink, largely the latter, with the accompaniments of high cost dancers and vaudeville artists. A portion of this is legitimate restaurant business, but much of it is mere dissipation and display and splurge. The amount spent for wasteful entertaining in New York City alone would equip a great army and it would pay off the national debt in a year or two. All this extravagance would seem in poor taste even in peace time, when the money might do so much good in relieving misfortune and setting worthy young people on the road of self-support. How much worse it is in time of war, when suffering peoples are starving, when wounded men are dying for lack of good hospital facilities, and when our own people are in need of war equipment for their own defense. It would seem as if the Nabobs and Crœsuses should realize this situation and cut out this folly.

"This is the time for Americs to correct her unpardonable fault of wastefulness and extravagance. Let every man and every woman assume the duty of careful, provident use and expenditures as a public duty, as a dictate of patriotism which no one can now expect ever to be excused or forgiven for ignoring."

EDITORIAL NOTES

April is a month when once in so often Uncle Sam has a habit of going gunning.

Wherever you meet three different men you find six different opinions as to what should be done about the war.

The spies would better watch out with 500,000 Federal employes, mostly skilful politicians, gumshoeing after them.

The people who need most to observe Straighten-Up Week are not the aged veterans bent over by rheumatism, but the school youngsters who get the habit of dopping languidly over their desks.

A keen desire is manifested by the automobiles in this nice spring weather to go out and be fined for over-speeding.

There are some people who can't support the United States Government in this crisis, but they don't seem to want to remove to any other country.

Even the fellow who enlists for fear of what people will say if he doesn't may make an excellent soldier.

The United States having declared war it is up to those who love the Kaiser better than Uncle Sam to betake themselves to more congenial surroundings.

While un-American talk is irritating to the last degree, the really dangerous spies and plotters keep their mouths shut and look quite inoffensive.

MOTOR SQUAD PROVES READINESS TO SERVE

Special Aid Branch Answers "Test Call" From Metuchen in Remarkable Time

Providing its ability to answer an emergency call at a moment's notice, the motor squad of the local branch of the National Special Aid Society, of which Mrs. Austin Andrews is captain, gave a practical demonstration of the fact this morning when a "test call was made. At the direction of Mrs. Andrews the members of the squad received a telephone call at 9:15 o'clock to proceed at once to the Metuchen station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, ready for service. No further instructions were given.

Within twenty minutes after the call was given, seventeen motor cars had reached the Metuchen station, were parked properly, leaving ample space for an ambulance, and every member stood by her car "at attention" with first aid kit and nurses all ready for service. Those who happened to be at the station were surprised at the remarkably quick formation of the squad and the orderly and business like method in which the whole plan was executed.

No publicity had been given of the intended "test call" and residents in the vicinity of Metuchen as well as along the route were somewhat startled at first thinking that there had been a terrible accident. Many telephone inquiries were made as a result. While the squad was at Metuchen a wrecking train was seen to approach and pass through, which gave the members an impression that they were about to engage in active service.

The officers of the National Special Aid Society were much pleased with the results of the test, believing that it shows conclusively that the squad is prepared for any emergency. This will be the only "test call" made, it was announced today by Mrs. Andrews.

MUHLENBERG STANDS READY

through the New Jersey Board of the U. S. of America and Prince of Wales Relief Committee, 7,262 bandages and dressings to meet any extraordinary demand were received.

The National Special Aid Society has also supplied a large number of bandages, dressings, linen, etc., for the hospital's use.

The Woman's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital, in addition to its usual and efficient work in providing for the normal requirements, has furnished a large supply of blankets, linen, etc., for the emergency work.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Camp has offered to the hospital the use of 30 cots and mattresses for this special need, and the Boy Scouts have offered 18 cots and 11 mattresses.

All the local patriotic and civic organizations are responding most nobly to the call of their country's need, and the readiness with which volunteers come forward for every need is most encouraging.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital on Thursday evening, April 12, great appreciation was expressed for the fine spirit of patriotism shown by all local organizations and societies, and in order to properly record this appreciation the Board of Governors passed with unanimous accord the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, In its work of preparedness to meet possible war-emergency calls, the hospital has asked for certain volunteer service in case of need, also for certain supplies, such as linen and blankets, surgical bandages and dressings, etc., and also for the use of certain equipment, such as cots and mattresses; therefore,

Slow But Sure

By WALT MASON, The Poet-Philosopher

The delegate who's slow but sure is nearly always sadly poor; I hire some fellows, then and now, to mow the lawn or sheer the cow, to shovel snow or whack up wood, and "Slow but Sure" is not much good. It puts a wire edge on my nerves to watch the slow man's languid curves, to see him stand around perplext, as doubting what he should do next. I pay him, when he's done, his pen, but do not hire that man again, if I need help to mow the grass, or cultivate the garden sass. He may be sure, but he's too slow; when he is weaving to and fro, you have to line him with a post, to see which one is moving most. The man who wishes to arrive, must show the village he's alive. When he is going anywhere, his coat tails flap the balmy air; however humble be his grind, he leaves a trail of dust behind. In every action, every step, he shows that he is full of pep. Employers seek that hustling gent, in whom such shining traits are blent. His energy allures, enchants. We let him wed our maiden aunts.

The Rich Man

The rich man, in the diatribes of virtuous and moral scribes, is full of sin and tricks and guile, dishonestly he gets his pile. Wealth is for him the only lure; he has no patience with the poor; that he may gain his place on deck, he steps upon his brother's neck. He is a pirate and a fraud; the law should strip him of his wad. We applaud this sort of stuff, and hail the scribes, "Lay on, MacDuff!" We yell "hooray!" and wave our hats, and help to roast the plutocrats. And while we cuss the wealthy lads, we're busy hustling for the seads. We bust suspenders every day, in fear a plunk will get away. The more we get the more we need; we have the rich man's grasping greed, without the wondrous skill he owns for gathering the shining bones. And that is why he has our hate; we're down on any soulless skate who takes in plunks where we get dimes; we can't forgive his godless crimes.

SOMERVILLE NOTES

INDEPENDENT CO. WINS ITS SUIT

The suit brought by the Independent Chemical Company, of New York, against the Calco Chemical Company, of Bound Brook, for breach of contract, and which has occupied the attention of Judge George S. Silzer and a jury in the Circuit Court for the past week, was brought to a close yesterday afternoon by a verdict of $18,000 for the plaintiff. The jury was out for almost two hours. At the conclusion of the case it was necessary to procure an automobile truck for carting away the evidence.

The case was begun Tuesday of last week. Clarence E. Case and former Judge Richardson, of the New York bar, represented the Independent Company, and the Calco Company was represented by H. K. Gaston, of Somerville, and Robert H. McCarter, of Newark.

From the evidence of the plaintiff it appeared that the Independent Company had a contract with the Calco Company to sell a portion of the output of aniline oil manufactured by that concern. The period of the contract lasted until December 31, 1916, but in August the Calco Company is said to have discontinued their arrangements with the Independent Company and later gave notice that they would deliver no more goods under the terms of the contract. H. Warren King, of Bound Brook, president of the Independent Company, sued to recover commissions for the balance of the year.

The plaintiff's case was finished last Thursday afternoon and Mr. McCarter at once began the examination of witnesses for the defense. Previous to this, however, he made a motion for non-suit, which the court denied.

Issues Letter to Farmers

H. C. Krebs, County Superintendent of Education, has distributed a letter to the teachers of various rural schools in Somerset county, asking that a copy be sent to every farmer in the vicinity. The letter is in reference to co-operation between farmer and school for the conservation of food supplies. It follows:

"We are at war. We shall be in urgent need of food for ourselves and for our allies across the sea. It is extremely important that you get the largest possible amount of produce out of your land. You are often in need of help. Here is a plan to get help:

"In the town schools of Somerset county we are making a list of boys over 14 years of age who are willing to go to the farms to work. If you can use any number from one to ten, let me know, and I will bring the matter to the attention of the person in charge. You can have these boys full time, or several days in the week. These boys must be housed and fed, and paid a reasonable wage. When applying, state how much you are willing to pay per day in addition to board and lodging.

"Some of these boys know little of farming, but they are willing to learn. They must not be given too heavy work at first. They can often do light work so as to let you do heavy work. They must not be worked more than ten hours a day; nine would be better at first.

"Every acre you have should be made to yield a full crop. Here is a means of helping you. A person who supports a soldier is himself a soldier equally important. Enlist in the agricultural army!

"I shall be glad to receive from any farmer suggestions as to how this work may be carried on in the best possible manner."

Guardsmen Enjoy Camp Life

Many Somerville people went by automobile Sunday to visit members of Company M, located at Carney's Point, Paulsboro, Gibbstown, Bridgeport and Pedrickstown, near Camden. The work of the company members consists largely in guarding two big powder mills, one at Carney's Point and the other at Gibbstown, and three big iron railroad bridges between the former and Paulsboro. All of the boys are in the best of health and spirits. The four who, for a time, were left on duty at Trenton, have rejoined the company.

A slight fire occurred in the powder plant at Carney's Point yesterday and destroyed several thousand pounds of powder. No one was hurt and there was no other property loss. The fire was caused by friction.

THIEF GETS AWAY LEAVING A CLUE

The borough authorities are sleuthing around for the owner of a glove which was left at the home of Theodore Apgar, Lincoln avenue and Third street, about three o'clock Sunday morning when a sneak thief made a hasty getaway. The thief entered the Apgar house by a rear window and his appearance in the bedroom on the second floor awoke Mrs. Apgar just in time to see the fellow going out of the room with Mr. Apgar's pantaloons in his arms. Mrs. Apgar gave a scream, awakening her husband, who started after the fleeing man.

He was just a little too late to catch the thief but got a good description of him, which he has given to marshals. The fellow left Mr. Apgar's pants, but not before he had taken about $2.50 in loose change which he found in them. He also left a glove which may be of some help to the authorities in getting a clue to the miscreant.

Chief Marshal Owen Mahon upon being notified of the theft put an extra detail of marshals about town in hopes of getting some clue. There was one suspect apprehended but he was released after being put through the third degree.

BUSY SESSION OF TOWN COUNCIL

The town council held a regular meeting in the town hall last night and transacted considerable business of a routine nature. Ordinances to improve Sylvania place, Stanley avenue, Dudley avenue from Chestnut street to Pine street, and the ordinance to enter into a contract with the Central Railroad for the elimination of the Broad street grade crossing were passed on third reading.

The reports of the Board of Assessors on various improvements which were before the council and advertised for a hearing for objections were confirmed by the council. Three amendments to the building ordinance were presented by Councilman Van Doren, of the building committee, and passed on first reading.

Councilman Warncke, of the finance committee, introduced a resolution which was adopted authorizing the issuing of a certificate of indebtedness for $2,500. Councilman Affleck, of the police committee, reported favorably on the applications of Harold F. Taylor and Martin Snyder for hack licenses and they were granted by the council. He also introduced a resolution which was adopted authorizing the Mayor to issue a dog proclamation which was to the effect that all dogs found roaming the streets without a muzzle from now until September 15 should be destroyed.

Councilman Taylor presented his resignation as a member of the Park Commission and it was accepted and Mayor Evans appointed Councilman Egan in his place. On the request of E. E. Townley, of the Memorial Detail of Winfield Scott Post G. A. R., the council donated $55 toward defraying the expenses of the veterans on Memorial Day.

H. N. Taylor made a request to be allowed to build an addition to his home on Elm street and this was referred to the building committee.

Councilman Taylor was named by Mayor Evans to represent the town at the meeting of those interested in the Rahway Valley trunk sewer to be held on April 26. Mr. Taylor also reported that the complaint of Mrs. Frank Miller which was received at the last meeting in regard to the condition of the trolley tracks on Elm street had been taken up with the trolley company and they had agreed to make repairs.

The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $13,394.64 and the tax collector that he had collected taxes amounting to $3,107.66 and costs of $712.77. Bills amounting to $3,080.92 were approved and ordered paid. Mayor Evans presided at the meeting and all the members of the council were present except Councilman Egan.

Dr. Savitz's Resignation is Accepted

The Board of Education held a special meeting in the high school last night which had for its purpose the acting on the resignation of Dr. J. J. Savitz, the supervising principal of the schools who was recently appointed principal of the State Normal and Model Schools at Trenton. President Thompson, of the board, in calling the meeting to order, stated no object and said that the board regretted the leaving of Dr. Savitz but that it was glad that he was going to do better and wished him abundant success. The resignation was then read and accepted. It takes effect on July first. The president was directed to appoint a committee to draft resolutions and present them to the board and Dr. Savitz at the next meeting.

It was decided that all applicants for the position made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Savitz should fill out blanks and that they should file them with the teachers' committee of the board and that those candidates that seemed to meet the requirements should be given an opportunity to appear before the board.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

PRESIDENT WARNS AGAINST TREASON

Issues Proclamation to Citizens and Aliens.

Washington, April 17. — President Wilson has put his foot down hard on treason. He issued a proclamation warning all citizens of the United States, as well as all aliens domiciled here and thus owing temporary allegiance to this government, that the commission of any acts in violation of laws he enumerates will be vigorously prosecuted. The proclamation sets forth the various acts which the courts have held to be treasonable and are punishable by death.

The president opens his proclamation by saying:

Whereas, all persons in the United States, citizens as well as aliens, should be informed of the penalties which they will incur for any failure to bear true allegiance to the United States;

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, hereby issue this proclamation to call especial attention to the following provisions of the constitution and the laws of the United States.

He then quotes section 3 of article 3 of the constitution, defining the crime of treason as follows:

Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort.

He then enumerates the sections of the federal criminal code dealing with treason and its concealment and continues:

The courts of the United States have stated the following acts to be treasonable:

The use or attempted use of any force or violence against the government of the United States, or its military or naval forces.

The acquisition, use or disposal of any property with knowledge that it is to be, or with intent that it shall be, of assistance to the enemy in their hostilities against the United States.

The performance of any act or the publication of statements or information which will give or supply in any way aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States.

The direction, aiding, counseling or countenancing of any of the foregoing acts.

Such acts are held to be treasonable whether committed within the United States or elsewhere; whether committed by a citizen of the United States or by an alien domiciled or residing in the United States, inasmuch as resident aliens, as well as citizens, owe allegiance to the United States and its laws.

Any such citizen or alien who has knowledge of the commission of such acts and conceals and does not make known the facts is the offense named in section 3 of the penal code is guilty of misprision of treason.

And I hereby proclaim and warn all citizens of the United States, and all aliens owing allegiance to the government of the United States, to refrain from committing any and all acts which would constitute a violation of any of the laws herein set forth, and I further proclaim and warn all persons who may commit such acts that they will be vigorously prosecuted therefor.

COURTS OPEN TO GERMANS.

May Sue or Be Sued Despite War, Court Holds.

New York, April 17. — City Court Justice McAvoy has decided that Germans may sue or be sued during the war under the existing laws. He made his decision in the injunction proceedings brought by the Fritz Schuyler, Jr., Co. against Raimes & Co., the parent German corporation, to restrain the prosecution of five actions for goods sold and delivered.

"Alien enemies may sue providing no legislation additional to the war declaration is made by congress," he said in his opinion. "The Prussian treaty of 1799 is not yet abrogated and under it Germans are permitted at least nine months to collect debts and depart. War does not abrogate this provision."

PLANS FOR FRANCE DAY.

New York Senate Passes Resolution For Celebration.

Albany, N. Y., April 17.—The senate passed unanimously a resolution introduced by Senator James A. Foley requesting Governor Whitman to designate a day for special celebration in this state following the arrival of the French commission, which will be known as "France day".

The resolution cites the historic friendship of the two countries and suggests ceremonies be held under the direction of the board of regents to commemorate "the friendship and the good will of the people of the state of New York for the people of France."

"MAN KILLER" RETAKEN.

Bloodhounds Run Down Convict Who Beat Auburn Keeper.

Auburn, N. Y., April 17.—A ten minute display of coolness and nerve, which won freedom from the penitentiary here for Reynolds Forsbrey, spectacular criminal, whose exploits are still remembered in New York city, failed to bluff a hound. As a result Forsbrey was retaken cowering in a loft at the Cold Spring brewery, near Auburn. He had beaten a keeper into insensibility before his escape.

The police of New York as well as residents of this vicinity will breathe more normally now he is again under lock and key, for Forsbrey, convicted of one murder and having admitted his share in another, is known as one of the most desperate criminals that the New York city police have had to contend with in many years.

MAY BRING IN CHINESE.

Congress Will Be Asked to Permit Entry of Laborers.

New York, April 17.—The board of trade and transportation of New York is preparing a bill, which Senator William M. Calder and Representative F. W. Rowe will be asked to introduce in congress, providing for the importation of Chinese and Japanese laborers for the period of the war.

Members of the board point out that thousands of Chinese and Japanese laborers can be brought to the United States from Mexico, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands within a few weeks. The measure will provide for their supervision by the department of labor, their registration and deportation after the war.

FOUND STOLEN CALF; MAN UNDER ARREST

Carl Muhly, a butcher of South Bound Brook, has been arrested by Detective Richard A. Pelletier, Middlesex county, on a charge of receiving stolen goods, and gave bail for appearance in the Somerset county court when arraigned before a police justice at Bound Brook.

The arrest followed the finding in Mr. Muhly's barn of a calf that had been stolen from the barn of S. G. Bryan, proprietor of the Bound Brook Nurseries, on the River road, in Middlesex county. The person who stole the calf is unknown, but suspicion is directed against an employe of Mr. Muhly.

There have been several thefts reported lately from Mr. Bryan's place, and only recently several hundred fowls were taken.

YOU HAVE CATARRH!
What Are You Doing to Stop It?

If your nose is clogged with air passes swollen and inflamed or if crusts are constantly forming in it, if you suffer from droppings in the throat and have hawking, hemming, spitting all the time you have catarrh.

You may have had catarrh for years —and quit so on having it for years to come if you refuse to act. But if you really wish to end it quickly and feel you can not better do it than to go to C. W. Randolph or any live local druggist and say, "I want a large package of Hyomei with inhaler." No stomach dosing, greasy ointments, sprays or gargles. You breath Hyomei and as you inhale its pure, wholesome air its healing balm passes quickly reach all the sore, inflamed membranes of the nose and throat and the catarrhal germs are destroyed. Clears out the head and throat like magic, opens up the nose, makes breathing easy and gives complete relief from every catarrhal symptom. It has been doing this for years for thousands of people. Your money back if it cannot do it for you.—Adv.

FRENCH SMASH AT GERMAN LINE

BREAK THROUGH ONE POINT.

British Still Held at Lens by Desperate Fighting of Defenders, but Get Nearer City and to St. Quentin—French Report Capture of 10,000 Prisoners.

London, April 17.—Co-operating with the British, the French army has buried itself against the Germans on a twenty-five mile front, carrying all before it. The greatest battle of the world's history is on, raging over a hundred mile front.

The French at one point have broken through the first and second German defense systems. They attacked between Soissons and Rheims, striking a terrific blow at the left flank of the Hindenburg line as the British are hammering its right. They captured more than 10,000 prisoners and large booty of guns and material, as yet uncounted. They stormed the whole German first defense system on a front of nearly fifteen miles.

On the Aisne a great French attempt to break through, with a far distant objective, has commenced after ten days of mass fire. A bitter fight is proceeding on a forty kilometer (twenty-five mile) front around our foremost positions.

Germans Fighting Hard.

On the British front a heavy rainstorm gave two more hours grace to the German rear guards desperately clinging to Lens and to the Germans almost surrounded in St. Quentin. Still the British pushed closer to both places and are reported actually to have broken the famous Hindenburg line again in a totally new place north of St. Quentin. The British bag of German prisoners now exceeds 14,000.

The great French thrust, long prepared in exact co-operation with the British drive at Arras and that upon the Hindenburg line, started off with remarkable success.

The battle along the whole front was desperate. The Germans made a frantic attempt to stop the infantry waves to save the Hindenburg line from the same fate on the south that has met it on the north, but to no avail. General Nivelle's plans, French guns and the dash of the infantry were an unbeatable combination.

Uphill Fighting.

Now the southern pivot of Hindenburg's "impregnable" line is yielding as the northern pivot gave way under the British onslaught. If the French smash it as have the British the German front will be broken in two places and cut in three parts.

Between Soissons and Rheims, where the French attacked, the new Hindenburg line from the north joins the old German line almost at right angles east of Soissons, just as it joined the old line from the south southeast of Arras. Its pivot is the Craonne plateau, as on the north it was the Vimy ridge.

Generally the French are advancing uphill, though in some places they are fighting in the valley of the Aisne. West of Soissons they have gained a footing on the lower reaches of the Craonne plateau on a front extending nearly to Craonne itself. Immediately southeast of Craonne the advance reached its greatest depth, pushing forward around the eastern edge of the plateau and threatening it with envelopment.

The police are searching for the two men charged with the shooting.

PARISIAN SAGE

Helps to put Hair on Your Head and Keep it There—Fine for Dandruff

Here's good news for men and women whose hair is falling, who are getting bald and whose scalps are covered with dandruff that nothing seems to keep away and whose heads itch like mad. L. W. Randolph has secured the agency for Parisian Sage, a simple hair invigorator that is so certain in its tonic action and so sure of giving the limit of satisfaction, that they sell it with offer of money refunded if it does not abolish dandruff, stop itching head, and not only check excessive loss of hair, but stimulate a new growth.

Parisian Sage is a delicately perfumed antiseptic liquid, which when massaged into the scalp goes right down to the hair roots and furnishes them with the nourishment that is lacking to make the hair grow and show more life and vitality. Parisian Sage not only stimulates hair growth, but beautifies it so that it is a favorite dressing of women who take pride in beautiful hair that appears much heavier than it really is. A large bottle is inexpensive.—Adv.

ASK BOY VOLUNTEERS FOR FARM CADETS

Gov. Whitman to Issue Call to 25,000 Schoolboys.

Albany, N. Y., April 17.—A call for 25,000 schoolboys of New York city to volunteer for work on up state farms will be issued at once by Governor Whitman. It is planned to have these boys in the fields within two weeks so they may help in the spring planting.

The military training commission is formulating details of the plans for this call to service. It is proposed to have each school principal in New York and other cities of the state ask for volunteers among boys physically fitted for farm work.

The volunteers will be enrolled in the farm cadet corps. They will be given full credits in their school work and also be credited as having performed a portion of the military training required under the new laws.

The boys will be paid for their work on the farms. Those who volunteer will be listed with the home defense committee in the agricultural district to which they have been assigned, and the members of the defense committee will be made responsible for their care and protection. Transportation to and from the farms will be furnished by the state. The boys must be on the farms in twenty days before the spring planting begins.

The plan as it is being swiftly developed by the governor's committee working with the military training commission gives any boy an excellent opportunity to spend a few months in the open, a respite from his school work, the chance to make a little money, all with the knowledge that he is doing a great service for his country.

BRADY GEMS TO FRIENDS.

Bulk of "Diamond Jim's" Fortune Goes to Charity.

New York, April 17.—James Buchanan Brady's ("Diamond Jim's) diamonds and other stones, valued at $1,000,000, are to be distributed among his friends, and nearly all of the remainder of his estate of several millions will go to the New York hospital in West Sixteenth street to establish the James Buchanan Brady foundation for a urological institute similar to that at Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, which he previously endowed with $200,000. Johns Hopkins hospital is to receive an additional $200,000.

About $100,000 goes to various charities. His brother, Daniel M. Brady, receives only $700. His sister, Mrs. Hattie E. Mathieu, will receive the income on $25,000.

HOME DEFENSE PLAN FOR STATE

Campaign Mapped Out at Albany Conference.

GOVERNOR EXPLAINS WORK.

Gathering of 500 Men and Women From Every County Told What Leagues Can and Must Do In Aiding Nation and State—Military Census Details and Other Important Work Charted For Them.

Albany, N. Y., April 17.—Five hundred delegates representing the home defense committees in every county of the state met with Governor Whitman and Adjutant General Stotesbury in the executive chamber as the home defense general staff.

The delegates included many women and some of the most representative men in the state. There was one ex-governor, Odell, many judges and any number of former state officials. Party lines were obliterated, and there seemed to be as many Democrats as Republicans.

The delegates were instructed in the details of the military census which is to be taken by the home defense committee. The other work they are to do was carefully charted for them.

According to the plans formulated by the adjutant general, the home defense committee started with a nucleus of seven members in each county. These seven are to form an executive committee and to increase the county membership and appoint subcommittees.

Work Mapped Out.

The functions of these committees and the manner in which they are to be performed was charted in the following manner:

Finance.—The development of ways and means to finance the work of subcommittees. This committee is to work with ... members of commerce and leading ... of the locality.

Publicity.—To formulate official communications and give out statements for the press. This committee is to work through the newspapers, churches, schools, moving picture theaters, chamber of commerce, clubs and women's organizations.

Defense and Security.—To take the military census and inventory. To prepare mobilization camps and concentration camps. To prepare maps. To provide uniforms, arms and equipment for home guard. This committee is to secure the co-operation of volunteer firemen, army and navy clubs, ex-national guard officers, Spanish war veterans, insurance men, local police, police reserves, deputy sheriffs, boy scouts, G. A. R. members, military and semi-military organizations, the state engineer and women suffragists and other voluntary organizations.

Aid Recruiting Too.

Recruiting.—To assist in recruiting for the regular army and navy, the marine corps and the national guard. This committee is to secure the co-operation of clubs, colleges, universities, local health departments, athletic associations, universities and colleges, hotels, high schools, Y. M. C. A. and moving pictures.

Transportation.—The functions of this committee are to secure the co-operation of railroads, automobile owners and to make an enumeration of automobiles and chauffeurs.

Food Products and Conservation.—To establish farm bureau work and promote agricultural development in co-operation with the state department of agriculture and patriotic agricultural service committees. This committee is to secure the co-operation of farmers and the state grange, women's clubs and kindred organizations.

Co-operation With Existing Organizations.—To care of dependents and the establishment of an employment bureau. It is to co-operate with charitable, patriotic, fraternal and preparedness societies, boy scouts, colleges, women's clubs and volunteer firemen.

Aliens.—To establish a secret service, register all aliens and to promote flag etiquette and respect. It is to co-operate with alien committees in the police departments.

Instruction.—To provide a bulletin service, give lectures and training in patriotism and to organize rallies. It is to co-operate with ex-army, navy and national guard officers, military schools, motion picture theaters and insurance companies.

20,000 Train In Westchesters.

Medical and Hospital.—To all Red Cross work. It is to secure the co-operation of hospitals, surgeons, physicians, trained nurses, women's organizations and churches.

Religious.—To secure co-operation between churches and other religious organizations. It is to secure the co-operation of churches, church clubs and guilds.

After Adjutant General Stotesbury had explained in detail what is expected of the home defense league, delegates told what they had already done.

A delegate from Nassau county said the committee there had recruited 3,000 men and hoped by the end of the week to have them armed with Winchesters, which were being purchased through private subscription.

A Westchester delegate said that 20,000 men were already in training in that county.

Our old friend Rheumatic is having his inning this year, and a few words of caution from one who knows all about it may not be amiss.

Wear rubbers in damp weather; keep your feet dry; drink plenty of lemonade, and avoid strong alcoholic drinks.

WOOD DETAILED TO MEET BALFOUR

Wilson Orders High Honors For Allies' Envoys.

SENATE HAS BIG WAR LOAN

Seven Billion Bond Issue Bill Will Be Passed Late Today—Conference With Allies' Representatives in Washington to Be Followed by Their Receiving $3,000,000,000 as War Loan.

Washington, April 17.—Passage by the senate of the $7,000,000,000 war bond issue bill by this afternoon appeared certain this morning.

Debate began on the measure at noon. Because of the growing desire to have the money available immediately, practically all senators decided to "talk little and vote favorably." The vote will be practically unanimous for passage of the bill virtually as it was passed by the house Saturday, although several slight changes already made will make it necessary to send the bill to conference. An agreement probably will be reached within a few hours, and the bill will be sent to President Wilson for his signature, which will result in the immediate placing of $3,000,000,000 at the disposal of the entente allies.

Oppose Low Income Tax.

In the house consideration was begun by the ways and means committee of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's suggestions as to how to raise additional revenue to finance the government during the war. Considerable sentiment has developed against the lowering of exemptions on incomes to $2,000 and $1,500 annually for married and single men, respectively, largely because of the tremendous increase in the cost of foodstuffs.

There is a well defined movement on to exempt $3,000 and $2,000 incomes instead of stopping at the lower figures named in the secretary's suggestions.

Consideration of the suggestions continued and a tentative draft of an emergency revenue raising bill will probably be begun before the evening.

President Wilson and his cabinet are ready to close formally the negotiations with the entente allies as to the part the United States is to play in the war.

General Wood Honored.

Major General Leonard Wood, ranking officer of the active list of the army, has been designated to represent the military branch of the government on the committee which will welcome to the United States the distinguished British war commission headed by Foreign Minister Balfour.

Published reports that the British commission had landed at an American port or in Canada caused Secretary Lansing to issue this statement:

Statements appearing in the press concerning the movements of Mr. Balfour and his party are erroneous. It is not known precisely when Mr. Balfour will arrive. As soon as circumstance permit an official announcement will be made. Nothing definite is known concerning the arrival of the French mission.

With arrangements completed for the president personally to receive the British and the French members of the joint high war commission tomorrow, the war and navy departments continued preparing for war and awaited further orders.

Whether the French commissioners, headed by former Premier Viviani, will arrive in time for the president's conference with former Premier Balfour of England and his staff is as yet unknown. The failure of their arrival by that day, however, will not retard the work of the conference.

The closing of the conference will be followed immediately by the entente allies receiving their first financial assistance from this government in the war against Germany. The final details will be settled for the transfer to the allies of the $3,000,000,000 to be authorized for their use in the pending $7,000,000,000 bond issue bill.

While much doubt exists as to just how much of the total any government will be lent, the probability is that France and Russia will receive practically all.

Officials agree that one of the most important subjects for discussion at the conferences will be plans for an effective blow at German submarine construction. Measures will be considered by which it is hoped this will be greatly impeded. The plans may also result in the destruction of a large number just now being brought into service.

Details of the plans have not been revealed because of the necessity for secrecy in all naval moves.

British Want Secrecy.

British and American officials have struck their first snag of discussion. State department attaches let it be known that full publicity would be given to the proceedings of the forthcoming conferences excepting those things which deal with the military movements, notwithstanding an unofficial "suggestion" by British government officials that the discussions be entirely secret.

By giving the public information as to what measures are under discussion it is believed that great enthusiasm will be aroused and that a better cooperation generally will result.

T. A. B. S. TEAM IS READY FOR SEASON

Total Abstainers Will Have a Strengthened Line-up During Coming Campaign

Prospects for a first-class baseball team to represent St. Mary's T. A. B. Society on the baseball diamond this summer are exceedingly bright at this time, according to reports which have been gathered up in various quarters by the writer. Dan Guinee, a follower of the national pastime for the past decade or two, has been selected as manager for the 1917 campaign, and one "Doc" Eaton will pilot the team when in actual operation upon the field of battle. These selections were made at a meeting of the society held during the latter part of last week.

The Tabs will again stage Sunday games at Avon Oval, where they have been an attraction for many local fans for the past year or two. From present indications, the Sunday season will open up May 6 with the Elizabeth Stars as the opponents. Other first-class teams will be billed from time to time.

At a practice held last Sunday a number of candidates were out looking for positions, among whom were a number of those who have pastimed on local fields during the past few seasons. "Nibs" Hand, who made the greater portion of his "rep" on Scotch Plains sand lots, is expected to do the bulk of the work at the receiving end of the battery, while Cliff Randolph, Thorne and Jack Denny will be numbered among the hurlers. Candidates for infield positions include Eaton for first base, Tommie Mullin for the keystone sack, Hanlon Rooney for shortstop and Eddie Coughlin for third base. Captain Eaton expects that other candidates will turn out later, as there is at present but one candidate for each infield job. A large number of candidates, however, are anticipating the outfield berths, including Cowan, Brennan, McCarthy, Kyle, Moulton and Frank Lee. From these six men a strong garden defease is assured.

KEARNEY HIGH TO BE IN BORO TOMORROW

North Plainfield H. S. will have a strong opponent for the mid-week contest on Hyde Oval tomorrow afternoon, lining up against the Kearny High diamond men. Either Scarborough or Dunning will be on the slab for the Canadians, the former lad showing in the last inning of the Roselle game that he is about ready for a regular turn in the box.

Some of the borough players under the name of North Plainfield A. C. will cross bats with Pennington Academy Thursday afternoon at Pennington. The game was originally booked for the high school, but had to be called off on account of the Board of Education's decree to play no more than two games a week. Two graduate players, Dawe and Dilks, will play with the locals in Thursday's game.

BASEBALL CHATTER FROM LOCAL FIELDS

Diamond Dust Gathered Here and There From Fields of This Vicinity

The Hope Chapel ball tossers will get under way in a pre-season campaign next Saturday afternoon when they line up against the team representing the Pond Machine Tool Company plant at West End Oval, according to announcements made by Manager Brit Martin last evening. Martin, by the way, claims to have a thing or two up his sleeve concerning his Hopefuls, which are not ready for publication as yet.

Johnson, a former Red Bank catcher, who is at present making both ends meet in our fair city, will probably sign up with the Nitty Netherwoods, according to the dope handed out by Manager Coughlan at last evening's session of the City League. Johnson has a "rep" worth while and ought to fill with credit the vacancy left by Earl Moran, who shifted from the West End aggregation to the St. Joseph's.

And speaking of the St. Joseph's, they have plans under way for a big opening at their first home game. The management states that Mayor "Bill" Smalley will be the guest of honor and will throw out the first ball on the home lot. Following the example of the illustrious Charles Ebbets, of Brooklyn, the management will also stage a parade of the players across the field of action.

Dunellen baseballists are a little slow getting into action. The team which represented that burg in the City League last season has not been revived as yet. The suburb had an excellent team on the field last year and it would be discouraging to see such a machine blow up after its magnificent run of victories during the latter part of last season. Manager Tommie Apgar ought to get on the job and round up the boys.

Whether Apgar gets his men together or not the borough is going to have a team on the field of action. C. W. Huff, of the neighboring burg, will again present a team under the captaincy Dunellen Field Club. Dunellen surely has enough live sports to support a first rate ball team, and with a top-notch team on the field these Hot Stove League boys will come out of their trenches.

The Eagle A. C. would like to arrange games with teams averaging from 12 to 16 years of age, at home or away. The Eagles have already defeated the Clinton Avenues. Interested teams may address the manager, R. Sullivan, Dunellen, N. J.

The Public School League appears to be working at top speed at the very outset and the boys are taking considerable interest in the race. For an innovation in this city the circuit is taking well.

EAGLE BOWLERS WOULD ENTERTAIN ELKS

With the championship of the City Bowling League now a settled issue, Manager Radin of the local Eagles, "champs" of the State League of that order, issues a challenge to the Elks, leaders of the local league, to a home-and-home series of matches. Should the Elks not see their way clear to accept the challenge the Eagles offer the same challenge to any five-man team or combination of the local circuit.

Such a series of games as suggested by Manager Radin would prove more than interesting to local followers of the indoor sport and would be the means of developing a keen rivalry between the contending bowlers. If the Elks are not in a position to accept the challenge from the Eagles, possibly an all-star team could be secured to fill the bill.

SLAM-BANG STYLE OF FIGHT A FOLLY

Just a Few Ideas and Examples Along This Line of Thought

Ad Wolgast, once king of the type of fighters who threw caution to the winds and dashed in to win, is positively through as an athlete. He has even been adjudged incompetent to look after his own affairs and his wife has been given charge of his property.

Underlying this statement from Wisconsin there is a lesson for any budding fighter and one which many now appearing in rings would do well to take to heart. It is impossible for a man to take the terrible beatings around his head and continue just the same as he always did. He can't stand the terrific body lacings that are handed out to the man who disdains to protect himself in the hope of landing while the other man is doing the same.

There have been many fighters who were willing to stand toe to toe with the best of them and slug until something dropped. The beatings their heads and bodies receive is something to marvel at. Cauliflower ears, broken noses, bruised cheeks and many other marks are carried by these men to their graves. A glance at Wolgast's head is enough to show what he has gone through.

Battling Nelson is another example of the courageous fighter who put everything out of his mind but victory. He could take an awful beating, and he often did it, just in the hope that eventually the time would come for him to land one of the crushing blows that wore his opponent down.

The battle between Nelson and Wolgast, when the latter won the championship, was one of these savage affairs, where both boxers, bruised and bleeding and barely able to stand, were both in a pitiful condition at the end of the fight. It was bulldog against bulldog, and the younger bulldog won.

Nelson lives today an example of what can be done with a pair of hands beating on a man's head. His ears are mashed, his nose askew, and he bears many other battle marks.

The bout between Battling Nelson and Joe Gans, when the black lightweight relinquished the title of lightweight champion, is believed by many to have sent Gans to his grave. He was forced to make a killing weight when he met Nelson, and the beating Nelson gave him put him on his back. He waned away and finally died, a victim of tuberculosis, ascribed by man critics as due to weakness after his beating at the hands of Nelson.

The men who stand out in the game as masters have learned better to stand still and allow their opponents to hammer them about a ring. Mike Gibbons has a mashed ear and a broken nose, but he long ago learned the fine art of hitting and getting away, and, as a consequence, his marks are old ones. Gibbons never was given a bad beating about his head.

Wolgast made the mistake of thinking he always could absorb punishment. He fought and fought until the break came. Packey McFarland, one of the cleverest men who ever stepped into a ring, realized when the end of his string came that he was going to get some beatings if he continued, so he stepped into private life. He carried no mashed features with him.

Had Wolgast stopped his ring career after one or two attempts to regain the championship he lost to Willie Ritchie it is probable he never would have been examined and sent to a sanitarium. It is a lesson, hard-earned, maybe, but one that should sink deep into every young boxer's mind. The game, in this case especially, is not worth the candle. It never can be. A man's health is worth a dozen championships, as Wolgast, Nelson and some of the others of the shock-absorber class could testify.

CITY LEAGUE 1917 SCHEDULE IS ADOPTED BY THE LOCAL CIRCUIT

Season to Open April 28, Continuing Until Labor Day Morning—Umpires Are Appointed—Playing Fields Are Designated—Ready for the Opening

Practically all business necessary to transact prior to the opening of the season, Saturday, April 28, was consummated at the meeting of the City Baseball League last evening, when a schedule of games for the season was presented by Secretary Dan Randolph and adopted by the meeting. President Walter C. Dobbins presided.

Louis Coriell and George Winters were appointed by the magnates as the "umps" for the season, with Ira Vail as substitute. The player limit was placed at fifteen, the list of names of the players of the four teams which make up the league to be filed with the secretary at the meeting to be held next Monday evening.

The fields to be used by the teams are as follows: St. Joseph's, Hyde Oval, Manning and Franklin avenues; Netherwood, Netherwood Common, Leland and South avenues; First Baptist and Hope Chapel, West End Oval, West End and Myrtle avenues.

The schedule calls for twenty-four games for each team, the closing date being Labor Day morning. With the closing date so early the teams will have practically all of September to play off postponed games.

J. Peterson proved the star batter, copping four hits in five trips to the plate. Elliott twirled a magnificent game for his team, as well as putting up a great batting game. Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

He's back again—Ben Berse as Charlie Chaplin in the Y. M. C. A. circus, with new and funnier tricks than before, assisted by his brother Leo, who will impersonate Joe Jackson. With clowns that are a barrel of fun and tricks to be shown at the first public performance, the Y. M. C. A. circus Friday and Saturday evening will keep the spectators in happy spirits. Sid Bragger as a slack-wire walker will be introduced to Plainfield audiences. Bragger is clever and funny in his act and has been offered engagements on vaudeville circuits. There will also be in the circus a skating bear, leaping frogs, the largest rooster in captivity, a talking parrot, elephants, monkeys and giraffes.

The show will appear rain or shine, and a special matinee for children will be held Saturday afternoon.

BOWLING LEAGUE TO HOLD BANQUET HERE

Plans have been completed for the annual banquet of the Eagles' State Bowling League to be held at the rooms of the local Eagles on East Second street on the evening of Thursday, April 26. The various prizes offered for the work of the teams and the individual pinners for the past season will be awarded at that time.

The local team won two of the prizes—one for leading the league at the completion of the campaign and the other for piling up the highest team score. Second and third individual prizes also come to members of the local team. Details of the affair will be announced later.

WANT DARCY'S FIGHT STOPPED

Governor Pleasant has been besieged by letters and importuned by petitions to prohibit the boxing contest between Les Darcy, of Australia, and Jeff Smith, of New York, set for April 23 at New Orleans.

It has been pointed out to the Governor that Darcy has not been allowed to fight in New York, on the ground that he is a "slacker." The Governor has as yet taken no action on the matter.

Darcy, with Fred Gilmore and Trainer Mick Hawkins, are at Bay St. Louis, Miss., where the Australian will work in Bantamweight Champion Pete Herman's quarters for the fight.

Friends of the Governor believe he will not interfere, as Darcy has taken out citizenship papers.

Former Boxer In Navy

ATHENIANS TO STAGE LAST GAME TONIGHT

In what ought to be the last basketball contest for this city for the season will be staged this evening between the local Athenian Sport Boys, one of the aggregations conducted under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, and the St. Douglas five of Orange, the latter team being credited with being the fastest colored basketball combination of the State.

The visiting team has been playing twice a week for the past three or four months, losing but one contests during that time, playing a 16-20 tie game with the St. Christophers of New York. The team has stacked up against a number of the strongest teams hailing from New York and Brooklyn. Play will start at 8.15, dancing to follow the game and continuing until 12 o'clock.

FACTORY TEAM BOOKING GAMES FOR SEASON

The H. W. Johns-Manville Company will be represented on the baseball diamond this coming season by a fast and snappy semi-professional team. It will be the pick of the representative teams of Bound Brook and Somerville, and all home games will be played on the team's private diamond in Manville. The Manvilles are desirous of booking games with teams of the highest calibre, and the books are now open for individual games or series on the home grounds Sundays and traveling Saturdays. Open dates include May 5, 6, 12 and 19.

Address all communications to C. F. Cassidy, Mgr. J.-M. Baseball Club, Manville, N. J.

JESS WON'T FIGHT MORRIS

Jess Willard, heavyweight champion pugilist, with his managers, Jack Curley and Tom Jones, arrived in Norfolk, Va., early in the week to begin a six months' tour with a circus.

Willard has turned down offers to meet Carl Morris, who last week won on a foul over Fred Fulton in New York.

According to Jack Curley, Morris had Fulton easy every round and every minute of each round. He had Fulton in a bad way in the fifth and just as his seconds shied a towel in token of defeat Fulton landed a deliberate foul blow. Referee Breen announced Morris was fouled and that Fulton was defeated anyway on account of his seconds throwing in the towel. Morris left the ring without a scratch, limping on account of being hit low, while Fulton was badly beaten up, and his looks spelled defeat all over.

25-cent "Danderine" will save your hair and double its beauty

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—Adv.

WILL SWEAR IN NEW MEMBERS OF LEAGUE

Those Appointed Last Night Should be at High School Tomorrow Night

The third unit of the Plainfield Home Defense League was filled last night. The league has now its full quota of 150 men; no more are to be appointed unless the need arises.

All members are to appear at the high school gymnasium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The new men will be sworn in, and measured.

The commission has appointed Robert Rushmore chairman of a committee to organize an automobile brigade. Members of this brigade will not be active league members or liable for police service on call of the city authorities. They will, at least for the present, be asked to provide necessary transportation, by offering to drive their cars for perhaps three or four hours, once a week or ten days, in placing the patrols and returning them to their homes; also in driving special officers about on tours of inspection, which is similar to roundsman service. The work will of course be mostly at night. Car owners and drivers, not active league members but able and willing to assist in the local defense plans in this manner, are requested to communicate with Robert Rushmore, who is listing applicants and will organize them into district squads working in co-operation with Commander Ransome.

Joan the Woman

By Jeanie Macpherson

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALMENTS.

Joan, daughter of a peasant couple living in the village of Domremy, France, meets with pained interest of the countless defeats that fall upon the armies of Charles VII, her young and weak King. The English have seized more than half the land.

Eric Trent, a young Englishman fighting in the France of to-day, finds an old friend, and in the night a vision comes to him in which he is commissioned by the sorrows of her France. The Burgundians and the English have sent one George de la Tremoille to Charles with instructions to keep the young King engaged in pleasures while they ravage the country. He also sees another Eric Trent, an ancestor of his, ride into the village of Domremy at the head of a band of raiders. Only Joan is there to bid him stay his hand. The leader is impressed by the strange girl's bravery and spares the cattle of her father. As he talks to her one Gaspard, a peasant suitor of Joan, attacks him from behind. The raiders have gone on at their leader's orders, and the townspeople are beginning to return. Joan takes the wounded Englishman and hides him in a hay loft. Eric recovers and goes safely away after Joan refuses to wed him, impressed by the mysterious voices that sway her life. Then she feels the call to lead the French armies to victory and sets out to see the King. After many difficulties she reaches the court, where de la Tremoille persuades Charles to let him accompanie as King while Charles stands by, to see if Joan cannot the two apart. She kneels before the throne, when someone whispers to her that the man on the dais is not the immortal Charles.

TURNING in the direction of her sudden intuition, she walks slowly over to the astonished Charles—looks searchingly into his face for a moment—then drops to her knees. In vain does Charles point to the "Spider"—who has impatiently jerked them—saying that he is the King. Joan only shakes her head and says: "Thou art the King—none other!" Joan pleads earnestly to be heard, and the King sends off Tremoille and the other courtiers, and turns to Joan. She explains about the voices and insists that if Charles will only drive her soldiers she can drive the English from France and bring him to be crowned!

Meantime Eric, at the head of his Burgundian soldiers, has joined the English, and is marching against the fortress of The Towers, across the river from Orleans. Joan is talking to the King in Chinon, receives a sudden premonition of this and urges Charles to act before he have men before it is too late; explaining that "EVEN NOW"—and at this point a VISION of Eric riding at the head of his invading men fades through the great tapestry next to the King's throne. Joan points and cries out in alarm to the Court. On and on come the men, the horses' feet trampling over the heads of the courtiers who stand laughing at Joan's anxious face. Nor can she rouse them to the fact that the English are at that very moment capturing the fortress of "The Towers!"

The King, vacillating, does not know what to think. Only Gen. La Hire, happy at last to find some one who wants military action, believes in her. La Hire, alarmed by what Joan says about The Towers being taken by the English, pleads to be allowed to find out if Joan is speaking the truth and hurries off for Orleans. The "Spider," seeing that Joan left alone may eventually arouse Charles to take some military action against his friends, the English, tries to influence Charles against her by saying that she is clever, but that it may be "BLACK MAGIC," and that she may come from the Devil! Charles, belonging to the most superstitious age in history, is torn both ways and, to make sure, calls for his Bishop and priests and bids them examine her as to her integrity.

The Bishop and priests at Charles's command examine Joan as to her religious views. Joan, with her simple answers, full of earnest faith, convinces the Bishop that she is indeed inspired with a great mission. Meanwhile, a herald from England arrives at the court of Charles and says: "Art thou Charles—who calls himself King of France?" He announces that he brings a message from the English King; and proceeds, with ill-concealed contempt for Charles, to read him the scroll as follows:

"Our merciful English Sovereign —Rightful King of France—generously offers thee peace, providing thou wilt relinquish thy claim to the throne. Otherwise, be it known to thee that thy head shall pay for thy folly!"

Charles is disturbed by this abrupt message and is urged by the traitorous La Tremoille to sign the paper and make peace with England. Shrewdly, Tremoille points out that he can end the war which has split France for a hundred years. The court—composed principally of Tremoille's sycophants—also urge Charles to sign.

In the ante-room, Joan, replying to the Bishop's searching questions—suddenly feels a premonition that her King is in danger, and hurrying from the room comes to Charles just as he is about to sign the treaty with England. Joan sweeps the pen from Charles, and, grabbing up the treaty herself, entreats Charles to wait. She pulls him back to a realization of what he is doing and, turning on the astonished herald, says: "Take this answer to thy master. Tell him if every sword in France were broken—if every man in France were dead—there is still the God of justice to free us from thy yoke!"

Then she tears up the treaty and hands it back to him. The outraged herald tells Charles he shall pay for such impertinence, and sweeps angrily from the court.

JOAN STARTLES THE BISHOPS BY HER ANSWERS.

Back in the court at Chinon, Joan suddenly kneels by her King, and with the strange look of premonition in her eyes she says: "Sire—I see—I see"—and points to the great tapestry by the King's throne. Here a vision of Eric's marching men comes through the tapestry in ghostly figures. The stamping horses and, English soldiers march again, straight over the heads of the laughing courtiers. As the vision fades, Joan begs Charles to give her soldiers, and explains desperately that even now the English take the fortress of The Towers!

Charles—half believing her—swings again in Joan's favor. La Hire at this point rushes in to beg the King to give him men, as he has just heard that the English are headed toward the gates of Orleans, Joan's prophecy is confirmed and the court falls back nonplussed.

Joan and La Hire join forces, and in an impassioned speech to the courtiers beg them to follow her to battle. The court is pulled this way and that, Tremoille on one side, asks them if they "NOBLES, will follow a peasant maid to battle!" But Joan and La Hire plead for them to forget their apathy and fight for France.

"Men of France," urges Joan, "if ye will not follow me—will ye follow THIS?" And she grabs up the standard of France. This is too much—they catch the infection of her enthusiasm. It spreads like wildfire, until in answer to Joan's plea, Charles himself hands her his sword and says: "Joan of Arc, I create thee Commander of the Armies of France!"

Following La Hire's example, every sword in the court is whipped out and Joan, triumphant at last, is carried out on the shoulders of the courtiers. Only Tremoille, disappointed and disgruntled, calls the fanatical and half mad priest, l'Oiseleur, to him, and tells the man to follow "the witch" wherever she goes and report to him concerning her.

And so Joan the Peasant becomes Joan the Warrior!

After receiving a gift of handsome armor from the King, Joan sets out on a magnicent white charger at the head of her men for the besieged city of Orleans. Gaspard and Pierre, her brother, join Joan's forces, and Joan welcomes Gaspard's show of courage with delight, and makes him her squire.

Across the river from Orleans, at the far end of the bridge, is the fortress of The Towers, the stronghold of Orleans, which Eric has already marched upon and taken, practically without a shot. On the land side of the city the forts of the English were scattered miles beyond Orleans. Joan is allowed to pass these fortifications without attack, as the English hope to take Joan and her men more easily after they get them "cooped up" in the city of Orleans.

When Dunois, commander of the practically starving city, sees from his window a cloud of dust on the horizon, and realizes that help is coming, he calls out to the people in the streets, and the town goes wild with excitement. Joan enters the city gates with her company and tells Dunois and his people that she has brought him better help than has ever come to any town or captain, "The help of the King of Heaven!"

That night Joan calls Dunois and his captains into conference, and informs them that she is going to ride across the river to the fortification of The Towers and warn its commander that he may have the alternative of withdrawing or being driven out of France. She tells them that if the English will not evacuate she will attack and capture The Towers the next day.

Several of the captains, intensely jealous of this maid—who has been created commander of the army over them, withdraw from the conference and plan secretly to attack themselves at dawn, and so forestall Joan.

Joan rides across the river with a torch bearer and archer and shoots her message by arrow into the castle through an open window. The arrow hits the table at which Eric is sitting, giving instructions to the night guard. He reads Joan's message to his men, warning the English to evacuate. All laugh at the "petticoat general," and Eric leads his men out onto a balcony, from which he calls to Joan, who is waiting far below: "Milk maid of France, get thee hence, or we'll capture thee and burn thee as a witch!" Little do the sneering Eric or the troubled Joan realize that the other is the one closest to the heart of each and so Joan is obliged to wheel her horse about and return to Orleans.

THE GROWING GIRL

A girl when in her teens is passing through a critical period of her life. The transition from childhood to maturity is not always easy; consequently, in many cases health breaks down entirely and the girl goes into a decline and dies young. If she escapes this fate, she may fall into a state of permanent ill-health. It is of the utmost importance, in order to insure normal and healthy development, that proper precautions be taken, and nothing has proved more helpful than the faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great woman's medicine and tonic.—Adv.

SCHOOL ARMY WILL TILL SOIL ON FARMS

Trenton, April 17.—Mobilization of the older schoolboys of this State in the movement to aid the cause of our Allies in Europe by preventing a food shortage was considered, and the plans advanced at the conference in Trenton Saturday of the city school superintendents of the State. Governor Edge advocated the plan, and it was indorsed by Colonel D. Stewart Craven, of Salem, a member of the State Board of Education; Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education; Lewis H. Carris, head of the vocational training of the State; Charles H. Hoag, chairman of the advisory committee of the Newark Board of Education; George Morris, superintendent of the schools of Bloomfield, and others.

Dr. Kendall, who presided, explained the purpose of the meeting, and said that the lack of farm labor threatens seriously the future supply of foodstuffs, and it is hoped to mobilize the boys in the high schools to prevent such a calamity.

Superintendent Morris, of Bloomfield, told the meeting that he had put this proposition before 238 boys in the high school there, and 149 of them answered the call to serve their country by helping to grow crops. Dr. Henry A. Snyder, superintendent of the Jersey City schools, said there were 2,000 boys in the high schools there and many of them would enlist for the work.

The plans under way for recruiting the Junior Industrial Army for home garden work and other lines of manual training to aid the general campaign were outlined by Assistant State Commissioner Carris.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

The Chinese have a legend that tea drinking was a custom two thousand years before Christ. In the poems of Confucius, five hundred years before Christ, there are numerous references to the tea drinking habit.

More than half the population of the world today is drinking tea. From a luxury, at ten dollars a pound, it has become one of the most common articles on the menu and within reach of every purse.

Despite its universal use, experts tell us that only about one person out of a dozen knows how to make tea. Tea, properly made and properly taken, is beneficial. Brewed, as it is, by the majority of people, tea is a harmful drink and is frequently responsible for attacks of acute indigestion.

Although the English people are supposed to be the greatest tea-lovers in the world, it is a fact that the Orientals only, as a race, understand the art of making this beverage to perfection.

When Wu Ting Fang was the Chinese minister to this country, he taught the social world of Washington how to make tea. Here are some of the instructions for tea-making, given by this most famous of hosts and diplomats. Laboratory work and the opinions of famous dietitians endorse the scientific truth of Wu Ting Fang's tea rule.

Tea should never be made in a metal vessel. Tea should never touch metal. Make this test and convince yourself. Pour tea through a metal strainer and then place the strainer on a white china saucer. In ten minutes there will be a corroded black ring produced by the reaction of the tannic acid in the tea on the metal.

Gold is the only metal on which tea has no re-action. Not many of us can afford a gold tea strainer, but we can all afford a china one. The pot, or cup, in which the tea is to be made, should be freshly washed out and hot. One flat spoonful of tea should be allowed for each large cup and about half a spoonful for a small tea cup. The actively boiling water should be poured on the leaves and allowed to stand for three minutes. It must then be drained from the leaves. Five minutes is the very longest it should brew. After that time the tannic acid begins to exude and it is this acid that is injurious.

The Orientals always drink their tea without sugar or milk. They do not even add lemon or orange. The Russians add both of the latter fruits and the orange certainly imparts a most pleasing flavor.

Many persons complain that iced tea gives them indigestion. If you are a tea-drinker, and have been suffering from this trouble, try drinking your tea freshly made and without milk. Even freshly made tea does not blend easily with milk or cream when the digestive process has started.

Tea that has stood until the tannic acid has begun to steep will curdle when blended with cream and start digestive disturbances. Iced tea must be made just as carefully as the hot beverage and it should be drained from the leaves after they have stood with the water for three minutes.

Mint tea is very refreshing. This is made by crushing a few fresh mint leaves in the bottom of a sleeper glass. Then add the strained juice of half a lemon, powdered sugar to taste, mix well, fill up the glass three-quarters full of cold freshly made tea (chilled) and two tablespoonfuls of cracked ice. Serve with straws.

Tea punch is still another delectable beverage for the first warm spring days. To prepare it, place one pint of cold tea in a large bowl and add the strained juice of four lemons, two oranges and a small can of shredded pineapple. Mix well with a small cupful of sugar and place on the ice for two hours to chill and ripen. When ready to make the beverage, add the contents of a small bottle of Maraschino cherries, one sliced orange, one quart of ice water and one quart of chilled carbonated water. Then pour slowly over a small block of ice, that has been placed in the punch bowl.
